MAN WILL FACE MURDER CHARGE 30 YEARS BACK

Arrested In Northern Ontario Rocco Esposito Is Taken To States

HUNTER OF CRIMINALS

Resided In Ontario For Past 23 Years—Prominent In Community

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—(CP)—While a wife and four children waited anxiously in a small Northern Ontario cabin, Rocco Esposito prepared today to leave Toronto to stand trial in Newcastle, Pa., for a murder committed 30 years ago.

Arrested at his Kirkland Lake home as he prepared to celebrate New Year's Eve with his children, Esposito accompanied officers quietly on the 50-mile journey south to Haileybury where he waived extradition on appearing before Judge Henry Hartman. The fact their father had been arrested was not revealed to the children until the Haileybury proceedings. The arrested man was determined his daughter's birthday on New Year's Day should remain unmarred.

Go Under Name of Strange

The family name is Strange as far as folk in Kirkland Lake, 125 miles north of North Bay, are concerned. Esposito was known as Rocco Strange throughout the Northern Ontario mining fields and he was known also as a hunter of criminals, responsible for bringing to justice one man wanted for murder, the charge he's now enroute to United States to face.

Birthday celebrations for the daughter were staged in the cabin home New Year's Day while the father awaited extradition hearing. On Saturday the 56-year-old miner declared he would go south to stand trial, convinced he would obtain a fair trial and be returned a free man.

THREE TRAINMEN KILLED IN WRECK

Montreal - Bound Passenger Plows Into Rear Of Freight In Storm

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Jan. 4 (CP) — Double investigation went forward today into the Saturday night train wreck that took the lives of three Canadian National Railways employees three miles from this town.

While a railway probe went on, a coroner's inquest was opened at St. Rosalie village, 40 miles east of Montreal, where a Montreal-bound passenger train sliced into the rear of a slow-travelling freight in the thick of a snowstorm.

The collision killed W. H. Carvell, 45, Montreal, engineer of the passenger locomotive; J. E. Brady, 50, conductor of the freight, and Felix Cheney, freight brakeman, both of Richmond, Que. Cheney, found alive near the wreckage of the caboose he had been riding with the conductor, died soon after.

Brady had been riding in the observation tower of the caboose, and his body was dropped atop the passenger locomotive in a pile of debris when it sheared off the top of the caboose. The engineer was flung into the tender of his locomotive.

Fireman T. Johnson of Montreal leaped from the passenger engine and escaped with a cut forehead. A woman passenger received a cut forehead and a man was bruised about the knee as four passenger cars followed the engine off the track but remained upright.

DIES IN PRISON

Major Who Shot Stockbroker Never Told Reason

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—(CP)—Major Robert M. Griffith, confessed killer of William A. Holland, manager of the stockbroking firm of MacDougall brothers here in 1921, died yesterday in the criminal insane wing of the Montreal jail.

Griffith, prominent in military and financial circles, gave himself up to police after the January 14 shooting in 1921 and admitted shooting the broker. No motive was disclosed. Committed to hospital by a court, he escaped and was sent to jail on his recapture.

$25,000 A MONTH

Huge Allowance Given Couzens' Widow To Maintain Homes, Educate Daughter.

DETROIT, Jan. 4 (AP)—An allowance of $25,000 a month for Mrs. Margaret A. Couzens, widow of Senator James Couzens, has been authorized by Probate Judge Thomas C. Murphy.

The widow will receive one-third of the $30,000,000 estate of her Ontario born husband who left no will. The petition for allowance said Mrs. Couzens has to maintain several residences and finance the education of a daughter, Edith, 19.

Six Nearby Families Forced Into Streets As Homes Ignited

Port Hope Brigade Responds To Call For Assistance In Fight

THREE-HOUR BATTLE

Firemen Abandon Doomed Building To Save Nearby Residential District

COBOURG, Jan. 4.—(Special.)—St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, a 74-year-old brick and frame structure, was completely destroyed by fire here last night and six families were driven to the streets in near-zero weather when flames spread to adjoining houses.

Church officials estimated a total damage of $150,000. A $50,000 organ, purchased in 1925, was destroyed and the building had a value of $100,000, they said. There was little hope of immediate reconstruction of the church, it was stated. A total insurance of about $30,000 was carried.

Port Hope Help.

The Port Hope fire department responded to an appeal for help from the Cobourg firemen when the flames raged out of control and threatened destruction of the residential district surrounding the church.

Early in the night firemen abandoned hope of saving the church and concentrated attention on saving the homes. A high wind carried sparks for six blocks, but ice on most of the housetops prevented new fires from breaking out. The two fire departments, totalling about forty men, poured more than a dozen streams of water on the houses around the church, and the blaze was controlled in three hours. Men were placed on all-night duty to guard the homes.

Starts After Service.

The fire strated about 9 o'clock, less than an hour after the evening church services had been concluded. It is believed the fire started from an overheated furnace. Rev. J. B. Rhodes, pastor of the church, said there was no indication of danger when he left following the service.

MATTSON URGES POLICE REFRAIN FROM INTERFERING

New Advertisement Indicates Definite Contact Made With Kidnapper

POSSES WATCH ROADS

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 4.—(AP).—An advertisement indicating a contact with the abductor of 10-year-old Charles Mattson appeared today as his father requested law enforcement agencies "to abstain from any action which would in any manner interfere with the full and free opportunity which I wish the kidnapper may have" to return the boy.

The statement of the father, Dr. W. W. Mattson was given to the Associated Press a few minutes after the new advertisement indicating he was in touch with the kidnapper appeared in the Seattle Daily Times.

The advertisement read:

"Mable, we have received your communications. Police have not intercepted them. Channels are entirely clear. Your instructions will be followed. We are ready."—Ann."

Posses Go Into Action.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 4—(A.P.)—Highways of Southwestern Washington were blocked by hundreds of armed men to-day in a spectacular police effort to capture two men suspected in the kidnapping of 10-year-old Charles Mattson.

Governor Clarence D. Martin assumed personal direction of the hunt which closed all roads around Shelton, where a lumber mill watchman reported the pair ordered him to tell the boy's father "everything is well."

In Tacoma, 50 miles northwest of Shelton, Department of Justice Agents took official charge of the kidnap hunt which they unofficially have led almost from the time Charles was stolen from his home eight days ago.

Reports of contacts with the kidnapper and of doubling the demanded ransom to $56,000 could not be confirmed. The original kidnap note stimpulated the ransom would be doubled each week, if the Mattson family failed to contact the kidnapper. It first called for $28,000.

More Police Swing In

Department of Justice agents gave no indication of what importance they attached to the Shelton report, but they joined the manhunt with State police, sheriffs' officers and police from half a dozen cities. Automobile loads of men with sawed-off shotguns, sub-machine

10,362 VETERANS GET ALLOWANCES

OTTAWA, Jan. 4—(C.P.).—On December 1 last 10,362 persons were receiving war veterans' allowance. This involved an annual disbursement of $3,275,000, according to departmental returns.

The number of veterans receiving allowance increases every day, with no prospect of diminution of work for the board administering the act. As a result of the amendments last year, which modified the statutory provisions to take care of certain cases "on the borderline," about 500 claims were granted.

The war veterans' allowance is a grant to ex-servicemen who, on reaching the age of 60 years, are physically incapacitated from working. Single men are granted $20 a month, and married men $40. The men are encouraged to accept casual labor, and they may supplement their allowance to the extent of $250 a year for married men.

Canadians Pay Treasury $1,000,000 Taxes Daily

Revenue Experts Indicate Increase From Each Source

BEST YEAR SINCE 1929

OTTAWA, Jan. 4.—(CP).—Canadians are paying into the National Treasury of the country at the rate of $1,000,000 a day, for every day of the year.

Estimates of national revenue for current fiscal year indicate total collections in the neighborhood of $370,000,000, according to National Revenue Department figures.

This includes all taxable sources, each of which will, when the books close on March 31, show a marked increase over previous years and probably the best year since before the depression.

Income tax collections this year will be close to $100,000,000, a boost of about $20,000,000 over last fiscal year. A larger item, however, is the eight per cent. sales tax expected to bring in about $105,000,000. This will be approximately $25,000,000 more than last year.

Excise duties and customs receipts will probably each run to between $80,000,000 and $85,000,000 with a grand total of collections falling little short of the $370,000,000 mark.

EXPECT WINDSOR'S WEDDING IN MAY

Private Ceremony Reported Set For Anglican Church Near British Vienna Legation

PARIS, Jan. 4.—(CP-Havas)—The Duke of Windsor will marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson in May in the little Anglican church next to the British legation in Vienna, the Vienna correspondent of the newspaper L'Intransigeant reported today.

The ceremony will be private, and only a few friends of former King Edward will be present, L'Intransigeant said. After the marriage the Duke and his bride will leave for Dubrovnik, on the Yugoslav coast, the newspaper added.

Last Minute News Flashes

TORONTO.—Ottawa Valley Power Comuany to-day issued a writ at Osgoode Hall claiming a total of $1,483,239 from the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario. The writ alleged the amount is payable for power held available by the company for the Hydro Electric Commission under a contract dated Jan. 15, 1930.

CALGARY.—First real "blow" of winter hit Southern Alberta to-day, a blizzard whipping in from the north-east, blocking highways as deep drifts piled high in rural districts. The blizzard came on the heels of a Chinook which sent temperatures skyward during the weekend.

Paris, Jan. 4 (AP)

She has written the Public Prosecutor:

"I am a widow, and I haven't a photograph of my poor dead husband. Fourteen years ago he was arrested for murder, but it wasn't very serious and he got only five years in jail. When he was arrested he had his picture taken by the police, and I would now like the picture."

BRIDE BANISHES JOHN BARRYMORE

Sends Him To Trainers' Camp Till He Makes Amends "For Roughing Her Up"

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4—(A.P.)—John Barrymore was placed on probation to-day by Elaine Barrie, his bride of a few weeks because "he roughed me up a bit."

"I told him to go to his trainer's home and stay there until he decided to make amends," said the dark-eyed fourth wife of the actor. "While I don't anticipate any serious developments, the next move in the reconciliation depends on John."

Their recent aerial elopment to Yuma, Ariz., climaxed a stormy romance which included a cross-country chase by train and plane, with Barrymore outdistancing his New York protege.

Their latest quarrel started while they were welcoming the New Year in jubilant fashion at a fashionable cafe, Miss Barrie said.

As a finale to the scene at the cafe, she said Barrymore strode out of the place in true, imperious fashion.

"Unfortunately, any quarrels which we may have must become public," continued Miss Barrie, admitting Barrymore is living with his nurse and trainer, Ken Kelly, in West Los Angeles.

107 PASSENGERS RESCUED

Baby Was Born While Passengers Lived In Snow Huts Awaiting Rescue.

MOSCOW, Jan. 4 (CP)—Reports of the rescue on Christmas Day of 107 passengers of the steamship Kamo who had lived in snow houses more than two weeks were received today from the steamship Sakhalin.

The Kamo, off Karagin Island near Kamchatka, lost its rudder Dec. 9 and drifted on the rocks in extremely cold weather, the report said.

ANGLICANS ASK EXPLANATION VIENNA PASTOR

Officials Want To Know Why Duke Windsor Let Read Lesson From Lectern

STORY OF NATIVITY

Story Of Prince's Wedding Being Arranged For May Is Denied

VIENNA, Jan. 4—(C.P.).—Anglican Church officials have asked Chaplain C. H. D. Grimes, pastor of Vienna's English Church, to explain why he allowed the Duke of Windsor to read a Christmas scripture lesson from the lectern, the chaplain disclosed to-day.

Specifically, the chaplain declared, the ecclesiastical authorities want to know why he did not ask someone's advice before he allowed former King Edward to read the story of the Nativity during Christmas Day services.

Reports of a prospective marriage at the Vienna Chapel next May between the Duke and Mrs. Simpson were denied at Enzesfeld Castle, where the Prince is staying, at the Legation and by the chaplain.

"Arranging of even a single detail of such a ceremony now would be evidence of collusion, which all parties are seeking to avoid," the chaplain declared.

ROADHOUSE OWNER FINED, BEER COUNT

Result Of Complaint By Performing Rights Representative Seeking Royalties

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 4 (CP) — Representatives of a society "Which I believe is called the Canadian Performing Rights Society" are walking into district restaurants and hotels and "practically trying to force money out of the proprietors" for royalties on music, Crown Attorney Norman Newton asserted in Magistrate Hawkshaw's Court today.

Mr. Newton's statement came when the operator of a Middlesex County roadhouse was fined $100 for having liquor in other than a private dwelling.

The Crown Attorney declared that a representative of the society discussed royalty payments with the proprietor at one o'clock yesterday morning, and then called the police to make a complaint about beer.

"If there is an attempt to make people pay money by threats contrary to law, I will be glad to prosecute," said the Crown Attorney.

JUST SEEKING REFUGE

Drunk Successfully Pleads He Hid In Station To Avoid Traffic.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (CP). — Matthew Broderick, 43, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct when he refused to leave a railroad station.

"You see, Judge, I only drink on holidays," he pleaded. "Give me another chance."

Brand Basque Orders As Childish Threats; Seize Third Steamer

Envoy On Way To Inform Franco Naval Campaign To Go On Relentlessly

TENSION INCREASES

Madrid Mans Coastal Batteries —Trains Them On German Warships

BERLIN, Jan. 4 (AP).—Germany backed its insistent demand for Spanish marine "satisfaction" with a third show of naval force today and laughed at "childish threats" of Basque resistance.

Informed German sources said tonight the third Reich's envoy to Fascist Spain was carrying assurances to General Francisco Franco, the insurgent commander-in-chief, that Germany will pursue her Spanish naval campaign "relentlessly."

Twenty-four hours after it had been a matter of public knowledge, the Government announced the seizure of the Spanish merchantman Marta Junquera off the Northern Spanish coast at noon Sunday by the German cruiser Koenigsberg. Officials said brusquely there would be "no details."

Basque Government orders to its patrol boats to fire on any ship menacing Spanish merchantmen drew this reply from the Berlin Nacht Ausgabe:

"Announcements like that issued by a group of Bolshevist criminals at Bilbao, don't interest Germany."

Set Up Coast Guns.

PARIS, Jan. 4 (AP).—Franco-Spanish border reports said late today that Basque forces at Bilbao, Spain, had trained big German-made coastal guns on German warships in the Bay of Biscay.

The guns, taken from Fort Guadalupe in the Basque flight from Irun and San Sebastian early in the Spanish conflict, were made in Germany before the Great War.

MADRID, Jan. 4. — (AP) — The Spanish Government mapped a naval campaign against German warships after announcing a third Spanish merchant vessel had been halted in as many days.

A communique issued by the Government said the German cruiser Koenigsberg stopped the Marta Junquera Sunday off Cape Ajo, east of Santander in the Bay of Biscay.

The announcement of the new incident in Spanish waters followed shortly after a declaration in Valencia by Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo:

"We are firmly resolved, come what may, not to permit another single aggression from the German fleet and to reply as soon as they occur with all the means at our command. Orders have been given to this effect."

The Valencia Government refused through its Paris embassy a German offer to cease molesting Spanish shipping if the cargo of the German freighter Palos and a Spanish passenger were returned.

German Steamer Held.

BAYONNE, France, Jan. 4.—(AP) — Reports circulating in shipping circles today said an armed patrol ship of the Basque Government of Northern Spain had "provisionally" captured the 1,406-ton German steamer Pluto.

Although the reports were unconfirmed by Basque officials, incoming vessels reported swarms of small patrol boats were clustering just outside Bilbao and Santander.

The German warships Koenigsberg and Admiral Graf Spee were reported to have retired from their close watch of the Biscay coast and to be ranging at a greater distance from shore.

Official Spanish advices said the cruiser Koenigsberg held the Spanish steamer Marta Junquera after halting it off Cape Ajog.

REBEL BOMBERS KILL AT LEAST 40 IN RAIDING MADRID

INVADE NEUTRAL ZONE

MADRID, Jan. 4—(A.P.)—Insurgent bombing planes, flying low over northwestern Madrid, dropped more than 20 bombs on the capital to-day.

First estimates by government officials placed the death toll in the new aerial attack at 40 persons, with an additional 100 injured.

Two heavy bombs from the insurgent attackers fell only 250 yards from the officially abandoned United States Embassy. The building was not damaged by the explosives, however, although refugees—most of them women—fled in terror to the basement for protection.

The ships loosed their deadly missiles over the University city and Cuatro Caminos districts, and swept southeast toward the centre of the capital.

There, as well as over the so-called "neutral zone" in the eastern outskirts, the insurgent pilots dropped a stream of explosive and incendiary bombs.

Government planes took off to battle the invaders and the sky over the attacked areas was filled with "dog fights" between the opposing pilots.

MAYOR HAS BUSY DAY

Visits Every Public Institution In Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 4 (C.P.).—Mayor-elect Charles P. Delton started the New Year off by visiting every public institution in the city, met all officials and shook hands with all the inmates. His round of duty calls included House of Refuge, House of Providence, Hotel Dieu, General Hospital, Orphans' Home, Infants' Home, and St. Mary's-of-the-Lake Orphanage, as well as each of the Fire Halls.

Catches A Minnow Sporting In Cellar

New Liskeard, Jan. 4 (CP).

DURING recent holiday rains a creek which acted as an outlet for Dymond Township sewers became flooded, and the water backed up into the basement of one township home. When the flooded cellar was inspected, a minnow was seen swimming leisurely about.

The resident did not take time to get a hook and line, but dashed for the pantry and obtained a dipper.

To-day the minnow darts about in a goldfish bowl and is being exhibited to those who doubt the veracity of the fish story.

Hague Protests Nazi Holdup Of Bridesmaids' Passports

Friction Arises From Dutch Ignoring German Flags At Juliana's Pre-Marital Ceremonies

KENT TO ATTEND

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Netherlands government protested formally to Berlin today against what it termed "an insult to the Queen" because of the alleged holding up of passports for three of Crown Princess' Juliana's bridesmaids.

The protest climaxed German-Netherlands friction preliminary to next Thursday's wedding of Juliana and Prince Bernhard Zu Lippe-Biersterfeld of Germany. The friction arose from Dutch action in ignoring Nazi national flags and anthems in the pre-marital activities.

Bernhard, by requesting that only the Netherlands national anthem be played at the wedding, tried to quiet the controversy somewhat.

(Three of his cousins, the Princesses Sieglinde and Elizabeth Zu Lippe and Sohpie Zu Saxe-Weimar-Eisenbach are among Juliana's chosen bridesmaids.)

It was authoritatively reported the Prince's mother might not be able to attend the wedding because her recent poor health had been ag-

Empire Air Links Are Growing Shorter

London, Jan. 4—(CP Cable.)

AIR links of the Empire are shortening. To-day the flying boat Castor of Imperial Airways opened a new service between Marseille and India.

Until to-day the Mediterranean section of the route to India was via Brindisi, Italy, and Alexandria. For passengers who used train and ship for the first part of the journey this meant a two-night trip to Brindisi. Now they will save one night's rail journey by going to Marseille.

PENSIONERS DECREASE

Toronto Reports 210 Less Applications Than One Year Ago.

TORONTO, Jan. 4 (CP)—Toronto Old Age Pensions Board today reported the number of pension applications in 1936 decreased for the third year in a row. There were 1,540 applications last year, 210 less than in 1935.

Total amount paid to Toronto pensioners during the year was $2,294,742. The number of active pensioners increased from 10,177 to 614 during the year.

Burglars Force Merchants To Give Suspended Chief Job

COUNCIL NOT CONSULTED

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 4.—(CP).—After two breakins within a week, Kingsville merchants brought suspended Chief of Police J. C. Babcock back on special night duty over the week-end. The Chief's 10-day term of suspension for firing his revolver to scare youths ringing the curfew bell Christmas eve concluded to-day.

The move by merchants followed breakin of a restaurant Saturday and theft of $3. Last Monday men attempted to carry off a department store safe containing $150, after breaking into the store. They fled on the appearance of four Kingsville youths.

After a conference merchants requested Chief Babcock to return to special night duty over the week-end. The Chief agreed and for the past two nights has been patrolling the town with Acting Chief Martin Humphries.

While Chief Babcock was guaranteed no set amount for his services, merchants contributed nearly $40, more than the salary he lost through suspension. The move by merchants was independent of council of this town 25 miles south-east of Windsor.

BASQUES WARN BRITISH FROM BAY OF BISCAY

Note States Long Range Coastal Batteries Are Going Into Action

AIMED AT GERMANS

Britain Protests To Insurgents After Steamer Pursued, Fired Upon

LONDON, Jan. 4.—(AP).—British shipping was given advisory warning by the Basque government of Northern Spain to navigate the Bay of Biscay coast with care as it was uncovering coast batteries for long range artillery fire.

The friendly notification said firing of practice rounds would start at 3.30 Tuesday afternoon and would extend from Cape Machicheco, west of Bilbao, to Santona, midway to Santander, on the east.

The zone of fire would cover roughly the area being patrolled by the German battleship Admiral Graf Spee and the cruiser Koenigsberg.

The two warships have been halting Spanish shipping in the coastal waters as a retaliatory measure for the seizure by the Basque government of the German freighter Palos and internment of its cargo at Bilbao.

Order Patrol to Fire.

Basque authorities have ordered their fleet of small patrol boats to fire on any foreign vessel molesting Spanish shipping.

The British government, concerned lest International incidents over German and Spanish steamships hamper moves for non-intervention in the Spanish civil war, ordered a formal protest lodged over interference with its own ships.

The Government instructed Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador to Spain, to protest to the insurgent Junta at Burgos the shelling of the British merchantman Blackhill.

A statement of the Basque government said four Spanish insurgent trawlers had fired 16 shots Friday in an unsuccessful pursuit of the Blackhill seven miles off the northern Spanish coast.

Informed sources indicated an inquiry would be made at the same time over the reported halting of the British steamship. Etriz by a Spanish insurgent trawler.

QUEENSBORO KEEPS MOORE AS REEVE

Given Acclamation Again After Quarter Century In Same Office

TWEED, Jan. 2.—James A. Moore, Queensboro, who has spent over a quarter of a century as Reeve of the Township of Elzevir, has again been accorded an acclamation. Mr. Moore has been chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee of the County Council longer than most people can remember, and his return to the Reeve's chair in Elzevir indicates his wide popularity in that municipality. Mr. Moore is the oldest member of the County Council, and as the representative of Elzevir, he is well known through the county from Belleville to Bancroft.

The Council of the same Township was given an acclamation. They are: Neal Reavie, J. T. Kleinsteuber, Edward Nolan, and Simon Clark.

FEAST OF EPIPHANY

Commemorates Coming of the Magi to Bethlehem.

The Feast of the Epiphany which falls upon January 6, was observed yesterday in many church services. Epiphany, which is symbolic of the manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles, is celebrated twelve days after Christmas. The feast commemorates the coming of the Magi to Bethlehem, and Sunday morning there was read in the churches the Gospel story of the Wise Men, guided by the Star of the East, bringing to the baby Jesus gifts of gold and frankincense and myrrh. Holy Communion will be celebrated in a number of churches on Wednesday in observance of the Epiphany.

workers in a Kirkland Lake mine divulged the story. His mother was told by a neighbor.

Mrs. Strange quickly declared her faith in her husband, firmly convinced he is innocent of the crime which police believe had its root in Black Hand activities in Italy many years ago.

It is alleged Esposito or Strange killed Francisco Romeo, a cousin, in Newcastle, Pa., October 7, 1906. Dominico Calo stood trial for the murder but was freed. Police then started on Esposito's trail that led, they claim, back to Italy, then to Belgium and Northern Ontario.

Resided 23 Years in Ontario

Frank A. Costa, special investigator for Pennsylvania State, traced Esposito to Kirkland Lake and with Constable Alex Wilson of Ontario Provincial Police made the arrest which startled the mining community where the prisoner was known as a prominent figure for 23 years.

Reggio, Calabria, Italy, was the setting for the initial play in the drama. United States police maintain. It was there that Romeo as a policeman shot a black hand compatriot of Esposito who then started on the trail of his cousin. The short, stocky Italian is alleged to have roomed with Romeo for several months when he located him in Buffalo, N.Y. He invited Romeo to Newcastle to help him in a fruit business.

United States authorities claim Esposito and Calo greeted Romeo as he landed in Newcastle. The next day, October 7, 1906, Romeo's body was found in the railway yards, riddled with bullets, but police maintain in a dying statement he linked Esposito with the shooting. Depositions carried by G-Man Costa were said to carry this alleged statement.

Ran Down Highgraders

During his years in the north, Esposito ran down a number of highgraders of the gold camps for the Ontario Mining Association. A Russian, named Ivanchuk, was hanged in Haileybury jail yard for the slaying of Provincial Officer Harry Constable in Cochrane 10 years ago, and police stated Esposito's sleuthing brought about the Russian's arrest.

Esposito is believed to have been married in Belgium in 1913, coming to Canada the following year. He lived in Hamilton, Montreal, Smiths Falls, St. Catharines, Cobalt, South Porcupine before coming to Kirkland Lake.

Benoit, the oldest son, is adopted. By a former marriage, Esposito had two sons, now in Italy. One of them Guiseppe, recently wrote to his father, his letter telling of his return from the Italian campaign in Ethiopia.

FIREMAN KILLED

Three-Alarm Blaze Costs $30,000 in Port Huron.

PORT HURON, Mich., Jan. 4 (C.P.). — One fireman was killed and another injured in a three-alarm fire which broke out last night in the Watson Building here, doing damage estimated at from $30,000 to $50,000.

Norman MacKay, 42, father of two children, who stayed at his post after inhaling dense smoke, collapsed and died. Flying glass cut an artery in the left wrist of Thomas Cadow, 34, but his hurts were not considered serious.

WORK FOR CANADA

Time Must Come When Great Protestant Bodies Must Unite.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 4 (C.P.). — Rt. Rev. Dr. Peter Bryce, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, said yesterday the time must come when all the great Protestant bodies must forget their differences and work for the good of the Dominion.

Quick Wit of Scotian Women Saved Town From Privateers

Surprised With Men Away Fishing Ladies Fool Raiders With Dummies In Red

THOUGHT BRITISH TROOPS

LOCKEPORT, N.S., Jan. 2—(C.P.)—When tales are told of the courage of women in war-crazed Spain, residents of this Shelburne County town recalled the deed of Paddy Locke, who in 1780 saved the town from the ravages of American privateers.

It was early Autumn. The hardy men-folk of Lockeport, known then as Ragged Island, were away fishing on the banks while their wives and daughters were busily engaged at home getting in the season's crop of hay.

Teeney Locke's wife, Paddy, pausing for a moment's rest from her work, gazed absently out over the sparkling ocean. Suddenly she tensed as she sighted a ship at anchor some distance off shore, and recognized it as an American privateer. Even as she looked, the privateers were embarking in their boats to come ashore and pillage.

Dropping her rake, Paddy ran to her house, grasped a musket, and then rushed through the village, spreading the alarm to the rest of the women. She led them back to her house, after telling them to bring muskets and any articles of red clothing they might have about their homes.

Then Paddy set them to work making dummies clothed in red, with rusty muskets and bean poles strapped to their backs. These they placed in conspicuous places near the shore in full view of the privateers.

Amazons Put On a Show

As the sailors neared the shore they noticed the red-coated figures, and taking them for British sentries, stopped to confer.

In the meantime Paddy and her Amazons had hurried back to the house and donned more red clothing. Then, led by Paddy beating on an old drum, they marched down the hill in some sort of formation, firing their muskets in the air.

Startled at this show of apparent power the privateers turned their boats around and rowed rapidly back to their ship. They hoisted anchor and quitted the vicinity with all possible haste, relieved they had not attacked their stronghold so plentifully garrisoned by British redcoats.

Some days later when the men-folk of Lockeport had returned with their catch, and the tale had been recounted around the hearth in each cozy little home, many a bearded face glowed with pride for the courage of their women.

Finance Expert Dead

Prominent in financial and art circles, Frederick B. Housser died at his home in Toronto at the age of 47. Mr. Housser was financial editor of the Toronto Daily Star and first joined that paper in 1923. He later resigned to go into business, but returned to the paper in 1934. He was born in Winnipeg and was a student of theosophy.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING IS HELD

Leslie Lang Is Elected As Trustee For Three-Year Term

LIFFORD LINE, Jan. 4.—The annual meeting of Lifford School, S.S. No. 5, Manvers, was held in the school-house on Wednesday, December 30th, at two o'clock, with an attendance of eight men. A. E. Wilson was appointed chairman for the meeting, and Charles E. Staples was appointed secretary for the afternoon. James Strachan and Cecil Tims audited the school books, the former substituting for Gervin Mulligan, who was absent. Leslie Lang was re-appointed as trustee for another three-year term, leaving the slate of trustees: For 1 year, Charles E. Staples, secretary-treasurer. For 2 years, W. A. Neals, chairman of board. For 3 years, Leslie Lang. The auditors appointed for year are James Strachan and Cecil Tims. By motion it was decided that Wilfred Mulligan be given the contract of caretaker for another yearly term at a salary of eighty dollars, with the work to be done the same as previously. James Strachan was given the contract of supplying the school with eight cords of 16-inch maple and beech body wood at the price of $7.75 per cord. Charles E. Staples was re-appointed secretary-treasurer for another yearly term at a salary of $15.

A motion was made to consider the drilling of a well on the school grounds during the coming year. The trustees were authorized to inquire the cost of same, submitting their report to the ratepayers for approval. If the approval of the ratepayers is general the work will be commenced as soon as convenient. If not, the trustees will submit their report of findings at the next annual meeting.

It was decided by motion to grant W. A. Neals $2 on last year's wood.

The meeting adjourned, to meet for the next annual session on the afternoon of the Wednesday between Christmas and New Year's Day.

COMPLETE PARDON IS GIVEN CHANG

Nanking Council Of State Also Restores Rebel Marshal To Full Civil Rights

NANKING, Jan. 4—(A.P.).—Marshall Chang Hsueh-Liang was pardoned unconditionally to-day by the Council of State for kidnapping Premier Chiang Kai-Shek and raising the standard of revolt in an attempt to force China into war with Japan.

The pardon was made effective immediately and, in addition to cancelling the 10-year prison sentence handed down by a military court, restored the young Marshal to full civil rights.

The Council's action, writing the end to a chapter of China's history that threatened to embroil the entire country in civil war, was believed to have been taken as a result of Generalissimo Chiang's petition for leniency for his erstwhile captor.

Chiang was understood to have great personal faith in the Marshal who captured him December 12 in a sudden coup at Sianfu, remote capital of Shansi Province.

THE BLOODHOUNDS BAY

by Walter S. Masterman

READ THIS FIRST

Jack Reid, only witness to the murder of Sir Henry Severinge in the chapel of his ancient Abbey, is a ne'er-do-well who has been posing as an itinerant painter. In the chapel to steal a jeweled cross, Reid could raise no alarm at the time of the murder for fear of incriminating himself. Richard Selden, summoned from Scotland Yard, questions Lady Hilda, the victim's widow, and Eric Colindale, agent for the estate, who is in love with her. He also talks with Colonel Graham, a neighbor whose bloodhounds found the body of Sir Henry in the coffin of his father, and Mrs. Thornton, the housekeeper. Lady Hilda and Colindale are shocked by Sir Henry's will which leaves everything to James, the butler, except an allowance for the children and his widow PROVIDED she marries Colindale. Reid, who has fallen in love with Sylvia Lawrence, governess of the two Severinge children, determines to help Selden solve the murder when he learns her life and the children's are endangered. One of the mourners at Sir Henry's funeral, a Mrs. Holden, shows unusual interest in the Abbey. After a chat with Hucks, the village innkeeper, Mrs. Holden proves to be Selden in disguise. Jack Reid, in his cottage near the Abbey, has a visitor. Lady Hilda engages Reid to fill Colindale's post and Colonel Graham invites Reid to supervise his estate, too, and to dine with him, but to look out for strangers. Reid romps with the Severinge children, largely as an excuse to see the governess. At Colonel Graham's Reid is surprised when the Colonel insists he spend the night there.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 29

A hand service lift obviated the need for servants in Colonel Graham's study; and the Colonel fetched a tray as the lift ascended. From a cupboard he took a beautiful cut glass liquer set and glasses, and he and Reid sat down.

Graham talked in a perfunctory manner about the estate and the work he required done. It really amounted to nothing very arduous: the shooting arrangements; the payment of servants on the estate every Friday, and so on.

"I can't be bothered with these matters," he said, in explanation; "and if I am away for a week-end there is no one to attend to these small duties. With Colindale I had an arrangement. He would not take a fee, so he had a percentage from the marketing of the estate and gardener and make yourself au fait ther that would suit you, Reid?"

"It's all been sprung on me so suddenly," Reid said with a laugh he tried to make natural. "I really don't know how long I shall be here. If it's any help to you I'll take it on, as long as Lady Severinge doesn't mind."

"I'm sure she won't. Then that's settled; it will be a help to me. You'd better meet my bailiff and head gardner and make yourself au fait with the work."

Reid listened idly to the instructions, his mind far away, and inwardly cursing the Colonel for keeping him.

"Of course," Colonel Graham said a little forcedly, "I don't want to ask anything impertinent, but it would interest me to know what sort of life you have had. Have you traveled abroad at all?"

Reid was surprised and slightly alarmed at the Colonel's diffident manner. "No, I haven't—that is, since I was young," remembering that he had told Graham that his people came from South Africa—a sheer invention.

"You never thought of visiting your old home?"

"I have led rather a lazy life. I'm ashamed to say: art schools and that sort of thing," he said vaguely.

"Quite so. I wonder whether you would think me rude if I asked you whether you came to this place by chance, or had you any reason for visiting this neighborhood."

Reid stared in blank amazement. "None whatever," he said firmly. "I merely wandered here, so to speak."

"Quite so! I understand. Strange that you should have come just before the murder—"

"I hope, Colonel, that you are not suggesting that I had anything to do with it?"

"Not for worlds, my dear fellow. Nothing was further from my thoughts. I was merely thinking of you, an artist seeking peaceful scenes, and getting landed into this mess."

There was an awkward silence, which Reid would not break.

"I suppose Sir Henry did not invite you down here?" Graham asked, a little haltingly.

"Really, Colonel," Reid replied, "I told you that it was mere chance that brought me here. I didn't know of the place, or anyone living here. Of course I knew Sir Henry by name."

"Quite so! I was only wondering..." He paused, as though doubtful how to proceed. "It's a queer thing, but you remind me of an old friend of mine. An extraordinary likeness, but of course that may be a mere coincidence."

After the remarks of the landlord at the "Bull", this turn of the conversation put Reid on his guard. Was it to ask these questions that Colonel Graham had invited him to dinner and offered this job to him?

The Colonel was staring into the fire with a heavy frown on his face. He seemed to take a sudden resolve. "You will think my questions impertinent," he said in a harsh voice, and putting his hand into the inner coat pocket of his dress coat he produced a piece of paper and handed it to Reid.

It had evidently been cut from a newspaper, and was part of a picture with one figure only showing, but fragments of the rest of the group by the side of a seated man. Reid gazed at the old worn remnant in bewilderment, for the face of the man was so strikingly like himself that he no longer wondered at the Colonel's curiosity.

He lifted his eyes from the paper and met the gaze of Colonel Graham fixed on him with a greedy, fierce stare.

"It is very like me," he said quietly. "I don't wonder that you were interested."

"You don't know who that is?" The words were spoken as though the other awaited anxiously for the answer.

Reid handed the cutting back with a laugh. "I haven't the foggiest idea. It's no one I have ever met."

"Well, well! One does meet with these likenesses," the Colonel remarked, folding the paper carefully and replacing it in his pocket.

"Who is this man?" Reid asked; but Graham became secretive at once. "Oh, it wouldn't interest you; a friend I knew many years ago."

But Reid's mind was in a whirl, for he had seen more than the mere likeness. On the back of the paper, which he had idly turned over to see whether there was any date, a few words were scribbled in pencil over the printed matter:

E is here. Take care. H. S.

"H. S." Henry Severinge!

Some strange mystery lay behind this business.

Present Graham rose to help Reid to another liquer brandy, and himself to some strange Indian liquer that he took. Reid also rose, ostensibly to knock his ash into the grate. He walked to the black windows, down which the rain was running in streaks.

"I have quite lost all sense of direction here. Where does the village lie?"

The Colonel stood beside him. "Over there, but of course you can't see anything with the light on, and in this storm. Wait."

He went to the door and switched off the light, and the room was plunged in darkness. For some seconds spots of light swam before Reid's eyes. The fire was merely a red glow. Presently, far off, he saw lights looking like sunken stars.

"That's the village; you can't see much through this rain, but on a fine night one can pick out every house until the lights go out."

He moved to the other side, and Reid followed him with a beating heart.

Reid steadied himself. "Is that in the Abbey?"

"Yes; but it's quite unusual. They always close the shutters on account of the damp from the lake, and the curtains in any case. On a night like this they would hardly have a window unshaded."

A sense of foreboding filled Reid's mind at the sight of that signal light. He had no doubt it had been placed there by Sylvia and it was her SOS. He was glad of the darkness, for he clenched his fists involuntarily and glared at his host.

"Well," the other said in a forced way, "let's have the lights up. I expect friend James has forgotten to shut up."

The light came on, and the windows became black again.

"I think I'll turn in," Graham said abruptly. "I feel restless tonight and shall stay here. I have a bed that lets down from the wall, and I often prefer this place to my bedroom. You know your way?"

Reid took the hint and wished his host good night. He noticed with interest that the door of the room opening on the staircase was a massive affair, at least an inch thick of solid oak, and was secured with steel bolts and a morticed lock. It was a strange door for a snuggery whose walls were of glass.

He turned at the door with a yawn. "I don't expect I shall want to read—I'm rather tired."

The door closed behind him and he went slowly down the few steep steps to the gallery. He saw that his bedroom door was open and that a steady light burned inside. And then a sudden feeling that at all costs he must get away from this place seized him. He must tell Colonel Graham that he was going, and let him think what he liked. He was half-way to his room, but turned back resolutely.

The gallery was very dark, but long practice had made him almost catlike in his powers of sight, and he stole to the door leading to the Colonel's strange room. He opened it and noted that it was a flimsy affair and without a lock. Then he placed his foot on the staircase and drew back with an intake of breath. He felt with his hand as high as he could reach. The staircase was gone, and only a smooth surface rose in a slant before him. The stairs moved on a pivot, like a moving stairway, and what had been steps were now mere plates, tight-fitting and unclimbable.

He paused irresolute, and a rush of surmise overwhelmed his mind. The heavy locked door above, this device of the stairs, and the bloodhounds at large, all spoke of a man in deadly peril. But why, in that case, should the Colonel have trapped him in the house?

TORONTO TO END WATER SHORTAGES

35,000,000-Gallon Supply To Be Assured By New Purification Plant

TORONTO, Jan. 2 (CP).—Built at tremendous cost and the loss of three lives when concrete work collapsed, Toronto's new water purification plant, the city's greatest step in recent years toward an adequate water supply nears completion.

No more will citizens of Toronto be asked to use as little water as possible during heat waves. Within two years Toronto will have a water supply of 35,000,000 gallons of water every 24 hours. The plant, if necessary, can be enlarged to supply 100,000,000 gallons.

Lake Ontario by a concrete retaining wall 1,000 feet in length, the plant covers 19 acres of ground and is located at the eastern city limits. The plant will be the largest in Canada and will compare favorably with those in use in the world's largest cities.

Water for the plant is drawn from Lake Ontario through a tunnel stretching a mile beneath the lakebed and then continued a quarter of a mile further through steel pipes of eight feet in diameter. The intake is 47 feet below the water level.

The water is first brought to the pumping house, then forced up to the filtering plant. Screened through sand and gravel, the water is next stored in a reservoir ready to be pumped into the city mains when needed.

RONGG IS RIGHT

Wright Is Wrong, Judge Rules in Double Patent Claim.

And that, "paradoxical though it may appear," is his decision, Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich held to-day.

"The court holds that Wright is wrong and Rongg is right," the Judge stated. Judgment was so entered.

Co-operative Effort Showing Newfoundlanders' Prosperity

CLUBS ESTABLISHED

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 2.—(CP).—Gerald Richardson is from Missouri, but he does not have to be shown.

Instead, as director of co-operation for the Newfoundland Commission Government, the 28-year-old, red-headed scholar from St. Louis has helped hundreds of Newfoundland fishermen and farmers to lift themselves from economic "hopelessness and helplessness" to comparative prosperity.

A towering six-footer, Richardson came east in 1933 to continue his study of Celtic languages at Saint Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., the only university in North America offering a course in Scotch Gaelic.

He was there only a few weeks when he wrote to his parents in St. Louis, "I saw three cows today, near the campus of this country-like college town."

But Richardson found still stranger things in this small intellectual centre of Eastern Nova Scotia. The famous adult education program of the University's extension department caught his attention. He studied and worked hard delving into its operations and achievements.

Graduating with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1935, he took over "this co-operative business" in earnest. Soon he was editor of the Extension Bulletin, a bi-monthly publication in the interests of adult education.

Sent To Denmark.

Immediately after graduating he was sent by the University to International College, Denmark. There he studied the advanced cooperative plan of Scandinavian countries from May until October.

Saint Francis Xavier University loaned Richardson to the Newfoundland Commission Government last May. Several months later, after he had organized study clubs and credit unions throughout the old colony, they offered him the post of director of co-operation under jurisdiction of the Department of Natural Resources.

Since then the Missourian has travelled 35,000 miles by train, automobile and boat among the scattered communities of the island.

The first organization step was taken in Grates Cove, a town of 800 souls on the rugged East coast. Here various types of study clubs were formed—Home nursing, weaving, sewing, domestic science, sheep raising and public speaking. And withal to teach the people to think for themselves.

The Grates Cove Associated Study Clubs now have almost 200 members, including Bill Cooper, a 68-year-old farmer. They have a co-operative rally song, too, which has a "Come All Ye" swing.

Clubs Located Widely

The work has gone far since then and now clubs are located throughout the land.

"We think the movement will be a great success in Newfoundland despite great difficulties, because of the fine character of the people," said Director Richardson.

"They are easier to teach. They enjoy study and have great courage when it comes to facing their problems."

"Newfoundlanders are hard to convince but once they find a thing to be reasonable they will be loyal to it forever."

Chief field worker under Richardson is Gussie Macdonald, 24-year-old former Glace Bay, N.S. coal miner, who talks and thinks like a university graduate.

Twenty-six students selected by the government completed a six-weeks special course at St. Francis Xavier University earlier this month.

Billed as "shock-troops" of the movement, the group included two district magistrates one of whom holds a law degree from Dalhousie University, Halifax.

Fired with success the movement is growing fast. Given theoretical equipment to work with, the people are solving their own problems, lifting themselves from economic chaos by their proverbial bootstraps.

AUTOMOBILE STRIKERS

Board of Strategy Convenes in Detroit—Has Power to Call General Strike.

DETROIT, Jan. 4 (A.P.). — A Board of Strategy authorized to call a general strike in the General Motors Corporation's 89 plants throughout the United States, convenes here to-day to determine the course of action of the United Automobile Workers of America.

The automotive industry watched this meeting and the scheduled re-opening of motors and parts plants to-day after a three-day holiday to ascertain the effect of strikes which already have closed 19 of the company's branches, leaving at least 38,000 workers idle.

Fashion Service

With blouses playing such an important part every minute of the day, here's a real "find." Their cost will fit into your allowance, too.

Both the tailored "tuck-in" shirt and the short shirt blouse with peplum are made with a single pattern.

The tailored shirt of crepe silk is quite the smartest thing for the office and ordinary day wear. School and college girls simply adore it of crepe silk, woollen, rayon challis or muslin. Washable satin crepe adds a 'dressy' appeal.

Rows of shirring lend interest to the shoulders of the more feminine shirt blouse. You'll note too, the soft gathered fulness at the front beneath the yoke, the belted waistline and the peplum. Crepe silks, lustrous satin crepes and metal cloths are especially nice for this model.

Not even your most intimate friend will ever suspect you made both blouses with the same pattern. You'll have them both for a very modest cost.

Style No. 3484 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44-inches bust. Size 36 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch material for the tailored shirt blouse; the more feminine shirt blouse requires 3 yards of 39-inch material.

SKATERS SKIRTS SHORT THIS SEASON

"O'er ice and snow we glide along,
We shout and sing a merry song.
Our hearts are gay, without a care,
Our spirits light and free as air
As over the ice we go."

SKIRTS are the very smartest thing to wear this season when skating. Two chic skating outfits are pictured for the girl who cuts capers on the ice. Skating has become more and more popular as the girls grow outdoor-minded.

The other costume is not quite so professional looking. The skirt is bright blue wool, and it is worn with white Tyrolean sweater. A skull cap the color of the skirt, or in black or brown, dark gloves and shoes finish the costume.

Remember, when choosing clothes for skating, that your skirt, to be smart, must be knee-length or shorter.

While solid colors seem to be the choice of the skaters, or combinations of light and dark plain shades, the horsewomen are choosing checks and plaids. At a recent country hunt meet one woman wore a coat of large cross-bar check, while another used three patterns in combination, one for her jacket, another for her stock, and a plaid for lining her topcoat.

BRIDGENORTH

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Mann when they entertained about sixty of the young people of Gilmour Church and other friends at their home. The first part of the evening took the form of a skating party on the lake, with a large bon-fire to light the way. When they returned to the house, progressive games were played and also contests were ably taken charge of by Mrs. Mann. At midnight refreshments were served by the hostess and contests were again enjoyed. Miss Lillian McGregor moved a vote of thanks and Mr. Clarence Stabler seconded the motion, replied to by Mrs. Mann.

Mr. Clarence Stabler of Kingston University is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Stabler of Smith.

Mrs. Morton, Miss Janet Calder, Mr. Bernard Calder and two children of Ancaster, spent Christmas with their sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mann of Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Mann of Detroit spent the holiday with their parents, Mrs. John Archer and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mann of Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright and son John spent Christmas vacation with their parents in Toronto.

The W.C.T.U. of Smith will be held in Bridgenorth Church on Monday, January 11.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

WHAT we truly and earnestly aspire to be, that in some sense we are. The mere aspiration, by changing the frame and spirit of the mind, for the moment realizes itself. —Mrs. Jameson.

And this: No man (or woman) is ever laid on a shelf by fate. He climbs up there of his own will, and lies down beneath the dust of forgetfulness because he lacks the heart to arise and face the business of life. —Seton Marriman.

Dear Friends:

Did it ever occur to you how much influence your thoughts have on your success or failure? If you start anything and do not think you can accompash it, you are heading straight for failure, and it gives a droop to your lips, a slowing down of your mentality, a feeling of insecurity, so that you really help yourself to failure.

Many people know when they are sick, that to try and feel that they are going to get better hastens their recovery. All doctors know this, and that is why they do not tell a patient how serious his illness may be, because sometimes the knowledge makes them give up, and so they die when there was no need to die.

And when we think we are going to be successful, our thoughts tend to show us how to bring it about. You cannot take a thought out of your brain and examine it, but you can certainly see the results of it. No successful person ever let themselves think they were going to fail. But so many want to take the easy way. They want to win on a lottery never realizing that they have a winning ticket on the lottery of life once they believe in themselves and go ahead and use it.

Right now I am trying for success and I know I shall succeed. There are many obstacles in the way, which I cannot see how I can clear away. But they will be cleared never fear, and I shall enjoy the success I have labored so hard to get. And I simply will not let myself think I will fail. I know I will be successful.

You know yourself that if some unpleasantness comes your way, it colors your thoughts, it makes you depressed, you can see nothing bright ahead of you, yet the world and those around you are the same before you let the words of someone else become the thoughts in your mind, and see what a lot of trouble pesky irritating thoughts can be.

Well, if it will work like that to your detriment, naturally when you change them to something pleasant, they will work to your good. They work both ways remember. And so, if there is something you want to do or be, think success, and you will have won half the battle. You will gain enthusiasm, and vitality and an eager looking forward. And all the while your mind will be working with you, instead of against you as it does when you think you are going to fail in the desires you have.

Now, in no way am I pushing religion at you, but you simply cannot be successful without keeping in contact with your Maker, because He said "With God all things are possible." So many of us fall down because we forget this vital fact.

You might as well expect a ship to steer itself over the ocean or a car to guide itself over the roads, as to expect to gain success without contacting God. He gave you your power, and He will show you how to use it, if you will use common decency with Him. But if you think you know better than He does, of course you must go your own gait, but you will not go very far.

Put resentment out of your mind. Send thoughts to the one who is causing resentment within you, that they will be more understanding. Right now I am sending thoughts to a person that will alter their opinion of me, an opinion which has no foundation in fact, but is erroneous just the same, and I know this person will get my thought and there will be friendliness result, instead of antagonism.

So, think success, sleep with it, take it with you when you go out, and bring it back with you when you come home. Send the thought of it winging out, and it will come back like a homing pigeon. More later.

Your Friend.
ROBERTA.

HOUSE OF REFUGE VISITED BY GIRLS

Lakefield Junior Group Pay New Year's Call On Old Folk

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 4.—A group of nine members of the Junior Institute of Lakefield and district, gathered at the postoffice on Thursday, December 31 and walked out to the House of Refuge to make their annual New Year's call on the residents. They were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Fry and the old people put on the following musical program:

A sing-song accompanied by Marjorie Frankish in which the old folk joined; a piano instrumental by Minnie Charlton; a reading by Muriel Bulloch, "Long Distance"; an instrumental by Mildred Garbutt; an instrumental by Ethel Lake; a guitar solo by Viola Murphy Marjorie Frankish gave a short sketch of her trip to Bermuda which interested the old people. One of the gentlemen enquired whether any of the girls had seen the Rocky Mountains. He had worked near them for a time, some years ago, and their beauty and immensity had continued to impress him. Miss Frankish's description of the scenic beauties of Bermuda had recalled to his mind the beauty of the British Columbia district.

Miss Lloyd, an employee at the Home, gave a harmonica selection and several of the elderly gentlemen contributed solos which were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. At the conclusion of the program bags of candy, fruit and cookies were distributed. Mr. and Mrs. Fry served afternoon tea at which Miss Irene Frankish who is president of the Junior Institute poured. The girls were then shown through the Home which is modern and well equipped.

Cars called to take the Institute members back to the village.

Messrs. Arthur Thornton and Allan Dawe, both of Toronto spent the New Year week-end in the village the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford.

Mrs. Charles Thompson met with a nasty accident on Tuesday morning last when she slipped on the icy walk and fell, cutting a large gash in her head, just above the ear. She is improving slowly.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute has been postponed from Wednesday, January 7th to Wednesday January 13th, on account of the Class on Home Utilization of Wool which is being held in the Memorial Hall this week.

Lakefield people have been skating on Clear Lake this week. Many citizens of the village spent New Year's gliding over the surface of the lake on skates; owing to the lack of the usual heavy snowfalls, the lake is in good condition for skating.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. MacKenzie and Mrs. Eric Grier are visiting in Quebec, where they hope, weather permitting to participate in the skiing there.

631 Cases of Paralysis

Manitoba had 631 cases of poliomyelitis, (infantile paralysis) during 1936 and there were 28 deaths. From the attack there resulted 75 cases of residual paralysis—that is, cases where the crippling effects of paralysis have remained. That is disastrous enough, but it is much better than the record of the last attack in 1928, when there were 434 cases producing 29 deaths and 150 cases left in the column of residual paralysis.

The officials in Manitoba attacked the epidemic in every possible way. Admittedly the equipment with which any community is supplied is as yet weak enough to meet such an emergency, but they tried isolation, serum, and regulations were strict. Better still, a record has been carefully made of all that happened in Manitoba. This much has been noted:

In municipalities which barred the incoming of people from infected areas there were no cases of infantile paralysis. Whether that proves the value of isolation or is mere coincidence the officers do not state.

Municipal officials in Boissevain district decided at once to give free diagnosis and free treatment. A number of cases were reported; they were dealt with at once and there were no deaths and no residual paralysis.

In one group of 58 cases 32 received serum within 36 hours of the initial symptoms, and in none was there a fatality or a trace of residual paralysis. In the other 28 cases serum was not made available until after 48 hours or more, and in this group of 28 there were 15 cases of residual paralysis.

Another record is that of one family where a girl of 14 was given treatment the day she was taken ill, and in 36 hours was definitely on the road to complete recovery, but the house was kept under quarantine. The parents were sure it had not been a case of poliomyelitis and resented being kept under quarantine. A sister of 12 years was taken ill with similar symptoms but the doctor was not called for three days. Paralysis had set in and the girl was dead two days later.

Records such as have been kept in Manitoba are valuable because the medical world needs to know more about the disease, and worth-while information comes from actual observation when an epidemic is raging. The experience in Manitoba shows that dealing with infantile paralysis in epidemic form should be on a community-wide basis; that a physician should be called and called at once; that serum should be used as soon as possible after the diagnosis. Manitoba officials have made a distinct contribution to national welfare by having noted carefully the progress of their campaign and set forth in detail the results which followed efforts of resistance.

Strikes and Prosperity

The optimist may regard strikes as evidence of the return of better times, but that point is difficult to see and more difficult to admit. The automotive industry in United States is riddled by strikes at the moment. In Detroit General Motors closed its plants for the New Year holiday week-end with 30,000 employees idle because of strikes called by the unions. There are other plants in the southern section of the country where strikes are also in progress in the flat-glass industry from which auto makers secure supplies. Experts claim that if the furnaces in these industries are allowed to close it would take from two to three months after the strike was settled to get them relined and heated again.

The automobile is not all made under one roof. There are possibly many hundreds of places making parts and supplies which enter into the final assembling of the finished car. If the supply from a number of these separated shops cuts off the required quantity of any part then the whole industry suffers. In order to keep on turning out completed cars it is necessary that all the people in all the plants which make parts of them shall all be working. And that is the reason why a strike in any of the separated plants is so far-reaching in its effect. Two hundred people on strike in one place may mean that several thousand may become idle elsewhere.

It may be argued that the coming of strikes indicates the return of better times because it means the workers are certain there is more money to be secured, but one looks in vain at idle plants and workers with no wages when searching for evidence of prosperity returning by that route.

Advertised Goods Are Safer

There was a good looking advertisement in an exchange, and in part it said: "Insist on getting what you pay for." The announcement went on to explain in detail the suits sold by this establishment had a wool content which guaranteed value and wearing quality.

The weak point is that the average buyer is not in a position to insist or to tell the difference between that which is good and that which is inferior. A man goes to a store or a tailoring establishment for a suit of clothes. He may take the material between his fingers and feel it as though he were going to judge of its quality. The number who could do so intelligently would be small. There might be a few possessed of technical knowledge and they could judge with intelligence. The average man can not do so.

The average buyer is in much the same position when he goes for shoes. He is not a judge of leather, and he knows very little of the construction of a shoe. He can tell whether the thing feels comfortable, but that is about all.

That is where the advantage of buying an advertised article enters. A reliable firm advertises its cloth or its suits, and it will state over its own name the nature of the contents. The maker or seller of good shoes will do the same thing. And in doing so these people have placed themselves on record; they have made certain statements and have caused their names to be affixed. Under such surroundings the purchaser can buy with assurance. He is not guessing, but dealing with reliable people who come out in the open and say what they have for sale.

Appealing to the Scots

There is some rather clever publicity being used in Scottish newspapers to popularize the use of Canadian wheat. The message does not stop at reciting the qualities of our wheat, but couples with it a tribute of praise regarding the manner in which the Scottish folk make their bread. In one part we read in The Ayrshire Post:

> "The Canadian wheat farmer is proud of the part his product has played in producing in Scotland bread that has a world-wide reputation for quality. Through the co-operation of skilled and painstaking Scottish bakers, a loaf of bread is baked that is unexcelled for nourishment and flavor."

So right there the wise advertising man has tied up the Scottish baker; he has been given credit for being a great baker using a great product. Nicely timed too is the announcement that "wheat was first grown in Western Canada by Scotsmen."

That sort of advertising should win Scotland, pipes, haggis and porridge bowls included. To be sure we grow the good wheat in Canada, but the Scots came out and grew it first. It makes good flour, but it is the Scottish baker who knows how to make from it good bread. It is a clever and convincing manner in which to sell Canadian wheat or Canadian flour.

Leave the Tenth Alone

We read something the other day where one of the modern writers made reference to the days when men wore separate cuffs. The way in which the case was stated was flippant; in it there was no respect, and it caused one to feel that the men of previous days had been doing something which they should not have done.

Getting dressed particularly on Sunday was not always as simple as it is today. On the Tenth Concession grandfather always had quite a time of it and he needed assistance. Going to church on a Sunday morning at the corner of the Tenth and the Broken Front road was a serious business. Grandfather never did chores on Sunday morning. He got some warm water from the tank at the back of the kitchen range right after breakfast and he was off to his room. And he needed help, and when that time came he let it be known such was the case. His shirt was of grey flannel, but over the front went the dickie, and it had to be carefully tied in place with the tapes which went around to the back, and the dickie front was white as driven snow and as stiff as the piece of tin which stood behind the parlor stove to keep the heat from scorching the wall.

When the dickie and collar were attended to, then came the cuffs. They were of celluloid or rubber and grandfather had carefully cleaned them in the basin on the washstand. The buttons which decorated them were large and black with a little band circling. Also there was a clip arrangement which gave them anchorage to the shirt sleeve. It required rather a delicate arrangement. Grandfather was always fairly handy at fixing things in the house or in the barn. He could make a good enough set of whiffletrees by hand, could fashion a splendid and workable boot-jack and with his pocket knife could whittle out a good button to close and hold the hen-house door, but he could not fix those cuff clasps himself. All he could do was stand still and hold his arms straight while it was being done for him. Grandfather liked those celluloid cuffs hanging down enough for the big cuff buttons to show beneath the coat sleeve. He wore them only on Sunday morning and seemed to be more at peace when he got home and took them off, but as it was his one brief excursion during the week into the land of masculine adornment he wanted to make the most of it. He said—and with truth—there was no use wearing the things if they did not show.

It was a sort of ritual on the Tenth Concession, and for that reason we find no joy in smart men of the present generation speaking in a slighting and altogether irreverent manner of the cuffs of a past generation. It seems too much like a deliberate attack on grandfather and the substantial ways of the Tenth Concession

It Helped Many Farmers

Those who are interested in winter as a time for winter sports have been disappointed by the weather of recent days. They could find no pleasure in finding rain coming down.

There are farmers all over the province to whom the rain of recent days together with the thawing of the snow has been the finest gift which could have been bestowed upon them. Their wells were dry and they had been drawing water for several weeks to attend to the wants of their stock, and it looked as though they would have had to keep on doing so. They were fearing the time when heavy frost would close the creeks. We have seen reports from a number of places saying that the wells were being filled and the farmers' problem in that regard had been solved. So a rain in midwinter has served a good purpose.

NOTE AND COMMENT

American concerns are complaining about the prices British firms are charging for rubber. They seem to regard the charges as crude so to speak.

Exports of liquor to the United States last year more than doubled but that does not seem to have had any effect upon the domestic supply.

There were only forty-seven drunks arrested in Toronto over the New Year. The others were able to keep in a vertical position.

Sir John Martin-Harvey, British actor, has been kneeling so often in rehearsal that he has contracted housemaid's knee. That is what could be called realism in acting.

The charges made at some of the Toronto and Montreal night spots for New Year's eve were enough to give revellers a head-ache without pulling a single cork.

During 1936, 133,118 persons visited the Parliament buildings at Ottawa and this total, we are given to understand, does not include the senators who drop in every once in a while.

The London trunk telephone exchange handled 11,500 calls in five hours on New Year's eve and when you come to think of it that represents a lot of "guess who's speaking" in such a short period.

If these sit-down strikes are to continue the unions will probably soon be pressing for occasional chairs to enable the members to do their sitting in comfort.

The coming parliamentary session is expected to be wound up by the end of April. It will be necessary therefore for both Mr. King and Mr. Bennett to lop an hour or two off all their set speeches.

A bomb-proof four-poster bed has been patented in Germany. If the inventor could also guarantee the thing would be safe against poison gas he would have something.

Great Britain started the new year by laying the keels of two battleships. The armament race is on and all the rules have been thrown overboard by the nations of the world.

The wife of President Roosevelt is now a regular member of the Newspaper Guild. The first lady of the United States writes a syndicated daily column and it is good enough to get by even if she had never seen the White House.

It is apparent that the grim warning of the Christmas holiday death list had its effect. The New Year accident record on both sides of the international boundry line showed a decided improvement, despite a casualty list of over one hundred violent deaths in the United States.

PUZZLED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ A letter with a signature, just what it is I am not sure, has just arrived by mail; the letter was quite easy read, and I was pleased with what it said, but after that I fail.

¶ I know that I can help the jay, who sent that letter here today, and I could set him right; but now I'm badly out of luck, and fear that I am really stuck, his signature's a fright.

¶ I thought at first 'twas Buckingham, and I was sure I knew the man, and then I thought 'twas Jones; I shivered with the thought of that, it left me worried like and flat, I owe him twenty bones.

¶ I turned the thing then upside down, and it looked quite a lot like Brown, but I knew that was wrong; it looked a lot like Samuel Hay, or else perhaps 'twas Jacob May, or else Sylvester Long.

¶ His pen was good, of that I'm sure, to dash of such a signature, for in it there's no pause; perhaps he wrote in fearful haste, a man who had no time to waste, I don't know who he was.

¶ He'll think perhaps it's rather queer, to get no letter back from here, he'll think I've snubbed him sure; it might be any name I know, I've set them down row after row—that awful signature.

Nobody Wants To Milk On Sunday

(By Rusticus in The Stratford Beacon-Herald)

ON THE FARM:—Milking cows is not such a bad job when there is nothing else to do. Somebody has got to milk cows because milk and its products are among the principal and most necessary foods. We might get along somehow without wheat. Some sort of cakes of bread, very inferior it is true, might be made from other grains, but take the milk supply away from a city for a very short time and see what happens.

We have said that milking cows is not such a bad job. There are times though when we frankly get fed up on the monotonous routine of milking cows.

For instance, on Sunday evenings along about 5:30 or six o'clock, the farmer must get into a pair of overalls, grab up his milk pails and milk those cows. Someone has said that television would make the farm boy more willing to stay on the farm. We believe that cows, whose milk producing organs could be set out of gear on Saturday night and kept out of gear till Monday morning, would be many times more effective.

Some of the things we have heard farm boys and hired men say about milking cows on Sunday evening, when they are anxious to be off to see the best girl, would have smashed the most callous radio receiving set had they been broadcast. We have known farm girls who generally helped with the milking refuse to go near bossy on Sunday at all. Their contention was that it made them smell "kind of cowy" when the boy friend called in the evening, and we don't blame them a bit for being a trifle careful.

This winter we have been milking more than our usual number of cows. In fact, we are milking enough cows to make the job of milking them get to be a bit monotonous even on a week day. We are not expecting to make any great amount of money out of our effort. It just happens that we have more cows than usual and the very ones that are in condition to sell are the ones we wish to keep in the herd. In this group of cows, as in most herds, are all kinds of cows, There are those (fortunately a large majority) that give their milk freely. It is a pleasure to milk a cow like that. It isn't even so bad to milk a cow like that on Sunday night. It is this kind of cow they use over in the States for their milk maid contests at their state fairs, and when these girls manage to get so many quarts out of a cow in two minutes somebody sits down and figures out how long it should take the hired man to milk the cows. But the thing doesn't work out that way.

There is a heifer down there in the barn right now that would tax the patience of any man. In time, when there is less pressure on the udder, we shall make an attempt to open up those ducts a trifle so that the milk will come more freely, but just yet it takes us about as long to milk that one heifer as to milk two or three of the other cows.

No, we are not getting any great pleasure out of milking more cows. We are not likely to clear up enough money by spring to enable us to make even a small down payment on a new car. We are like our fellow farmers though—we get a lot of satisfaction out of producing a bigger crop, more cream or meat, irrespective of whether we get paid for our labor or not. We like a nice thick layer of butter on our own bread and we will do our small part to produce the butter so that the other fellow can put a nice covering on his bread.

In this age of machinery one might well ask—why not milk the cows with a machine? Of course, there are many types of power milkers on the market. We know of several farmers who are quite enthusiastic about the milking machine. Then on other farms the very same machine is standing idle while the milking is being done by hand. We may be wrong but it is our belief that the system of hand milking is just about as efficient as any yet devised.

JUST LIKE CHICAGO.

(Hamilton Spectator)

CHINA appears to have outChicagoed Chicago at its most bizarre. Marshall Chang Hsueh-Liang, it is reported, has been sentenced to a term of fifteen years in prison for his rebellion against Generalissimo Chian Kai-Shek by a military court that immediately reduced the punishment to ten years.

Then it was indicated that the government, in view of Chang's youth and voluntary surrender, might issue a New Year's amnesty, granting a full pardon.

So Marshall Chang, in a few hours, has seen his prospects change from those of an interminable confinement to those of probable reinstatement.

As we mentioned once before in an editorial in these columns, we do not like commenting on the affairs of the, to us, obscure Orient, but we had in the Chicago of the days when the gangsters ruled an excellent illustration of what happens when people make a joke of the law. In this case, of course, political considerations no doubt played their part, but even so the reduction of this sentence is more drastic than any we have read of before, and it was rendered the more strange in that it was reduced, as it were, by easy stages.

HERE'S A COMPLAINT.

(New York Sun)

"MANY of the Canadian products covered by the trade agreement entered the United States in greatly increased quantities compared with last year, and were directly competitive with American goods; such products for instance, as seafood, whiskey, cheese and lumber. ....Moreover, the tariff cuts effected by the trade pact with Canada have allowed England, Japan and other countries to send increasing cargoes of finished merchandise and raw materials to the United States. Whether or not the President loses or retains his power (to cut tariff rates) the 14 treaties in operation will continue for their fixed duration."

The Rights of Indians.

(Writer Blames Whites for Their Troubles.)

EDITOR Examiner,

Sir: Having read with great interest and not a little indignation an account of the indignities to which two Indians were recently subpected by a game warden and his assistants while attempting their arrest on a charge of illegal hunting, I feel it my duty to express a few thoughts on the matter.

Many years ago when the Redman freely roamed the woods that everywhere nestled in the broad bosom of our fair land, he found game aplenty and the lakes and rivers teemed with an abundance of fish to meet his need. He did not, however, abuse his privileges, but took only such as he required.

All this has changed since the advent of the white man, whose wanton destruction has obliged our governments to pass laws restricting his intemperate hunting propensities.

Those in authority have recognized the danger of valuable fur-bearing animals becoming extinct because of the insatiable and unnatural cravings of over-zealous hunters who under the false name of sportsmanship extravagantly take the life which they can never give. As we have already stated the Indian was never guilty of this.

In the name of reason I ask, "Is it right that Indians who are the original citizens of this land, be bound by laws, the issuing of which was made necessary by the intemperance of the white man?" Just as the Ethiopians were branded "traitors" and treated accordingly by the aggressive Italians because they refused to submit to the latter's rule in their heretofore free country, so the Indians who defended their freedom, were treated with inhuman harshness.

In Vancouver on March 7, 1913, there passed away a beloved Canadian citizen in the person of Pauline Johnson. She was a talented poetess whose father was chief of The Six Nations Indians and whose mother was an English lady. The sense of injustice to the Indians, a once proud people driven to distant corners of the land was ever strong with her. She arose in the might of her pen to espouse their cause. May she still speak to our hard hearts in this hour when such a champion is needed. One of her poems entitled "The Cattle Thief" in which the speaker is represented to be the daughter of a slain Indian begins thus.

"Stand back, stand back you white-skins, touch that dead man to your shame,
You have stolen my father's spirit, but his body - only claim,
You have killed him, but you shall not dare to touch him now he's dead,
You have cursed, and called him a cattle-thief though you robbed him first of bread—
Robbed him and robbed my people—look there at that shrunken face,
Starved with a hollow hunger, we owe to you and your race.
What have you left us of land, what have you left of game,
What have you brought but evil, and curses since you came?"

The natural resources of the Indians disappeared with the artificiality that accompanies what the white man terms civilization. Thus his means of livelihood have been swept away, and he is forced into any environment altogether uncongenial to his freedom-loving spirit, as well as detrimental to his health.

It is therefore as little as we can do to so adjust our laws that the Indian may have recourse to such resources as hunting, fishing, etc., at all times. This is his own native land. We are intruders.

That we as a nation may recognize his rights is the sincere desire of a sympathetic white man.

A Community Enterprise.

(From the Cobourg Sentinel-Star.)

THE Dundalk Herald, an original and enterprising weekly newspaper in this Grey County village, breaks forth in an ecstacy of joy with a splendid special edition in honour of their new rink. And justifiable is this joy and pride—both as to the new rink and the high standard of the special edition itself.

Most villages and small towns operate their rinks with financial difficulty. Unless the place has a good hockey team to bring necessary revenue to the rink the going is hard. This has been proved time and again with such excellent rinks up that way as the Palmerston and Listowel arenas as examples. When there is not a good hockey team in town the rink revenue is not up to the self-operating mark. Thus, courage is needed.

A village or town that lacks a rink, however, lacks a great deal. Those who have never had one have never realized what they have missed. The wholesome amusement that the village or town provides for its citizens is inestimable. Dundalk will revel for some time to come in the civic enjoyment of their splendid new rink.

The usual difficulty of raising sufficient finances to build such a rink failed to stop the citizens of Dundalk. They raised what they could, and this was considerable. If the citizens would offer free labour to build the rink it could be done. What about it? Doctors, lawyers, farmers, merchants, milkmen, garage men, and what-have-you united in a shoulder-to-shoulder drive. They might not have been ace-high as carpenters but the spirit was willing and they set to work. As a result of this striking example of community enterprise a most creditable community rink today stands ready for the enjoyment of the entire countryside.

There are many municipalities which could stand the same community spirit as was displayed by the citizens of Dundalk.

The Speed Limit Problem.

(From the Hamilton Spectator.)

THE POTENTIAL speed of motor-cars becomes faster and faster. But what is the good of owning a car which can whisk along at 70 miles an hour and upwards, when the law forbids (or is supposed to forbid) any speed in excess of 35 miles? It is exasperating to travel at half-speed and so there is an agitation to do away with legal limits altogether. One of the arguments used is that no one takes any notice of the 35-mile limit, anyway. That, however, is not true. There are plenty of people who scrupulously obey the traffic laws and who are convinced that if all drivers were to do the same there would be no cause for anxiety about highway safety. The higher capacity of their cars is merely a comfortable assurance of reserve power in the event of emergency; it is not regarded as the minimum but the maximum of performance, to be used only under exceptional circumstances.

Another argument of the speed merchants is that statistics show a surprisingly small percentage of accidents at very high rates of speed. It is admitted that when an accident does occur, under such circumstances, it is likely to be of extremely grave character, if not fatal. The reason for the comparatively low percentage, however, is that at present the average speed on the road is not much above legal limit; once that limit is removed, the strong probability is that the number and severity of accidents in the higher speed categories will be immediately increased.

Surely, it requires no argument to prove that risk increases proportionately to speed. With all modern mechanical improvements and technical safeguards, it is, after all, the human factor which counts most in ensuring safety. A car bounding along at 70 to 80 miles an hour is not under proper control and is a peril to itself and to other vehicles. Experts agree that to drive above 50 miles an hour is to invite disaster. While something might be said to stepping up the speed limit to some extent, in view of recent developments in the automobile industry, to abolish it altogether would be to surrender to the demands of the reckless, the selfish and inconsiderate.

THE JACK RABBIT.

(Lindsay Post)

THE BIG game season being over and the ducks having now continued their southern flight under protection of the law, nothing much in the way of game is available to the hunter except the rabbit.

Hundreds of sportsmen, however, are enthusiastic regarding the pleasure to be obtained from this class of sport and are appreciative of the healthful recreation which pursuit of the despised "Jack" affords. It is a wily foe, swift as a greyhound and as keen as a fox.

Quite a number have been noticed in this district recently and a few have fallen before organized hunting parties. At Fenelon Falls where "Jacks" have been a minus quantity for some years several have been bagged within the last few weeks.

REDUCING NOISE.

(St. Thomas Times Journal)

THE time has come when thoughtless individuals who persist in creating noisy disturbances during hours when respectable people are sleeping do so only at the risk of penalties. Many large cities of the United States have successfully conducted anti-noise campaigns and that they mean business is evidenced by the report from Buffalo, where a man who kept a radio turned on loudly at 1.50 a.m., was fined $25 under the anti-noise ordinance. The charge was laid by neighbors who complained. Other noises could and should be eliminated during the hours from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Municipalities will not be censored if they invoke legal action that will permit the imposition of fines for such offenses.

HE WANTS BEEF.

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

THE "roast beef of old England" must have been of very much higher quality than that which is customarily provided for the people of Brockville to gain it the place in song and story which it occupies, for one of the greatest difficulties which confronts the housewives of this community is, we believe, to obtain beef at any price which is worth the eating.

We do not know if Brockville is peculiarly situated in this regard, but we do know that some of the stuff that masquerades as "prime western steer beef" and even a great deal of the beef which bears government brand marks is fit only for stew, and not very good stew at that. It is by no means an unusual experience for housewives and others to buy beef which is highly praised by the butcher and then to discover, after it has been roasted, that it is too much for human jaws to master. To the soup-pot or to the cats and dogs it goes.

Hundreds of Brockville households are calling for good beef, tender beef above all. They are willing to pay for it at a reasonable premium, but they find that it is almost impossible to procure. We have even known people to bring back good beef from Ottawa and elsewhere because they cannot buy it here. And yet on the rare occasions when really quality beef is offered, it is quickly sold.

Give us real beef, tender beef, succulent beef, beef to which people will turn again and again instead of viewing it with dismay and misgiving whenever it reappears on the table. There is money in it for the purveyor who accepts the challenge.

A FOOD SHORTAGE.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

GERMANY is experiencing a bad winter due to shortage of meat, butter, wheat, and other food supplies.

The German press, directed completely by the Hitler dictatorship, is adopting a characteristically Teuton attitude by trying to divert public attention from hunger and distress by pointing out how terrible are conditions in London and New York, as compared with the fatherland. There are also many exulting references to the wonderful navy that is being built up and the efficiency of the German army.

Under the type of government existent in Germany, it is no task at all to divert money badly needed for food supplies to the construction of submarines and cannon. There is no doubt about the general destitution in Germany but how could it be otherwise when every governmental activity is directed to warlike preparations and all available money is commandeered for that purpose?

RESOLUTIONS

The glad new year comes to us once again,
With all its new-born hopes and poignant fears.
The tired old year has passed and gone fore'er;
We must forget the sorrow of past years.

And square our shoulders up and start anew,
All armed with resolutions true and strong.
And help us, Lord, we pray, to do the right,
And guide our feet from slipping into wrong.

Help us be good, be true, unselfish, kind,
Help us enjoy the good things of this Earth.
This fresh new year comes to us all unstained,
For us to take our share of joy and mirth.

So let us all resolve to make this year,
The best twelve months without a doubt or fear.

Fashion Service

With blouses playing such an important part every minute of the day, here's a real "find." Their cost will fit into your allowance, too.

Both the tailored "tuck-in" shirt and the short shirt blouse with peplum are made with a single pattern.

The tailored shirt of crepe silk is quite the smartest thing for the office and ordinary day wear. School and college girls simply adore it of crepe silk, woollen, rayon challis or mualin. Washable satin crepe adds a 'dressy' appeal.

Rows of shirring lend interest to the shoulders of the more feminine shirt blouse. You'll note too, the soft gathered fulness at the front beneath the yoke, the belted waistline and the peplum. Crepe silks, lustrous satin crepes and metal cloths are especially nice for this model.

Not even your most intimate friend will ever suspect you made both blouses with the same pattern. You'll have them both for a very modest cost.

Style No. 3484 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44-inches bust. Size 36 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch material for the tailored shirt blouse; the more feminine shirt blouse requires 3 yards of 39-inch material.

SKATERS SKIRTS SHORT THIS SEASON

"O'er ice and snow we glide along,
We shout and sing a merry song.
Our hearts are gay, without a care,
Our spirits light and free as air
As over the ice we go."

SKIRTS are the very smartest thing to wear this season when skating. Two chic skating outfits are pictured for the girl who cuts capers on the ice. Skating has become more and more popular as the girls grow outdoor-minded.

The other costume is not quite so professional looking. The skirt is bright blue wool, and it is worn with white Tyrolean sweater. A skull cap the color of the skirt, or in black or brown, dark gloves and shoes finish the costume.

Remember, when choosing clothes for skating, that your skirt, to be smart, must be knee-length or shorter.

While solid colors seem to be the choice of the skaters, or combinations of light and dark plain shades, the horsewomen are choosing checks and plaids. At a recent country hunt meet one woman wore a coat of large cross-bar check, while another used three patterns in combination, one for her jacket, another for her stock, and a plaid for lining her topcoat.

BRIDGENORTH

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Mann when they entertained about sixty of the young people of Gilmour Church and other friends at their home. The first part of the evening took the form of a skating party on the lake, with a large bon-fire to light the way. When they returned to the house, progressive games were played and also contests were ably taken charge of by Mrs. Mann. At midnight refreshments were served by the hostess and contests were again enjoyed. Miss Lillian McGregor moved a vote of thanks and Mr. Clarence Stabler seconded the motion, replied to by Mrs. Mann.

Mr. Clarence Stabler of Kingston University is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Stabler of Smith.

Mrs. Morton, Miss Janet Calder, Mr. Bernard Calder and two children of Ancaster, spent Christmas with their sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mann of Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Mann of Detroit spent the holiday with their parents, Mrs. John Archer and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mann of Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright and son John spent Christmas vacation with their parents in Toronto.

Weddings

DAY—DENSTON.

The wedding of Sigrid Denston, Reg. N., eldest daughter of Mrs. Flora Denston of 451 Water Street and the late Walter Denston of Katton, England, to John Day of Peterborough (member of the Central Ontario News Company), formerly of London, England, was a quiet event of Sunday (January 3rd) morning at ten o'clock, at All Saints' Church, with the rector, the Rev. J. D. Paterson, officiating.

Attendants were the bride's mother, Mrs. Denston, and her brother Eric. Only the immediate members of the family were present at the ceremony.

SPRATT—WHITEMAN.

TWEED, Jan. 4.—A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the United, Church Parsonage, Eldorado, on Wednesday, December 30, when Ethel Annie Whiteman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Whiteman, of Madoc Township, became the bride of William J. Spratt, son of the late John Spratt of Chandos Township. The attendants were the brother and sister of the bride, Mildred Whiteman and Henry Whiteman. Rev. W. G. Fletcher officiated.

CLEMENGER—GOODCHILD.

TWEED, Jan. 4.—At the United Church Parsonage, Marmora, December 28, Mr. Clayton Forest Clemenger, of Marmora, and Miss Helen Mary Goodchild, of Eldorado, were united in marriage by Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth. The young couple were attended by Miss Lela Margaret Goodchild, sister of the bride, and Mr. Wilfred Horace Penn, of Madoc.

HASTINGS

The Women's Institute will hold their January meeting on Tuesday, December 5th, in the council chambers. Miss Flo German will be program convenor. Just Between Us Women

WHAT we truly and earnestly aspire to be, that in some sense we are. The mere aspiration, by changing the frame and spirit of the mind, for the moment realizes itself. —Mrs. Jameson.

And this: No man (or woman) is ever laid on a shelf by fate. He climbs up there of his own will, and lies down beneath the dust of forgetfulness because he lacks the heart to arise and face the business of life. —Seton Marriman.

Dear Friends:

Did it ever occur to you how much influence your thoughts have on your success or failure? If you start anything and do not think you can accompaish it, you are heading straight for failure, and it gives a droop to your lips, a slowing down of your mentality, a feeling of insecurity, so that you really help yourself to failure.

Many people know when they are sick, that to try and feel that they are going to get better hastens their recovery. All doctors know this, and that is why they do not tell a patient how serious his illness may be, because sometimes the knowledge makes them give up, and so they die when there was no need to die.

And when we think we are going to be successful, our thoughts tend to show us how to bring it about. You cannot take a thought out of your brain and examine it, but you can certainly see the results of it. No successful person ever let themselves think they were going to fail. But so many want to take the easy way. They want to win on a lottery never realizing that they have a winning ticket on the lottery of life once they believe in themselves and go ahead and use it.

Right now I am trying for success and I know I shall succeed. There are many obstacles in the way, which I cannot see how I can clear away. But they will be cleared never fear, and I shall enjoy the success I have labored so hard to get. And I simply will not let myself think I will fail. I know I will be successful.

You know yourself that if some unpleasantness comes your way, it colors your thoughts, it makes you depressed, you can see nothing bright ahead of you, yet the world and those around you are the same before you let the words of someone else become the thoughts in your mind, and see what a lot of trouble pesky irritating thoughts can be.

Well, if it will work like that to your detriment, naturally when you change them to something pleasant, they will work to your good. They work both ways remember. And so, if there is something you want to do or be, think success, and you will have won half the battle. You will gain enthusiasm, and vitality and an eager looking forward. And all the while your mind will be working with you, instead of against you as it does when you think you are going to fail in the desires you have.

Now, in no way am I pushing religion at you, but you simply cannot be successful without keeping in contact with your Maker, because He said "With God all things are possible." So many of us fall down because we don't get this vital fact.

You might as well expect a ship to steer itself over the ocean, or a car to guide itself over the roads, as to expect to gain success without contacting God. He gave you your power, and He will show you how to use it, if you will use common decency with Him. But if you think you know better than He does, of course you must go your own gait, but you will not go very far.

Put resentment out of your mind. Send thoughts to the one who is causing resentment within you, that they will be more understanding. Right now I am sending thoughts to a person that will alter their opinion of me, an opinion which has no foundation in fact, but is erroneous just the same, and I know this person will get my thought and there will be friendliness result, instead of antagonism.

So, think success, sleep with it, take it with you when you go out, and bring it back with you when you come home. Send the thought of it winging out, and it will come back like a homing pigeon. More later.

Your Friend.
ROBERTA.

HOUSE OF REFUGE VISITED BY GIRLS

Lakefield Junior Group Pay New Year's Call On Old Folk

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 4.—A group of nine members of the Junior Institute of Lakefield and district, gathered at the postoffice on Thursday, December 31 and walked out to the House of Refuge to make their annual New Year's call on the residents. They were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Fry and the old people put on the following musical program:

A sing-song accompanied by Marjorie Frankish in which the old folk joined; a piano instrumental by Minnie Charlton; a reading by Muriel Bulloch, "Long Distance"; an instrumental by Mildred Garbutt; an instrumental by Ethel Lake; a guitar solo by Viola Murphy. Marjorie Frankish gave a short sketch of her trip to Bermuda which interested the old people. One of the gentlemen enquired whether any of the girls had seen the Rocky Mountains. He had worked near them for a time, some years ago, and their beauty and immensity had continued to impress him. Miss Frankish's description of the scenic beauties of Bermuda had recalled to his mind the beauty of the British Columbia district.

Miss Lloyd, an employee at the Home, gave a harmonica selection and several of the elderly gentlemen contributed solos which were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. At the conclusion of the program bags of candy, fruit and cookies were distributed. Mr. and Mrs. Fry served afternoon tea at which Miss Irene Frankish who is president of the Junior Institute poured. The girls were then shown through the Home which is modern and well equipped.

Cars called to take the Institute members back to the village.

Messrs. Arthur Thornton and Allan Dawe, both of Toronto spent the New Year week-end in the village the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford.

Mrs. Charles Thompson met with a nasty accident on Tuesday morning last when she slipped on the icy walk and fell, cutting a large gash in her head, just above the ear. She is improving slowly.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute has been postponed from Wednesday, January 7th to Wednesday January 13th, on account of the Class on Home Utilization of Wool which is being held in the Memorial Hall this week.

Lakefield people have been skating on Clear Lake this week. Many citizens of the village spent New Year's gliding over the surface of the lake on skates; owing to the lack of the usual heavy snowfalls, the lake is in good condition for skating.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. MacKenzie and Mrs. Eric Grier are visiting in Quebec, where they hope, weather permitting to participate in the skiing there.

Manitoba had 631 cases of poliomyelitis, (infantile paralysis) during 1936 and there were 28 deaths. From the attack there resulted 75 cases of residual paralysis—that is, cases where the crippling effects of paralysis have remained. That is disastrous enough, but it is much better than the record of the last attack in 1928, when there were 434 cases producing 29 deaths and 150 cases left in the column of residual paralysis.

The officials in Manitoba attacked the epidemic in every possible way. Admittedly the equipment with which any community is supplied is as yet weak enough to meet such an emergency, but they tried isolation, serum, and regulations were strict. Better still, a record has been carefully made of all that happened in Manitoba. This much has been noted:

In municipalities which barred the incoming of people from infected areas there were no cases of infantile paralysis. Whether that proves the value of isolation or is mere coincidence the officers do not state.

Municipal officials in Boissevain district decided at once to give free diagnosis and free treatment. A number of cases were reported; they were dealt with at once and there were no deaths and no residual paralysis.

In one group of 58 cases 32 received serum within 36 hours of the initial symptoms, and in none was there a fatality or a trace of residual paralysis. In the other 28 cases serum was not made available until after 48 hours or more, and in this group of 28 there were 15 cases of residual paralysis.

Another record is that of one family where a girl of 14 was given treatment the day she was taken ill, and in 36 hours was definitely on the road to complete recovery, but the house was kept under quarantine. The parents were sure it had not been a case of poliomyelitis and resented being kept under quarantine. A sister of 12 years was taken ill with similar symptoms but the doctor was not called for three days. Paralysis had set in and the girl was dead two days later.

Records such as have been kept in Manitoba are valuable because the medical world needs to know more about the disease, and worth-while information comes from actual observation when an epidemic is raging. The experience in Manitoba shows that dealing with infantile paralysis in epidemic form should be on a community-wide basis; that a physician should be called and called at once; that serum should be used as soon as possible after the diagnosis. Manitoba officials have made a distinct contribution to national welfare by having noted carefully the progress of their campaign and set forth in detail the results which followed efforts of resistance.

Strikes and Prosperity

The optimist may regard strikes as evidence of the return of better times, but that point is difficult to see and more difficult to admit. The automotive industry in United States is riddled by strikes at the moment. In Detroit General Motors closed its plants for the New Year holiday week-end with 30,000 employees idle because of strikes called by the unions. There are other plants in the southern section of the country where strikes are also in progress in the flat-glass industry from which auto makers secure supplies. Experts claim that if the furnaces in these industries are allowed to close it would take from two to three months after the strike was settled to get them relined and heated again.

The automobile is not all made under one roof. There are possibly many hundreds of places making parts and supplies which enter into the final assembling of the finished car. If the supply from a number of these separated shops cuts off the required quantity of any part then the whole industry suffers. In order to keep on turning out completed cars it is necessary that all the people in all the plants which make parts of them shall all be working. And that is the reason why a strike in any of the separated plants is so far-reaching in its effect. Two hundred people on strike in one place may mean that several thousand may become idle elsewhere.

It may be argued that the coming of strikes indicates the return of better times because it means the workers are certain there is more money to be secured, but one looks in vain at idle plants and workers with no wages when searching for evidence of prosperity returning by that route.

Advertised Goods Are Safer

There was a good looking advertisement in an exchange, and in part it said: "Insist on getting what you pay for." The announcement went on to explain in detail the suits sold by this establishment had a wool content which guaranteed value and wearing quality.

The weak point is that the average buyer is not in a position to insist or to tell the difference between that which is good and that which is inferior. A man goes to a store or a tailoring establishment for a suit of clothes. He may take the material between his fingers and feel it as though he were going to judge of its quality. The number who could do so intelligently would be small. There might be a few possessed of technical knowledge and they could judge with intelligence. The average man can not do so.

The average buyer is in much the same position when he goes for shoes. He is not a judge of leather, and he knows very little of the construction of a shoe. He can tell whether the thing feels comfortable, but that is about all.

That is where the advantage of buying an advertised article enters. A reliable firm advertises its cloth or its suits, and it will state over its own name the nature of the contents. The maker or seller of good shoes will do the same thing. And in doing so these people have placed themselves on record; they have made certain statements and have caused their names to be affixed. Under such surroundings the purchaser can buy with assurance. He is not guessing, but dealing with reliable people who come out in the open and say what they have for sale.

Appealing to the Scots

There is some rather clever publicity being used in Scottish newspapers to popularize the use of Canadian wheat. The message does not stop at reciting the qualities of our wheat, but couples with it a tribute of praise regarding the manner in which the Scottish folk make their bread. In one part we read in The Ayrshire Post:

"The Canadian wheat farmer is proud of the part his product has played in producing in Scotland bread that has a world-wide reputation for quality. Through the co-operation of skilled and painstaking Scottish bakers, a loaf of bread is baked that is unexcelled for nourishment and flavor."

So right there the wise advertising man has tied up the Scottish baker; he has been given credit for being a great baker using a great product. Nicely timed too is the announcement that "wheat was first grown in Western Canada by Scotsmen."

That sort of advertising should win Scotland, pipes, haggis and porridge bowls included. To be sure we grow the good wheat in Canada, but the Scots came out and grew it first. It makes good flour, but it is the Scottish baker who knows how to make from it good bread. It is a clever and convincing manner in which to sell Canadian wheat or Canadian flour.

Leave the Tenth Alone

We read something the other day where one of the modern writers made reference to the days when men wore separate cuffs. The way in which the case was stated was flippant; in it there was no respect, and it caused one to feel that the men of previous days had been doing something which they should not have done.

Getting dressed particularly on Sunday was not always as simple as it is today. On the Tenth Concession grandfather always had quite a time of it and he needed assistance. Going to church on a Sunday morning at the corner of the Tenth and the Broken Front road was a serious business. Grandfather never did chores on Sunday morning. He got some warm water from the tank at the back of the kitchen range right after breakfast and he was off to his room. And he needed help, and when that time came he let it be known such was the case. His shirt was of grey flannel, but over the front went the dickie, and it had to be carefully tied in place with the tapes which went around to the back, and the dickie front was white as driven snow and as stiff as the piece of tin which stood behind the parlor stove to keep the heat from scorching the wall.

When the dickie and collar were attended to, then came the cuffs. They were of celluloid or rubber and grandfather had carefully cleaned them in the basin on the washstand. The buttons which decorated them were large and black with a little band circling. Also there was a clip arrangement which gave them anchorage to the shirt sleeve. It required rather a delicate arrangement. Grandfather was always fairly handy at fixing things in the house or in the barn. He could make a good enough set of whiffletrees by hand, could fashion a splendid and workable boot-jack and with his pocket knife could whittle out a good button to close and hold the hen-house door, but he could not fix those cuff clasps himself. All he could do was stand still and hold his arms straight while it was being done for him. Grandfather liked those celluloid cuffs hanging down enough for the big cuff buttons to show beneath the coat sleeve. He wore them only on Sunday morning and seemed to be more at peace when he got home and took them off, but as it was his one brief excursion during the week into the land of masculine adornment he wanted to make the most of it. He said—and with truth—there was no use wearing the things if they did not show.

It was a sort of ritual on the Tenth Concession, and for that reason we find no joy in smart men of the present generation speaking in a slighting and altogether irreverent manner of the cuffs of a past generation. It seems too much like a deliberate attack on grandfather and the substantial ways of the Tenth Concession

Those who are interested in winter as a time for winter sports have been disappointed by the weather of recent days. They could find no pleasure in finding rain coming down.

There are farmers all over the province to whom the rain of recent days together with the thawing of the snow has been the finest gift which could have been bestowed upon them. Their wells were dry and they had been drawing water for several weeks to attend to the wants of their stock, and it looked as though they would have had to keep on doing so. They were fearing the time when heavy frost would close the creeks. We have seen reports from a number of places saying that the wells were being filled and the farmers' problem in that regard had been solved. So a rain in midwinter has served a good purpose.

NOTE AND COMMENT

American concerns are complaining about the prices British firms are charging for rubber. They seem to regard the charges as crude so to speak.

Exports of liquor to the United States last year more than doubled but that does not seem to have had any effect upon the domestic supply.

There were only forty-seven drunks arrested in Toronto over the New Year. The others were able to keep in a vertical position.

Sir John Martin-Harvey, British actor, has been kneeling so often in rehearsal that he has contracted housemaid's knee. That is what could be called realism in acting.

The charges made at some of the Toronto and Montreal night spots for New Year's eve were enough to give revellers a head-ache without pulling a single cork.

During 1936, 133,118 persons visited the Parliament buildings at Ottawa and this total, we are given to understand, does not include the senators who drop in every once in a while.

The London trunk telephone exchange handled 11,500 calls in five hours on New Year's eve and when you come to think of it that represents a lot of "guess who's speaking" in such a short period.

If these sit-down strikes are to continue the unions will probably soon be pressing for occasional chairs to enable the members to do their sitting in comfort.

The coming parliamentary session is expected to be wound up by the end of April. It will be necessary therefore for both Mr. King and Mr. Bennett to lop an hour or two off all their set speeches.

A bomb-proof four-poster bed has been patented in Germany. If the inventor could also guarantee the thing would be safe against poison gas he would have something.

Great Britain started the new year by laying the keels of two battleships. The armament race is on and all the rules have been thrown overboard by the nations of the world.

Vancouver man is playing thirty-three games of chess via the correspondence route with opponents scattered all over the globe and we imagine Premier Aberhart would be glad if the folk in Alberta had as much patience.

The wife of President Roosevelt is now a regular member of the Newspaper Guild. The first lady of the United States writes a syndicated daily column and it is good enough to get by even if she had never seen the White House.

It is apparent that the grim warning of the Christmas holiday death list had its effect. The New Year accident record on both sides of the international boundry line showed a decided improvement, despite a casualty list of over one hundred violent deaths in the United States.

PUZZLED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ A letter with a signature, just what it is I am not sure, has just arrived by mail; the letter was quite easy read, and I was pleased with what it said, but after that I fail.

¶ I know that I can help the jay, who sent that letter here today, and I could set him right; but now I'm badly out of luck, and fear that I am really stuck, his signature's a fright.

¶ I thought at first 'twas Buckingham, and I was sure I knew the man, and then I thought 'twas Jones; I shivered with the thought of that, it left me worried like and flat, I owe him twenty bones.

¶ I turned the thing then upside down, and it looked quite a lot like Brown, but I knew that was wrong; it looked a lot like Samuel Hay, or else perhaps 'twas Jacob May, or else Sylvester Long.

¶ His pen was good, of that I'm sure, to dash of such a signature, for in it there's no pause; perhaps he wrote in fearful haste, a man who had no time to waste, I don't know who he was.

¶ He'll think perhaps it's rather queer, to get no letter back from here, he'll think I've snubbed him sure; it might be any name I know, I've set them down row after row—that awful signature.

Nobody Wants To Milk On Sunday

(By Rusticus in The Stratford Beacon-Herald)

ON THE FARM:—Milking cows is not such a bad job when there is nothing else to do. Somebody has got to milk cows because milk and its products are among the principal and most necessary foods. We might get along somehow without wheat. Some sort of cakes of bread, very inferior it is true, might be made from other grains, but take the milk supply away from a city for a very short time and see what happens.

We have said that milking cows is not such a bad job. There are times though when we frankly get fed up on the monotonous routine of milking cows.

For instance, on Sunday evenings along about 5:30 or six o'clock, the farmer must get into a pair of overalls, grab up his milk pails and milk those cows. Someone has said that television would make the farm boy more willing to stay on the farm. We believe that cows, whose milk producing organs could be set out of gear on Saturday night and kept out of gear till Monday morning, would be many times more effective.

Some of the things we have heard farm boys and hired men say about milking cows on Sunday evening, when they are anxious to be off to see the best girl, would have smashed the most callous radio receiving set had they been broadcast. We have known farm girls who generally helped with the milking refuse to go near bossy on Sunday at all. Their contention was that it made them smell "kind of cowy" when the boy friend called in the evening, and we don't blame them a bit for being a trifle careful.

This winter we have been milking more than our usual number of cows. In fact, we are milking enough cows to make the job of milking them get to be a bit monotonous even on a week day. We are not expecting to make any great amount of money out of our effort. It just happens that we have more cows than usual and the very ones that are in condition to sell are the ones we wish to keep in the herd. In this group of cows, as in most herds, are all kinds of cows. There are those (fortunately a large majority) that give their milk freely. It is a pleasure to milk a cow like that. It isn't even so bad to milk a cow like that on Sunday night. It is this kind of cow they use over in the States for their milk maid contests at their state fairs, and when these girls manage to get so many quarts out of a cow in two minutes somebody sits down and figures out how long it should take the hired man to milk the cows. But the thing doesn't work out that way.

There is a heifer down there in the barn right now that would tax the patience of any man. In time, when there is less pressure on the udder, we shall make an attempt to open up those ducts a trifle so that the milk will come more freely, but just yet it takes us about as long to milk that one heifer as to milk two or three of the other cows.

No, we are not getting any great pleasure out of milking more cows. We are not likely to clear up enough money by spring to enable us to make even a small down payment on a new car. We are like our fellow farmers though—we get a lot of satisfaction out of producing a bigger crop, more cream or meat, irrespective of whether we get paid for our labor or not. We like a nice thick layer of butter on our own bread and we will do our small part to produce the butter so that the other fellow can put a nice covering on his bread.

In this age of machinery one might well ask—why not milk the cows with a machine? Of course, there are many types of power milkers on the market. We know of several farmers who are quite enthusiastic about the milking machine. Then on other farms the very same machine is standing idle while the milking is being done by hand. We may be wrong but it is our belief that the system of hand milking is just about as efficient as any yet devised.

JUST LIKE CHICAGO.

(Hamilton Spectator)

CHINA appears to have outChicagoed Chicago at its most bizarre. Marshall Chang Haueh-Liang, it is reported, has been sentenced to a term of fifteen years in prison for his rebellion against Generalissimo Chian Kai-Shek by a military court that immediately reduced the punishment to ten years.

Then it was indicated that the government, in view of Chang's youth and voluntary surrender, might issue a New Year's amnesty, granting a full pardon.

So Marshall Chang, in a few hours, has seen his prospects change from those of an interminable confinement to those of probable reinstatement.

As we mentioned once before in an editorial in these columns, we do not like commenting on the affairs of the, to us, obscure Orient, but we had in the Chicago of the days when the gangsters ruled an excellent illustration of what happens when people make a joke of the law. In this case, of course, political considerations no doubt played their part, but even so the reduction of this sentence is more drastic than any we have read of before, and it was rendered the more strange in that it was reduced, as it were, by easy stages.

HERE'S A COMPLAINT.

(New York Sun)

"MANY of the Canadian products covered by the trade agreement entered the United States in greatly increased quantities compared with last year, and were directly competitive with American goods; such products for instance, as seafood, whiskey, cheese and lumber. . . . Moreover, the tariff cuts effected by the trade pact with Canada have allowed England, Japan and other countries to send increasing cargoes of finished merchandise and raw materials to the United States. Whether or not the President loses or retains his power (to cut tariff rates) the 14 treaties in operation will continue for their fixed duration."

Britain spent $750,000 in 1936 fighting rust corrosion.

The Rights of Indians.

(Writer Blames Whites for Their Troubles.)

EDITOR Examiner.

Sir: Having read with great interest and not a little indignation an account of the indignities to which two Indians were recently subpected by a game warden and his assistants while attempting their arrest on a charge of illegal hunting, I feel it my duty to express a few thoughts on the matter.

Many years ago when the Redman freely roamed the woods that everywhere nestled in the broad bosom of our fair land, he found game aplenty and the lakes and rivers teemed with an abundance of fish to meet his need. He did not, however, abuse his privileges, but took only such as he required.

All this has changed since the advent of the white man, whose wanton destruction has obliged our governments to pass laws restricting his intemperate hunting propensities.

Those in authority have recognized the danger of valuable fur-bearing animals becoming extinct because of the insatiable and unnatural cravings of over-zealous hunters who under the false name of sportsmanship extravagantly take the life which they can never give. As we have already stated the Indian was never guilty of this.

In the name of reason I ask, "Is it right that Indians who are the original citizens of this land, be bound by laws, the issuing of which was made necessary by the intemperance of the white man?" Just as the Ethiopians were branded "traitors" and treated accordingly by the aggressive Italians because they refused to submit to the latter's rule in their heretofore free country, so the Indians who defended their freedom, were treated with inhuman harshness.

In Vancouver on March 7, 1913, there passed away a beloved Canadian citizen in the person of Pauline Johnson. She was a talented poetess whose father was chief of The Six Nations Indians and whose mother was an English lady. The sense of injustice to the Indians, a once proud people driven to distant corners of the land was ever strong with her. She arose in the might of her pen to espouse their cause. May she still speak to our hard hearts in this hour when such a champion is needed. One of her poems entitled "The Cattle Thief" in which the speaker is represented to be the daughter of a slain Indian begins thus.

"Stand back, stand back you whiteskins, touch that dead man to your shame,
You have stolen my father's spirit, but his body I only claim.
You have killed him, but you shall not dare to touch him now he's dead,
You have cursed, and called him a cattle-thief though you robbed him first of bread—
Robbed him and robbed my people—look there at that shrunken face,
Starved with a hollow hunger, we owe to you and your race.
What have you left us of land, what have you left of game,
What have you brought but evil, and curses since you came?"

The natural resources of the Indians disappeared with the artificiality that accompanies what the white man terms civilization. Thus his means of livelihood have been swept away, and he is forced into any environment altogether uncongenial to his freedom-loving spirit, as well as detrimental to his health.

It is therefore as little as we can do to so adjust our laws that the Indian may have recourse to such resources as hunting, fishing, etc., at all times. This is his own native land. We are intruders.

That we as a nation may recognize his rights is the sincere desire of a sympathetic white man.

A Community Enterprise.

(From the Cobourg Sentinel-Star.)

THE Dundalk Herald, an original and enterprising weekly newspaper in this Grey County village, breaks forth in an ecstacy of joy with a splendid special edition in honour of their new rink. And justifiable is this joy and pride—both as to the new rink and the high standard of the special edition itself.

Most villages and small towns operate their rinks with financial difficulty. Unless the place has a good hockey team to bring necessary revenue to the rink the going is hard. This has been proved time and again as the Palmerston and Listowel arenas as examples. When there is not a good hockey team in town the rink revenue is not up to the self-operating mark. Thus, courage is needed.

A village or town that lacks a rink, however, lacks a great deal. Those who have never had one have never realized what they have missed. The wholesome amusement that the village or town provides for its citizens is inestimable. Dundalk will revel for some time to come in the civic enjoyment of their splendid new rink.

The usual difficulty of raising sufficient finances to build such a rink failed to stop the citizens of Dundalk. They raised what they could, and this was considerable. If the citizens would offer free labour to build the rink it could be done. What about it? Doctors, lawyers, farmers, merchants, milkmen, garage men, and what-have-you united in a shoulder-to-shoulder drive. They might not have been ace-high as carpenters but the spirit was willing and they set to work. As a result of this striking example of community enterprise a most creditable community rink today stands ready for the enjoyment of the entire countryside.

There are many municipalities which could stand the same community spirit as was displayed by the citizens of Dundalk.

The Speed Limit Problem.

THE POTENTIAL speed of motorcars becomes faster and faster. But what is the good of owning a car which can whisk along at 70 miles an hour and upwards, when the law forbids (or is supposed to forbid) any speed in excess of 35 miles? It is exasperating to travel at half-speed and so there is an agitation to do away with legal limits altogether. One of the arguments used is that no one takes any notice of the 35-mile limit, anyway. That, however, is not true. There are plenty of people who scrupulously obey the traffic laws and who are convinced that if all drivers were to do the same there would be no cause for anxiety about highway safety. The higher capacity of their cars is merely a comfortable assurance of reserve power in the event of emergency; it is not regarded as the minimum but the maximum of performance, to be used only under exceptional circumstances.

Another argument of the speed merchants is that statistics show a surprisingly small percentage of accidents at very high rates of speed. It is admitted that when an accident does occur, under such circumstances, it is likely to be of extremely grave character, if not fatal. The reason for the comparatively low percentage, however, is that at present the average speed on the road is not much above legal limit; once that limit is removed, the strong probability is that the number and severity of accidents in the higher speed categories will be immediately increased.

Surely, it requires no argument to prove that risk increases proportionately to speed. With all modern mechanical improvements and technical safeguards it is, after all, the human factor which counts most in ensuring safety. A car bounding along at 70 to 80 miles an hour is not under proper control and is a peril to itself and to other vehicles. Experts agree that to drive above 50 miles an hour is to invite disaster. While something might be said to stepping up the speed limit to some extent, in view of recent developments in the automobile industry, to abolish it altogether would be to surrender to the demands of the reckless, the selfish and inconsiderate.

THE JACK RABBIT.

(Lindsay Post)

THE BIG game season being over and the ducks having now continued their southern flight under protection of the law, nothing much in the way of game is available to the hunter except the rabbit.

Hundreds of sportsmen, however, are enthusiastic regarding the pleasure to be obtained from this class of sport and are appreciative of the healthful recreation which pursuit of the despised "Jack" affords. It is a wily foe, swift as a greyhound and as keen as a fox.

Quite a number have been noticed in this district recently and a few have fallen before organized hunting parties. At Pension Falls where "Jacks" have been a minus quantity for some years several have been bagged within the last few weeks.

REDUCING NOISE.

(St. Thomas Times Journal)

THE time has come when thoughtless individuals who persist in creating noisy disturbances during hours when respectable people are sleeping do so only at the risk of penalties. Many large cities of the United States have successfully conducted anti-noise campaigns and that they mean business is evidenced by the report from Buffalo, where a man who kept a radio turned on loudly at 1.50 a.m., was fined $25 under the anti-noise ordinance. The charge was laid by neighbors who complained. Other noises could and should be eliminated during the hours from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Municipalities will not be censored if they invoke legal action that will permit the imposition of fines for such offenses.

HE WANTS BEEF.

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

THE "roast beef of old England" must have been of very much higher quality than that which is customarily provided for the people of Brockville to gain it the place in song and story which it occupies, for one of the greatest difficulties which confronts the housewives of this community is, we believe, to obtain beef at any price which is worth the eating.

We do not know if Brockville is peculiarly situated in this regard, but we do know that some of the stuff that masquerades as "prime western steer beef" and even a great deal of the beef which bears government brand marks is fit only for stew, and not very good stew at that. It is by no means an unusual experience for housewives and others to buy beef which is highly praised by the butcher and then to discover, after it has been roasted, that it is too much for human jaws to master. To the soup-pot or to the cats and dogs it goes.

Hundreds of Brockville households are calling for good beef, tender beef above all. They are willing to pay for it at a reasonable premium, but they find that it is almost impossible to procure. We have even known people to bring back good beef from Ottawa and elsewhere because they cannot buy it here. And yet on the rare occasions when really quality beef is offered, it is quickly sold.

Give us real beef, tender beef, succulent beef, beef to which people will turn again and again instead of viewing it with dismay and misgiving whenever it reappears on the table. There is money in it for the purveyor who accepts the challenge.

A FOOD SHORTAGE.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

GERMANY is experiencing a bad winter due to shortage of meat, butter, wheat, and other food supplies.

The German press, directed completely by the Hitler dictatorship, is adopting a characteristically Teuton attitude by trying to divert public attention from hunger and distress by pointing out how terrible are conditions in London and New York, as compared with the fatherland. There are also many exulting references to the wonderful navy that is being built up and the efficiency of the German army.

Under the type of government existent in Germany, it is no task at all to divert money badly needed for food supplies to the construction of submarines and cannon. There is no doubt about the general destitution in Germany but how could it be otherwise when every governmental activity is directed to warlike preparations and all available money is commandeered for that purpose?

RESOLUTIONS

The glad new year comes to us once again,
With all its new-born hopes and poignant fears.
The tired old year has passed and gone forever,
We must forget the sorrow of past years.

And square our shoulders up and start anew,
All armed with resolutions true and strong.
And help us, Lord, we pray, to do the right,
And guide our feet from slipping into wrong.

Help us be good, be true, unselfish, kind,
Help us enjoy the good things of this Earth.
This fresh new year comes to us all unstained,
For us to take our share of joy and mirth.

So let us all resolve to make this year,
The best twelve months without a doubt or fear.

BERTHA LANG McCLENAGHAN.

SUSPECT BRITAIN LIKELY GIVE ITALY AN ETHIOPIAN LOAN

Financial Experts Think Plan Is To Give British Inventors Chance In Development

ROME SHORT OF GOLD

By Roder Winget
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Financial quarters viewed a British loan to help develop Ethiopia and a new Anglo-Italian trade agreement as possible results today of the Mediterranean accord.

Publication of the terms of the treaty between Great Britain and Italy and the notes accompanying disclosed Italian guarantees to keep "hands off" Spanish territory at Great Britain's behest.

The pact, which also ended animosities over sanctions against the Italian campaign in Ethiopia, was signed in Rome Saturday.

Informed sources believed the British government, which previously had frowned on any foreign financing, now was more favorably disposed toward a plan to lend money to Italy to permit British investors to participate in Italian development of East Africa's resources.

Rome has been seeking a solution to an apparent shortage of gold in foreign exchange, ascribed to heavy expenditures for the Ethiopian campaign.

Save Egyptian Trade.

Trade circles said British commerce was eager that Italian interests centred in Ethiopia be prevented from making inroads on Egyptian trade with other parts of Africa.

It was said strings might be attached to an Italian loan insuring the economic status quo in the Mediterranean.

British interests have shown eagerness to revive foreign trade with Italy which was throttled by sanctions. Several trade missions already have gone to Italy seeking orders, especially in coal.

Well-informed sources also said trade discussions might include foreign exchange restrictions, frozen commercial credits and currency stabilization.

HAGUE PROTESTS

Bernhard Appeals to Hitler

Queen Wilhelmina, Juliana's mother, was reported to have been "gravely disturbed" and Bernhard, it was said, appealed directly to Chancellor Hitler to sanction his cousins' passports.

(In Berlin, a member of the household of Prince Julius of Lippe said "the passport of Princess Sieglinde of Lippe was demanded by officials on January 1, but suddenly return on January 2."

(The Princess was said to have left yesterday for The Hague. The Propaganda Ministry said it was unaware any German bridesmaid had had passport difficulties.)

Another Juliana, born at the same hour of the same day 27 years ago as the Crown Princess, will be the only other girl to wed next Thursday in all Holland. An exception was made for her from an order prohibiting any other marriages on the Royal wedding day because of the mutual birthday and correspondence between the Julianas.

The other wedding will join Juliana Van Der Meer and Martinus Van St'jn, both peasants.

Duke of Kent to Attend.

LONDON, Jan. 4 (C.P.). — The Duke of Kent will attend the wedding on Thursday of Princess Juliana of Holland and Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfeld, it was announced to-day.

OBITUARY

MARJORIE HENDERSON.

MARMORA, Jan. 4 — Attended by a large congregation which included residents of Glanmire, Millbridge and Eldorado in addition to many relatives of the deceased and friends, the funeral of the late Marjorie Frances Henderson was held at St. Paul's church on Sunday afternoon.

The service was conducted by the rector, Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, assisted by the Rev. Albert Redding, incumbent of Bannockburn, the latter reading the Lesson, 1 Corinthians, 15.

Rural Dean Caldwell's words of consolation were based upon John 11:7, "Our friend Lazarus sleepeth but I go that I may awake him out of his sleep." The hymns were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Abide With Me." At the conclusion of the sermon the duet "In the Garden," was beautifully rendered by Mr. L. L. Rundle and Mrs. C. Nichol.

Interment was made in Glanmire cemetery, the commital also being taken by Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell. The pallbearers were Robert J. Scott, Thomas Birrell, Stanley Palmer, Edgar Davidson, Clayton Davidson and Robert Armstrong.

Since the death of her mother about seven years ago, the deceased had resided for the greater part of her time with her sister, Mrs. William Lavender, and not with Mrs. Manley Lavender as inadvertently mentioned in the report given of her death.

REV. W. G. CARTER.

HASTINGS, Jan. 4. — The death occurred in Carluke, Lanarkshire, Scotland, on December 5, of Rev. Walter Gordon Carter, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carter of Peterborough, formerly of Hastings.

Deceased, who had been ill for two years, was in his 47th year. Born in Percy Township, on the farm now owned by Thomas Williamson, he attended the Hastings Public School and the Norwood High School. As a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, he later left for Scotland to complete his education as a Presbyterian minister, and has ever since resided in Scotland.

The late Mr. Carter and his wife and daughter Muriel were visitors to Canada ten years ago, and during his stay with his grandmother, the late Sarah Carter, he occupied the Presbyterian and United pulpits in Hastings, where he met many friends who were pleased to see him.

The funeral took place in Scotland on December 8. Burial was made in his parish grounds.

Left to mourn his passing, besides his wife and only daughter Muriel, are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, his sister Helen, Mrs. Alex Graham of Lakefield, and one brother Harry of Westwood.

WILLIAM ANDREW BLAKE.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 4.— The funeral of the late William Andrew Blake was conducted from the home of Charles Blake on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, when many friends gathered with relatives to pay their last respects to one of Campbellford's oldest residents. Mr. Blake, who was 76 years of age on November 11 last, was suddenly stricken by a heart attack while attending a dance. Although he had not been working for the past few years, he had always enjoyed the best of health, and his death came as a great shock. A widower, he is survived by five sons, Manley, Charles, Walter, Frederick, all of town, and Harry of Toronto, as well as three daughters, Mrs. Clinton Heath of town, Mrs. Walter Heuey of Peterborough, and Mrs. Simon Dunbar of Timmins.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Harold B. Neale, who was assisted by Rev. T. H. Floyd, and interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Messrs. Richard Cole, Charles Davidson, Charles Montgomery, Ernest Haig, David Leason, and Wilbert Reid were pallbearers.

Times Square Welcomes New Year

Canada and United States ushered in the new year with one of the most lavish and hilarious celebrations in history, as the continent went wild on New Year's eve. ABOVE is a section of the crowd which thronged Times Square, New York, as the clocks were tolling the hour of 12. INSET are a group of merrymakers snapped at one of the smart New York night clubs. Scenes such as this were duplicated in every city on the continent.

FIND GOLD WATCH INSIDE TURTLE; LAWSUIT RESULTS

Taxidermist Discovered Watch Then Legal Fat In Fire

THREE CLAIMED WATCH

KENTVILLE, N.S., Jan. 4 (CP)— Gold watches are often found in peculiar places but finding one in the stomach of a turtle is apt to bring an unusual ending—even a lawsuit —as three Nova Scotians discovered.

Fishing in the Gaspereaux Lake near Kentville on a bright summer day in 1908, a coach driver by the name of John Murphy caught a 41-inch turtle. Proud of the catch, the coachman took it home for a pet. Four months later, the little animal took very sick at the stomach, so Mr. Murphy decided to get rid of it. He sold it to James Rooney, then proprietor of the station restaurant at Kentville for $2.75.

A few months later, Rooney decided it would be a good specimen to add to his mounted collection, so he sent it to a Halifax taxidermist to kill and mount.

At once all three men concerned claimed ownership, the taxidemist, because he made the discovery, Rooney, because he had owned the turtle, Murphy, because he had found the turtle.

The argument, ended up in the chambers of Nova Scotia's Supreme Court but just which party won out in the triangular suit is not known. In 1931, however, the watch had found it's way back to the hands of Murphy, according to records in the Provincial Museum where the turtle, placarded with the Latin name "Chelydra Serpentina," lies today among hundreds of other mounted specimens in the museum. It was purchased by the Provincial Government when the restaurant effects of Mr. Rooney at Kentville were put up for auction sale.

MATTISON URGES

guns and rifles stopped every machine on all roads leading to Shelton, a town in a heavily timbered area, within half an hour after G. R. Grubbe, the mill watchman, reported the two men gave him the strange command last night.

He said they drove on to a private parking lot, ordered him back into the mill office, and told him to tell Dr. W. W. Mattson, the boy's father, "everything is well."

Sheriff Gerald E. Byrne of Mason County said he had every confidence in the man's report.

On the other side of Tacoma, a farmer reported seeing two men in an automobile with a boy. C. M. Beson, a farmer, said he was "positive it was the kidnapped boy."

He saw them on the road between Seattle and Bothell, about 35 miles from Shelton. If it was the same machine, the normal route would have taken the car through Tacoma on its way to Shelton.

PATRON OF LEGION

King George Becomes Patron-Chief-Canadian Legion

OTTAWA, Jan. 4 — (C.P.).—King George has consented to succeed the former King Edward VIII as Patron-in-Chief of the British Empire Service League, J. R. Bowler, General Secretary of the Canadian Legion, announced here yesterday. The Legion is the Canadian member of the League, which was founded by the late Earl Haig about twelve years ago. His Majesty thus follows the example set by the late King George V, who became Patron-in-Chief at the inception of the organization.

FOXES PROVIDE ANNUAL YIELD OF $3,000,000

Island's Fur Industry Is Increasing Canada's Credit

STARTED 30 YEARS AGO

CHARLOTTETOWN, Jan. 4 (CP) —Chief value of Prince Edward Island's lucrative fox industry lay in the fact that 95 per cent of the trade was with foreign countries, thus aiding Canadian credits abroad, according to J. Walter Jones, member of the provincial legislature and one of the leading ranchers of the province.

Profits from the industry in recent years, he declared, distributed annually $150 to each family in Prince Edward Island on an average, after paying costs of feed imported.

The industry had advanced from production of a few skins 30 years ago to its present yearly $3,000,000 in sales.

The first extensive sales of ranch-bred fox furs began 30 years ago, and the founders of the industry were surprised at the remarkable superiority of the island foundation stock. Several skins were sold in London at auction for more than $2,000 each.

Attempts were at first made to control the industry for the benefit of the founders the chief of whom was Charles Dalton, later Lieut. Governor of Prince Edward Island, but the "gentleman's agreement" was violated in 1909 and by 1910 the selling of live foxes took the place of skins.

Worth Once $6,000

By 1911, pups were sold or optioned at $5,000 to $6,000 each and prices continued to advance rapidly until 1914, when trading in live animals practically ceased because of the outbreak of the war and the lack of confidence in the manner in which the industry had been promoted.

In 1914, more than two-thirds of the capital invested in the industry was owned by persons residing outside the province.

The industry was struck by a series of slumps during the years after the war and the slump of 1930 and 1931 finished the few surviving fox companies and placed the industry in the hands of the farmers of the island.

Today, more than 90 per cent of the foxes on Prince Edward Island are owned by the ranchers and in 75 per cent of the cases are handled as part of the farm work.

Only five or six dollars was required to rear a pup until it could be skinned and sold for more than $40, Mr. Jones said.

It was his opinion that fur farming would not have made such great progress throughout the world had it not been for the impetus given the industry on Prince Edward Island by Charles Dalton and his associates.

With the Boy Scouts

Brother Scouts and Scouters:

This week I asked District Commissioner John T. Hornsby to give us a brief New Year's message. Here is what he has to say:

"To Boy Scouts, the year 1937 will hold much interest. One of the Chief Patrons of Scouting will be crowned King of the British Empire.

"As an expression of our appreciation of his efforts to encourage scouting and of our loyalty to King George the Sixth, I ask the groups to develop King Scouts.

"At the present time we have many members who have only a few subjects to complete in the First Class Test. These subjects can be finished and qualifying badges earned before the end of 1937.

"It is earnestly hoped that all grades and ranks, group committees and executives of the association will strive to attain to that high standard which public opinion has set for Scouting.

"To all members of our organization, I express the wish and hope that you, in the coming year, will have good health, happiness and much contentment."

Thank you, sir.

I have been asked to give some explanation of group committees. The census of Scouting shows that Scouting thrives better where group committees work actively. The group committee is a welding of the group with its sponsoring institution, and as such it should have a sympathetic attitude toward the Scouting system and a general appreciation of a boy's viewpoint.

The work of the group committees is Finance, Camp, Scout headquarters, etc.

Meetings should be held in a businesslike way and a report of Scouters be received and discussed.

The role of the group committee is as follows: Secure suitable meeting places. Encourage a spirit of friendly interest and co-operation between the various sections of the group. Assuming direction of a section in case of inability of a Scouter to serve, until a successor has been secured. Arranging for annual registration of the group. Protecting Scouters and committees by a regular audit of the books. Assisting Scouters in planning and arranging for camp and approving budget for same.

Group committee never interferes in any way with the actual running of the pack or troop unless drastic action is necessary.

Scouters.—Use your committeemen. Invite them from time to time to the pack or troop meeting. Have them handle all details of the annual Father and Son banquet. Invite them to assist in various ways at hobby shows, arranging exhibits, acting as or securing judges. Ask them to prepare and send out notices for Parents' Night. Present proficiency badges.

Just Remember.—Success and loyalty demand that we all tie-in together, and where there is strong unification, all sections tied-in with the group committee, there will be less leakage.

Cubs.—Have you ever heard the saying: Looks as though he'd slept in his clothes? When you get home from pack meeting, what do you do with your Cub uniform? Do you just fling it off and leave Mother to pick it up and put it away? If you do, you are not a proper Cub.

When you take off your clothes at night, put them neatly on the chair beside your bed. You could get up and dress in the dark if you just lay your clothes out in proper order. Just try this some time.

Good hunting, Cubs.

All Saints' Cub packs are starting the hunt again in real earnest next Friday night. The pack will meet at All Saints at 6.

RATEPAYERS HOLD SCHOOL MEETING

P. B. Seymour Is Elected Trustee Of S.S. No. 3, Cavan

FAIRMOUNT, Jan. 4.—The annual meeting of the ratepayers of S.S. No. 3, Cavan, was held in the school house on Wednesday, December 30, with a good attendance. G. H. Hooton was appointed chairman and R. Armstrong, secretary.

The financial report was given showing a balance on hand of $830.32 with the additional equipment grant of $77, which is forthcoming.

The books were audited prior to the meeting by E. C. Johnston and Robt. Armstrong and their report was adopted. R. Armstrong was again appointed as auditor for the ratepayers for the coming year. The inspector's report was received and filed, also the health officer report.

G. H. Hooton, who was a delegate to the Trustee and Ratepayers convention in Toronto last April gave a splendid report and the business which was carried on and the interest which should be taken by the sections. It was moved that Mr. Hooton be appointed a delegate to the next convention held in March.

P. B. Seymour was re-elected as trustee for the three-year term.

It was decided that the Canadian Home Journal be left in the school and loaned to any of the ratepayers who desired to read it.

The following are the trustees: F. Ballantyne, 1 year; F. R. McIndoo, 2 years; P. B. Seymour, 3 years.

STAN. ROSBOROUGH ELECTED TRUSTEE

Ratepayers Of School Section 6, Smith, Hold Their Annual Meeting

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 1.—At the annual meeting of the ratepayers of S.S. No. 6, Smith, held in the school on Wednesday evening last, there was a good attendance. The meeting was held for the purpose of nominating trustees to fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Wm. Hawthorne whose three-year term expires this year. Stanley Rosborough was elected by acclamation. He becomes a member of the School Board until the end of 1939.

The other members are Howard Beavis, whose term expires in 1938, and Sherman Northey who will complete his term next December. Mr. A. E. Higgins is secretary of the Board. Mr. Rosborough presided at the meeting.

Mr. Sherman Northey, who was sent as a delegate to the Ontario Educational Association convention held in Toronto last Easter, gave a report of the convention.

TELLS OF HISTORIC DAYS.

MANY GIFTS FOR NEWLYWED COUPLE

Enjoyable Event In Honor Of Mr. And Mrs. Lawrence Doherty

HASTINGS, Jan. 4.—Despite the very inclement weather of Wednesday evening over one hundred and fifty Percy friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson gathered at their home in honor of their second daughter, Nellie, whose marriage to Mr. Lawrence Doherty of Westwood takes place on Tuesday, January 5.

As the guests arrived they presented the bride with gifts which were displayed on a large table in the living room. The guests were received by the bride-elect, her mother and sisters, who warmly welcomed everyone.

The greater part of the evening was spent in dancing with music supplied by the O'Grady orchestra and Messrs. Williamson, Cavanagh, Coveney, Gibson, Baxter and Butler. At midnight dainty refreshments were served after which the guests assembled in the living room where the honored ones occupied a prominent position as they graciously accepted the gifts and made suitable acknowledgment of the kindness of their friends.

After the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows" many of the guests departed for their homes despite the downpour of rain and the difficulty of starting their cars. A most delightful time was then enjoyed in dancing, the singing of songs, step dancing and social chat until the wee small hours of morning.

Fine linens, china, kitchenware, fine blankets and an occasional chair, also a nice sum of money were included in the lovely gifts that made up the shower, giving tangible evidence of the esteem the honored ones are held in by a wide circle of friends.

Manufacturing Furriers and Ladies' Ready-to-Wear

The Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, MONDAY, JANUARY 4, 1937

72 Years Wed: STAYNER. — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strong today celebrated their 72nd wedding anniversary here at their home. Mrs. Strong got up early and cooked breakfast and her husband went out to the shed for the firewood and did other chores about the house. He is 95 and his wife 88.

Given 30 Days: LONDON. — Court officials were not fooling when they said they would wage war on intoxicated drivers. Today in court Magistrate Menzies sent 67-year-old Frank Snell to jail for 30 days for driving a car while intoxicated. Besides the jail term the magistrate said he would recommend that Snell's driving permit be suspended indefinitely.

DRIVER'S PERMIT IS SUSPENDED MONTH AND IS FINED $25

Action Follows Crash On Highway No. 28 On New Year's Eve

SEVEN POSTS BROKEN

Rounded-up in the province-wide campaign waged on New Year's Eve Harry McManus, 331 Kingston road, Toronto appeared on bail before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this (Monday) morning and on pleading guilty to a reckless driving charge was fined $25 and $16.30 costs. In addition his chauffeur's permit was suspended one month, in offering his version of the circumstances which led to his arrest by Motorcycle Patrol Constable Lloyd A. McClure, the defendant told the court he left Toronto around ten o'clock p.m. "I was going along all right until I got to Scott's Corners. I made the first curve and on the second curve when passing another car I brushed a post and upset. No one was hurt but my car was damaged." In reply to the magistrate McManus said he had one small drink of whiskey around 6 o'clock that evening on his arrival home from work, and some hours before leaving Toronto.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., declared he had witnesses who were prepared to swear that McManus was intoxicated. He called at a farmhouse to telephone, and at that time was staggering all over the place. He was accompanied by a woman passenger. In addition to damage suffered to defendant's car, seven or eight posts were ripped out of the guard rail and the cable was broken.

McManus—"If McClure thought I was drunk, why didn't he hold me then instead of arresting me twenty-two hours after the accident? He was at Scott's Corners half an hour after the accident."

JACK MATHEWS IS DEAD IN CITY

In His 70th Year Albert John Mathews Was Well-Known In Peterborough

A figure familiar to the Peterborough community through nineteen years' service as head waiter at the Empress Hotel, Albert John (Jack) Mathews was removed by death at Nicholls Hospital on Sunday. In his 70th year, he was seized with heart trouble a month ago and sank slowly despite every effort to save his life.

A career of travel and adventure featured his life before his arrival in this city 23 years ago. He was born in Cheltenham, England, son of the late John Mathews and Anne Lewis. He served the British Empire in the Sudan, the Boer War, and with the Imperial Forces in India for eleven years.

Thirty years ago he came to Canada and resided several years in Cobourg before removing to Peterborough. As waiter and an officer in various other capacities at the Empress, he was known generally to Peterborough service club members, to other citizens of the community frequenting the hotel dining-rooms and to a large body of Canadian travellers by the familiar nickname "Jack."

The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 3.30 o'clock from the Nesbitt Funeral Home to Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church officiating.

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS GIVEN 15 DAYS

Companion Pleads Guilty To a Charge Of Intoxication

On pleading guilty to a drunk-driving charge before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this (Monday) morning, Arthur King, 34, of London Street, was sentenced to 15 days' imprisonment. His companion, Harold Brooks, 31, 450B Mark Street, was fined $15.00, and $4.50 costs, on entering a plea of guilty to a charge of intoxication.

The pair were arrested by Provincial Motorcycle Patrol Constable Lloyd A. McClure on Highway 28, a short distance west of the city limits early on the morning of January 3.

When King said he had nothing to say in answer to the charge, His Worship remarked: "Do you know the whole province is crying out for stiffer penalties in cases of this nature, and that you are liable to a maximum of thirty days' imprisonment?"

The accused replied in the affirmative and frankly acknowledged, "I guess I had a few drinks."

Duce And Son Discuss Atlantic Flight

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy discusses with his son, Bruno, the latter's plans for a transatlantic flight. The youth, a member of the Italian air force, hopes to establish a new record with a special Breda aeroplane, which is capable of a speed around 300 miles an hour.

CECIL G. FROST URGES EMPHASIS ON MORAL CONDUCT

Too Much Emphasis Been Placed On Theology Open Forum Told

REVIEWS GREAT FAITHS

The placing of too much emphasis on theology and not enough on moral conduct was cited as one of the chief weaknesses of Christianity by Cecil G. Frost in an address on the world's great religions to the Open Forum at George Street United Church Sunday afternoon. Christianity has also been weak in allowing the individual adherent to shirk responsibility toward the religion and in the fact it lends itself to division on questions of belief and organization, with the result that the Christian body has disintegrated into hundreds of different independent groups, he said.

Reviewing the other great faiths, Mayor Frost said Christianity numbers the greatest body of adherents, approximately 557,000,000. Hinduism, originated 1,500 B.C., by an unknown founder, has 217,000,000 followers, and Mohammedanism, founded most recently of all in 575 A.D., has about 230,000,000 followers. Followers of the prophet Confuscius, mostly Chinese, number almost 250,000,000, and 11,000,000 are still devoted to Judism, he said.

Points of strength and weakness can be cited for all the faiths, he said. He referred to the strict moral codes, the high individual responsibilities and the perfected organizations as strong points of some of the religions, but cited as weaknesses such points as the worship of more than one god, the recognition of no supreme being and the lack of a promise of immortality.

He defined religion briefly as the worship of higher powers from a sense of need. The fact that the vast and complex universe is governed by natural laws is proof that some higher control exists, he declared.

Speaking of Judism as the parent religion of Christianity and Mohammedanism, he said Moses has directly influenced the lives of more humans than any other figure in world history.

YOUTH IS LOCATED

Feared Drowned But Found Working On Farm.

WALKERTON, Ont., Jan. 4 (CP). —Leslie Michell, 17-year-old Brant Township youth, feared lost in attempting to cross the Saugeen River ice, has been located near Guelph, it was learned last night. He is reported to be working for a farmer in the Guelph district.

Young Michell was missing from his home near Walkerton for a week. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Michell, had grave fears for his safety.

DRESSLER HOME MENACED

Home of Former Actress Threatened By Cobourg Church Fire.

COBOURG, Ont., Jan. 4 (C.P.).—Many houses were threatened by flying embers and sparks when fire destroyed St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here last night.

Among the endangerd homes was one now occupied by Fred Field and his family. It was the house in which Marie Dressler, famous motion picture actress, was born. Many United States tourists visit this town each year to see the cottage.

England has a shortage of turkeys, and prices are soaring.

The Rambling REPORTERS

POOR FISH STEPS OUT.

A George street resident has an interesting little New Year's fish story to relate, which is quoted in his own words as follows: "I was sitting peacefully reading in the closing hour of the old year (may it never return!), the radio playing and the rest of the family asleep, when suddenly the sound of a splash disturbed me. Looking around I discovered that a gold fish—the little one—had jumped right out of the privacy of his bowl on to the floor. The fish lay there with that suspicious side glance gold fish wear, until I gently but firmly restored him to his native element. Now this on a New Year's Eve in a perfectly teetotal household is surprising to say the least. I'll swear the poor fish had nothing to drink but water. Whoopee or revolution? Piscatorial eccentricity or merely a domestic tempest in a fish bowl? Now you tell one!"—H.R.

WHEN ABERHART PITCHED

Dr. F. C. Neal used to attend high school in Seaforth, in Huron County, and there was a baseball team in connection with the school. The Doctor tells it this way: "William Aberhart who is now the premier of Alberta, was the school pitcher. There were no funds for equipment in those days and Aberhart made the glove for the catcher, and I was the catcher."—K.

WHERE MONEY GOES

Charles Shaw, newly elected member of the Peterborough Board of Education, was in Toronto on business during the Christmas season. With a business associate he went to a downtown lunch room at noon. Shortly after two girls entered and were seated across the table. They had soup and crackers and their bill was 11 cents each for the noonday lunch. It was not possible to escape the conversation as they departed. One girl asked the other where she was going and the reply was: "I want to go down to the store. I have been looking at a cocktail shaker for Bill and it's only $32.80."—K.

REV. FATHER GRANT IS COMING TO CITY

Male Choir Of St. Mary's Parish, Lindsay, Honors Its Leader

LINDSAY, Jan. 4. — Rev. Earle Grant, who has been transferred from St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, to St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, was the recipient of a presentation from St. Mary's Church male choir prior to his departure. The choir gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Begley, where an address was read to the reverend gentleman by A. Hannon, the presentation of a traveller's companion being made by G. Mills.

Addresses bearing tribute to Rev. Father Grant's work in the parish were made by Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl and Rev. Fathers McCarney and Meagher. Rev. Father Grant has been the leader of the male choir since its organization, and has brought it to a high state of efficiency.

Rev. Father Corkery of Kirkfield will succeed Rev. Father Grant as curate at Lindsay.

Glasgow University has granted the degree of Bachelor of Law to Detective Sergeant John MacCalman.

REV. FATHER FINN IS GIVEN PURSE BY PARISHIONERS

Is Leaving St. Peter's Cathedral Parish For Parry Sound

HAS UNIQUE RECORD

On Sunday afternoon in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum before a large and representative gathering from St. Peter's Cathedral Parish, including His Excellency Bishop O'Connor and the priests of the Cathedral staff, a farewell address and presentation were tendered Rev. J. T. Finn, who has been transferred to Parry Sound.

In his opening remarks, the chairman, J. R. Corkery, referred to the fourteen years dating from the time of his ordination, during which, without interruption, Father Finn had labored zealously in the parish. He stated that in point of length of years of priestly service coupled with the fact that Father Finn was also baptized, confirmed and ordained in the Cathedral, the latter had established a record that would likely endure for many years. Concluding his remarks by extending the departing priest all good wishes for a successful pastorate in his new home and parish of Parry Sound, he then introduced the two vocal numbers on the program, Miss Geraldine Collins who sang beautifully the Christmas hymn, "Gesu Bambino," and George Daly, whose fine tenor voice was heard to advantage in Rosewig's "Ave Maria."

The address was read by Jack Roach, Sr., and the presentation of a purse was made by Thomas Grant. In his reply Father Finn first thanked Bishop OConnor for his many kindnesses and for the honor conferred on him in his appointment as pastor of Parry Sound. He referred to the happy years spent among the priests and people of Peterborough, and thanked the parishioners for their last act of kindness and appreciation. Concluding remarks were made by Rev. P J. Kelly, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, in which he referred to the loss the parish was sustaining in the departure of Father Finn and wished him every success and blessing in his new field of priestly activities. The address follows:

"Reverend and Dear Father Finn:

"We, the parishioners of St. Peter's Cathedral parish, wish to take advantage of this opportunity to tender to you our sincere congratulations on your appointment from the hands of His Excellency the Bishop, as pastor of the large and important parish of Parry Sound.

"While rejoicing with you in your well-merited promotion, we are, however, fully aware that this parish is parting with a priest whose presence for well-nigh fourteen years among us will now be greatly missed. Your priestly labors have at all times been characterized by an unswerving devotion to duty in your many activities. Stern duty, however, never could take from you your smiling countenance, your perennially cheerful disposition, an unfailing sense of humor, and a judgment that in all things was kind and sympathetic.

"You will be remembered by the young people of the parish for your zealous work in the class-room, by the many altar boys, many of whom now are young men, who look back in gratitude to the lessons of promptness and faithfulness they learned from your example. The beauty and perfection of the church's ceremonial so often witnessed and admired by us, and especially on the occasion of great feasts—in a large measure was due to your patient and persistent efforts. You will be remembered, even in a more intimate manner, perhaps, by the sick and the aged into whose homes with unfailing regularity you brought Our Divine Lord in the Blessed Sacrament and the blessings and consolations of the Church.

"You will be remembered by all as a good and holy priest; whose life in our midst has been a perfect example of all priestly virtues—as a member of the priesthood whose high fidelity to duty has shed a bright and lasting lustre upon that high vocation to which you have been called.

"As a material expression of our gratitude and with a prayer that God will abundantly bless your priestly labors in your first pastorate, we, on behalf of the Cathedral congregation, ask you to accept this gift."

FOUR INDIAN BOYS FREEZE TO DEATH

B. C. Lads Are Found In Snow, Caught On Trip From School To Reserve

VANDERHOOF, B.C., Jan. 4. — (CP).— Word reached here to-day that the bodies of four small Indian boys had been found in the snow near the east end of Fraser Lake Saturday night. The children apparently had frozen to death.

Details were not available.

It was believed the boys, attending the Indian school at Lejac, on the south side of Fraser Lake, left that institution Friday to visit the Nautley reservation at the east end of the lake.

Two of the boys, whose names were not given in first reports, were from the Nautley reserve. The others were from an unnamed reserve on the south side of the Burns' Lake.

"GOD" CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUBJECT.

'God' was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Christian Science Churches on Sunday. The golden text was, "God is the Lord, which hath shewed us light" (Psalms 118: 27). Selections from the Bible included the following from Deuteronomy 6: 4, 5: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

RUSH CONTINUES.

With no word of any extension being granted to car owners on their 1937 auto markers and driving licenses, the issuers bureau at the Chamber of Commerce still continues to be besieged. This (Monday) noon it was reported many of the applicants for auto licenses hurried from their work benches or desks in factory and office and partook of their lunches in the license issuer's office while awaiting their turn in the line-up. James J. Dorris, license issuer reports the markers are moving at a rapid rate.

ANONYMOUS LETTER

An anonymous neophyte of Fascism has written Dr. Lorna Cotton that he intends to be present at the C.C.F. educational meeting in the Moose Hall Tuesday night at which she will discuss Mussolini's brand of dictatorship. Dr. Thomas hopes that her unknown correspondent will not change his mind because he is due for an earful that should be as unpalatable to him as Mussolini's castor oil treatment to recalcitrant Italians who had to take it and like it.

"This letter in block letters tends to confirm my opinion that there are more would-be fascists in Peterborough than most people imagine," Dr. Cotton remarked to the Examiner today. "At our last meeting we discussed the new constitution of the Soviets, and on Tuesday night I shall deal with this other kind of dictatorship that has been forcibly set up in Italy. Any form of dictatorship is repugnant to me, and I feel that our people cannot learn too much about these movements which are so contrary to our ideals of democracy. Perhaps we all admit that democracy is not a perfect political system, but we realize that it affords us freedom of speech and press and political action that are entirely suppressed under dictatorships."

Excerpts from the letter which Dr. Cotton showed the Examiner are as follows: "I think it (Fascism) is the coming thing. Did you know that former members of the C.C.F. are now members of the Canadian Union of Fascists. I hope you will not think I am bold in sending you this note and leaflet (of Fascist objectives). I only want to help you understand what Fascism is. I think in a year or so it will be something Dominion-wide. I expect to get up to the Moose Hall on Tuesday. Hope you get a big crowd. Yours in Fascism—A Friend."

Dr. Cotton's only regret is that this writer is anonymous. Apparently she would get more relish out of her exposition of Fascist tenets and practices if she could identify an avowed supporter of it in her audience.

ROTARIANS REGRET DEATH OF WAITER

Passing Of John "Daddy" Mathews Causes Grief In Service Club

Regret over the death of John "Daddy" Mathews, for nearly twenty years waiter and utility man at the Empress Hotel was voiced at the meeting of the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day. "Daddy" Mathews had wanted upon the members of the club for a long period and took a keen interest in their activities to such a degree that he had come to regard himself as practically a Rotarian.

President Chris Graham informed the members at the luncheon that death had called John Mathews yesterday and it was decided on motion of Rotarians E. L. Sackville and J. Fred Reed that the club should send a floral tribute, that the secretary be instructed to send a letter of condolence to the bereaved family and that as many members as possible should attend the funeral on Tuesday.

Ross Dobbin, program chairman for this month, announced the list of speakers for the remaining meetings in January. There was no set speech at to-day's luncheon, Rotarian Dobbin's threat to deliver one encountering spirited opposition from the members.

President Graham announced that Rotarian Jas. Juby had been appointed chairman of the "On-to-Erie" committee to arrange a delegation from the Peterborough club to the district conference.

There was one visitor, Rotarian A. R. Judson of Dauphin, Man., who was asked to take the good wishes of Peterborough Rotarians back to his club.

Woman Fractures Arm For 4th Time

ILL-LUCK continues to dog the footsteps of Mrs. Alfred O. Phillips of 167 Antrim street. Over the week-end for the fourth successive winter, Mrs. Phillips had the misfortune to fall on an icy sidewalk and fracture a bone in her left forearm. She was on her way to Sunday school when she sustained a fall on the sidewalk outside her house.

PRIZES AWARDED ST. LUKE'S PUPILS

Sunday School Scholars Are Given Annual Christmas Treat

Prizes to members of the Primary Sunday School of St. Luke's Church for attendance during the past year, were awarded at the annual treat to the children, held in the Parish Hall and were won as follows:

Beginners' Class, first prizes: Marilyn Hamilton, Irene Davies and Joan Evans; second prizes: Bobby Wyatt, Neil Thompson, Bobby Davies, and Joyce Beggs. This class is taught by Mrs. S. Perry.. In Primary Class C, taught by Miss Clara Adams, first prizes went to Edith Miller, Peggy Patterson, Billy King, and Lavergne Butcher, and second awards to Amy Curtis, and Adele Gardiner. In Miss Eva Patterson's class (Primary B), first prizes were won by Elva Lang, Muriel Davies, Barbara Storey, Dorothy Carpenter, and second prizes by Mary Curtis, Ray Wyatt, and Jimmy Swanston. In Miss L. Bridgewater's class (Primary A), James Miller and Donald Little won first prizes, and Eleanor Day and Bobby Seymour, seconds.

Miss Clara Adams, superintendent of the Primary School, was in charge of the entertainment of the evening. Assistants were Mrs. S. Perry, Miss Eva Patterson, and Miss L. Bridgewater, teachers in the Primary Sunday School Department, also Mrs. M. J. Swanston, Mrs. W. King, Miss Elizabeth Stewart, Miss Evelyn Lawless, and Miss Phyllis Starr.

The children sat down to supper at half-past five o'clock, at white-covered tables centred by baskets filled with evergreens, and colored balloons placed at intervals in the green. At either end of the table were placed vases of red poinsettias, flanked by red candles in silver holders.

After supper, an entertainment was given in the upper hall, with the Rev. G. J. Bousfield as chairman. Lantern slides were shown, depicting the Christmas story and nursery rhymes, and each child contributed a song or recitation. Santa Claus presented gifts from a prettily-decorated tree and prizes for attendance were also presented to the children named above.

EDGAR D. CARSON OUT OF HOSPITAL

Wounded In Attempted Armed Holdup North-End Grocer's Arm Still In Cast

Wounded in the left upper arm and side by a .45 calibre bullet in an alleged attempted armed hold-up at his store on the night of November 28 last, Edgar D. Carson, north-end grocer was discharged from Nicholls Hospital on Saturday evening. While he is able to be up and around the house, Mr. Carson is still in a weakened condition, it is reported, and his arm is in a cast. Following a series of remands Gordon Druce, 19, and John McClennan, 18, are scheduled to make another appearance before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., on Tuesday morning at which time it is anticipated the Crown will be prepared to proceed with hearing against the pair on joint charge of attempted armed robbery and assault. Neither of the accused, who are being represented by the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., has yet elected or pleaded to the charges.

IAN F. McRAE IS NAMED ASSISTANT TO C. A. SALMONSEN

BORN IN VANCOUVER

Appointment of Ian F. McRae as assistant to the works manager of the Canadian General Electric Company was announced to-day by C. A. Salmonsen.

The duties which Mr. McRae assumed on January 1 are associated with the position which has been vacant since the superannuation of R. E. Layfield, former assistant, last summer. Mr. McRae was born in Vancouver where he was educated, and came to the Canadian General Electric Company thirteen years ago, entering the test department in 1924. He has been engaged in the engineering department since 1927, latterly as assistant to Gordon Langley.

"The appointment of Mr. McRae is one of the most popular that has ever been made within the shop," Mr. Langley remarked to the Examiner to-day. "I am basing that opinion on the warm expressions of approval I have heard since it became known that Mr. McRae was moving up to the position of assistant to Mr. Salmonsen.

Mr. McRae is a comparatively young man of the cool, effective type, getting things done smoothly and agreeably with an absence of friction. As an engineer during the last ten years he came in close contact with the workmen and supervisors, and they all seem delighted that this promotion has come to Mr. McRae."

The appointment is of general interest outside the Canadian General plant for the reason that the 1,600 employees represent in most instances individual families. The position of assistant to the works manager brings Mr. McRae into close relationship with all these employees in their work and progress within the plant, and to them and their families it will be a matter of satisfaction and confidence that an executive of the efficient and kindly characteristics of Mr. McRae has received this responsible appointment.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, January 5.

THIS DAY promises to be a lively one, with much stirring in business and new projects, as well as in the pursuit of pleasure and all private functions of a social, artistic, domestic and affectional interest.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively and satisfactory year, with much stirring in business as well as private life. There is a sign of unusual initiative and energy in putting over new plans but refrain from speculation and recklessness in this connection, and be alert to jealousy and enmity, shunning quarrels and impetuosity.

A child born on this day may be energetic, aggressive, impulsive and headstrong. However, it will be popular, generous and well-liked.

WINGS DEFEAT MAPLE LEAFS THIRD IN ROW

Nearly 13,000 Fans See Detroit Take Toronto By 4 To 2 Score

SHILL PENALTY COSTLY

Victors Score Twice While He Is Off Then Go On Defensive

DETROIT, Jan. 4—(C.P.)—Detroit Red Wings scored their third straight victory over Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 before 12,644 spectators here last night to stay in the thick of the fight for leadership of the National Hockey League's American Division.

A penalty to Jack Shill for tripping "Scotty" Bowman in the last few seconds of the opening period, with the score tied at 1-1, produced two Detroit goals in the first two minutes of the second period and made victory certain. Larry Aurie counted the first after 17 seconds of play, and Johnny Sorrell poked the second goal past Goalie Walt Broda at 1.55.

Modere Bruneteau stretched the Detroit lead to three goals, swooping in to lift into the nets a puck which Broda was trying to clear after stopping Howe's shot, at 3.30 of the third period. The desperate Toronto counter-offensive finally counted as Red Horner shot from a mass of plays in front of the Detroit goal to beat Smith at 17.14. Hec and Wally Kilrea both missed chances for Detroit in the final minutes on fast breaks down the ice.

Larry Aurie's pretty pass to Herbie Lewis accounted for the Red Wing first period goal, and Nick Metz tied the count for the Leafs after accurate passing by Davidson and Frank Finnigan.

Lewis Beat Broda

Bruneteau and Howe both forced Goaler Broda into fast saves before the starting lines left the ice. Reg Hamilton knocked Detroit Manager Jack Adams's hat off, tipping the puck over the side boards with his stick. Detroit's first line produced some fast action, most of which broke futilely on the hard-checking Leaf defence, but finally Larry Aurie shot a pass to Herbie Lewis, who beat Broda for the first goal at 10.55.

The first line stayed on, as Goodfellow made a neat solo drive, until finally an entire new team was substituted. Howe and Bruneteau each got good shots on Broda.

Toronto seized a chance to tie the score when Bruneteau went off the ice for tripping Metz in front of the Detroit net. Metz drove home the Leafs' first score less than a minute later on a double pass, Finnigan to Davidson to Metz, at 15.52.

With Shill still in the penalty box Detroit put its first line on the ice with Sorrell and Bruneteau, and produced a goal in seventeen seconds. Bruneteau passed in from the blue line, and Aurie drove the puck past Broda on a short pass from Lewis. Sorrell sent in another Detroit goal just before Shill returned, lifting the puck out of a mass play at the goalmouth at 1.55. Roulston and Hec Kilrea got assists.

Pettinger slid into a collision with Hamilton and fell to the ice, a skate cutting a gash in the back of his head. He was helped off the ice. A moment later Hamilton was penalized for tripping Howe to stop a solo dash. Quick action by the referees averted a fist fight, as Davidson, trapped against the boards by Bruneteau, jerked his arm back, connecting with Bruneteau's head. Hamilton got back on the ice before a score was made.

Goalie Smith made two fast saves on shots by "Busher" Jackson and Drillon. Broda was forced to dive to stop Bruneteau's shot as Detroit's second line came back, with Howe shifted to centre and Hec Kilrea replacing Pettinger.

Wings Make It 4 to 1.

Pettinger got a big hand from the crowd when he returned to action with half a dozen stitches in his scalp. The second line produced the fourth Detroit goal within a minute. As Broda tried to clear Howe's shot, Bruneteau swept in and lifted the bobbing puck into the net at 3.30. Two more Bruneteau shots barely missed the goal a minute later.

Sorrell swept across the goalmouth to knock aside the puck as "Busher" Jackson drove in on a fast solo dash. McDonald drew a penalty for tripping, and Conny Smythe put five forwards on the ice. Two long shots and one from near the penalty circle were the only chances the Leafs could get while Detroit was a man short.

A fast pass from Bill Kendall after a face-off in the attacking zone gave Busher Jackson the puck directly in front of the Detroit net, but Smith robbed him of a goal. Broda came out of the net to fall on the puck as Pettinger and Bruneteau came down on a fast break. A Toronto power play finally produced a goal, Red Horner scoring from in front at 17.14 with Shill and Kendall getting assists.

Ten To Fifty Cents For Tonight's Game

Admission prices at the Brock St. rink tonight as Tweed Juniors and the local Colts open their O.H.A. season range from 10 cents to 50 cents. Children are charged a dime, east side is 25 cents, west side standing room is 35 cents and reserved seats are 50 cents—tax included in each case. It's the first O.H.A. junior "B" game of the season and will commence at 8.30 o'clock. Tweed will supply the referee. A big first-night crowd is expected to give the local juniors the once-over. A fine sheet of ice is ready, both teams have been drilling hard lately, and a typical slambang junior hockey battle is predicted.

Tweed beat Belleville last year and gave Kingston a hard scrap before being eliminated. Recently, they defeated the Tweed intermediates in an exhibition tilt. The team will likely line up as follows: Goal, Mouck; defence, Tumon, Sayers; centre, Cournyea; wings, Provost, Long; alternates, Rivers, Meraw, Arber and two others. The Colts will line up like this: Goal, Harding; defence, A. Clark, Conway; centre, Starr; wings, Wright, Heal; alternates, Brady, Webb, Kingdon, G. Clark, White.

FOUR PUCK TILTS OPEN C.G.E. LOOP

Two Close Games And Two Draws As Shop Hockey League Starts

The eight-team C.G.E. Shop Hockey League opened its season on Saturday afternoon before several hundred fans at the Brock Street Rink, with plenty of action dished up in four tilts. President Jay made a short speech and an official face-off was made by H. A. Cranfield, J. A. McCarney, and E. G. Hardie. There was little to choose among the teams, but Fractional Motors and Transportation gave notice of strength by wins over Industrial Control and Induction Motors respectively. The other four squads battled to draws. Good refereeing kept play under control throughout.

Fractional Motors took a 1-0 triumph over Industrial Control, the '36 champs looking good and only neat goaltending by Merrett keeping them to one tally. The losers were minus several stars and had no relief. Clarke went well in goal, while Field carried most of the attack and got the goal. Weir went well up front. The teams:

Battle to Draw.

Wire and Switchgear went to a 1-1 draw in a fast, close-checking tilt marked by fine network by both goalies. A. Heal scored first, but C. Heal sewed it up. Switchgear showed a powerful defence and a lot of promise. Maudsley, Whatley, A. Heal, and the goalies shone. The teams:

Office and Machine Shop fought to a 3-all tie, the scrappy machinists spotting their rivals to a three-goal lead, but coming back fast. Office slowed to a walk after a speedy start and were shooting the disc down the ice late in the fray. Langton, Tarkington, and Magee scored for their side, while Starr got all three for Office. The scorers all shone with Jones, Williams, Rooke, and Allen also good; Heath starred in goal. The teams:

Open Game.

Transportation took an 8-6 nod over Induction Motors in an open tilt that saw the goalies getting little protection as both sides stressed offensive play. McDougall and Vitarelli scored almost at will for three and two respectively. Kearney notched two and Howard one for the rest of the winners, while Archibald and Schultz teamed to get a brace each. Bucky Fleming turned over his pads to Ascott in the last frame to get two goals himself. The teams:

Referees—Red Creighton and Lou LeBarr.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(C.J.P.)

TONIGHT SEES Tweed and our Colts open the O.H.A. junior "B" schedule come 8.30 o'clock at the rink on the Rue Brock. Prices range from a dime to four bits and a big crowd is expected to see the peppery young pucksters battling it out on good ice. We won't ask the Colts to put the peanut in the bag—as they have a decided aversion to that toothsome morsel since some Kingstonites stole their sack—almost full, too—of peanuts last spring. But we'd like to see the locals start the season off with a win. They'll likely find the Tweed team tough hombres, too. It ought to be a swell scrap as the boys are in good shape despite the fact that they haven't had as many practises as usual at this time of year.

* * * * * * *

STARTING LINEUP for the young Petes will be: Goal, Harding; defence, Al Clark and Connelly; centre, Starr; wings, Wright and Heal; alternates, Kingdon, Gee Clark, White, Brady and Webb. A few changes may be made later in this lineup, depending on how the boys go. Coach Frank Buckland said yesterday: "This is the most promising looking junior team I've seen here. Of course, they aren't perfect yet by any means but they will get their plays clicking before long and I expect them to really go somewhere before the winter is over." There you are, folks, how about supporting them?

* * * * * * *

OUR INTERMEDIATE Petes practise tonight after the game. They open their schedule in Trenton Wednesday and back here against Belleville on Friday. The Quinte team entertains Trenton tonight. At present, there are three forward lines and five defencemen, with one goalie, on the Petes' roster. Clarke is in goal, and they should have one more in case of injury or something. Weir and Williamson will likely team up on one defence with Gardner and Ellis on the other. Magee is the extra defenceman being carried. One forward line sees Calladine between Vitarelli at right and Burton; another has Coughlin flanked by McDougall at right and Creighton at left; and the third has Schultz at centre with Hill at right and Blewett on the other wing.

* * * * * * *

OF COURSE, several of these will probably be dropped later, at least a few of them. But it's hard to say yet who will get the axe, most of them are experienced O.H.A. players who are going real good now in workouts. The boys aren't fooling but are battling hard for berths and rounding into shape fast. Schultz has not played O.H.A. here before, but he is heady and gives or takes a pass neatly. With the players working together harmoniously, keeping in condition and determined to show folks they don't need several imports to go places, we wouldn't be at all surprised to see the Petes moulded into a good puck machine and shortly.

* * * * * * *

SENIOR CITY Hockey League opens this Thursday eve at the Brock, weather permitting, with three games, Westclox and Johnson Motors open it up at seven, followed at eight by Norwood and Mayfairs, and at nine by Bewdley vs. Millbrook. Forms have been sent out to the clubs and the schedule will be drawn up any day now. They'll play Thursdays. We haven't heard the admission price yet but should have it before long. By the way, Westclox have an open workout at eight bells Tuesday night in the Brock and players wanting a tryout should be on deck. This loop is affiliated with the O.H.A. and will send a team into the "B" playdowns late in February. Should be lots of good hockey tussles before then.

FOUR GAMES at the Brock opened the C.G.E. Shop Puck Loop on Saturday. Fractional Motors took a 1-0 win over Industrial Control; Wire and Switchgear went to a 1-1 tie; Office and Machine Shop fought to a 3-all draw; and Transportation took an 8-6 victory over Induction Motors. Officers of the loop opened proceedings officially before a fair crowd and the fans saw lots of action in the four contests. Some of the squads were shy on subs and should make it a point to have full teams on hand if they hope to make a showing in this circuit.

THE DEATH of Father W. J. Stanton in a car accident near Chatham on New Year's Day is a loss to Canadian rugby. He was well known for years as coach at Ottawa University and Dick Sheehy, star gridder from Peterborough, played under him. His Ottawa team won the Canadian intercollegiate title back in '07. Father Stanton, who succeeded the original King Clancy as coach there, received credit for several innovations in the game, and his name will always be remembered in grid history.

THREE NIFTY volleyball tilts were staged in the "Y" on Saturday. A swell Westclox crew challenged the world, and the "world" took 'em on and nosed out the decision each game, but twice it went overtime, 15-10, 16-14 and 17-15! Westclox players were N. Stanger, S. Payne, J. Hardill, R. Kitchen, G. Maniece and H. Cranford. The winners were A. Dryland, F. Stevenson, A. Rhodes, R. Bolton, D. Crawford, C. Richardson and E. Vincent. Making a comeback, R. Bolton proved one of the stars in three games featuring all-star casts. Scheduled games next Saturday are: Tigers vs. Gorillas at 2.00, Kangaroos vs. Beavers at 2.45, Lions vs. Leopards at 3.30, Bears vs. Bisons at 4.15 and Pumas vs. Wildcats at 5.00.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

Well, we finally got in one afternoon's sport, anyway—and our Saturday's 'spiel was a big success—practically all ices were going.

And while our 'spiel was open to everybody, yet we were surprised to see the "P-P" Association take complete charge.

Here's what happened: When the scores were all handed in, H. Clegg (Past President) was landed comfortably in first place—it's got to be a habit with him—and then comes along M. Cruthers (Past President) and he picks off second place; and, then if that isn't enough R. F. Downey (Past President) gets the third and last prize.

So you see what we are driving at when we mention the "P-P" Association. See what party you must belong to if you want to be on the winning side?

Don't forget the schedule commences to-night—and be on time.

Mr. W. G. Morrow, umpire for this district, has called the Tankard games for next Monday morning, January 11.

And then our annual Neill Trophy is on Tuesday, January 12.

Saturday's Winners

J. Stenner, N. Patterson, D. Grant, H. Clegg (skip), each a chicken.

J. Hall, W. Fletcher, D. Carlisle, M. Cruthers (skip), each a pair of hose.

E. Fisher, J. McWilliams, L. Turner, R. Downey (skip), each a package of 50 cigarettes.

OSHAWA MAJORS BATTLE TO DRAW

Motor Team Came From Behind Three Times To Tie Up Game

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—After battling furiously for seventy minutes, Oshawa Majors were forced to content themselves with their second successive overtime tie at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday afternoon when Joe Primeau's British Consols held them to a 4-to-4 draw in the second part of the Big Seven double bill. Young Rangers stretched their unbeaten streak to six games with a 6-to-0 triumph over Native Sons in the opener.

Oshawa was never ahead in the nightcap, but they came from behind three times to deadlock the count. After Consols took a two-goal lead in the first period, Oshawa knotted the count in the third and overtime periods, but both times the visitors broke through for the tying counter.

Scores on Penalty Shot

The last two frames were thrilling ones. Play ranged from end to end with startling rapidity, and both goals were in danger countless times. After Burkart broke a 2-to-2 deadlock in the third period, Sanders broke loose and beat Mortimer with less than five minutes to go.

A penalty shot enabled Consols to forge ahead in overtime. McTavish pulled down Billy Taylor when the latter was right in on Forster, and Benson's free shot nicked the inside of the post and bounded into the net. Less than half a minute later, Hastie broke away from a ganging attack and flipped the rubber past Mortimer easily.

"Beef" McAndrew was serving a major penalty while both goals were scored. He drew down the five-minute sentence for starting a fight with Shortt. The latter got off with a minor sentence.

Total trade between Irish Free State and other countries in the last year amounted to $308,000,000.

LEAFS-MAROONS GO 70 MINUTES WITHOUT SCORE

PLENTY OF BUMPING

First Game Broda Has Blanked Opponents—Hard Checking Feature

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—Memories of bruising battles of other years were revived at Maple Leaf Gardens on Saturday night, when the Maroons and Leafs struggled through 70 minutes of "knock 'em down and drag 'em out hockey" without a decision being reached.

More than 10,000 fans saw these old rivals trade bump for bump and check for check in a bitterly fought game that failed to produce a goal. And the Montrealers, living up to all advance notices, looked very much the "Mauling Maroons" of old.

Scoring chances were at a premium, as the teams checked each other to death, so to speak, and Goalers Walter Broda and the veteran Alex Connell had a comparatively easy time in chalking up a double shutout. It marked the first time this season that Broda, young Leaf goaler, had planked the opposition.

In the slam-bang going tempers flared at various stages of the game, but there was only a sprinkling of fist-swinging, though a general free-for-all was expected at any time.

Defensemen, and forwards, too, tossed their bodies around in reckless fashion, while sticks were carried sky high. The penalty list, though, was surprisingly small, only seven minor trips being imposed, five for the Maroons.

Taking the game as a whole, there was very little to choose between the teams, though the Leafs, due to their advantage in penalties, should have been returned winners.

Leaf Power Plays Fail.

Three times Dick Irvin's boys enjoyed an edge in man power, but, one again, their ganging attack failed them. In the first frame, when Stew Evans was chased for tripping "Hap" Day, Connell experienced a hectic couple of moments but the Leafs could not penetrate his defense.

Later on in the initial period Bob Gracie was waved off for slashing nastily at Nick Metz, but during his absence the scintillating Lionel Conacher saw to it that the Toronto attack never did get organized.

Some wild action marked the second period. Jack Shill and Herbie Cain tangled and nearly came to blows before being separated and banished together.

Midway through the period Lionel Conacher, after dumping Shill to the ice, put a headlock on Nick Metz and roughed up Reggie Hamilton at the same time. Metz was bewildered at this unexpected going-over as big "Conny" held on to him. But the Toronto player offered little resistance and Lionel, as a result, was sent away to cool off alone.

Broda Thwarts Northcott

Toronto attacked hard during his absence, but the Maroon defense was too strong. "Baldy" Northcott, shooting the puck out, raced alone after it, and seemed head for a possible Maroon tally.

But "Turk" Broda had other ideas. The Toronto goalkeeper swung into immediate action and outraced the onrushing Maroon forward to the rubber. Broda sprawled, smothering the puck against the boards while Northcott protested to the referee.

The pace slackened considerably as the third period progressed, and, in the overtime, play had slowed down to the proverbial walk; the heavy struggling having taken its toll. The players were content to call it quits before the extra session opened, and they certainly checked and double-checked for a division of points in the last ten minutes.

Maple Leafs— Goal, Broda; defense, Horner and Fowler; centre, Thoms; wings, Finnigan and Davidson; alternates, Shill, Kendall, Metz, Apps, Drillon, Jackson, Jarvis, Hamilton and Day.

Back To Maroons

After playing in the International-American Hockey League for a time, Bill Beveridge (ABOVE) is again back with Montreal Maroons. Tommy Gorman recalled Beveridge from Syracuse Stars. He intimated that Bill would probably see action in several N.H.L. games to give Veteran Alex. Connell a rest.

Bears Royal Color

Carrying on his father's and brother's tradition as a supporter of the sport of kings, King George VI will operate the stables that have carried the royal colors for many years. One of the King's thoroughbreds is pictured going to the post. It is Marconi, whose last start, in the Windsor handicap in which it was well backed, proved disastrous. Marconi failed to live up to his royal ranking and was in the ruck at the finish.

FALCONS PLUNGE TO CELLAR POST OVERTIME GAME

RAMBLERS 2, EAGLES 1

Playing overtime seems to be a habit with Cleveland Falcons, but the extra efforts aren't producing dividends. The struggling Birdmen played their seventh consecutive overtime tilt at the week-end and after a two-game stand finished wallowing in the International-American League's western section cellar.

The extra-time duel was with Springfield and although Goalie Moe Roberts was able to hold Indians scoreless, the game ended in a tie. Falcons broke their string of overtime work Sunday night, but it failedto change their luck and they absorbed a 3-2 licking at the hands of New Haven Eagles.

The single point goined by Cleveland left the team 10 points behind the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who were beaten 4-0 by Syracuse Stars, section leaders, in the only start made by either club. Springfield's even break with Falcons was enuogh to keep them one point in front of Philadelphia Ramblers, who added three..

Lloyd Roubell's unassisted goal in the second period gave Ramblers a 2-1 nod over New Haven Saturday night, after Murray Patrick had matched a counter scored by Eagles' Polly Drouin. They had to rally to pull out with a 2-2 tie Sunday night at Providence as Rade remained a single point in front of Eagles, western section basement dwellers.

Cleveland Fights Hard.

Falcons made a game stand at New Haven as they bowed to the up-and-coming Eagles. Three goals down midway through the second period they seriously threatened to overcome the lead. Emory Hansen put Cleveland in the running after 12 minutes of play in the middle period and with six minutes' play remaining in the final session, Earl Bartholome ended the scoring.

Again it was Art Jackson who paced Syracuse Stars, now six points up on Pittsburgh. He started the four-goal splurge in the first period when he scored unassisted and helped Jack Markle count No. 3 late in the second period. Stars' other two markers went to two rookies from South Porcupine, Ont., Mike Miller and Basil Doran.

AMERICANS FALL TO CANADIENS 4-2

Sunday Night Battle Lost When Carr Is Off—Visitors Score Twice

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Jan. 4—(C.P.)—A third-period penalty to Lorne Carr, American forward paved the way last night for Montreal Canadiens to score their second victory in as many nights over the New Yorkers, winning their National Hockey League game 4 to 2 on two goals scored while Carr was off.

The Amerks, who lost, 5-1, to Canadiens in Montreal last night, had nothing to stave off the hustling Habitants when Carr left the homesters short-handed.

RANGERS LOSE TO BRUINS 3-2

Two Fast Goals By Eddie Shore In Third Save The Day

16,000 ATTEND

BOSTON, Jan. 4—(C.P.)—Eddie Shore's two swift goals in the last period last night sent Boston Bruins into a 3-2 win over the New York Rangers for Boston's first defeat of the section-leaders this National Hockey League season.

Shore's counters, first made by the Boston super-star on home ice this season, enabled his team mates to gain their triumph over Lester Patrick's speedy stickmen, who have been held to two deadlocks since they gave the Bruins a 6 to 1 shellacking in their series opener.

The Bruins were trailing 2 to 1, due to goals by Cecil Dillon and Butch Keeling of the Rangers, with a reply by Flash Hollett, Boston defenceman, when Shore teamed with Red Beattie to tie up the game. About three minutes later he got his stick on a shot that was being golfed from the New York zone, took a half turn and lashed a drive that went through Goalie Dave Kerr's padded legs.

Late in the game Neil Colville was sent off for tripping and the Bruins were awarded a penalty shot which Hollett failed to complete after a close try.

Boston.—Goal, Thompson; defence, Shore and Portland; wings, Goldsworthy and Cook; centre, Weiland; subs., Jerwa, Clapper, Schmidt, Beattie, Hollett, O'Neill, Getliffe, Cowley and Sands.

CANADIENS SLAP AMERKS FOR 5 TO 1

Habitants Boost Sectional Lead To Six Points Over Maroons Saturday Night

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—(CP)—Mixing offensive speed with strong defensive work, Montreal Canadiens slapped a 5-to-1 defeat on New York's fading Americans Saturday night in the first game of a week-end National Hockey League doubleheader between the leaders and cellar dwellers of the Canadian section.

Thus the Habitants increased their sectional lead to six points over Montreal Maroons before moving on to the Americans' baillwick for a return game tonight. All Canadian section teams went into action on a four-way league front last night, but the worst that could happen to Canadiens was a reduction of their margin to four points.

Americans, weakened by loss of pivot Harry Oliver and wing Eddie Wiseman because of injuries and illness, matched the Frenchmen's speed only in the first period, when ancient Nels Stewart countered first for the New Yorkers and Howie Morenz evened the score for Canadiens.

After that Canadiens' speed and superior defensive play enabled them to control the play, and Bill Miller and Pit Lepine scored in the second period and Paul Haynes twice in the third. Goaler Wilf Cude of Canadiens had only a minimum of work in the last two periods.

The teams put on an eye-pleasing match for some 9,000 spectators, one of Montreal's largest crowds of the season.

Officials—Odie Cleghorn and Eusebe Daigneault.

First Period.

1—Americans, Stewart (Schriner Carr) 4.18
2—Canadiens, Morenz (Joliat, Gagnon) 7.05
Penalties—Blake, Schriner, Siebert 2, Shields, Klein, Cotton.

Second Period.

3—Canadiens, Miller (Gagnon Buswell) 14.43
4—Canadiens, Lepine (Buswell) 16.51
Penalties—Morenz, Murray.

Third Period.

5—Canadiens, Haynes (Siebert, Lorrain) 11.10
6—Canadiens, Haynes, (Lorrain) 18.10
Penalty—Lamb.

Hockey's Big Seven

(By the Canadian Press.)

The National Hockey League scoring aces did some heavy firing over the week-end, but Detroit's Larry Aurie and Sweeney Schriner of Americans still were 1-2 with Aurie in front 22 points to 21. Winger Lorne Carr made known his recent scoring splurge with his first appearance in the Big Seven, marking up a goal and two assists for a 17-point total and a share of a three-way fourth-place tie.

KING OF WINTER SPORTS Ski-ing By Charles Schaer

Sponsored By Peterborough Ski Club

The proper grip on the stick to distribute pressure evenly.

7. THE STICK

This is the first time I have discussed the equipment which must be part of every skiers' preparation. We start with the sticks.

The sticks should reach to the armpits and should be equipped with strong broad hand loops. In grasping them, the hand should be pushed through the loop from below so that the top of the loop and the stick are grasped together. This supplies an even distribution of pressure that will afford not only more assistance from the sticks but will prove less tiring. The method of gripping the stick is shown in the accompanying illustration.

Remember in choosing sticks not to get them too long. Sticks that reach higher than the armpit are tiring to the shoulders and arms and also are not convenient or as useful in climbing.

Get into the habit of swinging the basket of your sticks inwards whenever you pass an obstacle; by doing so it will be much less likely to get caught and the habit, particularly valuable on rough terrain, can be easily acquired.

Keep the sticks in a cool and dry place when not in use. In too warm a temperature, or in sudden changes from one extreme to another, they may crack.

MAROONS DOWN BLACK HAWKS 3-1

Northcott And Robinson Slam In Two In Final To Win

CHICAGO, Jan. 4 (AP).—Scoring twice in the final period, Montreal Maroons defeated Chicago Black Hawks 3 to 1 last night in a fast, hard-played National Hockey League battle before 13,000 fans.

In tightening their grip on second place in the Canadian Division, the Maroons scored once in the first period, saw the game tied up in the early minutes of the third, and then clinched it on goals by Northcott and Robinson.

Northcott was in the penalty box when Robinson scored the first of his two markers. The lanky Maroon forward pushed the puck in after Ward got in a fast shot by stealing the rubber from Earl Seibert, Hawk defenceman.

After a fast, scoreless second period, Pete Palangio scored the tying goal, with Carson of the Maroons off for board-checking Wiebe. Gottselig and Thompson were given assists. Northcott, with his teammate still in the penalty box, took a fast pass from Jimmy Ward and sent the visitors out in front.

There were ten penalties handed out, six against the victors. In the opening period, Seibert of the Hawks suffered a cut on the head which required four stitches, when he was accidentally hit by Trottier's stick. In the final period, Thompson missed a penalty shot when Conacher was penalized for holding the puck. Both goalies, Mike Karakas of the Hawks and Alex Connell of the Maroons, played brilliantly.

Births Marriages In Memoriam Card of Thanks Deaths

BORN

LACKEY.—At Nicholls Hospital on December 30, 1936, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lackey of Fraserville (nee Blanche Reesor), the gift of a son.

MARRIED

ATCHISON—MILLIKEN.—On Saturday, January 2, at Forest Hill, Toronto, by the Rev. John Bushell, M.A., William G. Atchison and Flora Milliken, both of Peterborough. The register was signed by Alfreda Cox and George S. Milliken. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Atchison will reside at 253 Burnham street.

DIED

MATHEWS, Albert John. — At Nicholls Hospital, January 3, following an illness of four weeks, Albert John Mathews, 539 Gilchrist street. Funeral, January 5, at 3.30 o'clock from the Nisbett Funeral Home to Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

JONES.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Ann Jones, who passed away, January 3, 1935.

Your last parting wish, we would like to heard.
Only those who have lost are able to tell
The pain in the heart, at not saying farewell.

—Ever remembered by her son and daughter-in-law, Kitty and Jim.

Showers Interrupt Play And Match Is Called At The Tea Period

BRADMAN PLAYS WELL

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 4 (CP Cable).—Although rain curtailed play today in the third cricket Test match between England and Australia, the home players carried their second innings score from Saturday's total of three runs for one wicket to 194 for five. The Aussies, who scored 200 for nine, declared, in their first innings, now have a lead of 318 runs, with five wickets to fall, over their opponents, who made 76 for nine, declared.

Showers stopped play several times during the day, and there was no play after the tea interval. A new world's record at a cricket match was set up when 87,798 persons passed through the turnstiles at the enlarged Melbourn cricket ground. More than 100,000 can now be accommodated at the enclosure. Receipts, also a world's record for cricket, amounted to $37,000.

Don Bradman, famous South Australian captain of the international team, and J. H. Fingleton, reliable New South Wales opening batsmen, were the stars of today's play. Playing at the top of his form, Bradman made 56 not out, while his colleague was also unbeaten at the end with 39 runs.

Australia—First Innings—200 for Nine Wickets, Declared
England—First Innings—76 for Nine Wickets, Declared.

MAN MOUNTAIN DEAN'S WHISKERS BRINGING RICHES

HAVE ENOUGH BY 1938

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Real whiskers that stuck carried Man Mountain Dean over the mountain to foolishness—and riches.

Wrestling fans poke fun at Man Mountain. They figure he's just a wrestling freak or a mean man.

But old Man Mountain takes it, even likes it. Playing the buffoon on the mat is right down his alley. It's making him just as crazy as a certified cheque.

But, about whiskers—

When the Man Mountain, who's really a west side New York Irishman named Leavitt, was in his prime and a good wrestler, he had a tough time getting along. Matches were scarce. Then Count Pojello, a wrestler in the dough, took the 320-pound Man Mountain over to England, hoping to do him over and get him a few matches.

One day Man Mountain got a chance to double for Charles Laughton in a wrestling scene in King Henry VIII. He wore false whiskers but he perspired so much they fell off. He acted so well the film company gave him a few weeks to grow a real beard. Man Mountain did and it was a beauty. Noticing that even the hard boiled movie hands clutched their sides in laughter, Man Mountain decided to let his whiskers grow. He became a hit over night. Today he's one of the big money earners in the game.

Starved When Good

"Funny as everything," mused the Man Mountain. "When I was a fine wrestler I almost starved to death. Then I lost my holds, grew whiskers and look at me today."

"In a couple of years," he puffed between his dense growth of facial hay, "Old Man Mountain will be set. I'll have my annuities all paid up and get $279 a month for the rest of my life."

Any clown can laugh with that income.

All the body slamming and torso jumping isn't a fake, says Man Mountain. Most of the time, he admits, he gets darn mad and jumps on his prostrate opponent with all his weight, hoping for the worst.

In a match with Hans Steinke, the Man Mountain jumped on Hans so hard that the German was laid up for six weeks. Some time after he got out, he went out to Hollywood to do a bit for a movie. The director who had seen him laid low by Man Mountain thought of a great stunt.

"Nothing doing," said Steinke.

The director hiked his cash offer time and again.

"I wouldn't let that Mountain fall on me again for $10,000," said Steinke walking off the set.

So Man Mountain used a dummy, it is said, and the dummy never was the same.

PERRY AND VINES MEET WEDNESDAY

Will Team Up In Doubles After With Lott And Tilden

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Fred Perry of England, who was rated the No. 1 amateur tennis player of the world when he decided to cash in on his talents a few weeks ago, and Ellsworth Vines, top-ranking professional, will clash in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night in the nearest approach to a world's championship match since the pro game began snapping up the simon pure stars.

The pro-amateur argument has raged ever since Bill Tilden, then past his peak as an amateur, turned pro and developed his game to a higher pitch than ever. By the time Vines joined the play-for-pay ranks, Big Bill was on the downgrade again. Perry established himself at the peak before he made the pro jump, but Vines never has been better.

The show will be completed by a doubles encounter in which Perry will team with George Lott against Vines and the veteran Tilden. The Garden has been sealed to net $53,400 and a capacity crowd is expected.

PIPES FOR GIRLS

MARMORA HOTEL IS REDECORATED

Walls And Ceilings Done In Ivory And Tan—New Sign Arrives

MARMORA, Jan. 4. — Stanley A. Lowe, ex-Alderman of the City of Peterborough, who became owner and proprietor of the Royal Hotel, Marmora, on December 1, is already making a name for himself in the village of his adoption through his enterprising spirit.

To greet the Christmas season, the rotunda of the hotel was redecorated. The wall above the wainscotting and the ceiling have been painted an ivory white, while the wainscotting has been treated to a rich tan color. The combination of colors has evoked favorable comment from the various patrons. Red and white streamers with other decorations have enhanced the attractiveness for the holiday season. The redecoration work was carried out by T. R. Warren of this village.

The largest electrically illuminated sign to be suspended from a Marmora building was installed on Thursday, and newcomers to Marmora by day or night who visit Forsythe street in future will ask in lesser numbers, "Where's the hotel."

With Sweet's store immediately opposite the hostelry, it will also be hard to forget the old lyric, "Sweet and Low(e)".

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY IN A PIPE.

Once upon a time, late in the afternoon, as he was leaving his hollow stump bungalow to go adventuring, Uncle Wiggily saw Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy out in front. The muskrat lady housekeeper was looking up and down the woodland path that extended in front of Uncle Wiggily's home.

"What are you looking for, Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggily. He twinkled his pink nose at her. But that was quite all right. He did it in a most rabbit gentlemanly way.

"I am looking for the children," Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy answered.

"What children?" asked Mr. Longears, quick like, which he nearly always was.

"Your children," went on the muskrat lady. "It is long past the time when they should be home from school. I think something may have happened. I hope none of the Bad Chaps have—"

"Tut, tut! Please don't be silly and worry," said Mr. Longears, begging

Nurse Jane's pardon for so impolitely interrupting her. "I will go look for them instead of going adventuring," he added. "I shall tell them to come home quickly."

"Thank you," said Nurse Jane.

Begins Search

Away hopped Uncle Wiggily to look for the lost animal children. Well, perhaps they weren't exactly lost as yet but they were late. Of course, being late coming home isn't as serious as being late at school. But it is best to be on time at both places.

And, to tell you the truth, though Uncle Wiggily told Nurse Jane not to be silly and worry he, himself, was a bit worried.

"I wonder what can be keeping the little rascals?" said Uncle Wiggily, calling the animal boys and girls "rascals" in a spirit of fun. "I hope nothing has happened to them."

On he hopped over hill and dale, across the fields and through the woods. Not one of his little bunny rabbits could he see—not even Baby Bunty, the orphan. At last Uncle Wiggily reached a place along the road where some men had dug a long ditch or trench wherein to put big water pipes. The pipes were large enough for you to walk through without stooping. Some of the pipes were on top of the ground ready to be laid in the trench tomorrow.

Voices Are Heard

And in one of these large pipes Uncle Wiggily heard voices. He heard some one say:

"Isn't this a fine place to hide?"

"Oh, indeed it is," said another voice. "They'll never think of looking for us here—inside the water pipe."

"But how long are we going to hide here?" asked a very little voice.

"Ha! Ha!" silently chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "That was Baby Bunty. So the little rascals went in here to hide on their way home from school, did they? Well, now it's my turn to go in the pipe."

Into one end of the pipe, at the other end of which the animal children were hiding to have what they thought was fun, hopped Mr. Longears. It was getting dark now, especially inside the black iron pipe.

"Oooo-h," cried Bunty all of a sudden.

"What's the matter?" asked Buster.

"Somebody else is coming in our pipe," said the orphan rabbit. "Ooooh!"

"Oooh!" cried all the others. Then Uncle Wiggily couldn't help laughing. And the rabbit children, knowing his laugh, also laughed. Then they ran out and their rabbit daddy pretended to chase them home. So everything was all right. And if the feather duster doesn't tickle the potatoes when they're in the salad I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's queer voice.

IN BED FOR WEEKS WITH BACKACHE

Quick Relief with Kruschen

"It was advice from her mother that led this woman to take Kruschen Salts for her backache, and before she had finished the first bottle she was feeling better. This is the letter she writes:—

"About this time last year I had severe pains in my back and was prostrate for three weeks. I could not even rise in bed. I tried several well-known remedies, but to no avail. Then I wrote to my mother telling her of my trouble. She wrote to me by return of post urging me to try Kruschen Salts. I immediately bought a bottle and I can truthfully say before I had taken the fifth dose I could sit up. I kept on taking them and in less than two weeks I was about again. I am never without Kruschen now."—(Mrs.) A.G.

Unless the kidneys function properly, certain acid wastes, instead of being expelled, are allowed to pollute the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms; backache, rheumatism and excessive fatigue. Kruschen Salts is an excellent diuretic or kidney aperient, valuable in assisting the kidneys to excrete acid impurities.

1936 BUILDING TOTALS $269,164

454 Permits Issued During Year At City Engineer's Office

Building construction in the city for the year just ended aggregated $269,164.75 in value judged by the 454 permits issued by the city engineer's department for the twelve-month period. The estimate exceeded by $73,576.75 the amount of building construction undertaken in the previous year, as indication of a general improvement in the building trades. Last month seven permits were issued for a total of $3,585, as compared with six permits in December 1935 for a total of $2,635.

St. Paul's Cage Team Defeats St. John's

St. Paul's Bantams took their fifth straight win Saturday at the "Y" in the only Church Cage Loop contest played, defeating St. John's by a 14-8 score. It was the best bantam battle of the season with the Presbyterians drawing away in the last few moments after St. John's had tied up the tilt. The Anglicans played their usual rugged style and made their shots count, while St. Paul's showed nice teamplay but hadn't many shots on the basket. Their guards seldom moved up on the attack. Castle and Taylor were outstanding. The teams:

St. John's: Crowter, Castle, Cranford, Sage and Thompson.

St. Paul's: Taylor, McBride, Hall, Ferguson and Fraser.

Games next Saturday: George St. Bantams vs St. Andrew's at 6.00, St. Andrew's Juveniles vs Murray St. at 6.35, St. Paul's Juniors vs George St. at 7.15.

DEAL FOR A BURGLAR

Pastor Offers Thief $5 for Advance Notice of Next Visit

BEAUMONT, Tex., Jan. 4—(C.P.)—In an open letter to a burglar who broke into St. Mark's Episcopal Church recently, Rev. George F. Cameron offered $5 for advance notice of the marauder's next visit.

The $5 "is ordinarily required to repair the damage you do," the letter stated, and "also will leave you opportunity for happier pursuits."

HOCKEY CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE DANCE

Successful Affair Held In Lakefield Hall On New Year's Eve

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 4.—Lakefield people who are fond of square dancing were able to dance the old year out and the new year in, in their own village this year, when Rex Wilson and his orchestra provided music for a jolly New Year's eve party. The party was under the auspices of the Lakefield Hockey Club, and a good crowd turned out to support the players. Everyone had a good time. As the clock struck twelve, and the siren blew to usher in the New Year, there was the usual amount of shouting and cheering, then all the dancers formed a circle in the centre of the floor, and with arms crossed in the traditional fashion sang "Auld Lang Syne" to the accompaniment of the orchestra.

This is the first time for three years that Lakefield has held a public dance on New Year's Eve.

ADULT CLASSES ARE ENTERTAINED

Enjoyable Program Is Given In Lily Lake Sunday School

LILY LAKE, Jan. 4.—The two adult classes of Lily Lake Sunday school, of which Mrs. William Steinkrauss and Mrs. Gordon Hancock are teachers, were enjoyably entertained at the home of the former on Wednesday evening.

Games and music were enjoyed, prizes for progressive euchre being won by: Ladies' first, Mrs. Harry Fowler, Jr.; consolation, Miss Constance Orr; gent's first, tied by Clarence Hancock and Don Forsythe; consolation, Everett Tully.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by a number of ladies. A vote of thanks to Mrs. Steinkrauss and Mrs. Hancock for the enjoyable evening's entertainment was moved by George Middleton; also to Mr. and Mrs. Steinkrauss for loaning their spacious home for the occasion.

ENJOYABLE TREAT FOR WESTWOOD S.S.

Annual Entertainment Of St. Andrew's Pupils Proves Great Success

WESTWOOD, Jan. 4.—A Christmas treat was given the children of St. Andrew's Sunday school on Wednesday evening, December 30. A short program, for which D. N. Cameron, superintendent, was chairman, included: Christmas carols by all present, and community singing with Miss Bess Sargent as accompanist; monologue by Jack Warner; mouth organ selection by Vernon Warr; recitation by Mary Elmhirst; trio by Blanche and Mary Elmhirst and Marjorie Cameron; duet by Zola Warr and Jean Sargent; dialogue by Mary Elmhurst and Marjorie Cameron; and a very helpful and inspiring talk by Rev. F. W. Newell on the New Year and its resolutions.

At the close of the program prizes for attendance for the younger classes during 1936 were presented by the teachers. Primary prizes presented by Miss J. Davidson were won by Shirley Clysdale, Mary Warr and Jack Sargent. The junior girls' by Mrs. J. Clysdale were: Dorothy Cardwell, Margaret Sargent and Mabel Douglas; junior boys' by Mr. G. A. L. Humphries were, Tommy Cardwell, Bruce Warr, Ronald Warner, Jack Warner and Billy Warr; intermediate girls' by Mrs. E. W. Sargent, Zola Warr, Ruth Cardwell Sargent, ola Warr, Ruth Cardwell and Jean Sargent.

Bags of candy and nuts for the children and home-made candy for everyone were enjoyed.

CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

S.S. No. 13 PERCY

S.S. No. 13, Percy held their Christmas entertainment in the school recently. A varied program was presented to a very attentive audience, the participants receiving unstinted applause.

The teacher, Leslie J. Hardy, was in charge of the program, and deserves credit for the pains taken in preparing such a splendid program. Mr. Peter Fairman acted as a most efficient chairman. The following program was presented:

Welcome recitation, Shirley Herriot; chorus, "The Child of Christmas"; recitation, J. D. Merrill; song, Henry Oliver; recitation, Freddie Sampson; dialogue, "The First Christmas Morning"; recitation, "A Christmas Telegram" by Lyle Oliver; pantomime, "Nearer My God to Thee"; recitation, "Success" by Peter Fairman; dialogue, "The First Christmas Morning"; Duet, "Star of the East", by Mrs. Rae Seeney and Mrs. P. Fairman; violin selection and encore, Patrick Butler; recitation, "The Charge of the Christmas Shoppers", McLean Herriot; dialogue "A Suitor Bold"; chorus, "Mickey Mouse' Birthday Party; drill "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers"; dialogue, "Brown's Unlucky Day"; solo with encore, Alex. Prosser. A presentation was then given to the teacher by Mary Hoard and Kenneth Fairman on behalf of the pupils of the school.

Santa Claus then came and distributed the presents. The concert closed with the National Anthem.

S.S. No. 5, ASPHODEL (Fife's School)

Fife's school held their annual Christmas Concert in the school room on December 22nd with a large attendance. The program was very entertaining and enjoyed by all. Much credit is due to the pupils and the teacher, Miss Helen Clysdale, for their splendid performance. Leo Lynch, a pupil of the school, made a very capable chairman for the evening.

The interesting program was opened by a Christmas welcome by the junior pupils carried out in letter formation. Following this there was a chorus by the school; recitation by Doreen Beavis; the chairman's address; duet by Billy Bannon and Murray Fife; a dialogue "A Mother Goose Medley"; recitation by Jack Oakley, "Christmas Quiz"; two choruses by the school; recitation by Bruce Oakley, "A Bad Cold"; a musical playette "Among the Fairies"; a monologue by Jack Warner "Steve on the Telephone"; a chorus of lullabies by junior girls; a musical number by three boys of the section; a dialogue "The Bargain Hunters"; recitation by Leo Lynch; chorus by the school; an action song "Jack Frost" by Mary Lynch, Doreen Beavis, June Oakley, Loretta Oakley, another musical by boys; a dialogue "The City Rube" with Lloyd Fife and Leo Lynch taking part; a pantomime "Old Folks at Home" with Evelyn Moore and Harold Fife acting the part and Pauline Humphries, Leo Lynch, Lloyd Fife taking the singing parts; recitation by Helen Moore "The Kitten's Christmas"; two, two part songs by the school; duet by Pauline Humphries and Ronald Warner; a dialogue "Willie Went and Got Lost"; cowboy songs by Sr. III. Class boys; the closing number on the program was "Christmas All Over the Land".

Following this Santa Claus came and distributed the gifts from a well-loaded and prettily decorated tree. The evening ended with the National Anthem.

CANTATA PROVES ENJOYABLE EVENT

Choir Of Fenella United Church Presents Very Successful Program

FENELLA, Jan. 4. — Under the auspices of the choir of Fenella United Church a very enjoyable sacred cantata entitled "The Lost Star," was held in the United Church on Wednesday evening, December 30, under the direction of the choir leader, Miss G. Knox. Mr. Fred Talling acted as the chairman for the evening.

The cantata was given in two acts. The first act takes place in Bethlehem around the first Christmas and the second act thirty years later in Bethesda. The characters were taken as follows:

Asaph the innkeeper, Rev. L. W. Scott; Lydia, his wife, Mrs. L. W. Scott; Philip, a Jewish lad, Erle Adams; Philip, about thirty years later, Mr. William Montgomery; James his father, a rich man, Mr. R. K. McKee; Sara his wife, Mrs. Marcus Lonsberry; Mary and Joseph Miss Lenore Leach and Mr. William Montgomery; Simon a messenger, boy, Marvel Lonsberry; Three Shepherds, Messrs. William Montgomery, L. Hope, and H. Down; Peter at forty years, Rev. L. W. Scott.

The opening chorus, "Calm Night" was sung by the choir; "Bethlehem," Miss B. McNaught, Mrs. Carl McNaught; "Prayer of Israel," Mrs. L. W. Scott; "Star Over Bethlehem," chorus by the choir, "No Room Within"; Miss Donna Talling, "Hushed and Waiting Is the World" Mrs. E. Lonsberry, Mrs. Frank Down; "Tarry in Bethlehem" chorus by the choir; "All Glory Be to God on High"; chorus by the choir, "Song After the Star"; Mrs. N. C. Leach, "Lost Star," chorus by the choir; "Come Back in Thought to Bethlehem," chorus by the choir; "I Would See Jesus," Miss Donna Lonsberry, Miss Donna Talling; "Follow the Light," chorus by the choir. During the intermission, Mrs. Elmer Lonsberry sang "Star of the East." Mrs. Frank Down was the accompanist through the evening. It was very well rendered and its success should be gratifying to the members of the choir and their leader, who spent a great amount of time in its preparation.

Personals.

Mrs. C. W. Macklin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macklin and family spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oran Day, Castleton.

Mr. Lander has asked for a holiday next Sunday, the occasion being Mr. and Mrs. Lander's twentieth wedding anniversary. So there will be no service in the church next Sunday night, although Sunday school will be as usual at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. William Musgrave is ill with the flu at present.

Mr. William Anderson is also on the sick list this week.

Miss Jean Brooks has returned to her home in Coldsprings.

Mr. and Mrs. George Paudash, Sr., and children, Elmer, June and Neil Paudash, were the dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Paudash, Jr., Christmas night.

The Christmas tree, which was held in the hall was a huge success this year. Every child was well remembered by Santa and a lot of them even received a big handshake from the little man with the flowing white beard. The program was given before the gifts and was very much enjoyed by everyone. Mr. Brooks did very well in the training of the children for the Christmas drills and readings. He was assisted the last week of school by his sister, Jean Brooks. Over $12.00 was taken in at the door, which will go toward Sunday school expenses next year.

There will be a meeting some time next week of all the young people in the community who are interested in the forming of a dramatic club and starting to work on a play that will be given in the spring or early summer.

A Christmas service was held in the home of Mrs. Robert Paudash. An interesting and appropriate message was given by Rev. Mr. Lander. Mr. Joseph Loukes sang several Indian hymns, with the help of his son Edge and Mr. Ben Taylor.

Those Splitting Headaches A Symptom of Disease

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

The cause of headache is the accumulation of poisonous matter in the blood which spreads with it, every moment, to all parts of the body.

This poisoning of the system must be cleared up before you can get rid of the headache, which is a symptom of an unhealthy condition of the body.

McCLENNAN AND DRUCE COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

VALUATION OF COUNTY FIXED AT $10,787,946

Equalized Assessment Is Lowered In Only Four Municipalities

PERCENTAGES FIXED

Smith, Lakefield, North Monaghan And Dummer Get Largest Increases

Smith Township definitely replaces Otonabee as the municipality with the highest equalized assessment in Peterborough county, according to the new valuation determined by the special board of valuators presided over by Judge S. L. Smoke, assisted by Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg, and W. F. Morrow, registrar of deeds.

The report of the valuators was opened by Warden Gifford late Monday afternoon on the advice of senior members of the county council including Reeves W. A. Anderson, Otonabee; George Mullen, Smith; C. S. Tanner, Lakefield; James Milby, North Monaghan; E. N. McDonald, Dummer.

Four of the municipalities comprise the grateful minority group whose assessments have been reduced. They are Otonabee, Asphodel, Ennismore, and Galway-Cavendish.

The other equalized assessments have been increased, and in this company are the three villages, Lakefield, Norwood and Havelock; Smith township; North Monaghan; Dummer; Douro; Harvey; Chandos; Burleigh and Anstruther; Belmont-Methuen.

Percentages Fixed

Judge Smoke's report fixes the total valuation of the county at $10,787,946, and figures for the individual municipalities are included in a comparative statement published elsewhere. These values represent respectively percentages of the total, and Judge Smoke sets out the percentage in each case, which is actually the basic fact and decision presented to the county council of 1937.

The individual percentages of the total valuation as determined by Judge Smoke's board are as follows:

North Monaghan	10.827
Ennismore	2.943
Otonabee	10.132
Dummer	8.346
Smith	10.782
Asphodel	9.235
Belmont-Methuen	3.682
Burleigh-Anstruther	1.985
Chandos	.982
Douro	9.905
Galway-Cavendish	.868
Harvey	2.600
Norwood	3.111
Havelock	2.839

Report Withheld

The report was received by Miss Jennie Batten, county clerk and treasurer, on the day of rural nominations, a week ago Monday, but county authorities decided to suspend curiosity and interest as to its contents until after the municipal elections yesterday.

"I withheld the report until Monday of this week in fairness to the reeves and deputy-reeves seeking re-election," Apparently it was thought that the new valuation might have an adverse effect in these municipalities which were to find themselves in the group whose assessments have been increased.

The special committee appointed to draft new regulations pertaining to the House of Refuge met in the clerk's office Monday afternoon, and Warden Gifford stated that some ratepayers were enquiring about the report and when it was to be opened.

Reeve Milby suggested that it be opened without any further delay, and that copies be forwarded to the reeves and deputy-reeves and also that one copy be given to The Examiner. Reeve Tanner supported this proposal, and the other members of the county council who were present endorsed it.

Otonabee Satisfied

Reeve W. A. Anderson, whose township council had appealed to Judge Smoke for revaluation of the county, told The Examiner last night that he was satisfied with the percentage of valuation which had been determined for Otonabee. He had just passed the report on to Deputy-reeve Harry Reid when The Examiner interviewed him.

"I think Otonabee will be quite satisfied with the findings of the Judge's board," Reeve Anderson said. "Last summer Deputy-reeve Reid and myself offered to assume $2,000,000 of the $10,000,000 equalized assessment. That was 20 per cent. The report has allotted to Otonabee 10.132 of the total valuation, which is a little better for us

SAFETY COUNCIL

Windsor Plant To Call On Co-operation From 7,000 Employers.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 5 (C.P.).—In an effort to obtain co-operation of employers in reducing the accident toll in the building industry, Caesar Saccaro, vice-president of the Industrial Construction Company, Limited, of Windsor, announced today he would organize a local branch of the Canadian Construction Safety Council.

The Safety Council was founded by H. J. McGough of Hamilton with a view to unifying efforts at elimination of hazards in the construction industry. McGough is petitioning from 7,000 to 8,000 employers in the industry for their support of the new organization, expected to become the largest of its kind in Canada.

Germany's Final Palos Demand Turned Down

Basques Warn Grave Consequences in Store Over Nazi Meddling

Two Red Freighters To Be Given Franco Unless Palos Freed By Friday

FISHING FLEET ARMED

Insurgents Admit Firing On British Merchantman Was a Mistake

BAYONNE, France, Jan. 5 (AP).—Spokesmen for the Basque captors of a German freighters cargo announced late today the Spanish Government at Valencia already had turned down the German cruiser Koenigsberg's demand that the sequestered material and an interned Spanish passenger be released.

The spokesmen further warned that "very grave" consequences would be the result of additional German interference with Spanish shipping.

Germany's communication to Valencia gave the regional Basque regime until 8 a.m. Friday to return the sequestered portion of the cargo of the German freighter Palos, and to liberate the unidentified Spaniard taken from the ship before Christmas.

Otherwise, the Koenigsberg's commander said, the seized Spanish freighters Aragon and Marta Junquera would be "disposed of" and turned over to the Spanish insurgent regime.

The Basque spokesmen, only a few hours after the message was delivered, announced it had been rejected by Valencia.

General Franco would pay Germany for the Palos cargo, German officials explained today, besides putting up a guarantee for damages which the Spanish passenger might demand from the German Government.

Fishing Fleet On Patrol

BAYONNE, France, Jan. 5 (AP)—A fleet of armed Basque fishing craft patrolled the coast of northern Spain today under reported orders to attack German warships halting either neutral or Spanish shipping.

An acute need of food in the territory controlled by the Basque autonomous government was believed to have caused the Bilbao authorities to stop blockade tactics by extending their protection to shipping of all nations.

The German warships Koenigsberg and Admiral Graf Spee were reported to have steered away from the Basque coast, where they have been waging a campaign against Spanish merchantmen in retaliation for seizure of German vessels.

5 German Pilots Killed.

BILBAO, Spain, Jan. 5 (A.P.). — Five German pilots were killed when their planes were shot down, the Basque Defence Committee announced to-day.

One of the Germans was identified as a member of the Reichswehr Air Corps named Adolf Hermann, a Basque spokesman said.

A sixth pilot who bailed out of his plunging plane and reached the ground safely with a parachute was mittee declared.

WHAT HE THOUGHT

Voter Scrawls "Nuts" Across Entire Ballot.

MONTREAL, Jan. 5 (C.P.).—The voter in Notre Dame de Grace Ward didn't think much of any of the candidates. Tabulators in Montreal's current Mayoralty election recount found he's simply scrawled across the ballot: "Nuts."

Lancaster Mentioned As Conservative Whip

Toronto, Jan. 5.

T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., Peterborough County has been mentioned lately as the new Whip of the Conservative group, although A. R. Nesbitt, M.L.A., Toronto-Bracondale, was reported some months ago as in line for the post. These matters will all be settled at a party caucus which, it is understood, will antedate the Government caucus of January 18.

BALLOTING LIGHT IN FINAL VOTING ACROSS ONTARIO

Belleville Approves City Manager And Public Utilities Commission

FOUR CITIES NAME MAYORS

(By the Canadian Press.)

Light voting marked the majority of elections which brought to an end ballot-casting for the men who will handle municipal affairs in Ontario for 1937. Cities, towns, townships and villages yesterday picked their administrative bodies and decided on a number of by-laws.

Cities where ballots were cast included Fort William, Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie and Belleville. Alderman Dr. B. C. Hardiman was chosen mayor of Fort William, succeeding R. B. Pow who did not enter the fray. Mayor Charles W. Cox, minister without portfolio in the Ontario cabinet, was elected Port Arthur's mayor for a fourth term [illegible] over Alderman [illegible].

Sault Ste. Marie chose Alderman W. J. McMeeken as chief magistrate and Belleville elected Ritchie D. Arnott, barrister at law who defeated Mayor Hill, standing for re-election.

In Northern Ontario Canada's only woman mayor, Mrs. Barbara Hanbara Hanley, was given a second term as mayor of Webbwood, 25 miles from Sudbury. She scored a victory over Robert Streich by a majority of 20, polling 86 votes to her opponent's 66.

Reeve of 31 Years Beaten

In one of the closest votes in the history of the village of Portsmouth, Reeve John Fisher lost out to Murdock G. Johnston after spending 31 years as reeve. Johnston's majority was only seven votes.

Acclamations included A. S. Hughson as mayor of Napanee; James Gardner as mayor of Niagara-on-the-Lake; Fred Kennedy as mayor of Ridgetown; J. J. Shaw as mayor of Hespeler; Robert Bieth as mayor of Preston; Herbert G. Zilliaz as mayor of Listowel.

H. G. Taylor won his 10th consecutive victory as reeve of South Dorchester while in Wallaceburg Mayor E. U. Dickenson was returned for a third term.

Preston electors turned down daylight saving time. Belleville electors approved a city manager and formation of a public utilities commission and voted to reduce the number in city council to six besides the mayor. Belleville in future will have a board of education with nine members instead of 30. They will be municipally elected and not by the ward system.

This picture is of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Mattson of Tacoma, Wash., for whose release from his kidnappers his parents are now pleading. Late reports state that Dr. Mattson has urged the abductors to accept $28,000 asked for and release the lad.

Stoke Up, Don Woollies The Weatherman Warns

Severe Cold Wave Due To Hit Province During The Night

HANG ON TWO DAYS

TORONTO, Jan 5 (C.P.). — Residents of Ontario had better reach for their warmest winter woolies if the provincial weather man has the right dope.

A cold wave of pronounced severity, says the forecaster, is moving from the Arctic regions to-day and will hold Ontario in an icy grip for two days, starting to-night. Near zero temperatures threaten. The wave is moving now from the north and north-west by way of Manitoba and North-western Ontario.

Snow is probable around Georgian Bay and Lake Huron, but none is looked for in the rest of the province.

VETERANS' RURAL HOME SUGGESTED

Ottawa Legion Ready To Set One Up If Financial Assistance Forthcoming

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 (C.P.). — The Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion is prepared to establish a "rural home" for war veterans "providing the necessary financing is furnished," Captain Gordon H. Rochester, president of the branch, told Col. J. G. Rattray's War Veterans' Assistance Commission here to-day. For a number of years the branch had operated a shelter through which had passed more than 4,000 veterans. It was therefore felt that the necessary experience had been acquired.

Chairman Rattray did not think the Dominion Government would consider establishing such institutions directly, although they might take "the initial steps." While the Legion branch strongly advocated establishment of soldiers' homes, evidence taken at Winnipeg was to the effect that out of 900 veterans canvassed on their attitude to such a scheme, only 20 were favorable to "going back to the land."

However, the proposition put up to them was not entirely similar to the "soldiers' rural home" project, but was something undertaken by the Manitoba Rural Rehabilitation Commission.

NURSES TAKE FLU

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (CP) — A shortage of nurses, due to the spread of influenza, last night threatened to complicate the problem of the New York Department of Hospitals in caring for the increasing number of victims of respiratory diseases.

Commissioner of Hospitals Dr. S. Coldwater reported 252 nurses in the city's 14 isolation hospitals were stricken with respiratory diseases. Replacements were obtained, he said, but nurses were difficult to find during the New Year's holidays.

Hon. Colonel Is Likely For Reorganized Unit

It is learned by The Examiner on unimpeachable authority that Harold A. Morrow is to become honorary colonel of The Prince of Wales' Rangers—the city's newly reorganized machine gun unit which was created out of an amalgamation of Peterborough Rangers, C Company 4th Machine Gun Battalion, and 3rd Prince of Wales' Canadian Dragoons. The Morrow family has long been identified with the progressive history of Peterborough, and the news that Mr. Morrow, graduate of the Royal Military College is to become honorary colonel of the Prince of Wales Rangers, is being received with great enthusiasm by all interested in the welfare of the local militia.

$500,000 POWER OFFER REFUSED ROEBUCK CLAIMS

BOUGHT FROM GATINEAU

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (C.P.). — The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario offered to purchase $500,000 worth of power from the Ottawa Valley Power Company, prior to buying it from the Gatineau Power Company, but the offer was refused by the company, Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Ontario Attorney-General and member of the Hydro Commission, said to-day.

He also said overtures have been made by the Ottawa Valley Power Company seeking to re-open negotiations with a view to a revision of power contracts cancelled by the Power Commission Act of 1935 passed by the Ontario Legislature. The Commission is willing to discuss any representation the company might make, he said.

Mr. Roebuck made public a letter dated December 30 received from W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for Ottawa Valley Power Company, in which he informed the Hydro Commission the company would issue a writ seeking collection of money alleged owing the company by the Hydro for unfulfilled contracts.

Mr. Tilley also sought advice concerning further discussion in connection with possible revision of contracts.

Mr. Roebuck said the Commission had offered to discuss with the Ottawa Valley Power Company the purchase of additional power requirements for this winter's peak load, but the offer was refused.

The Commission then bought the power from the Gatineau Power Company. The additional amount taken from Gatineau this winter has been 40,000 horse-power at a

JUDGE URGES GROCERS MARK NET WEIGHTS

Rules No Breach Of Law If Goods Shrink After Marked "Weight When Packed"

ALLOWS LONDON APPEAL

Decision Watched Closely By Whole Trade Controlling $100,000,000 Business

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 5.—(CP)—County Judge Joseph Wearing recommended today that Canadian grocers be compelled to mark the net weight on all goods of half a pound or more which are packaged in their stores before the customers come in. At the same time, he held that under present regulations, grocers are not guilty of selling short-weight if their ready-wrapped goods shrink in weight on the shelves after being marked "weight when packed."

In a judgment which though it involved less than one cents worth of prunes, was eagerly awaited by the whole Canadian grocery trade, as having an important bearing on their $100,000,000 a year business, Judge Wearing allowed an appeal by W. A. Bailey and Sons, London grocers, against a conviction for selling short-weight. The appeal was heard last month.

Some prunes on the shelves of the Bailey store shrunk in weight after being packed, but Judge Wearing ruled that since they were marked "weight when packed" there was no guarantee of the weight at the time of sale.

Noting that he believes shoppers have a blind, unquestioning faith in the honesty of merchants, His Honor proposed that marking packages of half a pound or more with "weight when packed" only, should be forbidden. Such a ruling, if adopted, however, would not apply to goods packed in factories, but only to those ready-wrapped in retail stores.

Proposal to Department

"I recommend," the judge wrote in his judgment, "to the Department (of Weights and Measures) that a ruling be made prohibiting the sale of packages made up by retailers of half a pound or more in weight unless the net weight is stamped on the packages.

"A system such as this in general use would establish uniformity, would at the same time provide a practical means of checking weight from the standpoint of the department, and would undoubtedly still further increase the confidence which the public now has in merchants generally.

"This case actually revolves itself in a question of whether a retailer can make use of the words "when packed," which is in common usage among manufacturers."

His Honor declared that the label on each package of prunes (weight when packed) was a specific warning that no exact weight was guaranteed at the time of sale, but that each package, irrespective of weight, could be purchased for 12 cents.

"So far as the container was concerned, there was no misrepresentation as to the weight, since each was labelled one pound when packed, which indeed was the plan truth. It would not have been the truth if the package had been labelled one pound net. The point to be emphasized is the packages were not labelled in this manner.

"There was no imputation from any source of anything affecting the honesty of the grocer, or of anything in the nature of unfair dealing with respect to his customers."

Jury Trial Elected; Blame Laid on Druce For Actual Shooting

Evidence Of One Crown Witness In Each Case Taken At Preliminary

STATEMENT MADE

McClennan Is Said To Have Blamed Druce For Wounding Grocer

On the evidence of one crown witness in each case, John McClennan, 18, and Gordon Druce, 19, were this (Tuesday) morning committed for trial following preliminary hearing before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., of charges of attempted armed robbery and assault of Edgar D. Carson, north-end grocer on the night of November 28 last.

Through their counsel the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., the accused both elected jury trial, but did not enter pleas. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., conducted the examination of police witnesses.

In the case against McClennan, Chief Constable Samuel Newhall submitted in evidence a document purporting to be a confession signed by the accused, in which the blame for the actual shooting is laid on Druce.

McClennan's Statement

The statement is quoted in part as follows:

"I, John McClennan, aged 18, make this voluntary statement after being cautioned. I and Gordon Druce arranged to meet near the Smith street railway bridge on the night of November 28. I was late. If we did not meet then I was to whistle on him at his house, which I did. He came out and brought with him two pistols. One was a silver-plated revolver fully loaded. He gave it to me. The other was a .45 revolver, rusty in color. We arranged to stick-up Carson, as we thought he would have a lot of money on hand. I went into the store and asked for cigarette papers. Then Druce came in with a dirty handkerchief over his face, and said to Carson, "Stick 'em up." The storekeeper reached for a can from the shelf and hurled it at us. Druce fired. Carson didn't say anything."

After the shooting the pair of alleged gunmen fled the store. According to McClennan's statement, he ran north and Druce ran northwest.

Subsequently the police visited McClennan's house, and in this connection McClennan's statement is quoted: "Constable Wheeler got the pistol under my pillow. I did not fire, as you can see by the gun. It is fully loaded."

Family Unemployed

The statement attributed to McClennan concludes with the explanation that the hold-up was planned because he and his family were in straightened circumstances. The ac-

FASCIST ATTACK CUTS MADRID FROM NORTHERN ALLIES

DRIVE SWINGS WEST

WITH THE FASCIST FORCES OUTSIDE MADRID, Jan. 5 (A.P.). —Fascist headquarters claimed today its troops had cut the highway leading north-west from Madrid, isolating the capital from Socialist troops in El Escorial and the Guadarrama Mountains.

The Madrid-El Escorial road, regarded as highly important to the capital's defence, was reported dominated by seizure of the town of Las Rozas, 10 miles north-west of the city.

Laconic advices from the front merely said General Francisco Franco's insurgent Legiannaires and Moors entered the village.

A fierce Fascist drive, carrying over into its second day, was concentrated in the El Escorial sector in a determined attempt to sweep the Socialist forces out of the country west of Madrid.

Government defence lines were reported hurled back from Majadahonda toward the El Escorial highway in earlier reports from the front. A communique said the Socialists left more than 200 dead on the field at Majadahonda alone.

(War Office bulletins in Madrid reported the Madrilenos were forced to evacuate their first-line trenches in that sector, but said they were resisting an insurgent push northward toward the vital communication line.)

Officers said Franco's strategy would be to attack simultaneously at two points in an effort to dislodge the Socialists and bottle up the Government forces blocking the way of Fascist reinforcements from the north-west.

As soon as the insurgents battered through successive lines of Government trenches to reach Majadahonda, the reports said, heavy artillery was turned on Las Rozas.

The village of Torrelodones, about eight miles beyond Las Rozas toward the Guadarrama Mountains, was heavily bombed by cannon and aircraft.

GERMANY SPEEDS FRONTIER WORKS

Strikes Reveal Plans For Military Barracks, Airports Three Times Size Of Those In '14

PARIS, Jan. 5.—(CP - Havas)—Construction of German military barracks and subterranean airports in the Lake Constance area has been seriously hindered by repeated strikes of German workers demanding higher wage scales, Genevieve Taboulis, political commentator, reported today in L'Ouvre.

Workers have been confined in large numbers in concentration camps at Dachau and Neufhausen when they struck on work vital to Germany's program of militarizing the Franco-Swiss frontier region on a scale more than three times as great as existed prior to 1914, Mme. Taboulis asserted.

Strike reports that seeped across the border brought the first inkling of military works on the shore of Lake Constance, at Wolmatingen, Radolfzell, Donauschingen, Willingen, Tubingen, Rotenburg, Wangen and other towns, the commentator declared.

Barracks housing a total of 30,000 men are under construction at these points, Mme. Taboulis said, as compared to a prewar garrison of 8,000 in the whole region.

At Neufhausen, according to Mme. Taboulis, an area of 75 acres is being converted into a completely equipped underground airport, with digging going on at the rate of roughly 12,000 cubic yards daily.

Spectator At Theft Hearing Nabbed In Court As Receiver

ARREST FOLLOWS

BRANTFORD, Ont., Jan. 5.—(CP)—Thomas Hoe, Brantford, a spectator in court, was arrested yesterday and charged with receiving goods stolen from Brabier's garage, Waterford, December 1.

C. Vandersluy, crown witness who had bought stolen anti-freeze, was on the stand at the trial of Earl Butler. Butler said he was with another man, a "stranger", when the anti-freeze was sold to Mr. Vandersluy.

Crown Attorney F. E. D. Wallace, turned to Mr. Vandersluy on the witness stand and said:

"Do you see in this court the man who was with Butler?"

The witness looked hesitatingly about the court room.

"I am informed he is here," the Crown Attorney said. "Can you point him out?"

"Stand up Hoe," the Crown Attorney said.

Hoe did, and Vandersluy made positive identification of him.

The charge was laid and the arrest made a short time later.

Two Weeks Grace Given On Licenses

TWO weeks of grace have been granted motorists who are still driving cars with 1936 license plates, the Hepburn Government announced yesterday. If car owners do not purchase new markers on or before January 18, they will find themselves in conflict with the law.

Less than 25 per cent. of motorist have availed themselves of the opportunity of adding to the Provincial revenues, according to a statement issued following Cabinet Council. Owners of commercial vehicles and trailers have been given a "break" by the government, Monday, February 15 being the date of expiry for new plates. P.C.V. licenses must be procured not later than March 31.

40,000 ITALIANS AT MALLORCA

LONDON, Jan. 5 (CP-Havas) — Italians still are in command of 40,000 troops concentrating in Mallorca, the Manchester Guardian said today in dispatches from Barcelona.

Quoting Juan Fontrodona Ferre, a Spanish artilleryman who arrived in Barcelona after escaping from the Balearic insurgent stronghold, the newspaper said rumors of "an expedition of 60,000 Italians from Mallorca against Catalonia are pure imagination."

Brigade Loses Race To Death As Three Tots Perish In Fire

Father Work - Bound Passes Racing Firemen Ignorant His Home Their Goal

MOTHER'S EFFORTS VAIN

After a vain attempt at rescue, Mrs. Taylor escaped without injury. Mr. Taylor, a truck driver, en route to work at the time, passed the fire brigade as it speeded to his home.

The children were trapped in a back bedroom off the kitchen of the Taylor cottage. The cottage was badly damaged.

An explosion awakened Mrs. Taylor, sleeping in a front bedroom and separated by the kitchen from the children's room. She made a vain attempt to enter the flame-filled kitchen, and then, shrieking for help, rushed from the house in her night attire, into 10 below zero weather. She suffered frostbites and shock.

A neighbor, seeing an "orange glare" in the Taylor kitchen, came out to investigate, brought the frantic mother into her home and called the firemen.

Dog Enables Owner To Cast A Ballot

Ridgetown, Jan. 5.

HOWARD Township's lively election battle yesterday provided one instance in which a dog tax became an asset, rather than a nuisance.

Because Clarence Nottingham, Ridgetown, owns a dog which he keeps at the home of his son, Levi, near Morpeth in Howard Township, he was entitled to mark a ballot in the election there. Mr. Nottingham owns no property and pays no taxes other than for his dog. He walked five miles from Ridgetown, where he resides with his daughter, to cast the ballot his dog gave him.

Challenge To Nazis By Valencia Officials Is Held Foolhardiness

British Government Officially Confirms Report Of Volunteer Movements

PRESS IS ALARMED

Hint Is Made Agreement With Italy Ties Britain's Hands In Mediterranean

LONDON, Jan. 5 (CP)—The government officially confirmed reports today that it possessed information that more than 10,000 Italian volunteers have arrived in Spain during the past fortnight.

In addition to 4,000 landed at the insurgent port of Cadiz on New Years Day, authoritative sources said 6,500 other Italians arrived there around Christmas.

The Jan. 1 contingent was said to have landed from the Italian transport Lombardia.

(French diplomatic circles said the first group of troops was landed on Dec. 22.)

Foreign Secretary Eden returned to the capital after the Christmas holidays to take personal control of efforts to smooth the troubled diplomatic situation.

The press described the situation as grave. The Conservative Morning Post said it was becoming "more menacing" every hour.

"In any event the proceedings of the Valencia government are strange and unaccountable," the newspaper said. "Now we find it actually challenging Germany to a trial of strength. Such foolhardiness as this was hardly to be expected even in the land of Don Quixote."

Betrayal of Republicans?

The Manchester Guardian, declaring the despatch of Italian troop contingents to Spain was almost simultaneous with conclusion of the Anglo-Italian accord, added:

"Mr. Eden, having in effect sold the Abyssinians for the good graces of Italy by his precipitate conclusion of the Anglo-Italian agreement, has betrayed Spanish Republicans as well. He may have lent new color to the nickname of 'Perfidious Albion.'"

Meanwhile, British naval forces in Spanish waters were ready to protect British shipping from interference from any quarter.

Although informed circles took a most serious view of the danger to British ships and the landing of the Italian "volunteers," official action was reserved pending a conference between Eden and key Cabinet members.

Authoritative opinion was troubled at the thought the Italian action came on the heels of an Anglo-French appeal to stop the flow of aid to insurgent General Franco and almost simultaneously with the signing of the Anglo-Italian Mediterranean accord.

The Government was expected in informed circles to deplore immediately any suggestion that the "gentleman's agreement" had tied Britain's hands in the Mediterranean or given even unspoken approval to any country's intervention on either side of the Civil War.

That such was the official attitude was borne out by the rapidity of the protest against the shelling of the British steamer Blackhill by insurgent warships.

No Shelling of British Ships

The protest was drafted by Sir Henry Chilton, British ambassador to Spain, and warned vigorously against any repetition of the incident in which 26 shells were hurled at the Blackhill before a Basque warship came to the rescue.

At the same time the destroyer Grafton carried a similar protest to insurgent naval headquarters at Ceuta, Morocco, over the halting of the British steamer Etrib by an insurgent trawler on December 31.

The present grouping of Britain's fleet in Spanish waters allows two battle cruisers, one battleship, one depot ship and 13 destroyers to be always within easy striking distance of strategic points in the "danger zone."

Apart from the destroyer Gloworm enroute to Marseille with refugees from the British embassy at Madrid, they are based as follows:

ORATORY IS ABSENT

Campbellford Rotary Club Holds Meeting Without A Speaker.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 5.—In the absence of any speaker the Rotary Club Monday devoted their meeting to a discussion of general business. The secretary's report was given and Charlie Davidson was asked for a statement regarding the supplying of milk to the public and separate schools. Dr. Hugh McLaren led the singing and the balance of the period was devoted to a perusal of the Christmas cards received by the club. President T. E. Hall was in the chair.

SALES INCREASED.

Sales of Dominion Stores, Limited, for the 13th period ended December 28th, 1936, were $1,658,063. This compares with $1,575,089 for the corresponding period in 1935, and is an increase of 5.27 per cent.

Due to high taxes tobacco prices are up 20 per cent. in Japan.

CABINET PREPARES FOR EARLY SESSION

Premier King Names Norman McLarty To Move Address In Reply To Throne Speech

OTTAWA, Jan. 5—(C.P.)—Nine days before the opening of Parliament the Government to-day settled down to the final drive of preparation for a session everyone hopes will be over by the end of next April.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his ministers hope Canada's official delegation to the Coronation of King George and the subsequent Imperial Conference at London will be able to leave without the necessity of returning later to resume an interrupted Parliamentary session.

Only one announcement came from yesterday's Cabinet Council. Mr. Mackenzie King named Norman McLarty, Windsor, Ont., lawyer and member for Essex West to move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, and Dr. C. J. Veniot, member-elect for Gloucester, N.B., to second it.

Usual pre-session speculation was under way here among politically-minded persons seeking to guess what will be in the throne speech Lord Tweedsmuir will read a week from next Thursday.

It was believed it might contain notice that the administration is prepared with substitute acts for some of the Bennett "New Deal" social legislation, should the Privy Council's judicial committee find it unconstitutional.

Hint of Defence Plans?

Some saw signs, too, that the speech would contain a hint of measures the government may take to strengthen the nation's defences and modernize its militia. It was believed also the speech might say what method of control the government will exercise over Canada's transcontinental air service which is expected to be launched next year.

Estimates were expected to be laid early before the House. Department heads have been working on them for weeks and most of them have been finished.

Mr. Mackenzie King said yesterday his government and that of the United Kingdom wished if possible to conclude a new trade agreement before next Summer's Imperial Conference. However, he said, he could not forecast the time when negotiations over the new pact would be ended, leading to belief some legislation giving effect to the agreement will be necessary this session.

Announcements are expected before Jan. 14 of names of four new Senators to fill vacancies in the Red Chamber caused by death, names of appointees to several judicial vacancies and some posts in the government services.

Heavy Seas Force Coastguards to Leave Burning Tanker

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. Jan. 5 — (A.P.)—Icy seas breaking on Simmons Reef caused abandonment today of coastguard efforts to recover bodies of three of five Beaver Island men who died Friday when their salvage craft exploded while siphoning gasoline from the abandoned tanker J. Oswald Boyd.

Steamboat Inspector Bernie Gelick, who came here to investigate, expressed belief the crew of the salvage ship, the Marold II, was negligent in handling the gasoline. He said the Marold was not equipped with any blower to drive off fumes, and that a heavy accumulation of gas probably was touched off by a spark.

SENATE STARTS PRIVATE BILLS AT CUT PRICES

Cheaper To Launch These Measures In Red Chamber At Ottawa

TIME TO STUDY BILLS

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 (CP)—Most private bills to come before parliament this session will see daylight first in the Senate.

Economy and facility combine to bring about this launching of private measures in the chamber which usually deals last with government bills.

The Senate has time to study the private bills before government legislation, already dealt with in the House of Commons, reaches it for final action. To balance up the course of parliamentary activity it was decided some years ago to set cost of introducing a private bill in the Senate at $200 plus printing charges. The corresponding figure in the Commons is $500. Divorce bills introduced in the Senate get a flat rate of $210 which includes printing.

Three Vacancies

The Senate will probably be up to full strength, 96 members, when parliament opens Jan. 14. There are three vacancies, two in Quebec and one in British Columbia. In addition the seat of Patrick Burns (Calgary) has been forfeited through non-attendance and will be declared vacant.

Although their appointments are by order-in-council and are for life, a senator in action is referred to from the floor of the chamber in much the same manner as House of Commons members—they are tied up to districts so that actual names don't come into the discussion.

For Senate representation Canada is divided into four divisions each sending 24 members. The divisions designated at Confederation were Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. Later a fourth division embracing Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia was added with six senators from each province.

Quebec is the only province divided into senatorial districts. Before Confederation, Lower Canada was divided into 24 districts each having representation in the then Upper House. After Confederation these divisions remained and each senator from Quebec represents one of these districts and his $4,000 property qualification must be located in the district he is named to represent.

No Particular District

In the other provinces senators are not appointed for any particular district. The senator must reside in the province he represents and his property qualification be in that province. As it is not considered correct to address a senator by name in the Senate chamber, each senator is permitted to select the district or municipality to be tied up to his or her name.

When Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen entered the Senate he selected St. Mary's, the town in which he received his early education although his residence is in Toronto. He became "the honorable senator from St. Mary's." Rt. Hon. George P. Graham chose his birthplace, Eganville, Ont., which is located in the riding of Renfrew South which he once represented in the House of Commons. Many senators transferred from the House of Commons to the Senate have chosen the names of the constituencies they represented in the lower chamber.

Both women senators chose the municipalities they reside in, Senator Fallis from Peterborough and Senator Cairine Wilson from Rockcliffe, a suburb of Ottawa. Some senators sit through an entire session before they choose the place from which they are to be accredited.

During the Senate debate there is often laxity in the address used, but those who are careful to be accurate, address a Quebec senator as the honorable senator for the senatorial district in that province he represents, but in the other provinces as the honorable senator from the place he or she has chosen.

In the House of Commons the address is always the honorable member for the constituency for which he has been elected. He may not necessarily live in that constituency.

Mr. Keith Barnard, B.A., returned to Toronto on Sunday, after spending the Christmas vacation at the home of his parents.

Mr. Frank Tickner, of the Bailieboro Motors, is fixing his residence and is moving his family from Millbrook to the village within the near future.

Mr. Joe Barnard returned to Glen Alda on Saturday after spending the holidays at his home.

Mrs. P. Rutherford, Mrs. M. Dawson and Mrs. Marshall, of Peterborough, were visitors to the village on Thursday last.

Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed in the United Church on Sunday afternoon. Services will be conducted each Sunday afternoon during the winter months. The annual congregational meeting will be held at the conclusion of a pot luck supper in the hall, on Tuesday evening.

INFLUENZA SPREADS

Hospitals Are Having Difficult Task Keeping Sufficient Staffs.

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP).—An influenza epidemic spread through the British Isles with hospitals fighting to keep enough of their staffs working to care for the victims.

Some of London's largest hospitals reported some nurses had been afflicted as well as some other staff members. Medical authorities said the fatalities were not alarming.

Mrs. Rudyard Kipling was one of those under hospital care for "special treatment."

IDENTITY OF MAN UNKNOWN

TORONTO—An unidentified man believed to be a transient is in hospital here today near death from prolonged malnutrition. He was admitted to hospital last week after collapsing on the street. Police seek to establish identification of the man they said was about 70, gray-haired and moustached and about five feet eight inches tall.

CRUSADE ON NEPOTISM

TORONTO, Jan. 5—(C.P.). — A crusade against alleged Nepotism in the city services was launched today by Ald. Ernest Bray in a notice of motion tabled at the inaugural council meeting. The motion calls for safeguards against certain families getting several of their members appointed to fire, police and other departments.

THE BLOODHOUNDS BAY

by Walter S. Masterman

READ THIS FIRST:

Jack Reid, only witness to the murder of Sir Henry Severinge in the chapel of his ancient Abbey, is a ne'er-do-well painter. In the chapel to steal a jeweled cross, Reid could raise no alarm at the time of the murder for fear of incriminating himself. Richard Selden, summoned from Scotland Yard, questions Lady Hilda, the victim's widow, and Eric Colindale, agent for the estate, who is in love with her. He also talks with Colonel Graham, a neighbor whose bloodhounds found the body of Sir Henry in the coffin of his father, and Mrs. Thornton, the housekeeper. Lady Hilda and Colindale are shocked by Sir Henry's will which leaves everything to James, the butler, except an allowance for the children and his widow PROVIDED she marries Colindale. Reid, who has fallen in love with Sylvia Lawrence, governess of the two Severinge children, determines to help Selden solve the murder when he learns her life and the children's are endangered. One of the mourners at Sir Henry's funeral, a Mrs. Holden, shows unusual interest in the Abbey. After a chat with Hucks, the village innkeeper, Mrs. Holden proves to be Selden in disguise. Jack Reid, in his cottage near the Abbey, has a visitor. Lady Hilda engages Reid to fill Colindale's post and Colonel Graham invites Reid to supervise his estate, too, and to dine with him, but to look out for strangers. Reid romps with the Severinge children, largely as an excuse to see the governess. At Colonel Graham's Reid is surprised when the Colonel insists he spend the night there. Convinced there is another mystery afoot, Reid is baffled when he learns he is trapped in the Colonel's house.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

REID returned to his room and closed the door softly. He saw that a pair of pajamas had been laid out on the bed, and a brush and comb lay on the dressing table. The Colonel had taken things very much for granted.

When he had followed the Colonel from the dining room through the hall he had picked up his raincoat, in the pockets of which were his cigaret case and electric torch, without which he never went out. He had no intention of leaving it downstairs for the servants to examine. Now he realized how vitally important that small action of his had been. He smiled to himself as he patted a very secret pocket in the lining of the coat, from which he produced a neat leather case containing a complete set of hardened steel tools that fitted into a wooden handle; just such a set as a man might use for odd jobs about the house but specially made for him and in his expert hands, a wonderful burgling outfit.

There was no key in the lock of the bedroom door, and Reid thought he would take one look outside first, and turned the handle quietly, but the door did not open.

"Cunning dogs," he muttered. By some simple device the mechanism of the lock had been tampered with, and the stout door shut as securely as though locked. It gave him food for reflection. An Indian servant, probably armed, was prowling about downstairs; the bloodhounds were loose in the grounds; and the windows, as he soon discovered, fastened with shutters which were padlocked. He was a prisoner in the place right enough, but was that all?

These elaborate preparations indicated something more than a method of trapping him. Suppose this room had been designed and prepared for another? The Colonel had only asked him to dinner that day, and surely this room spoke of careful preparation. He would not let his mind dwell on that, but proceeded to the bathroom.

Reid opened his toolcase and laid it on the window-sill. He had chosen the bathroom window and had shut the door, that would give him a double warning, for there was no service entrance to the bathroom, which had evidently been an old-fashioned dressing room before baths had become fashionable.

With practiced skill he soon bored a hole in the shutter. He went to work quietly and methodically, and in less than half an hour had detached the whole shutter, leaving the bar in place. A rush of air came in and the rain pelted on him as he laid the shutter gently on the floor.

He went back for his raincoat and listened at the door of the bedroom, but no sound came from the silent house save the creaking of old rafters with the force of the gale. Then the stern reality of his task came to his mind. He gazed out into the blackness below. He was on the first story, and the jump would mean little to him. It was the bloodhounds, against which he was totally unarmed that gave him pause.

Very carefully he squeezed under the bar and huddled on the window-sill. It was dangerous to show a light, but he must know what lay below and he flashed his torch downwards. As he had expected, a flower bed was immediately beneath, and the rain must have made the ground sodden. He hung by his hands for a brief moment to get his balance and then dropped neatly with his knees bent on the wet earth. So far, so good. In spite of his raincoat, in less than a minute he was soaking, and the rain running down his back.

The storm made thinking difficult. He tried to remember the direction of the Abbey, but he had come in a car, and the glimpse he had seen from the Colonel's room was of little help as the stairs had been been confusing, and he had not taken particular notice of direction when he had ascended them with the Colonel.

The night was pitch black, and the rain made visibility bad. He made his way cautiously from the house, treading with difficulty in his pumps over the waterlogged ground. He bundled clumsily into a shrubbery and skirted this, feeling with his hands, eagerly, impatiently. It seemed interminable, and he was contemplating bursting his way through when his outstretched hand felt nothing, and he groped his way forward finding the shrubs had gone. Turf was now beneath his feet, soft and squashy. He groped on till his hand touched a wire fence and he paused for breath, as it was heavy going in the storm with his raincoat flapping round his knees and the pumps reduced to the condition of wet paper.

He climbed the wire fence easily, judging it to be the garden boundary, and found himself in a field or meadow, he could not tell which. It was heavy going, and he was uncertain of his direction, but he set his face grimly to cross it when he was brought up with a sudden halt and a cold shudder ran down his spine. Above the raging of the storm the fierce, exultant baying of hounds came to his strained ears.

The only clue as to direction was the fact that he knew the Abbey lay below in the valley, and he was tearing downhill, but he might be making for the village for aught he knew.

No sound came from behind him now, and he could picture them with their noses glued to his freshly laid scent, and the grim beasts were close on his track.

He paused to take a breath and listen, but the storm was all that greeted him. And then, as he ran some intervening trees must have blocked the view—he saw below him one steady light like a pin of fire in the dark, and knew that he had stumbled on the right direction; for the light was undoubtedly Sylvia's signal light, and that reminded him of her peril, which for the moment he had forgotten in his own immediate danger. He knew he could not reach the lake—his powers were failing—and the uncertainty of what lay behind maddened him. If that was the Abbey, then his cottage was not far off. If he could only gain that, or even the huge oak tree, he would be safe.

He could not resist the temptation, it was too strong and compelling—he wheeled round and flashed his torch back along the way he had come. One glance was sufficient; fierce red-rimmed eyes and lolling tongues showed through the rain not 20 paces from him, and one of the hounds lifted its head and gave tongue.

The awful bay sounded like a note of doom. Dimly he could see the brutes coming on. He dashed to the right, thinking that way might lead to his cottage, and in spite of his courage a hideous yell escaped from his lips, inarticulate, the scream of a man in agony.

The next instant he crashed into a high hedge, prickly and impassable, and turned to meet his fate.

He saw in the light of his torch, which he flashed at the oncoming hounds of hell, a huge brute making for him, the foam flecking from its jaws. It came straight at him and leapt. Reid dodged, and the hound crashed into the thick hedge; but the second was on him and he barely saved his throat, which would have been torn out the next moment. The arm he raised was seized in the brute's grip and worried like a bone. They were at him, and death looked at him grinning, formless horror.

He was borne to his knees, fighting desperately.

A flash struck across his eyes, followed by a report, and the grip of the hound on his tortured arm relaxed. Another shot and the brute which was crushing his leg rolled over, snapping in its death agonies.

A great surge of blackness came over him and he sank down among the dying beasts and knew no more.

GENERAL MOTORS TO FIGHT UNIONS SLOAN ANNOUNCES

States No Labor Dictator Will Run Corporation—No Need To Join Union For Job

WAGE LOSS MILLION A DAY

DETROIT, Jan. 5. —(AP)— The General Motors Corporation and the United Automobile Workers of America steadfastly defended their divergent views on collective bargaining today as the far-flung United States automobile strike closed another unit of the motor industry's biggest producer.

On bulletin boards in the corporation's 69 domestic plants was posted a notice stating that General Motors "will not recognize any one union as the sole bargaining agency for its workers." The U.A.W.A. had asked to be recognized as the agency to represent General Motors employees.

The statement bore the signature of Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president, to whom Homer S. Martin, president of the union, addressed a new request last night for a conference on "fundamental issues for which there must be a national policy fixed by your corporation."

Labor or Corporation

Sloan described the "real issue" of the controversy between General Motors and the union as being: "Will a labor organization run the plants of General Motors Corporation or will the management continue to do so?"

Then, answering the question, he said:

"Have no fear that any union or labor dictator will dominate the plants of General Motors Corporation. No General Motors workers need join any organization to get or keep a job."

General Motors officials estimated that increased shortages of materials would find 135,000 of its employees idle by the end of this week. The Corporation said this would mean a daily wage loss of $1,000,000 and a daily net profit reduction of $330,000 to the firm.

The 69 domestic plants of General Motors are located in 35 cities in 14 different states. It has more than 200,000 employees in the United States.

WEBBWOOD KEEPS WOMAN AS MAYOR

Mrs. Barbara Hanley Defeats Male Opponent By 86 To 66 Votes

WEBBWOOD, Ont., Jan. 5 (C.P.). —A matronly housewife, who believes women office-holders are more resourceful and economical than men, went right on administering the affairs of her northern town to-day backed by 57 per cent. of the votes of Webbwood's citizens.

Mrs. Barbara Hanley, seeking her second term as Mayor, was challenged by Robert Streich. In yesterday's voting she was returned to office with 86 votes against Streich's 66.

Since taking over leadership of municipal affairs last January, the mother of a 19-year-old daughter has found herself a spot in the limelight she did not expect. She finds time to handle the town's relief burden, her household tasks and to care for the daughter and her husband who is a locomotive fireman.

She runs her office just as she would her home, and last year's results, she maintains, proves she knows what it is all about.

One of 14 Outstanding Women.

The New York Sun which publishes annually a list of outstanding women, included Mrs. Hanley among the 14 named for 1936. The list also included Mrs. Wallis Simpson for whom former King Edward quit the British Throne, but the woman Mayor of this small town 25 miles west of Sudbury wasn't flattered by her selection.

She didn't fancy being in a list that contained the name of the woman who rocked the Empire throne. Mrs. Hanley said she didn't think they were of the same type.

"We're not the same type of people at all," she maintained. "I don't understand it. Some of my friends didn't think so either. They were quite sure I wasn't in her class."

There are no apologies forthcoming from this northern mother because she has been free with relief for the jobless. And as far as women in politics are concerned, she has this to say:

"A woman is more resourceful. Her conscience is keener. She is more economical, has fewer bad habits, and is more attentive to her church."

Just look at a household, she states, if proof is required as to what a woman can do.

MADRID FORCES READY TO ATTACK

German Commander Of Volunteers' Brigade Came To Canada After War

MADRID, Jan. 5—(CP)—"Major Hans," German commander of the 11th Foreign Volunteers' Brigade, predicted to-day that government forces would soon launch an offensive outside Madrid.

"After two months' preparations we are strong enough to attack," he said.

"Major Hans," who refused to reveal his proper name because his family lives in Germany, succeeded to his present command when General Emil Kleber, naturalized Canadian, was appointed to head the entire International volunteer force fighting for the government.

He was born in Austria and after service in the Austro-Hungarian army during the war went to Canada. There he joined the Canadian group that went to Siberia to join the allied forces fighting Communists.

Subsequently he fought with the Red army and still later commanded a Communist force in China. Then he returned to Canada, remaining until a year ago when he left for Europe. He joined the Spanish government forces soon after the civil war began.

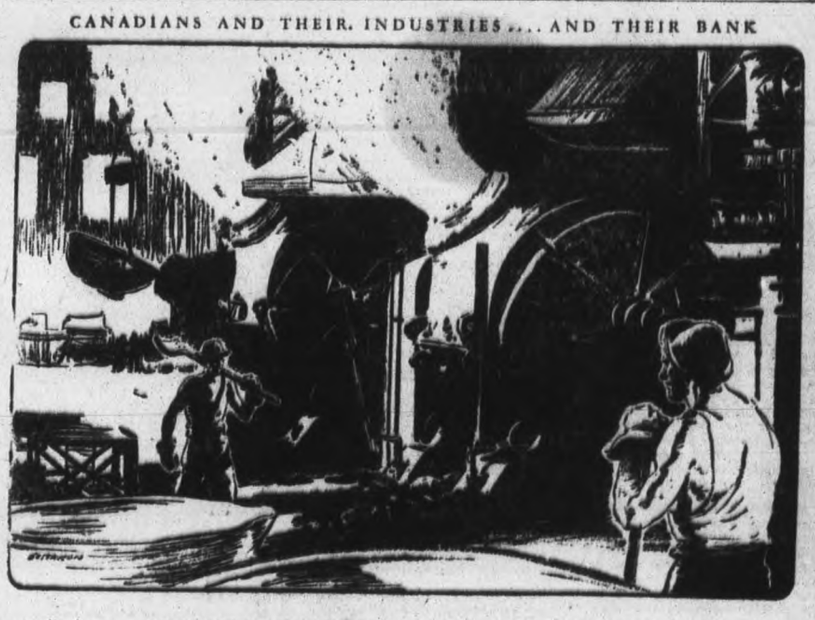
Edmonton Lads Hope To Reach Toronto By March.

EDMONTON, Jan. 5 (CP)—Two Edmonton youths, Peter Kapfer and Richard Shcroeter, plan to leave here today on a ski-hike to Toronto. They expect to cross open country and where possible use their blankets as sails. They expect to reach Toronto in March.

CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES.... AND THEIR BANK



MINING AND METALLURGY

Mining in Canada, now second largest of the country's industries, gives employment to 80,000 workmen and has a production value of over $300,000,000 per annum.

As an accompaniment of this great and growing mining industry, Canada is building up a smelting and refining industry of world importance. There are now huge plants in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Manitoba. These plants produce:

Copper • Nickel • Zinc • Lead • Cobalt • Iron Ferro-alloys • Gold • Silver • Bismuth • Radium Cadmium • Selenium • Aluminum • Tellurium • Uranium

The plants give direct employment to 10,000 workers, and indirect employment to many thousands more; have a production value of $200,000,000 per annum; purchase coal and electricity to the value of $12,000,000; pay for equipment, supplies, freight, etc., some $40,000,000 per annum; and add some $100,000,000 to the export value of Canada's mineral products, without counting the value of the gold recovered from base metal ores.

Prominently identified with the upbuilding of the smelting and refining industry of Canada from its inception, the Bank of Montreal gives this industry financial service through every stage. Thousands of workers are depositors, sharing in the safety and facilities of the Bank with their employing companies.

The Bank's services include: Commercial accounts; foreign currency accounts; financing of shipments; loans and discounts; collections; trade and credit information; safekeeping of securities; savings accounts; money orders; travellers cheques; banking by mail; personal loans.

Fabric contrast in the two surfaces of black crepe-back satin makes this dress so individual.

The shoulders are squared so becomingly. They make the waistline appear slimmer than it really is. The most interesting thing of all is the slender line skirt with swaying hem.

Two color combination in crepe silk as black with royal or with aqua is attractive for mid-season wear 'neath your dark winter coat.

The easy to follow pattern, makes it simple for even an amateur to sew it without experiencing the least bit of difficulty.

Style No. 3292 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inches bust. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 39-inch material with 1¼ yards of 39-inch contrasting.

Mrs. Hughes Re-Elected

Ladies' Auxiliary To Legion Holds Annual Meeting And Supper

Mrs. Walter Hughes of Bolivar Street was re-elected by acclamation as president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, at the annual meeting held at the Legion Hall on Monday evening.

Other officers for the coming year include Mrs. E. Houghton, first vice-president; Mrs. C. H. Porter, second vice-president; Mrs. F. Millard, secretary (acclamation); Mrs. A. E. Paterson, treasurer.

Convenors of committees include Mrs. Joseph Mills, Relief; Mrs. J. Little, Social; Mrs. E. Dormer, Visiting; Mrs. G. Foster, Telephone; Mrs. E. Wagstaff, Sewing.

Mrs. R. Bugg is honorary president of the society also, with Mrs. A. L. Kent, represents the organization at the meetings of the Local Council of Women. Mrs. J. Mackness and Mrs. A. L. Kent are auditors, and the former is also the Standard Bearer.

At the annual meeting held in the ladies' parlor at the Legion Hall, reports were presented, showing a very satisfactory year just ended, with a splendid record of achievement. During the past twelvemonth a total of 508 visits was made by the ladies; 555 pieces of clothing were given out, and 58 baskets were filled and presented to families at Christmas time.

The meeting was preceded by the supper which forms an annual prelude to the deliberations of the ladies. It was held in the upper hall of the Legion building, with nearly thirty people present, and was presided over by Mrs. W. Hughes, who welcomed members and guests and also spoke of the strenuous year just finished and the manner in which the ladies had co-operated in the endeavors of the society. Mrs. Hughes also referred with regret to the passing of two valued members of the Legion, the late James Abraham and Bert Gash.

Legion Record.

Max Solan, president of the Legion, was present and spoke briefly, thanking the ladies for their invaluable assistance during the past year and giving a brief outline of some of the difficulties encountered by the men in carrying on the work of the Legion, including a heavy mortgage and interest debt on the building, and a great decrease in membership, which had been partially restored during the year.

In three years, Mr. Sloan remarked, the mortgage debt had gradually been reduced. With the sum of $280 which will be applied to it this year, it now stands at $3,500, on which interest charges, relatively high, constitute quite a burden on the association. Other debts, however, are practically nil, and the men hope to continue lessening the financial burdens and increasing the membership of the society.

The last year has seen also an increase in rentals of the hall, in the Poppy Fund, and in receipts from the Warriors' Ball.

Mr. Sloan referred also to the loss sustained by the Legion in the death of Captain Abraham and the late B. Gash.

Brief talks were given by Mrs. J. Mills, convenor of the Relief Committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary and past president, and by the secretary, Mrs. F. Millard, to whom a tribute for her very fine work in her post was paid by the president, Mrs. Hughes. The vote of thanks to the ladies who were in charge of the preparation and service of the very fine repast was expressed by Mrs. R. Bugg. This group included Mrs. R. J. Lynch (convenor), Mrs. R. Hesmond, Mrs. W. Gracey, and Mrs. P. R. Castle.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL.

At the annual meeting for election of officers, held at the school on Monday evening, Mrs. E. L. Ainslie was re-elected as president, with Mrs. Bert Millard, vice president; Mrs. Fred White, secretary; Mrs. D. McPhail, treasurer. Mrs. T. Monk is honorary president.

Convenors of committees include Mrs. A. Styles, Social; Mrs. E. Doleman, Bowling; Mrs. L. Titterington and Mrs. E. Hamlin, Program; Mrs. L. Monk, Telephone; Mrs. J. Milby, Visiting.

Reports presented showed a very satisfactory year.

The ladies discussed the Memorial service which is to take place on February 1st at the school, in honor of the late Mrs. A. E. Courtice of Toronto, foundress of the Home and School movement in February of 1916.

VELVETEENS SOAR INTO POPULARITY

Velvet Corduroy Plays Big Role In Latest Sports Clothing

By Alice Maxwell
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Velveteens are soaring to new high-style records in mid-winter fabric popularity.

Paris dressmakers are giving them important places in their latest collections. Both afternoon tailleurs trimmed with silver fox and evening suits flashing with gold embroideries appear in velveteens. Jackets of that material button up above pleated, plaid skirts.

Velvet corduroy plays an important role in sport clothes. In fact, many of the newer beach sports for southern playgrounds are of velvet corduroy. Other southern modes feature plain and printed linens, flower-sprigged piques and cottons printed with cashmere patterns.

Plaids are often seen in wools, taffetas and surahs. Medium and small-sized wool checks go into trim, tailored suits and smart topcoats. Striped wools make two-piece suits. And fitted jackets in beige or grey wool mixtures top one-piece jersey dresses.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

I'M NOT denyin' the women are foolish; God Almighty made them to match the men.—George Eliot.

And this:

Our grandsire, Adam, ere of Eve possest,
Alone, and e'en in Paradise unblest,
With mournful looks the blissful scenes surveyed,
And wandered in the solitary shade.
The Maker saw, took pity, and bestow'd
Woman, the last, the best reserv'd of God.

Pope.

Dear Friends:

I have been hearing from a few men about women. Some claim they cannot understand them, but on the other hand what woman can truthfully say that she understands a man? And why in the world should men expect perfection from a woman, when they themselves are so very imperfect?

When this discussion was going on, I asked that if they took the first hundred women they met, and the first hundred men, what percentage of goodness would they find in either of the hundred? They agreed that there would be more good women than men, more who played the game fairly, more who did most for their menfolk, than the menfolk did for them, so I asked them what they were grousing about.

Women are accused of wanting to be like men, but all they crave is the freedom that men have had all down the ages. Believe me, women would not be like men for the world. Women are more akin to the Divine plan, just because they keep in touch with God more than men do.

But why should all the virtues be expected of women, while the men do as they please? Men have broken women's hearts for ages, and if men are getting some of their own medicine and finding it bitter, why they themselves were the teachers.

They showed women how to double cross, how to be selfish, how to domineer. They claimed the double standard of morality, expecting fidelity from the women, but not giving it in return. Men used to laugh at women who did not marry, calling them "old maids" and making them seem ridiculous so that women in self-defence married any old rag-bag of a man, rather than be classed like that.

And oh, how foolish it all is. Men need the softening influence of women just as women need the strength of men. If God had thought that men could get along alone, He would never have made women. They are accused of being a bundle of contradictions, but aren't men like that also in a different way? Of course they are. One woman said to me, "you can live with a man for forty years and then he will turn around and do some foolish thing that will appal you."

"And a man said, "women are the biggest puzzle that God ever put the breath of life into, for you never know what they will do. They can be hard and soft at one and the same time." And yet if we were all made in the same mould, where would be the variety?

A woman can forgive most anything save an offence against love. The man may be weak, or selfish, or a failure, but it is when he lets their love get drawn through the mud that she turns fury on him. It is when she sees him degenerating into a beast and keeps breaking her heart little by little, that she casts him off. When she sees that his honor and decency have gone, then she has nothing to work with, so she gives up.

And the man never forgives the sin against his vanity, when she lowers him in the sight of other men. And oh, how easily it could all be managed, if only each would do their part. "Perfect love casteth out fear," but it has to be given and received. No one person can keep the flag of love flying.

And so, if you are a man and are railing against the woman you swore to love, stop for a minute and think of the times you let her down. Change yourself, and see how rapidly she will change. And if you are a woman and think all men are fools, just consider if you have not helped to make the man in your life like that. Each of us are halves, so let us unite together to make the perfect whole human being.

MRS. BARRYMORE CHOOSES CAREER

Prefers It To Settling Down With John Says Elaine After Quarrel

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5 (AP) — Youthful Elaine Barrie, separated from 54-year-old John Barrymore after a quarrel, said today it was all over his ultimatum that she choose him or a career and — "My career comes before anything else."

"While I hope John will be sensible about this thing and will return home, still it is my career that counts.

"I'm still young and have my whole future ahead of me, but John—well —" her voice trailed off into a sigh.

"Ariel," who married the actor less than two months ago, maintained polite silence on "Caliban's" filing of two documents in the county recorder's office. One cancelled his wife's power of attorney, the other revoked the same authority extended to Aaron Sapiro, Miss Barrie's attorney.

They Discovered Something

The Canadian Wheat Board has issued a statement in which it seeks to answer its critics who claim the holdings of the Board were sold at too low a price. The crop year of 1935-36 ended with the last day of July, and during that period there was a loss of $11,858,000. The price at which the wheat was sold was less than the guaranteed price paid by the Wheat Board, so that means there will be no further cash returns and therefore no more payments to producers on the 1935 crop.

The statement from the Wheat Board contains this illuminating phrase:

> "Conscious that we possess no supernatural power which would enable us to forecast weather and crops. . . ."

Coming from a Board appointed by a government was consider that admission rather remarkable. It states plainly there is no more foresight or hidden power in a government-named body than in any other group of citizens.

We hope people read that and come to understand it. It is something which can stand repeating. Many times. We have been drifting recently into the habit of having the governments appoint boards and commissions and committees and what not in order to do things for us, and there has been a tendency to lean back and wait for such organization to produce results which would solve problems and take the rought spots from our business and commercial roads.

The Wheat Board has been honest enough to state openly it possesses no supernatural powers. Circumstances which would hinder the private individual or the private corporation have proved just as formidable when facing a government-appointed Board. So we find that the stamp of the government and the use of official stationary does not make the government appointees any more powerful or any more sagacious. The one difference is that when a government organization registers a loss of $11,858,000 during the year the government will ask the people to pay it.

Those Last Year Markers

Not for a moment do we praise drivers who go about in the year 1937 with 1936 markers on their cars. We might be moved to rebuke such folk and tell them they knew weeks ago the time was at hand for them to step forth and pay tribute to democratic government.

In a moment of greater consideration we are moved almost to the point of admiration for these delinquents. Officialdom has its way of snapping its fingers and we jump. It causes men with red coats to dwell in our bailiwick while others collect dues for radio, and under such pressure we rush forth in great numbers and deluge the coffers of our government with cash. The time draws near when folk will be making out income tax papers. They will notice thereon all the penalties which may drop upon those who do any monkey business with the documents. If the things are not done on time there is the promise of penalty. So once more we jump.

For that reason alone we are tempted to voice mild praise for those who drive in 1937 with markers of the vintage of '36. They go forth on our main streets; they park close by our police stations, and they are unafraid when they see the cloak of officialdom gazing in their direction. These brave spirits may yet secure for us a modicum of freedom the like of which we have not enjoyed for a long time back.

When the Giant Stops

It does not take much mental effort to read about the spread of a strike, but it takes a good deal of reckoning to try and figure out what it means for men to stand a chance of losing $1,000,000 per day in wages as the result of a growing strike.

The making of automobiles as carried on by General Motors has grown to be a giant in industry, but when a strike comes the giant ceases to be large as a place of employment. It is reported that 50,000 are now idle, most of them in Michigan, and that may mean idleness to 135,000 in a short time. It may mean idleness to another 135,000 working elsewhere in plants which make parts for automobiles.

It is explained that the purchasing of parts has to be regulated with the outgo of finished cars. Everything has to run together to secure capacity production. When a strike starts the automotive industry has to start curtailing the receipt of parts. It must tell the men making upholstery or springs or glass or castings, etc., that their product is needed only in a limited way or not at all. In that way workers in plants where there is no strike are forced out of employment because there is a strike elsewhere. The giant pays a million a day in wages when work is going on—but nothing at all when it stops.

He Bothers Scotland Yard

It may be that Sherlock Holmes and Watson will have to be brought back in order to catch "Flannel Foot." It is a good many years since he began laughing at the efforts of Scotland Yard to catch him, and the Yard has at last admitted it is puzzled. It has done something which has never been done before—offered a reward of $50 and two weeks' holidays to the policeman who can bring in Flannel Foot. The Yard has many pages of reports about him; it is said it also has a map with bits of flannel showing the places where this remarkable burglar has worked.

Flannel Foot goes on holidays now and then, and before departing always takes the trouble to phone Scotland Yard and say he is leaving London. When he returns he calls again and gives warning he is back and ready for adventure. For years he has done so. In a short time he strikes. He finds no trouble in entering premises; watch dogs wag their tails at him; he never steals a great deal and never uses a weapon, and it is not recorded that he has ever been disturbed while at work.

He is one man against thousands, and he has been in that position for years. He has even called Scotland Yard on occasion and informed officers of a burglary before they have their own report on the case. He has no car, and informs police he always rides a bicycle or travels by subway.

Scotland Yard, which is never supposed to be outwardly disturbed, must be in somewhat of a dither when it is announced that $50 and two weeks' holidays go to the officer who catches Flannel Foot. A more subtle move might be to ask him to come in and take a position at the Yard.

When Life Becomes Hard

A kidnapper entered the home of Dr. W. W. Mattson of Tacoma, Wash., took away his son of ten years and left a note demanding $28,000. The father had the money and was ready to pay it, but there has been no contact made with the kidnappers. It is now entering the second week, and the federal officers have stepped in. Under what is known as the "Lindbergh Law" the death penalty is provided in case the kidnapped person has been harmed.

Reports say that Dr. Mattson and his wife are "bearing up well, but showing signs of the strain." That is easy to believe. Their boy of ten has disappeared and they have no idea where to look. They can merely wait and see if their efforts to notify the criminals that the money is waiting can prove effective.

We doubt whether Dr. Mattson or his wife sleep much, and it is not likely they find relish in their meals. We are certain they do not go out in the evenings for the sake of entertainment. Certain too they keep not far from the telephone and they would be alert for the sound of any person seeking admission to their home. The defeat of yesterday would become the despair of today. If they could go out and actually do something about it they would feel better, but they can't. They don't know where to turn if they do go out, nor do they know what to do. They are not sure if their boy is well or whether he is dead. All they know is that he is absent.

There are two forces in conflict there. In the eyes of the parents the one thing which stands above all others is to have the boy home. They would pay $28,000 and do it gladly in order to get him.

The officers, on the other hand, interested too in finding the boy, and are also bent on capturing the kidnappers. And if they capture the kidnappers they may destroy the boy. One does not need to stretch the imagination to feel profoundly moved toward profound sympathy with Dr. and Mrs. Mattson.

Those Prominent Women

The New York Sun has the habit of starting the year by listing prominent women, according as they have ranked in its estimation during the previous year. At the head of the list is placed Wallis Warfield Simpson, for whose sake a king gave up his throne. Then comes Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rhode, who gave up a United States diplomatic career to become the wife of a Danish guard captain. Other women who receive notice include the youngest one ever admitted to the practice of law, another who is occupying some position of state in the French government, and so on.

It might be well if some one were to speak a word on behalf of some women who are not so prominent; they have done nothing to cause their names to get in the news of the day. But life for them is a venture in which there has been struggle, planning, sacrifice and a bit of high hope although it burns dim at times. But it has never gone out.

We think for the moment of one frame cottage in which there are five rooms; in front there is a small lawn and at the back there is a garden. In season the lawn at the front is neat and the garden at the back is worked and planted to the last square foot. The produce is all needed to help provide meals for the five in the family. There was a time when the husband worked steadily; for 19 years he was in the same place. He could do by hand some particular operation which is now performed with greater rapidity by a machine. He was not so much a victim of the depression as of the machine age, but his skill was all in one direction, and the market for it had been closed. At best he could hope to be only a handy man. When the husband applied for work elsewhere he found men were being laid off and none taken on. There was a little savings account, but against that there was sickness.

It was then the wife and mother decided she would have to do something about it, and she did. She began doing housework where help was needed on certain days of the week. She worked three days each week for $2 per day, and there were times when her husband could not earn any more than that. She got up earlier than usual in the morning so the children might be looked after before they started to school; she made and remade most of their school clothing. That family never went on relief.

That began five years ago. Today the oldest boy is working and the father also has employment, although at less wages than he used to earn. The mother does not go out to work any more, but she runs the financing of that home and she financed a very modest little celebration at Christmas. Quite true, her name has never been in the paper; she has never been appointed to the diplomatic service, nor has she written a prize-winning novel. But she has lived; she has fought and she has sacrificed and held her head high in rough going. There are times when we believe the world could well afford to stop for a moment and pay attention to such a woman.

Norfolk county jail has been feeding its prisoners at 16.4 cents per day and that figure, we imagine, includes the cover charge.

The United States government has been planting oysters along the North Carolina coast and that is one crop that they'll find it difficult to plow under.

Toronto's lone Communist alderman has already filed fourteen notices of motion. He must think he is working on a five-year plan.

Eight strikes are affecting the General Motor plants and that is five more than it takes to put a ball player out of business.

Burglars robbed the Government liquor store in Kamloops, B.C., early Saturday morning. They knew where the money of the community was most likely to be found on the day after New Year's.

It is evident that a great many motorists have not been doing their license marker shopping early. Some of the numbers in sight appear to be slightly shop-worn.

That South Dakota gang which used five tons of dynamite to end the career of one of their companions would have considerable trouble, it is to be imagined, in tracing their ancestry back to Aberdeen.

The Niagara Falls Review asks "How many New Year's resolutions have you broken?" We know there was a vigorous form of celebration when the New Year entered, and statistics regarding resolutions were difficult to compute on the mourning after.

Brantford Expositor believes Ford's idea of putting the engine at the back of the car is invading the rights of backseat drivers. It may allow these folk to attend to the engine and all the man at the wheel will then have to do is make the thing run straight.

Good for Galt! That snug little city went through the year 1936 without an auto fatality. And there is just as much physical reason for an automobile smash there as elsewhere. It is a place of hills and there are railway crossings, but Galt had no fatalities. Once more—Good for Galt!

HE LETS OFF STEAM

¶ My Uncle Eben storms a lot, at times becomes decided hot, he bangs the table then; he gets a tax bill and he moans, what hits his purse disturbs his bones, he walks with angered men.

¶ My Uncle says he'll tell them off, at them he'll rant a while and scoff, he'll call them robbers too; when he gets through they'll feel their necks, of humble stuff they'll eat by pecks, that's what he plans to do.

¶ When something's wrong about the town, why uncle then jumps up and down, he hollers good and loud; he'll tell the councilmen his mind, for they are wooden men and blind, a useless sort of crowd.

¶ When Uncle Eben went to church, there was a draft just where he'd perch, he felt it on his knees; he had a cold when he came home, and then he started in to groan, he'd sputter and he'd sneeze.

¶ He'd tell the elders what he thought, and of the cold that he had caught, he'd speak his mind out plain; he banged his fist upon the bed, 'twas really awful what he said, he spoke out very plain.

¶ But that's as far as Eben goes, in airing all his griefs and woes, by adjective and verb; the elders called in quite a throng, to see how Eben got along—he never said a word.

Guest Soldiers In Spanish War

(From the Vancouver Sun)

WIDELY varying reports and guesses have been issued about the number of foreigners taking part in Spain's civil war.

It is variously estimated that whole brigades of Germans, regiments of Russians, companies of Italians and equipment donated or supplied by a dozen nations are seeing service in the Spanish struggle between Fascism and Communism.

And then there are literally thousands of roving gentlemen, flatteringly described as "soldiers of fortune," who have drifted into the two Spanish camps from every country on the globe.

Indeed, these guest artists of the Spanish war may not occupy the principal roles in the struggle but they play a considerable and even vital part.

It is not a situation in which the nations of the world can take much pride.

One can conceive of a conflict so one-sided in nature, so plainly marked as an imposition of oppression on the one hand and a fight for freedom on the other, that the free and liberty-loving peoples of the world would naturally flock to the defense of the weaker side, not in search of cheap adventurous thrills nor in pursuit of vain glory, but in necessitous support of principles their consciences would not permit them to ignore.

But no such situation exists in Spain.

As the independent observer views it, this present civil war is nothing more than the conflict between two brands of tyranny, each one capable of inflicting as much pain and sorrow on the common people as the other.

Indeed, the Spanish masses appear to have nothing to gain from victory on either side but a variety and change of dictatorship.

What earthly reason can any foreigner have, then, for endeavoring to justify his interference in such a struggle on any moral basis?

If we consider it immoral and indefensible for Germany or Russia or Italy or France to play either a direct or indirect part in a war that is purely domestic and national in implication, is it not just as immoral and indefensible for individuals of foreign blood and citizenship to take up arms against one Spanish faction or the other?

We do not believe that any of the British countries are deliberately encouraging this particular type of international murder.

But that is not enough. They should be strongly and vigorously discouraging it.

It might be possible, under certain circumstances of national emergency, to justify the assumption of arms to repel a brutal invader or to assist a neighbor against unjust and vicious aggression.

But when a man walks over into another country and begins shooting down his fellow-creatures in a dispute that concerns him not at all, he is guilty of a homicidal act and should be treated as an unlicensed killer.

We do not suppose it possible to altogether stop foolish young zealots and restless old fanatics and disagreeably quarrelsome people of all ages from sneaking away from Canada to shoot Spaniards if they are utterly hell-bent on it.

But we can cut them off our roll of citizenship if we discover it.

And that, we think, is what should be done.

Thus if a few of our people, calling themselves soldiers of fortune or adventurers or sympathizers with any foreign cause, deliberately go abroad to take part in any foreign war, they should lose their status in Canada and be invited to adopt the nationality of the people with whom they have chosen to fight.

BUFFALO COATS.

(Sarnia Observer)

THE RESEARCH Council of Canada is engaged in efforts to convert the skins of buffalo into a good-looking fur for coats.

Every year, it is likely that at least fifteen hundred buffalo skins will be available because the herds of the Wood reserve in Alberta are increasing annually to that extent and have reached a numerical strength that taxes the fodder capacities of the park.

Buffalo coats were popular with the early residents of Canada. They were made of natural skins, without embellishment. They were remarkably effective against cold and those who had to spend much of their time outdoors in winter found them most serviceable. The skins were exceedingly durable.

Today there is not the same kind of demand for fur coats. Women wear fur garments mainly because the fur is an attractive material. Except in the country and in pioneer areas, men seldom wear fur coats. Possibly the motor car has made its influence felt in that direction. There is not the same exposure to the elements as was the case in the open sleigh. However, the Research Council is trying to make the buffalo hide an attractive material out of which to manufacture fur coats. Great strides have been made in altering the natural appearance of fur. Plucking and dyeing are artifices that contribute greatly to the beauty of animal skins and, presumably, the buffalo hides will take on an appearance that wearers of fur will not be able to resist, in which case the government will be able to reap some revenue from its wild animal conservation project.

WHO WAS THE THIRD MAN?

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Some time during the year 1857, three school masters were drowned in Rice Lake while boating. Two of them were Messrs. Morrow and Henthorn. If any of your readers could give the exact date and the name of the third man it would be of interest to a great number of your readers.

HIGHER PAY NEEDED

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Have read several write-ups under this heading in other papers regarding wages and hours that clerks get and work for. Have had 20 years' experience behind the counter in groceries and meats. There is just as much profit today as there ever was since 1914 on the average (except war profits).

So why the low wages today in grocery stores, butcher shops, restaurants and confectionery stores? Married men work in some grocery stores and butcher shops in this city for less than $15 per week for an average of 70 hours per week. Butchers work same hours and some are working for $12.50 per week. Young men are working for $5 to $8 per week. Some stores are having help return on Sunday to take stock and no extra pay for overtime. Other stores have help work one to three nights a week. Why does the government sit back and allow such conditions to exist?

Other trades and factory help have union hours and wages, yet men are working in stores for 15 to 21 cents per hour and some less.

Can an employer expect his help to be honest and faithful? Can an employer expect his help to live and exist under such wages and conditions? It's impossible. Something must be sacrificed. We have nearly four hundred families in Peterborough living doubled up in small houses to cut down rent and fuel bills in order to live and get along. Is this a healthy condition?

It costs at least $20 a week to live in Peterborough as you will see by statement below:

	Per Month
Rent	$20
Groceries and Meats	$24
Fuel	$8
Clothing	$8
Milk	$4
Light and Water	$4
Bread	$4
*Miscellaneous	$8

*—Such as school fees, bus fare, doctor, dentist, insurance, etc.

Can anybody live on less? If so I would like to be shown how. My wife and I have kept track of every nickle spent for the past two years. We have four children and I had to seek other work because on the wages paid in stores could not exist,—let alone live.

Working in stores means long hours and when I got another job at 9 hours a day with Saturday afternoon off I felt as though I had been let out of jail.

All that is needed to get rid of this depression is for the working man to get more buying power. It's not a case of over-production. It is a case of lack of funds to buy the necessities of life. This would make more employment. As you will note in my list of expenses there is nothing set aside for a saving for old age or to buy and replace worn out household goods, etc.

I am not interested in the government pension of $20 a month. My idea would be to earn enough so I could buy a pension for myself that would pay me $75 a month when I get 60 years old.

If all working men could earn $30 a week they could buy a home and then buy a pension to keep them in their old age. We would have no relief, no need for old age pensions. I thank you

Yours Truly
WAS A CLERK

Peterborough, Jan 4.

THE 1937 COUNCIL

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Now that the 1937 council is chosen, how will they act towards the ratepayers who elected them? Some councillors have been known to act for big interests and sometimes for their own or their friends interests, but we do not expect that from the 1937 aldermen. However it would be a good thing for the new council to turn over a few new leaves.

If they want to encourage ratepayers to take a live interest in the city's business, they should not conduct that business as a semi-secret society. There should be adequate reports in the press of committee and council meetings, not mere fragments scattered over several pages. While certain stages of some business cannot be made public during negotiations, the general object can be easily stated.

No new expenditure of the taxpayers' money should be voted that involves a continuous yearly expense or tax loss, without submission at the polls or at least a chance for public comment. Had this plan been followed the past year money would not have been spent on a piece of unnecessary cow pasture; that money was urgently needed for other necessary services, fortunately the amount was not large. It seems strange that when we elect a good business man to the council he sometimes acts like a dud on city business, forgets that he is not there to suit himself or his friends, and votes for what he would not tolerate in private business. We had a narrow escape from this sort of thing last year when a useless drive and an equally unnecessary park were in fair way of being foisted upon the ratepayers under the guise of relief.

At the close of the year the council might well give us a general report on the city's finances. The municipality is a company and its members should have an understandable report of its main finances not merely the assurance that things are O. K. nor a professional balance sheet but a readable report that the man on the street can comprehend.

Peterborough property owners have been penalized for the last 20 years by extra high insurance rates. These were imposed to pay for the loss occasioned by the Quaker Oats fire. That 20-year penal period has recently expired. Has the council taken any steps to have these rates readjusted? Some places that have only a volunteer fire brigade and a poorer class of buildings than ours have lower insurance rates.

Ratepayers would like to know how long we will have to continue to pay 5½ to 6½% on borrowed money and why it cannot be refunded at a lower rate of interest. Mayor Macdonald mentioned the retirement of one million dollars of city debentures. Ratepayers would like to know to what extent this will affect the tax rate, and if other reductions will occur in the near future. They would also like to know how much additional taxes are collected by reason of the expiration of fixed assessments to date. General estimates place it around $18,000 to $20,000 per year.

This gain was achieved by the Ratepayers' Association in the face of an adverse majority (of one) of the council and in this instance a hostile press, which shows that unless a council is in accord with the ratepayers and sometimes checked by them it becomes a dangerous and extravagant institution. Ratepayers would like to know how much tax relief is enjoyed by a half dozen favored industries, by reason of fixed assessments. It is well known that one concern benefits to the extent of over one thousand dollars per week, while the total runs up to about one hundred thousand dollars per year. How does this industrial tax relief compare with the tax for unemployment and direct relief? How soon will these fixed assessments expire, and what effect will this have upon taxation in Peterborough?

Is it the purpose of the council to pass along these benefits to the taxpayer, or will it be frittered away in increased expenditure, and grants to Tom Dick and Harry associations? With the exception of hospitals, health, and children's aid, is it not time all societies, institutions, and conventions conduct their business on the same plan as the city, a pay as you go plan. And go no further than you pay. Taxpayers should not be made the wet nurse for everything that comes crying for aid.

Complaint is often made that citizens do not take sufficient interest in the city's business. Would it not help matters if the ratepayers were given a better chance to know something about their own business? We hope the new council will not be an easy mark for high pressure salesmen who have something to sell or even GIVE way, that business will be in the open and in the ratepayers interest.

The depression is over but relief is not. We are at a temporary easy condition on account of road work, government grants etc., just as war casualties continue long years after the last shot is fired, so we will have to meet the depression's wreckage, and economy will still be necessary even if business booms. No doubt the new council will realize that in accepting office they accept a solemn obligation to direct and protect the interests of the ratepayers who have placed them there for that purpose.

With best wishes for harmony and prosperity, this new year.

Yours Truly,
RATEPAYER

A SHIRTLESS YEAR.

(Hamilton Spectator)

GREAT BRITAIN, which has been waging a war on shirts for some time, begins 1937 with a new regulation banning the wearing of uniforms by private organizations. As a result, the fascist followers of Sir Oswald Mosley will have to doff their black regalia and the red blouses and red shirts worn by the Independent Labour party's guild of youth will likewise be laid aside.

This legislation is interesting from the pont of view of mass psychology. The great question, of course, is whether or not organizations of a possibly dangerous nature, likely to break the peace, can flourish if those who compose them no longer wear distinctive clothes. The serious riots which occurred in London's East End as the result of clashes between fascists and communists were the direct cause of the bill which the British parliament has enacted, and if there is no recurrence of such riots in England during 1937, it will no doubt be attributable in some measure to that bill.

We note, however, that the fascists intend to continue wearing their black shirts and blouses beneath their ordinary clothes. It may be just a defiant gesture or they may think that by adopting this curious, and we imagine uncomfortable, expedient they will keep their ranks intact and their enthusiasm unimpaired. It seems to us to be a forlorn hope, for the observer would notice but little unity in a group of persons dressed in motley clothes, even if they were all wearing black underclothes. We shall follow Sir Oswald's fortunes in 1937 with more than ordinary concern.

THE UNEMPLOYABLES.

(Niagara Falls Review)

FEDERAL GRANTS in aid of relief to the provinces will be reduced progressively, beginning at the end of March, it is announced by the federal minister of labor, who points to improved conditions all over the Dominion as good reason for such a move. It is to be hoped that Mr. Rogers is a good prophet when he says that all governments, federal, provincial and municipal should be able to reduce relief expenditures during this year. The year-end reports of improvements in Canadian trade certainly give good ground for such hope. The Review repeats, however, that special study and consideration must begin to be given to the unemployables as distinct from those who are able and willing to work, though on relief.

HOBBIES USELESS?

(Guelph Mercury)

IF WE are slowly working our way into an era of good leisure, as a good many wise men seem to think we are, the ordinary citizen is going to have to do something about cultivation of a hobby. One of the distinguishing marks of a good hobby is that it always looks slightly ridiculous to anyone who is not actively following it. He sees it as a needless expense, as a perverse return to childhood, or as a dreary waste of time—until he himself gets a hobby, whereupon he wonders how he ever before filled in his spare time.

BREAKFAST NAGGING.

(New Orleans Times-Picayune)

AT LAST the National Safety Conference is getting to primary principles. Heretofore it has given us statistics and generalities and a far from reassuring estimate of American casualties this year, but on Wednesday one of its spokesmen said that a wife's nagging over the breakfast table is a basic cause for many accidents. For years we have waited for such a pronunciament to be made with the voice of authority. Every man who wrecked his car, smashed his business or fell through an elevator shaft probably has felt that his wife was responsible, but heretofore the thing has been hard to prove.

KIDNAP SEARCH HALTS.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 5.—(AP).—Hopes for the safe return of kidnaped Charles Mattson increased to-day even as the hunt for his kidnapper came to an absolute standstill.

The hopeful tone was born of three developments: Dr. W. W. Mattson's request that officers stop hunting for the abductor of his 16-year-old son; another "Ann to Mable" advertisement indicating establishment of contact; and frequent visits to the Mattson home of men mentioned as possible contact men.

16,660 PRISONERS COST $1,000,000

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—(CP).—Cost to the province of Ontario last year of keeping prisoners in jails and reformatories was almost $1,000,000—at $1 a day per person in the jails and $1.16 daily for every reformatory prisoner, Deputy Provincial Secretary C. F. Neelands said to-day.

The number of persons in both types of institution was 16,660 in 1936, representing an increase compared with the previous year, but considerably below the peak year of 1930. The peak of commitments to jail occur in prosperous times, the Deputy Provincial Secretary said. The theory is that in prosperous times young persons receive more spending money from their parents and they do more "running around" and do not get the same amount of home life and discipline, according to Mr. Neelands.

Relief distribution, he believed, helped to keep the number of commitments to jails and reformatories low during the depression periods.

Movie Writer Goes Back Home to Escape Sunshine and Orange Juice for Awhile

MARYVILLE, Mo., Jan. 5—(CP)—Homer Croy, novelist and movie writer, who claims he is the only author able to write about his old home town and then come back to it, stopped here en route from Hollywood to New York.

Croy explained he came back "to get some fried mush to work off the evil influence of all that sunshine and orange juice I had out in Hollywood."

Lad Will Recover After Showing Chum Cowboy "Necktie" Tactics.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Jan. 5.—(CP).—Frank Devoti, 11, climbed an apple tree, tied a rope to a limb, put a noose around his neck and shouted to a chum:

"This is how cowboys hang cattle thieves!"

Then he jumped. His feet barely touched the ground.

Reviving him half an hour later with an inhalator, doctors reported his neck "a little stretched, but none the worse."

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 5.— Irregularity marked the first session of the New Year on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, coincident with a lack of foreign demand for Canada's wheat. Futures prices closed mixed, ⅛c lower to ⅜c higher, as a last-minute buying flurry resulted in a recovery from le declines.

For most of the quiet session, during which only small export sales of wheat were reported, values held at fractionally lower price levels after relinquishing an opening gain.

Exporters reported little wheat had been offered for sale during the extended week-end, when the exchange last closed from Thursday until yesterday, and the movement consequently had been small.

Until the final recovery movement got under way, operations had been featureless, with light profit-taking proving too much for the limited support in evidence to absorb.

Coarse grains prices fluctuated erratically. Rye, a feature, closed on the upside after slipping sharply at one period.

HOLLAND WEAKENS USES NAZI TUNES

Resent German Action But Uses Strategy To Keep Peace Over Royal Wedding

THE HAGUE, Jan. 5.—(AP).—Harrassed Dutch officials changed their "strike up the band" orders to-day to include a few strains of Nazo Germany's anthems—a move intended to iron out one of the three rough spots in Royal wedding plans.

At to-night's gala festival attendant upon the Thursday wedding of Crown Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard of Lippebiesterfeld, bespectacled German nobleman, the military band will play:

1. The Dutch National hymn. (Willhelmus Van Nassouwe Ben Ick Ven Dietschen Bloet).
2. God Save the King.
3. Deutschland Uber Alles.
4. Just two verses of "Das Horst Wessel Lied," the Nazi marching song.

In this way the Dutch government hoped to soothe German feeling without endangering its own prestige or giving the impression it had yielded to German demands.

Angered With Germany.

Resentment smouldered against Germany for Nazi protests against Dutch failure to display German national flags and play the German national anthem at pre-nuptial festivities.

Influenza threatened to cut into the ranks of important guests when Crown Princess Juliana and German Prince Bernhard Zu Lippe-Biesterfeld are married Thursday.

A sharp note to Germany yesterday—sent to prevent the "family marriage" from developing International complications—was regarded by informed sources as the most drastic step taken by Holland in many years.

Alleged delay by Germany to supply passports to relatives of the bridegroom was viewed as an unfriendly gesture toward Queen Wilhelmina and informed quarters declared any further steps that might embarrass the wedding program would be dealt with severely. Princess Sieglinde Zu Lippe, one of the bridesmaids who postponed her departure from Germany when her passport was held up, was taken sick with influenza, but it was believed she would be well enough to attend the wedding.

Bernhard's mother still was ill and there was doubt whether she could witness her son's marriage to the heiress of the Netherlands throne.

200 Troops Ill.

Two hundred soldiers in The Hague garrison were reported down with influenza and many others in the capital were said to be afflicted with mild attacks.

The man in the street groused a good deal about the wedding present business but there seemed to be little he could do about it. He had his heart set on giving the future queen and her prince consort a yacht large enough to take them to the Dutch East Indies.

Instead, only part of the fund will be spent to buy a yacht and the rest to remodel and refurnish Castle Sveslydijk, parliament's gift.

Dutchmen expressed belief Wilhelmina herself was responsible for the changed plans. If the nation had not paid for the furniture, they reasoned, the Queen would have had to.

The Queen was reported to have informed the gift committee a bigger yacht meant bigger upkeep and what would the young couple use for money.

The yacht, according to present plans, will be about 100 feet long—scarcely large enough for an ocean voyage and almost too large for coastal waters.

MARY MALCOLM WEDS

LONDON, Jan. 5—(A.P.).—Mary Malcolm, granddaughter of the famous actress, Lily Langtry, was married to-day to Sir Basil Bartlett, actor and newspaperman.

She is the daughter of Sir Ian Malcolm. The Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, performed the ceremony.

Australia Has Three Live Teddy Bears

"Cute" is a trite but altogether fitting word for this picture, showing a koala bear, native Australia "teddy bear," giving Junior a pick-a-back ride. The Australian government made a gift of a koala to the Hon. R. B. Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, upon his recent visit. Though many of the tiny bears abounded in Australia years ago, the government has been forced, lately, to prohibit their exportation in an effort to prevent their becoming extinct.

cused said he had no clothes or money, and that all the members of his family were unemployed and none of them was in receipt of relief or assistance of any kind.

Consenting to committal of McClennan on this evidence, Mr. Gordon commented on the circumstances in which the family had found themselves as "a poor state of affairs."

Testifying at the preliminary hearing of the charge against Druce, Constable John Thompson said in answer to a telephone call at 10.42 p.m. on November 28 he rushed to Carson's Grocery, at Benson and Aberdeen avenues, and there found Mr. Carson lying on the floor behind his meat counter. He was bleeding freely from a wound in the left upper arm and chest. The occupants of the apartment over the store, and a small boy were present when the officer arrived.

Constable Thompson related that first aid was administered to the wounded storekeeper, after which he was removed by ambulance to hospital.

At 2.30 a.m. on November 29 the officer saw Druce at his house on Victoria avenue. Detective-Sergeant William Meagher and Constable J. Wheeler went into the house and brought Druce out the front door. He was then driven to the police station by Constable William Piercy having been arrested in connection with the hold-up of Carson's store.

The brief proceedings were witnessed by a crowded courtroom. Mr. Carson, who was discharged from Nicholls Hospital over the week-end, was not present. It is learned he is still in a weakened condition and that his arm is in a cast.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

With all the games going by ten minutes to eight and only two "subs" being used all evening, the 1937 schedule got off to one grand start.

It is true the ice has been better but we heard no complaints.

Ice No. 1.—Downey vs. Green. The Green brothers' lead on the first few ends proved to be a little too much of a handicap to overcome.

Ice No. 3.—Best vs. Adams. Best's big four on the second end did it. A good game, with the odd break thrown in here and there.

Ice No. 5—Matthews vs. Giroux. A bang-up game—tied three times and was won on the last end.

Ice No. 6.—Gates vs. Cruthers. A little family affair among some of the C.G.E. boys. Purely personal, we believe.

Ice No. 7.—Metcalfe vs. McArthur. Elmer's last stone did it; he grabbed off a three on the last end to win by one shot.

Ice No. 8.—Played a wonderful game; full of pep, advice and a lot of talk—and all free.

Our ladies did well in Toronto yesterday by defeating Mrs. Agor, Toronto Granites, by 10-9. They go into the next round to-day and are drawn against Mrs. C. Brown, Hamilton Thistles Club.

The Neill Trophy has been changed from Tuesday, January 12, to Thursday, January 14; and all games scheduled for Thursday, January 14 will be played on Tuesday, January 12. Players kindly note the change.

We uncovered this one yesterday: "What is a curler?"

"A curler is a good fellow who gets trimmed four times in one week and still thinks that he is a curler."

We subscribe "Amen" to that one.

BRADMAN MAKES DOUBLE CENTURY

Aussies Are Leading By 624 Runs In Third Cricket Test

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 5.—(CP Cable).—A sparkling double-century by Don Bradman, Australian skipper, and a great innings by J. H. Fingleton, New South Wales star, put Australia 624 runs ahead of England at the end of the fourth day's play in the third cricket Test match and four wickets have yet to fall.

Bradman, 248 not out, and Fingleton, 136, defied England's bowlers throughout the day, carrying the score from 194 for five wickets to 500 for six. The Aussies made 200 for nine, declared, in their first innings, England replying with 76 for nine, declared.

The Antipodean captain was at the wickets more than six hours, hitting 22 fours, but Fingleton was much slower, and obtained only six fours.

The length of the partnership established a new Test record. The pair were associated six hours, four minutes, or 41 minutes longer than Jack Hobbs and Wilfred Rhodes, famous English batsmen, in a match on the same ground in the 1911-12 season.

The score card:

Australia—First Innings—200 for Nine Wickets, Declared.

Australia—Second Innings.

One man died as a result of this fire, which destroyed the S.S. Belludera as it lay in Sydney harbor, Australia. Four other men were rescued from the ship's blazing engine room by firemen clad in asbestos suits. The fire, which also damaged the wharf and a portion of the shipping company's storage building, spread over the ship in less than half an hour.

ROBERT BRISTOL IS MADOC REEVE

West, Wallbridge, Henderson And Barry Will Make Up Council

MADOC, Jan. 5.—Election Day in Madoc Village passed off very quietly, and little or no excitement stirred the villagers throughout the day.

Two New Members Millbrook Council

MILLBROOK, Jan. 5.—Municipal elections here resulted in two new members finding seats on the council. One of the newcomers, Douglas Sheppard headed the polls with 245 ballots, while the other Arthur Jeffrey was in third place with 218 votes. David Fowler polling 235 votes, and Ed. Ball 161 votes were re-elected, while J. R. Eakins and P. R. Bentley, members of the old council went under to defeat with 147 and 143 votes respectively. Results for school board (first three elected) were as follows: Dr. J. W. Wright, 231; George Ellsworth, 222; J. E. Allen, 168; G. F. Harrington, 153; W. R. Howard, 121.

than what we offered to do when the council was considering this question of equalization."

Reeve Milby Silent

Reeve Milby of North Monaghan was eloquently silent when The Examiner called him.

"I don't think this is the time to say anything," was his comment. "The proper place should be the county council, and I guess I can wait until then."

He was asked what the other members said when the report was first examined.

"Charlie Tanner was stunned," was Mr. Milby's brief reply.

Amount of Reductions

By the simple process of subtraction the reductions in the equalized assessment for the four municipalities which have benefitted from the new valuation are:

Asphodel, $72,038 down; Galway and Cavendish, down $3,823; Ennismore, down $172,979; and Otonabee's decrease is $390,829.

Assessments Increased

In the other group of municipalities the increases are as follows: Belmont-Methuen, $68,769; Burleigh-Anstruther, $89,033; Chandos, $31,839; Norwood, $90,433; Lakefield, $198,569; Havelock, $97,370; Harvey, $43,299; North Monaghan, $240,452; Douro, $43,637; Dummer, $191,233; Smith, $248,651.

DR. LOGAN CHOSEN AS LINDSAY MAYOR

Little Interest Shown In Contest And Vote Was Not Large

LINDSAY, Jan. 5—In the municipal election yesterday, which aroused little interest compared with the one hundred percent vote cast at the polls last year, the electors selected the members of the municipal government for the year 1937. Dr. Logan defeated his opponent, ex-mayor Pickering in the mayoralty contest by a majority over 00. In the race for the aldermanic board the following were elected: R. Butler, W. Langdon, A. T. Claxton, A. Walker, W. Thorne, Dr. Laidley, L. Jordan.

John McCrae headed the poll in a three cornered fight for the local Hydro Commission, the other successful candidate being Dr. Shier.

The citizens voted in favor of a two year term for the members of the council.

ARNOTT IS ELECTED BELLEVILLE MAYOR

32-Year-Old Barrister Has Majority Of 1,377 Over Harry Hill

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 5—Richard D. Arnott, 32-year-old barrister, was declared elected Mayor of Belleville last night by a majority of 1,377 over Harry Hill, the present incumbent of the office. It was officially stated the majority was the largest in many years, and the total vote polled less than fifty per cent. of the electorate.

Of fourteen candidates running for Aldermen, thirteen were conceded their election with twenty-eight out of twenty-nine polls returned. Those elected are: Harold Armstrong, William Harvey, Glencoe Thompson, T. Y. Wills, Jesse Barlow, Laurie Lewis, Thomas Cushing, Harry Greenleaf, Clarence Clapp, B. F. Jennings, G. C. Baragare, Andrew Kennedy and Ernest Baldree. Isaac Stephenson was the only candidate who failed to be elected.

With only two polls to hear from, four of the five by-laws placed before the electorate received a majority. The by-law setting up a City Manager form of municipal government, was turned down. A by-law cutting down the number of the City Council; a by-law forming a Municipal Board of Education; a by-law setting up a Public Utilities Commission, and a by-law granting $1,200 to the Municipal Band, all received endorsation.

SUCCESS IS SCORED BY AMATEUR NIGHT

Campbellford A.Y.P.A. Stages Enjoyable Program At Regular Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 5.—The weekly meeting of the A.Y.P.A. which was held in the Parish Hall Monday night took the form of an amateur night and resulted in a very interesting and varied programme under the chairmanship of Mr. R. C. Ramsden. The following took part in the programme: Rev. T. H. Floyd, reading; Miss Rose Smelling, recitation; Mr. Roy Ramsden, guitar solo; Mr. Earl Wood, reading; Miss Vera Wood, reading. The balance of the programme was devoted to a spelling match. The business part of the meeting was presided over by the president, Miss Vera Wood.

It was decided to hold a dance in the Parish Hall on January 6 and that a tobogganing party would be held on January 11.

Some time was devoted to the discussion of the play which the Young People are presenting, and although some of the cast was chosen the date for the play has not yet been set.

For the benefit of its county readers who have been following the course of the county council in arriving at a new basis of equalization of assessment for 1937, the Examiner publishes herewith the report recently prepared from Judge S. L. Smoke who with Judge L. V. O'Connor and W. F. Morrow acted as a board of valuators.

In the accompanying tabulated statement appear various other compilations of assessments for purposes of comparison. The first column at the left is the assessment recommended last Spring by the council's special committee on equalization of assessment at which, incidentally, Reeve W. A. Anderson presided as chairman.

The second column at the left is the valuation prepared by Messrs. Jones and Stokes of Hastings county in 1935 when the council of that year decided to engage independent valuators for the purpose of revaluing the county for a new equalization of assessment.

The third column as indicated is the old assessment which has been in effect for years, and on which the county tax rate was levied. Next is the substance of the report from Judge Smoke, and at the right are the equalized assessments that were adopted in 1936 and 1914.

Reference to this tabulated information will enable any ratepayer in the county to follow the movement of equalized assessment since 1908 with special interest in the new figures which were contained in the report opened by Warden Gifford and members of the county council Monday afternoon.

BLIZZARD IN KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 5 (CP) —Light fall of snow developed into a veritable blizzard to-day. Snow falling heavily and the south-west wind made matters disagreeable. About two inches of snow had fallen to-day.

The Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1937

Some Big Eggs: BELLEVILLE. — Lorne Brough's chickens let their cackles fairly ring with pride these days, and well they might, for nearly every egg deposited by the small brood measures about seven inches in circumference and nine inches "the long way round." Mrs. Brough recently showed two dozen of the big eggs here.

Grave Digger: ST. CHARLES, Mo.—Seventy-year-old Mrs. Lena Ermeling believed today she was the only woman officially holding the office of city grave digger. The City Council appointed Mrs. Ermeling at a salary of $75 a month, to fill out the unexpired term of her late husband, Henry Ermeling, who had been sexton at the cemetery for 20 years.

DEFEAT BY GORDON IS "NO DISGRACE" TUGGEY COMMENTS

Appreciates Expressions Of Goodwill By All Members Of Old Council

NOT DOWNHEARTED

Fred T. Tuggey, who is still an alderman until the new members of the 1937 council are sworn in next Monday, paid a tribute to his municipal associates of last year in a little statement to The Examiner this morning.

"Every member of the council has taken the trouble to telephone me or speak to me on the street and express regret that I was defeated," Mr. Tuggey said. "It was the way they said it that touched me, because I felt that it came from their hearts and that they appreciated what I tried to do as chairman of the property committee for the last three years which included looking after the incinerator, the public lavatory, collection of garbage, services that are very necessary. This kindly attitude of the council is just an example of the spirit that prevails in the administration in regard to all its affairs, and applies to Mayor Macdonald and every member with whom I have been associated as an alderman. I think the ratepayers would like to know that the men they have elected are of that stamp, real gentlemen with whom it is a pleasure to co-operate in the city's business, sincerely interested in the welfare of Peterborough and of all the ratepayers and citizens in so far as it lies within the council's power."

Mr. Tuggey said he was not downhearted by defeat. He said he had tried to do his duty and he had no regrets on that score. It was no disgrace to be defeated by a man of the experience and ability of Hon. G. N. Gordon, he remarked, and as a ratepayer he said he was confident the city's affairs would be in good hands this year.

"And I want to thank The Examiner for the way they have treated me," Mr. Tuggey added. "The Examiner has always been fair to me, and I have happy thoughts of the old council, the press and the staff at the City Hall."

CONCERT IS HELD AT MARK STREET

300 Attend Annual Christmas Concert Of Mark Street School

Members of Mark Street United Church Sunday school held their annual Christmas tree and entertainment recently. The meeting opened with the carol "Hark the Herald Angels", after which prayer was offered by the pastor the Rev. F. Rowland. Superintendent A. W. Gamble was in the chair, and the Sunday school auditorium was filled to overflowing with an estimated attendance of 300.

Celebrating Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Patterson, 463 Hunter street west, who are today celebrating quietly at their home the golden anniversary of their wedding. Fifty years ago today they were married at the home of Mrs. Patterson's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Dillon, in St. Catharines. Also a native of St. Catharines, Mr. Patterson is son of the late George E. Patterson who was Canada's first manufacturer of street cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson have resided in Peterborough 46 years. Mr. Patterson serving many years as work's manager of the Canadian General Electric plant here until his retirement seven years ago. Although Mrs. Patterson is just recovering from a recent illness, both have enjoyed a fair measure of health. Mr. Patterson offers as the recipe for a happy married life the advice, "Be tolerant."

The Rambling REPORTERS

WHY BRING THAT UP?

He was a Peterborough salesman with a fire extinguisher as stock in trade and she was a lady far advanced in years, but very bright withal. He, offering her the extinguisher, and declaring that it would last for fifty years, was met with the response: "What do I need a fire extinguisher for? I'll be far away from this world in another fifty years." "Madame," he replied, "you might be glad to have it with you."—C.L.M.

FROGS CAUGHT IN POND.

Fishermen have yet many weeks to wait until the new fishing season opens but it appears the bait for bass fishing is already available. Joe O'Brien of Water street and Russell Martin of Bethune street caught four little frogs swimming actively about in a pool in Jackson Park just the other day. Brought into the city in a pail of water, the frogs seemed totally unaware of the fact the time for their annual hibernation into the mud has long since passed.—C.P.R.

WOULD MEN DO THIS?

The time was last Sunday — and very slippery walking. A lady who lives just two blocks from a church of her own denomination but prefers another church of the same communion which is twelve or more blocks from her home, progressed with difficulty over icy pavements. Half way, she met another lady from the opposite part of the city who was also going to Sunday devotions at her favorite church, about ten blocks from her home, although she also lives half a block away from a building where service is carried on according to her particular persuasion. Meeting, they both declared themselves late and decided that they were very silly. But both determinedly carried on to their respective and favored, churches.—C. L.M.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Taking his seat at the counsel table in magistrate's court this (Tuesday) morning, the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who headed the polls on New Year's Day to return to his aldermanic seat after a lapse of some years, noted the rickety state of some of the seats and commented: "I'll have to see the city council about some new chairs." Then casting his eye on the slot machines and other exhibits that litter up the court room, he observed: "There's another matter needs attention. It looks like a rummage sale." Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., from the Bench offered the suggestion that in his capacity as alderman, Mr. Gordon might also see about some place being provided for the keeping of court exhibits.—H.R.

HE MEANT WELL.

Here's a case of a gallant young man who meant well but failed to do so well.

He was walking along Hunter street last evening when he spied a girl intent on stringing chains on the four wheels of a car nearby. She seemed to be doing all right but it appeared the proper thing to offer assistance.

"Can I help?" he asked.

"My hands are already dirty so I might as well do it," the girl declined gratefully. Nonetheless, the young man set to work with one of the chains.

A few minutes later, the lady finished fastening her third chain and went to see how the young man was getting along on the one chain he had attempted to mount. She found he had made such a tangle of it that it required five minutes' patient effort on her part to straighten out the twisted links and complete the fastening. Accepting her charitable thanks for his aid, the young man retired with a red face.—C.P.R.

WEEK OF PRAYER SERVICES START

Rev. Dr. George Little Is Guest Speaker Each Evening In Peterborough

The Christian Church can play an important part in shaping the destiny of the world out of the present morass of political and economic difficulties, Rev. Dr. George Little, guest speaker at the Week of Prayer services in city churches this week, declared at the first service in Murray Street Baptist Church on Monday evening. The Christian gospel of truth and brotherhood as opposed to the gospel of force is what the world is in need of to-day, he said.

Sponsored by the Peterborough Ministerial Association, the service attracted a large congregation of members well representative of the Peterborough Protestant church body. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Church, presided. Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean offered a prayer and introduced Dr. Little. Rev. J. D. Paterson, president of the Association, read the Scriptural lesson.

Dr. Little's subject was "The Church Aflame," and he spoke from the text, "I came to lend fire on the earth," Luke 12, 49. The Christian fire has been spreading for 1,900 years through missionary and evangelical work, he said. To-day the world has arrived at an epoch in which the world's destiny for years into the future is decided and the church can help, he declared.

BLISS IS HANGED PORT ARTHUR JAIL

Pays For Crime He Readily Admitted—Murdering Young Telephone Operator

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Jan. 5.—(CP).—Gordon Bliss, 27, convicted murderer of Mildred Johnson, 18-year-old telephone operator, last March 26, was hanged in Port Arthur jail early to-day.

Announcement that sentence of death, passed upon Bliss by Mr. Justice Nicol Jeffrey at the trial of the Fort William youth last October, had been carried out was made by Sheriff H. Thompson who said: "No untoward incident" had occurred.

Miss Johnson was found strangled in the home of Bliss after the two attended a dance. A necktie belonging to Bliss was twisted about the girl's neck.

After death of the girl, Bliss called police and, according to evidence at the inquest, told them "I did it." At his trial, Bliss pleaded guilty, believed an unusual circumstance at a murder trial, in a British country.

"Do you understand what you are pleading guilty to?"

The answer was in the affirmative and the Justice said:

"Do you realize there is only one result to your plea of guilty?"

Bliss again replied "yes," and the presiding Judge then said:

"It is not often an accused pleads guilty to such a charge. A plea of guilty is not always accepted if there is doubt remaining in the mnid of the court that the accused does not understand the nature of the plea. The accused at all times has admitted his guilt.

"Under the circumstances, I cannot refuse to accept the plea, reluctant as I am to do so."

The Justice then passed sentence of death upon Bliss. The entire court proceedings took less than a half-hour.

WANTED IN PETERBOROUGH.

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—(CP).—Following investigation at police headquarters after he had been arrested on a warrant from Gravenhurst on charges of theft of clothing and forging a cheque for $5, Angus McDonald, 60, of Toronto, was alleged by police to be the same man for whom Peterborough police had a 10-year-old warrant on a charge of obtaining $35 by a forged cheque.

Additional charges were laid. One from Fort Erie in 1935, for alleged fraud, and a 1936 Toronto charge for allegedly forging a cheque for $3.

SHIP RATES JUMP

LONDON, Jan. 5 (CP)—War risk insurance rate for shipping in Spanish waters were doubled today. British vessels were being charged one per cent, compared to one-half per cent a week ago. Risks on Spanish vessels with Spanish crews were quoted at five per cent.

COUNTY COUNCIL HAS FOUR CHANGES IN ITS PERSONNEL

Two Veteran Reeves of Several Years Ago Are Again Members Of Council

TWO NEW FACES

Although returns from remote ratepayers in Belmont-Methuen were incomplete this afternoon, it was learned that William E. Griffith this afternoon was leading Chris Steenburg by 22 votes with two polls to hear from.

The election of Mr. Griffith was virtually conceded, as it was expected that he would probably make slight gains at both the final polls.

The report from Belmont completed the roster of the 1937 Peterborough County Council which will present four changes of personnel when Miss Jennie Batten calls for nominations for Warden on Tuesday, January 19.

J. R. Thompson will be in Robert Tedford's Norwood seat, Mr. Tedford having retired; Allan Caldwell will be back once more after a lapse of years in the Chandos chair, which was occupied last year by Fred Bullied; John McColl is the new Reeve of Asphodel, succeeding Sam Buck, who withdrew from municipal affairs at the turn of the year, and William E. Griffith is no stranger in the County Council Chamber, where he once presided as Warden.

Smith — Reeve George Mullen, Deputy-Reeve Fred Armstrong.

Otonabee—Reeve W. A. Anderson, Deputy-Reeve Harry Reid.

Douro — Reeve Frank Leahy.

North Monaghan — Reeve James Milby, Deputy-Reeve M. H. Johnston.

Asphodel—Reeve John McColl.

Dummer—Reeve E. N. McDonald.

Ennismore—Reeve James Gifford.

Lakefield—Reeve Charles S. Tanner.

Norwood—Reeve J. R. Thompson.

Galway-Cavendish — Reeve John Clark.

Burleigh-Anstruther — Reeve Roy Brown.

Harvey — Reeve Wallace Shearer.

Havelock—Reeve Ernest Seeney.

Chandos—Reeve Allan Caldwell.

Belmont-Methuen — Reeve W. E. Griffith.

CONCEDE ELECTION TO WM. GRIFFITH

Two Polls Yet To Hear From Ex-Reeve Has Lead Of 21 Votes

HAVELOCK, Jan. 5.—(Special.)—With two polls (Lasswade and Oak Lake), to hear from, the reeveship was conceded to William E. Griffith by C. F. Steenburgh in the Belmont-Methuen Township municipal elections this afternoon. At that time Mr. Griffith had a majority over the reeve of the 1936 council of 21, and his lead was expected to be further increased with final returns from the two outstanding polls. Latest returns for council gave the following standing for councillors: Anderson, 229; Bannon, 221; McFall, 220; McNeely, 233; Plunkett, 254; Sopha, 207; Whitney, 147.

AIRMAN WINNER IN MERCY FLIGHT

Battles Gale To Bring Sick Woman From Moose River To Cochrane

COCHRANE, Ont., Jan. 5 (CP).—An airplane swiftly brought a sick woman from her home on James Bay to undergo an operation at a hospital here. Pilot Harold Smith of Cochrane fought a winter storm yesterday to fly Mrs. Gilbert Thompson from Moose River so that Dr. R. Lemoey could operate on her at Lady Minto Hospital.

On receipt of word Mrs. Thompson, wife of the Anglican missionary at the James Bay settlement was seriously ill, Pilot Smith took off in a plane owned by the A. E. Wicks Co. of Cochrane. He reached Moosonee, across the Moose River from Moose Factory, in two hours, and the sick woman was carried to the plane. Dr. W. L. Tyrer, her physician, and her husband accompanied her.

On the 150-mile return flight to this northern centre the plane battled a fierce storm 40 miles out of Cochrane, but Pilot Smith won through and the woman was soon under expert medical care in the local hospital.

POULTRY SHOW OPENS IN CITY

Over 500 Entries And Every Class Well Filled At Annual Show

With over 500 entries and every class filled the twenty-eighth annual exhibition of Peterborough Poultry Association opened in the Market Hall here this (Tuesday) afternoon for a three-day run.

Fred Retson, president of the association, who has H. VanAllen as his right-hand man in the absence of Superintendent George Paxman, veteran poultryman, absent on a trip to the United States, described the entries as being "well up to average."

M. C. Wallace of Iroquois, who is again here in the capacity of judge, believed the general standard of the show to be high, and said the local poultry men were to be congratulated on their ability to stage such a large exhibition annually. He said Peterborough Poultry Show is classed along with the larger annual poultry shows in the province.

R. M. Brown is the largest individual exhibitor having a total of 180 entries represented in the various classes. H. T. Lush, one of the local exhibitors, who is well-known at other similar shows throughout the province, runs a close second, while other large exhibitors are H. VanAllen and Douglas Laver, Warkworth.

MALE VOICE CHOIR.

The Peterborough Male Voice Choir will hold its weekly practice to-night at the Y.M.C.A. A full attendance of members is expected.

ATTEND FUNERAL.

A number of members of the Peterborough Rotary Club attended the funeral this afternoon of A. J. Mathews of the Empress Hotel staff.

ONE FIRE ALARM

One call engaged the attention of the Fire Department over night. A trip was made to the home of Mrs. Thomas, 508 College street, where a chimney fire was checked.

POULTRY SHOW OPENS.

Sounds suggestive of a barnyard symphony coming from the Market building this morning conveyed the news to the world that the annual Peterborough Poultry Show gets under way to-day. The show will run three days.

SERVED ROYALTY.

The late "Dad" Mathews, genial spirit so well known to hundreds of diners at the Empress Hotel was in his youth as a soldier in India batman to the Duke of Clarence, whose succession to the Crown was elder brother of King George V.

ATTEMPTED BREAK-IN.

A large plate glass window at the rear of the Schneider jewelry store on George street was smashed during the night by some person or persons who made an unsuccessful attempt to break into the premises. City police are investigating.

AT THE EMPRESS.

ACCOMPANY TEAM.

Icy roads Monday night failed to prevent a number of Tweed supporters from accompanying the junior hockey team of that village to Peterborough. The visitors reported driving conditions as far from the best, but the trip was made without accident.

INVESTIGATING FIRE

W. L. Fairmont, an inspector from the Fire Marshal's Department, is in the city investigating the fire which broke out on the third floor over the Elite Cafe New Year's Eve. It is the policy of the Department to make investigations of all fires of unknown cause, it is understood.

EAR RING FOUND

Persons attending the annual Firemen's Ball on New Year's Eve this year must have been more careful than usual about their belongings, Chief Gimblett reported today. Only a single ear ring was found after the dance. The owner of the ear ring can have it by claiming it at the Fire Department.

350 FAMILIES GIVEN TOYS

A check-up by Fire Chief George Gimblett this week indicates that toys were sent to 350 families in the city for Christmas in connection with the Fire Department toy repair effort. An average of 4 children are reckoned to a family and it is estimated a total of more than 2,000 toys in all were distributed.

MULLEN IS CONGRATULATED.

A note of ironic humor marked the opening of the report of the new valuation of the county Monday afternoon as the other reeves who were present congratulated Reeve George Mullen of Smith on being placed at the top of the list with the highest equalized assessment.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

On pleading guilty as second offenders to charges of intoxication before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this (Tuesday) morning, John Carr and James Maguire, described as transients, were fined $50 apiece with the option of a month in the county gaol. Carr was previously convicted of drunkenness here on August 27 last, and Maguire was penalized for a similar offence on October 22 last.

CAUGHT OFF GUARD.

A press photographer who wandered out on the ice at Brock street rink at the start of Monday night's Tweed--Peterborough junior game to snap the initial face-off was caught at a disadvantage when the loud speaker system suddenly broke forth in the strains of the National Anthem. The newspaper man had both hands busy holding the camera and so he was the only man in the rink who kept his hat on while "God Save the King" was being played.

price of $12.50 per horse-power per annum, or a total price of $500,000," the letter said. "This you probably could have had, but you refused to even discuss it in order that you might continue your efforts to obtain what must be in any event a hollow victory.

"It is of course within your right to obtain for your clients what you can by force of law, and to do what injury you may accomplish to provincial rights, declining discussion and refusing possible settlements, but do not at the same time write letters suggesting a pacific attitude on the part of your clients.

"Under the circumstances, the intimation of your letter that your clients have been ready to negotiate and presumably that the Commission is not, is hardly in keeping with the facts.

CONDITION FAIRLY GOOD.

KINGSTON.—Condition of Mrs. H. J. Jermany and baby of Wolfe Island was reported at hospital today as being fairly good.

The baby was born on the steamer Wolfe Islander on Sunday, as the ferry was making a special trip from the island, bringing Mrs. Jermany to the hospital.

Mother To Children At The Shelter

Mrs. Gerald MacMillan and her daughter, Barbara. Mrs. MacMillan is matron of the Peterborough Children's Shelter. Mrs. MacMillan refuses to be called "Matron" by her charges. Instead, they call her "Mother" and share her affections with Barbara, who is the pet of the home.

OBITUARY

JOHN WALKER SHAW

The funeral of the late John Walker Shaw, 777 Water street, took place this afternoon, a service at the Nisbett Funeral Home followed by interment in Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. M. C. Parr officiated.

Serving as pall-bearers were: L. A. Grant, E. Kylle, F. Irons, C. H. Rhodes, R. Montgomery and H. Jackson.

PATRICK REGAN

DOURO, Jan. 5. — The death occurred on Dec. 30 in the hospital at Chapleau, Ont., of Patrick Regan, aged 74. He was a native of Douro, but left here some 46 years ago and had never been back. His brother Cornelius died at Furnace Falls just a few weeks ago. Interment took place at Chapleau. Deceased was unmarried and is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Healey of Douro.

JAMES McDONALD.

After a comparatively brief illness of several weeks, James McDonald, life long resident of Peterborough, died early Monday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McDonald, and was engaged from his youth as a lumber scaler for the most part in Northern Ontario and also with the Alfred McDonald Lumber Company.

Mr. McDonald is survived by one brother, J. H. McDonald, and two sisters, Miss Jane McDonald and Mrs. Mary Gleason, all of Peterborough. The funeral will take place Thursday at 9 a.m. from the home of the deceased, 2 Crescent street, to the Church of the Sacred Heart and St. Peter's Cemetery.

JAMES RICHARD REED

The funeral of the late James Richard Reed was held from Young's Point to the Lakefield Cemetery Monday afternoon with many representatives of a large circle of friends in attendance. Officiating as pall-bearers were: Melville McWilliams, Melville Crowe, Henry Little, Goldie Drain, Milton Drain and Alvin Drain.

Mr. Reed spent the past 35 years at Young's Point, moving there from Smith township. He was born in Peterborough 76 years ago.

Surviving besides his wife are one son, Oscar, a sister, Mrs. D. Drain of Dummer, and three brothers, James Reed of Lakefield, John of Courtright, Ontario, and William of Winnipeg.

ALBERT JOHN MATHEWS.

Rotarians were present in a body at funeral rites which were conducted at Nisbett Funeral Home this afternoon for the late Albert John (Jack) Mathews by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church. Interment was made at Little Lake Cemetery.

A familiar figure to the Peterborough community through nineteen years' service as head waiter at Empress Hotel, Mr. Mathews had waited on the members of the club for so long a period at their weekly luncheons, and had taken an interest in their activities to such a degree that he had come to regard himself practically as a Rotarian.

Remains were borne to their last rest by close friends and associates of the late Mr. Mathews. They included: C. G. Graham, manager of Empress Hotel, and R. Wilson, P. Carroll, T. Ryan, A. Rogers and S. Black.

WESLEY THOMPSON

On Friday afternoon there was laid away to rest one of the oldest and most highly-respected residents of the entire community in the person of the late Wesley Thompson in his eighty-second year.

The deceased had been a lifelong resident of South Monaghan, having farmed in the township until a few years ago, when he moved to his late residence in the village, where he lived with his wife.

The late Mr. Thompson had led a most active life and until recently had attended to his duties at his home as well as at the public and continuation school, where for the past ten years he performed his work faithfully and thoroughly as efficient caretaker. His final illness was brief and he retained his patient and optimistic spirit until his death.

The deceased leaves to mourn the great loss, besides his wife (who was formerly Miss Eva Thompson, one son, Norman of this village, and one daughter, Mrs. Richard Thompson also of Bailieboro. One sister, Mrs. Howard Bainard of Front street and two granddaughters, Misses Hilda and Ileen Thompson.

During his life in this district the deceased had made a vast number of true friends through his genial and pleasant disposition and especially among little children, who loved him for his patience and kindness.

A private service was held at the house, followed by a public service in the United Church, where the auditorium was filled to capacity with friends and neighbors from the district as well as from Peterborough, Otonabee Bewdley, Millbrook and Port Hope. Rev. E. M. Cook presided at both services and again at the Bailieboro Cemetery, where interment was made at three o'clock. Miss Frances Watt presided at the organ during the service at the church.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. E. Dawson, H. Barnard, R. Thompson, S. Thomoson, C. Dawson and A. Dawson. While Messrs. G. Tabscott, P. Barnard, M. Perrin, S. Johnston and F. Barnard officiated as flower-bearers.

WARDEN FROM DURHAM

Thirteen of the members of the 1936 council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham will be missing when the January sessions open at Cobourg for the election of a new Warden, probably Monday, January 18th.

The new members-elect are: Reeve Harry Snider of Brighton village; Deputy-reeve Stanley McBride, Haldimand; Reeve W. Throop, Colborne; Deputy-reeve Roy Dodge, Cobourg; Deputy-reeve Chas. Burrison, Hamilton. In Alnwick Reeve Wesley Pacey is back again after a year out of the council when his seat was occupied by Bart Thackeray. In Murray township a month ago Reeve Ernest Ireland and Deputy-reeve W. A. Smith were elected at the polls. Mr. Ireland has been absent from the counties council for several years.

The personnel of the 1937 council follows:—

Hastings—Reeve Howard G. Fairman.

Seymour—Reeve Sam Currie; Deputy-reeve Robt. Innis.

Brighton village — Reeve Harry Snider.

Haldimand—Reeve Jas. Deviney; Deputy-reeve Stanley McBride.

Murray—Reeve Ernest Ireland; Deputy-reeve W. A. Smith.

Brighton township — Reeve George; Deputy-reeve P. Gooding.

Colborne—Reeve W. Throop.

Hamilton — Reeve H. Brisbin; Deputy-reeve C. Burrison.

PETERBORO' TEAM BEATS HAMILTON LADIES' CURLING

Mrs. O. Degraw's Rink Only Outside One To Remain In Contest

FOR ROBERTSON TROPHY

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (C.P.).—Semi-final stage in the ladies' provincial curling competition for the Robertson Trophy was reached with Toronto entries dominating play to-day.

Only one visiting team, Mrs. O. Degraw's Peterborough squad, remained in the running. The Peterborough team defeated Hamilton Thistles, skipped by Mrs. G. Brown, 10-7.

Mrs. Brown's team was the last of four from Hamilton entries to be eliminated from ladies' championship play.

In consolation play, two other Hamilton aggregations were eliminated.

Mrs. W. J. Southam's Hamilton Thistles lost to Toronto Royal Canadians, skipped by Mrs. Whytock, 13-8, and a Hamilton Thistles entry, skipped by Mrs. Gooch, was defeated 10-7 by a second Toronto Royal Canadians' team led by Mrs. Young.

Semi-finalists for the Robertson Trophy will be Toronto Victorias, skipped by Mrs. Moorehouse; Toronto Granites, skipped by Mrs. Kearns; Toronto Victorias, skipped by Mrs. Grant; and Mrs. O. Degraw's Peterborough team.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, January 6

A DAY of rather startling and hectic developments may be expected, judging by the lunar and mutual aspects of leading planets. Disturbed and unsettled conditions are foreseen, and these may have entanglements or be inspired by rather precipitous or unforeseen denouements in romantic affiliations. Elopements might come under this augury, accompanied by impediments, delays and either scandal or misrepresentation. Litigation might ensue, but, in the long run, all should turn out satisfactorily. Be wise with young people in giving confidences.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a very lively, eventful and possibly spectacular year, with unforeseen developments of a romantic nature. Impulsive moves in this connection might precipitate litigation or other disagreeable aspects. There may be delays or impediments in efforts to thwart such intentions, but, in the long run, matters will turn out happily. Be wise in confidences with youthful persons.

A child born on this day may be lively, versatile, ambitious and adventurous, but restless and fond of change and travel. It will be given to the pursuit of social or romantic pleasures and be popular and prosperous.

AURIE REGAINS SCORING LEAD IN THE NATIONAL

SCHRINER SECOND

MONTREAL, Jan. 5—(C.P.)—A spurt of five points during the week jumped Larry Aurie of Detroit Red Wings back into the National Hockey League's scoring leadership and toppled "Sweeney" Schriner of New York Americans into second place.

Aurie's three goals and two assists jacked his point total up to 22, one up on Schriner's 9 goals and 12 assists. By another point old Johnny Gagnon of Montreal Canadiens trailed "Sweeney" with 12 goals and 8 assists.

Gagnon yielded his goal-getting leadership during the week to Aurie, who has now found the net 13 times. Aurie's line-mate, Marty Barry is tied for top in assists with Art Chapman, who makes the plays for the high-scoring Amerks' front line. Each has helped out on 13 goals.

PORT HOPE TRIMS COBOURG BY 6 TO 3

Soft Ice In Intermediate Game Make Good Hockey Impossible

COBOURG, Jan. 5 (C.P.). — Port Hope defeated Cobourg 6-3 in an intermediate O.H.A. game here last night. The ice was soft and made combination almost impossible. Port Hope opened the scoring in the first period when Hagerman shot from outside the blue line and beat McCoubrey. Pearce evened it up on a penalty shot.

In the second period Phillips put Port Hope one up. Record also scored on a scramble in front of the Cobourg net. Pearce scored for Cobourg on a hard drive to beat Cancilla. Phillips came right back and beat McCoubrey putting Port Hope up, the period ending 4-2 for Port Hope. Roach and Phillips scored one apiece, and Campbell got a goal for Cobourg in the last period.

Port Hope — Goal, Cancilla; defence, Hagerman and Cameron; centre, Rowden; wings, Roach and Phillips; subs., Record, Smith, Crossett, Jackman, Pillsworth.

Referee—A. Armstrong, Oshawa.

ETTORE IS BACK BEATS J. H. LEWIS

Man Louis Knocked Out In Fifth Last Fall Trims Light-Heavy Champ

Ettore ignored both the betting odds against him last night and the batterings he took in the early rounds. He started his comeback in the fourth, carried the fight to Lewis again in the seventh, and had most of the 13,000 spectators standing on their seats as he hammered the light-heavyweight champion in the 10th. Ettore weighed 191½ and Lewis 183.

Miss Emma Coate of North Curry, Somerset, England, has celebrated her 108th birthday in the village in which she has always lived.

'Natural' Athlete In Two Characteristic Poses

A "natural" athlete, Jean Pusie, is seen here in two characteristic pictures. A fighter on the ice, Jean also fought several professional fights, and at LEFT he is busy brushing up his ring technique, and is seen sinking his fist into the punching bag. On the RIGHT he is seen in full hockey garb. Pusie could mix his wrestling and fighting tactics plus hockey into one game.

Mighty Battler Quits In Pusie One Of Hockey's Color Stars

DREW SUSPENSION

By PHIL WARWICK
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

TORONTO, Jan. 4—Monsieur Jean Pusie is through. You ask why? The great idol of many a French-Canadian hockey fan closed his playing career with a fight in which he reportedly broke a hockey stick over the skull of Referee Billy Coutu.

During a game between Providence and Springfield on Christmas night Pusie got mixed up in a fight which ended with his crowning the arbiter with his stick. He had a $100 fine imposed on him plus suspension. He decided to retire from active hockey rather than take the penalty. An odd incident is brought to mind in this case. Coutu, when a player, was also suspended from the N.H.L. for an alleged attack of Referee Jerry Laflamme. Later Couto was reinstated. Jean hasn't waited for reinstatement. Perhaps he's tired of fights.

Big Pusie, one of the most colorful players the ice game has seen, has played for more teams than a hockey expert could name off-hand. He is not only a hockey player of no mean ability, but has tried his hand at wrestling, boxing, umpiring baseball games and many other sports. It is reported that during a ball game he once hit two spectators for molesting a player.

Packed Mighty Shot

Never before have fans seen such a quick-tempered player and showman. With his 200-odd pounds of brawn he packed a terrific shot. His teams generally used him for making their penalty shots. On one occasion before taking his penalty shot he skated up to the opposing goalie and shook his hand as if to offer sympathy for what was about to happen. To add insult to injury as it were, Pusie let go his bullet-like drive and beat the goalie cleanly.

On another occasion, when playing under Clem Loughlin at London in the International league, he went to Clem and suggested that when they visited Buffalo he would put on a show to revive spectator interest. Loughlin said o.k., but not if it would mean a 20-minute penalty. They proceeded to Buffalo and Pusie put on one of the greatest fights ever staged during a would-be hockey game. He was given a penalty for his part in the fray, and sitting in the "cooler" Loughlin told him to go downstairs and wash the blood off his face. "Blood on Pusie's face?" howled Jean. He touched his cheek, gazed at a smeared finger. "Those pegs," he shrilled, dashing back on to the ice and charging the whole Buffalo team. This time he was removed to the basement and the game proceeded.

Holds Scoring Record

He holds an unusual scoring record, that of scoring 30 goals and registering 22 assists while playing defence. He was playing for Vancouver in the Western Canada Hockey league in 1928-33 when he accomplished this feat. The league schedule only called for 30 games, which means an average of a goal a game for Jean. Not bad, for a defenceman.

Pusie was born in Chambly, Quebec, and started his hockey career in 1928 with Laval college. In 1930 he turned professional with Montreal Canadiens and has since seen service with other teams in the east and west.

So, after a hockey career packed with fights and showmanship, coupled with Jean's own burning desire to please the fans, he leaves the hockey wars due to a fleeting brawl. The battle cost him a $100 fine plus suspension. Showman Pusie prefers to quit.

TOO MUCH WINTER TENNIS IS TROUBLE DAVIS CUP TEAM

PUT COUNTRY FIRST

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (A.P.)—Fred Perry, who expects to spend most of the winter playing tennis after cutting himself a large slice of a record "gate" at Madison Square Garden to-morrow night, says too much winter tennis is one of the big troubles with United States Davis Cup teams.

Before going out yesterday to get in a few practice licks against Ellsworth Vines, his opponent in the feature match to-morrow, the British star pointed to too long a tournament season and lack of team spirit as the principal reasons why the United States has failed to regain the trophy.

"All this winter tennis may catch up with them in the one big match they want to win," he said. "Donald Budge may find that he would have more reserve had he taken it easier in the off-season.

"When I played him in the final round at Forest Hills last year Don was over the edge and I knew it and ran him. If he had been keen he was in a position to win in that last set, but he didn't know what to do when his crisis came. That, I think, was due to his being over-tennised."

The Davis Cup teams, Perry added, "don't always pull together because they haven't the team spirit. Your players should keep it more in mind that they are playing for their country and not for themselves."

UNIFORM PLAYING RULES ARE SOUGHT IN CANADIAN RUGBY

Failure To Reach Agreement At February Meet Will Mean New Union In West

NAISMITH HAS PLAN

CALGARY, Jan. 5 (C.P.)—Final drive to obtain uniform playing rules in Canadian rugby and equal representation for East and West on the national governing body will be made at the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Football Union in Toronto on February 27.

Failure to reach an agreement will mean the forming of a new "Canadian Football Union" in the West with its own constitution, rules and regulations, according to A. M. Naismith, Calgary, president of the Western Canada Rugby Football Union.

Author of a new constitution, supported by the Western Union, Naismith will recommend:

A Board of Governors, consisting of 12 members—six from the East and six from the West; a rules committee of four—two from the East and two from the West; and a secretary-treasurer and assistant. The rules committee and secretaries would be appointed and would not have a vote.

The principle of "equal representation" must be maintained, Mr. Naismith declared, but added the W. C.R.F.U. would not object to increasing or decreasing members on the Board of Governors or rules committee, if the East desired.

Would Drop W.C.R.F.U.

Given equal representation, he said, the west is prepared to "abolish the W.C.R.F.U. and have our various unions affiliate with the C. R.F.U. and pay affiliation fees and gate percentages direct to that body, and play according to the rules and regulations of the C.R.F.U. exclusively."

Under the western plan, the cost of operation for a year would be $1,750, including general and annual meeting expenses of the Union. Recommendations will be made that a small percentage be taken from each game played instead of having the champions of the various sections compelled to bear the whole cost of operating the C.R.F.U.

Copies of the Naismith constitution and recommendation have been mailed to all officials of the Canadian Union.

"Failure of the C.R.F.U. to give favorable consideration," declared the western president, "or the presentation of a satisfactory substitute for our recommendations is going to force me, admittedly with reluctance, to recommend that the west dissassociate itself with the C.R. F.U.

"The west wants to play the game fairly in the broad spirit of Canadian confederation. It hopes it will not be necessary for it to form a new Canadian Football Union."

REFEREE WHISTLE URGED FOR SMYTHE

Gorman Gets Hot When He Thinks Of Leaf Manager's Tactics Saturday

MONTREAL, Jan. 5 (CP)—A very aggrieved Tommy Gorman was back in town today with the suggestion that if Conny Smythe is going to referee games too, he should get a whistle.

The Gorman plaint arises from Last Saturday's National Hockey League game between Tommy's Montreal Maroons and Conny's Maple Leafs at Toronto. The burden of it is that Smythe behaved himself in a most unmanagerial way all through the scoreless proceedings.

"Smythe refereed a fine game that night," said Gorman. "We finally had him thrown out of the penalty bench, and then he placed himself behind the goal nets at the east end. After that, he came around to our bench and started on our players.

"And he should have been put out of the rink for what he said to referees Ion and Mitchell in the third period."

Tommy complained further that the Leafs had got all the better of the penalties. "Take a look at the penalty list," he admonished.

"If," he concluded, "they are going to allow Smythe to referee the games, why don't they give him a whistle?"

HALIFAX FIGHT, GUESSING MATCH

Commission Mystified As To Who Fighter Is Who Dropped Twice Without a Blow

HALIFAX, Jan. 5 (CP)—Puzzled boxing officials and fans still sought the identity today of the boxer billed as "Whitney Hurwitz" who wobbled through a round and a half with Werther Arcelli here in a New Year's Day fight fiasco.

It remained a mystery to the Halifax Boxing Commission even after last night's investigation of the fighter and the fight that was stopped in the second round. About all the commissioners were sure of was that the man who fought here was not the real Hurwitz, a New Englander, and that it was a very peculiar fight.

Referee Mickey Morrison in fact called it a "mess." The referee told the commission he heard one of the fighters tell the other, "Don't hit me here." Also, he said, he heard the words, "Not yet."

He was pretty sure "Hurwitz" had not been in many rings before. He went down twice in the second without even being hit, Morris said, and Arnelli gave him his chin to hit two or three times to make it look like a fight."

Promoter Sydney Newman appeared but wouldn't say with whom he had negotiated. "I'll take the rap," he told the boxing heads.

Jock McLean, Scotland's Pride, Turns Pro.

Britain loses another of her international amateurs with desertion of Golfer Jock McLean, crack Walker Cup star, who joins one of his native Scottish clubs as a pro. McLean has held the Scottish amateur championship for the past three years, has been open champion of Ireland twice, and was only edged out by Johnny Fischer for the United States amateur title in 1936 by a hair raising extra hole finish. He was rated pick of the British cup team which failed to win the Walker Cup from America's amateurs during the past season. Here is the likeable Jock practicing his swing.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(C.J.P.)

QUITE A fair-sized gathering—about 500 or so—saw the Colts open their O.H.A. junior "B" schedule at the Brock St. rink last eve with an 11-4 win over Tweed. The score was big but it proved an entertaining tilt. The boys gave all they had and dished up plenty of action. Our Colts faded in the third and were outscored 4 to 1, but 10 counters the first two heats gave them a big bank account from which to draw. Sticky ice and lack of sufficient practise slowed the locals up toward the finish, but that won't bother them any in another week's time. If Tweed is better than Belleville, the young Petes shouldn't have much trouble in their group. At the same time, other teams can be plenty tough on home ice. Also, the locals don't want to get big ideas. A thought or two of what St. Mike's and Kingston did to 'em the last few years, and their noggins ought to get back to normal.

• • • • • • •

AT THAT, the Colts showed a lot of promise. The newcomers appeared okay and the former O.H.A.-ers went fine. Given more practise and time to get their passing plays working better, and a bit of stress laid on the checking end of the game, and they'll be hard to stop. They have speed to burn, enough weight, some nice passing and shooting, and quite a few hockey brains in the outfit. Looking like a million bucks in their brightly-hued new uniforms, the Colts presented a dashing picture last night and lived up to it for two-thirds of the tilt. They'll do okay.

• • • • • • •

LET'S LOOK 'em over individually. Harding hadn't a great deal to do but made some nice saves. He muffed the first goal, though. He was kept fairly busy in the third and did some fast blocking. He should make a good goalie in junior company. Brady and Al Clark went pretty fair on defence for their first game and ought to have a good year. Connelly and Webb both showed promise and will likely fit in satisfactorily with a little more experience under their belts. That first line of Starr, Heal and Wright clicked nicely. The latter worked hard but hadn't much luck. Starr will be as effective as ever and Heal looked like a real find. He was big scorer for the night and shapes up as a dandy. Kingdon is just as heady and tricky as in the past while White will fit in okay before long. Grant Clark couldn't get untracked at times last night, but, if he just imagines he's carrying the freight on the gridiron again—and gets some confidence in himself—he'll hold his own. None of the squad looked like washouts.

• • • • • • •

WE MAY have to eat some of these words later, but we think not. Looks like another good junior team, one that should go quite a distance. And one that the fans will like. They're all young and clean cut, out there giving all they have and playing clean hockey. They hold their tempers well, pass the puck unselfishly and keep trying. We figure at present they look better offensively than defensively. But some of their crudities will be ironed out with another game or two and then fans will see a smart junior squad in action. Their next game is at Belleville the 11th.

• • • • • • •

OUR INTERMEDIATE Petes had a workout last night, after the junior joust, and are now set to open their schedule in Trenton tomorrow. The locals' home schedule begins Friday with Belleville here, the "A" team which hides behind "B" whiskers, as it were! We don't know how the locals will team up till we see them in action, but most of them have been playing together several years and should click all right. Continuous workouts lately have put 'em in pretty fair condition and they should knock over Trenton town team without too much trouble. At least we hope so, for gosh sake! Trenton Fliers will be their toughest opposition.

• • • • • • •

JUNIOR CITY Hockey League will swing into action next week at the Brock, the schedule to be drawn up shortly. Four teams will make up the circuit, Canucks, St. Peter's, Tigers and All Saints. There is a slight possibility yet of Lakefield, too. The Church Loop will drop its junior section since All Saints is leaving, many George St. Juniors are moving up to senior and Mark St. will go juvenile. The City Loop pretty well takes care of junior pucksters who don't make O. H.A.—the Southend Loop also handling a number. The Church Circuit tried hard to keep their junior section intact this winter but it requires four teams to keep from losing dough. At that, the Church League will have five bantams, seven juveniles and four or five seniors. Mark St. Seniors were granted one more day to decide on an entry.

• • • • • • •

SPEAKING OF the Church Puck Loop, four lively tussles opened the season at All Saints' rink last gloaming. Park St. Bantams took a 4-0 win over St. John's; Murray St. Juveniles slapped a 10-1 pasting on All Saints; the St. George's Seniors dropped a 2-1 tussle to All Saints; and George St. Seniors lost a 3-2 game to Murray St. Other contests this week are: Tuesday—George St. Bantams vs. Mark St. at six, St. John's vs. St. Paul's Juveniles at seven; Wednesday—Knox Juveniles vs. Trinity at seven; Thursday—Park St. Bantams vs. All Saints at six, Murray St. vs. Mark St. Juveniles at seven, St. George's Seniors vs. Murray St. at eight, All Saints Seniors vs. George St. at nine. A fullish sort of week.

• • • • • • •

TONIGHT IS closing date for entry to the Ladies Basketball League. Schedule committee meets this p.m. in the Y.W.C.A. to consider entries and draw up junior and senior schedules. Everything points to another successful season for the girl cagers in the Y.W. gym. They'll play Friday nights through the winter, starting a week from this Friday. The various coaches have been lining up their players for some time now and all seem confident of winning out—so both sections will likely wind up with all squads in a tie! Schedules and league rules should be available for publication this week.

• • • • • • •

HITHER AND yawn: Just heard that a squad called Monarchs may enter the Junior City Hockey League . . . . Three Senior City Circuit tussles will be run off in the Brock on Thursday eve . . . . Colts practise at six this p.m. and the Petes at seven; tomorrow the Colts workout from six to eight under Shorty Burgess . . . Officers and team captains of the City 5-Pin Bowling Loop meet tonight at 7.30 in Duffus' . . . . Belleville Redmen took an 8-3 nod over Trenton Bees last e'en on Quinte ice . . . . Oshawa's junior "A" squad will not be called the Majors any more but the Generals—why the promotion? . . . . No penalty shots or centre-ice bodychecking were permitted last night at the junior game here . . . . De wind ahe blow won awful gale, she blow de roof away; and Belleville's "B" tag she blow off, and made dem come out "A"—by gar!

WOULD IMPROVE OLYMPIC BOXING

CHURCH PUCK LOOP OPENS ITS SEASON WITH LIVELY TILTS

Park St. Bantams, Murray St. Juveniles, All Saints' Seniors And Murray St. Seniors Win

FAST AND CLEAN

Four lively Church Hockey League games were staged last night at All Saints' rink to open the season. Park Street blanked St. John's Bantams, 4-0; Murray Street Juveniles smeared All Saints by a 10-1 count; All Saints Seniors squeezed out a 2-1 verdict over St. George's; and Murray Street Seniors took a 3-2 decision from George street. Lots of action and some good hockey were dished up under ideal conditions.

The first game saw St. John's with but two of their 1936 champs outclassed by the smart Park Street crew. The latter had a fine defence and goalie and showed better system than the Anglicans. J. Ainslie got three goals and an assist, while Smith notched the other, and Briscoe had two assists. Thompson was best for the losers, with Crowter and D. Moore trying hard. The teams:

Park Street.—Goal, R. Ainslie; defence, Campbell, Drury; centre, J. Ainslie; wings, Smith, Briscoe; alternates, Martin, Barrie, Anderson.

St. John's—Goal, Matthews; defence, Thompson, D. Moore; centre, Crowter; wings, Cranford, J. Moore; alternates, Clarke, Farrow, Frank.

Referee—G. Beauclerc.

BAD BEATING

All Saints, another of last year's champs, took a bad beating in the juvenile joust. A shaky goalie who fanned on many, made it one-sided as the classy winners swept in or fired from outside repeatedly. The Anglicans had none of last year's team on deck. Wade was the only one to keep pace with the Bantists. Foster, ex-senior, shone for Murray Street, and scored five goals. The teams:

All Saints'.—Goal, Webb; defence, Ellis, Good; centre, Wade; wings, Carpenter, Buchanan; alternates, Ashford, Kemp, Lacheur, Morley, Abraham, Todd.

Referee—D. Charlton.

All Saints and St. George's opened the Senior series with another keen contest, with All Saints having more of the play, but Pearson's good work in goal holding them out. Fisher got the first, but Adamson evened it up on Tice's pass in the first inning. Watson won out in the second with a neat one. Good work by their centres and nice teamplay gave All Saints an edge. Adamson and Pearson starred for the losers. The teams:

All Saints.—Goal, Jay; defence, Fisher and Seabrooke; centre, Maudsley; wings, Alton and Dyer; alternates, Rusaw, Charlton, Watson, Frost and Saunders.

St. George's.—Goal, I. Pearson; defence, Helden, Houghton; centre, Adamson; wings, Tice, Stephenson; alternates, Hele, Follis, D. Pearson.

Referee—L. Parnall.

CLOSE GAME

The other senior game was close enough to have ended a draw, but a soft counter in the third by Johnston gave Murray Street the nod. George Street scored, twice at first via the Parnall brothers on one and Sproat to Edwards on the other. E. Spenceley tallied for the Baptists in the first and G. Palmer got another in the second as his team was shorthanded. McNabb and E. Spencely stood out for the winners while the Uniteds had no outstanding player. Young Bob Parnall kept pace with his buddies and like J. Ainslie of Park Street and N. Foster of Murray Street looked like future O.H.A. material. The teams:

Referee—D. Charlton.

RECALLS OLD RECORD

OXFORD, England (CP) — Sir Farquhar Buzzard, recommended as Conservative candidate for Oxford University, has a great athletic record. He played for Old Carthusians, amateur soccer cup winners in 1893 and 1896.

SAYS AUSSIES SHOULD REST

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP) — Although he considers Australia has more potential Davis Cup players than other countries, Jack Crawford, veteran tennis star, believes it might be wise to keep out of next year's contest.

FROWNS UPON O.R.F.U. GROUP

St. Thomas Scribe Fears Senior 'B' Rugby Group Would Not Be Successful

TWO SECTIONS BETTER

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 5.—Although St. Thomas dropped intermediate O.R.F.U. football last fall for the first time in six years, the Flower City, because of its past record, continues to be mentioned prominently in proposed new rugby setups. No doubt another championship intermediate entry could be developed here in a few years, but the process is an expensive one. Perhaps if conditions improve and there is more loose change around, the attempt may be made again.

The possibility of London, Ont., entering the senior O.R.F.U. series and the desire of the Sarnia Imperials for a new group has started a trend of thought in the minds of many sport writers. Recently we have referred to many opinions on this subject from Woodstock, Niagara Falls, London, Ont., Toronto, and other points. The latest opinion comes from Kitchener Daily Record, which tried senior football some years ago, using St. Thomas' Harry Martin and other stars.

Roy Brown of the Sarnia Imperials has come to bat with the suggestion that if Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials play an interlocking schedule with teams of the Interprovincial Union next fall, Hamilton Cubs, the third senior O.R.F.U. club may be dropped back into senior "B" classification and play in a group with Sarnia Wanderers, Lindsay, Peterborough, Cobourg, Oshawa and probably London, St. Thomas and Windsor, says the Kitchener Daily Record. The idea of the interlocking schedule may be all right. In fact it looks like a smart move. But if Hamilton goes for a group that necessitates trips as far east as Peterborough, Lindsay and Cobourg, we miss our guess. Certainly the four Western Ontario teams mentioned would be wise to forget all about it. St. Thomas always had a tough time financing its perennial Dominion champion intermediates. With Intercollegiate football as a counter-attraction the Senior "B" brand of O.R.F.U. wouldn't draw flies in London, Windsor and Sarnia, situated as they are, would lose an awful lot of time going to and from games, to say nothing of the traveling expenses. A better set-up might be to group St. Thomas, Windsor, Sarnia and Hamilton or London in one section and Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa and Cobourg in another. The teams could play a home-and-home schedule and the divisional winners could meet in a home-and-home group final. That would mean only one long trip from the east to the west and vice versa, and each trip would be for a playoff game, all of which means that larger crowds would be on hand to help carry the freight.

How to judge the correct length for your skis.

6. THE SKI

Ski length: For general use and normal body proportions, the correct length of skis is reaching from the groupd to the middle of the hand when the arm is upraised.

It is less the maker or the quality of the ski that matters in good skiing but rather the suitability of their size and shape for the conditions under which they are to be used. Unsuitable ski equipment hinders success in skiing from the very outset.

Types of Skis

Touring skis for general use.

Slalom or downhill skis for use in these particular branches of the sport.

Cross-country racing skis, narrow and light, for use only in this type of race.

Jumping skis; with three grooves in the bottom and made heavy and wide.

A good ski is flexible and is therefore steadier on uneven ground, through the ability to absorb bumps, but it is very difficult to tell, without practice, how flexible or supple the ski should be for best individual results.

The amount of bow that a ski retains will depend on the texture of the different woods used and on the type and style of ski.

Locals Ran In 10 Goals First Two Frames For Big Lead In O.H.A. Opener Here But Fade In Last Inning Of Lively Contest

The local Colts opened their O.H.A. junior "B" schedule with an 11-4 win over Tweed before a fair crowd at the Brock St. rink last night. Turning in a dashing performance the first two frames, the young Petes had a 10-0 lead going into the third—getting five in the first and five in the second. They slowed up considerably in the final heat and Tweed had an edge on play.

It was a good game to watch, despite the one-sided count, for so early in the season. The boys turned it on and dished up plenty of action and some smart hockey till they slowed up the final 20 minutes. Sticky ice and condition gave their rivals a chance and they pressed hotly through the last stanza. Play was fast most of the way and fairly clean, the Colts drawing five of the eight penalties. None of the new rules were shown.

While the plays weren't as well organized as they will be with practice, the work of the Colts showed considerable promise. The whole team showed speed and experience, with a good amount of weight distributed around. They passed the puck around neatly and looked smart in all departments till the final frame when they appeared somewhat disorganized as Tweed turned on the pressure. The visitors could not match speed with their rivals but kept battling and were stronger at the finish.

LOCAL STARS.

Outstanding for the Colts were Starr, Kingdon and Heal. The latter, a newcomer this year, scored four goals and had three assists in a fine showing. Kingdon got three goals and an assist and Starr tallied thrice. White got the other marker and had an assist. Long and Cournyea looked best for the losers, the former getting two goals and working hard all evening. The other tried hard but appeared outclassed.

The locals, resplendant in their new and brightly-colored uniforms, stepped out from the start and made it a fast tilt. Heal scored within two minutes on a passout from Wright. A minute later Heal tallied again on a tricky lone rush. White got the next on Kingdon's pass, and then Kingdon took a return pass from G. Clark to score. J. Tummon and Webb were waved off for hooking and Kingdon split the defence on a nice effort to sink the rubber. J. Tummon got the finger again for charging and the Colts made it hot as they ganged up till the bell rang.

Three Fast Ones.

Flashing great combination and speed to start the second, the young Petes scored three fast goals. Starr got the first two on passes from Heal, and then the latter went through alone. Connelly was gated for tripping and four Tweed players pressed for a time. Starr notched another on Heal's neat pass and the latter made it a big period for himself by batting in the fifth goal of the stanza in a scramble. Tweed players argued that he was in the crease but the goal was allowed. G. Clark was chased for holding as the frame finished.

The ice was sticky in the third and the Colts appeared to be tired. Tweed began ganging early and pressed hard most of this inning. J. Tummon got his third penalty of the game for tripping. As the Colts pressed, Long broke through and backhanded a soft one from the blue line and it fooled the local goalie. Checking was close in this chapter and, when Brady went off for high sticking, five Tweed players ganged up hotly. Connelly got the air for charging, leaving the locals short two. Cournyea scored on T. Tummon's assist and Ellsburg notched another fast in a scramble before the home cage. In another scramble shortly after Long scored as Tweed kept pressing. Kingdon took White's pass to notch the last marker of the game shortly before the final gong.

The teams:

Tweed—Goal, Mouck; defence, T. Tummon and J. Tummon; centre, J. Cournyea; wings, Ellsburg and Long; alternates, Rath, Meraw, M. Cournyea and Rivers.

Colts—Goal, Harding; defence, Brady and Connelly; centre, Starr; wings, Heal and Wright; alternates, Kingdon, G. Clark, White, A. Clark and Webb.

Referee, Jack Sabatino.

PREXY FORD FRICK PREDICTS BIG YEAR IN NATIONAL LOOP

Discusses Past Season And Looks Forward To Record Baseball Summer In 1937

FIRST OF SERIES

By FORD FRICK
President, National Baseball League

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP).—Just now I was thumbing over the cards representing new players added to the rosters of our eight National League clubs. I venture the prediction that our league in its coming season of championship competition, will present a younger average age in its teams' regular lineups than has been the case for many years.

And that suits me. The National League had its 60th birthday last February and we celebrated the anniversary with a series of 1876 ball games in each of our eight ball parks. The issuing of lifetime passes the year before and the old-timer reunions held in connection with each of the birthday parties revived in healthy fashion the traditional background of baseball. But I noticed one very significant thing in attending our anniversary games. Namely, none of the grown-ups, not even the old-timers themselves, seemed to be enjoying the occasion as much as the kids enjoyed it.

Younger Players

So if we're younger out there on the ball field in '37, we're just as much in line with the march of baseball as when we were re-living the annals of the past. Baseball to grown-ups is fundamentally the game we played in boyhood. So why shouldn't the lineups of our teams and the personnel in our grandstands emphasize the accent on youth?

To the Giants, the year was a splendid achievement, New York's 14th pennant in National League history, tying the metropolis with Chicago for first place in the all-time contest of collecting National League pennants. It was their second pennant since Bill Terry took charge of the management in June, 1932, making two pennants for Bill in his four complete seasons as a major league manager.

Carl Hubbell

I was glad to see Carl Hubbell topping the earned-run average table when the official figures were tallied. Carl had led in earned runs before, of course, but in 1936 he was leader in the won and lost percentages, too, a fitting tribute to his great year, with its winning streak of 16 straight, the longest streak in our league since Rube Marquard's 19 straight in 1912, and as long a streak as any American League pitcher has ever had.

My chief feeling in looking forward to 1937 with enthusiasm for the National League and baseball as a whole first, of course, because it's closest to me.

But more than that, the evidence of the 1936 baseball season, the fact that the world series attendance and receipts, per game, exceeded that of the best previous year in baseball history, 1926, means to me that not only baseball, but the United States as a whole, is entering into a year of renewed national health and prosperity.

Kelly And Kendall Exchange Bosses In N.H.L.

With the Toronto Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks both trying to get a winning combination, Conny Smythe and Major Frederick McLaughlin, owner of Hawks, got together and exchanged two of players. Smythe traded "Pep" Kelly to Chicago for Bill Kendall in a straight player deal. Both are righthanders. Kendall, 26 years of age, comes from Winnipeg, Man. He played amateur with Elmwood Millionaires until turning professional with St. Louis Flyers of American Association in 1931. He moved to Wichita of the same league in 1932, and has played with Chicago Black Hawks and London Tecumsehs, former International league team since.

FATHER STANTON STAR GRID COACH OTTAWA COLLEGE

HAD DICK SHEEHY

MONTREAL, Jan 5.—Father Billy Stanton, O.M.I., who was killed recently, was one of the great coaches of Canadian rugby between 1907 and 1913.

He developed the famous little "Bag of Tricks" team at University of Ottawa in 1907. The only team from there that ever won an intercollegiate championship. Previous championships had been won in other unions.

He retired after that season and came back in 1911 to weld together another team. In six weeks he took green Frank Hefferman, who had never played football before, made him a flying wing, and Hefferman earned all star rating that season.

He was responsible for many innovations in rugby. Chief of them was the development of the secondary defence which he built up to protect his kicking ace Phil Cornellier, 135-pound booted, who was one of the greatest distance kickers ever seen in the Canadian game.

Father Stanton had his team discard the old canvas vests in favor of light sweaters. He claimed the old vests restricted breathing, and picked up pounds of mud on wet fields.

Nick Bawlf, now an athletic coach at Cornell, was one of the mainstays of his team. Though an American-bred coach, tutored at Buffalo, he quickly recognized that kicking was the backbone of our game, and he was constant in his search for a good booter.

Punting Duels

Cornellier was a slight little fellow considered altogether too small for big time rugby when Father Stanton decided to plant his behind his line. The Cornellier-Billington duels were as famous in those days as the Box-Stirling battles of today.

He was a baseball tactician of more than ordinary ability and in his day Ottawa University played smart American universities like St. Lawrence University of New York on even terms.

At times he doffed his cassock and played shortstop or worked at quarter-back in practice with the rugby squad. He had fine hands, was a shoe-string tackler, and he made Jimmy Dean his 1907 quarter, one of the smartest pivot men in the country.

His slogan was "you are never beaten if you don't quit," and some of his dressing room orations were full of the kind of stuff that made Rockne famous.

In 1913 he handled Ottawa City, and they had a title in their grasp till a series of accidents, including one to Eddie Gerard, lost them their chance in the Big Four playoff in 1913.

He was given special permission by his archbishop to coach this team after his spiritual superior had been asked to let him handle the squad, which was a combination of University and Ottawa players.

Developed Many Stars

In addition to Bawlf some famous Canadian players were developed by him. Eddie Nagle and Bert Gilligan, outstanding outside wings; Silver Quilty, one of the great plungers of rugby; Leonard Chantal Tim Holly, Jerry Harrington, Frank Heffernan, Pud Whelan, Frank Murphy, Jimmy Dean, Dick Sheehy and others.

He rated Dean the finest quarter he had ever seen in Canadian rugby. He thought Jack Maynard the finest running half, Gall the steadiest kicker and Bawlf the most spectacular.

"Griffith was a great gentleman, and had the best lateral passing team I ever saw," he said when here a few months ago to see Tommy Loughran fight. He had numerous friends in Montreal. One of the great pulpit orators of the United States, he was known for his faculty of decorating his sermons with baseball and football allusions. He was 66 years of age.

Deaths

BORN

DEATH

PAYNE. — Died, in Warsaw, Tuesday, January 5, 1937, Ann Payne, aged 72, wife of George Lonsberry. Funeral, Thursday, January 7, from the family residence. Interment at 2 p.m. to St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Donaldson, 108 Aylmer street, wish to thank doctors and nurses; the Badminton Club, Young People's Club and Four-Square Club of Trinity Church; also Collegiate Camera Club, the Rebekah Lodge, and all friends for their kindness to their son "Bill," while he was ill in Nicholls Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

ADAMSON.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Mr. William Adamson, who passed away one year ago to-day, January 5, 1936.

Silent his voice and vacant his chair,
Sweet are the memories that linger there;
We miss him and mourn him in silence unseen,
And live in the memory of joys that have been.
—Always remembered by his wife and daughter, Mrs. William Adamson, and Edna.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S QUEER VOICE

"You were very silly," said the Bob Cat to the Fox.

"Very silly, indeed," snarled the Wolf.

"What do you mean?" asked the Fox Bad Chap of the other two, who had come to his den to ask him for something to eat. "I have nothing to eat for myself, much less for you."

"You would have if you hadn't been so silly!" said the Bob Cat.

"That's right—you were very silly," said the Wolf.

That's how it started, and when the Fox wanted to know from his two Bad Chap friends why they called him silly the Wolf said:

"Because on New Year's Day, when Uncle Wiggily came here to your den to call, you let him go, didn't you?"

"Yes," admitted the Fox. "I did. I said it was a holiday and Uncle Wiggily wished us a Happy New Year and I didn't think it would be very polite if we had eaten him then."

Thought He Was Silly

"That's where you were silly!" mewed the Bob Cat. "New Year's or Old Year's, we could have had a good meal off that rabbit."

"Of course we could!" snarled the Wolf. "Only for silly Foxie here! But it isn't too late," and the Wolf got up and looked for his hat. It took him some time to find it, as he'd been sitting on it.

"I might as well come with you," proposed the Fox. "But I wish you wouldn't say I'm silly."

"Then come on! I think we'll get Mr. Longears this time!" barked the Fox, for he was something like a dog, though he did have a tail as large as a dusting brush.

The three Bad Chaps went sneaking along through the woods. Soon they saw Uncle Wiggily ahead of them. The rabbit gentleman was looking for an adventure.

"And I think I've found one!" he exclaimed, as he looked back and saw the three Bad Chaps starting after him. "Now I must hop fast to get away." Uncle Wiggily hopped fast but on came the Bad Chaps.

Hides in Water Pipe

All of a sudden the rabbit gentleman came to the place where the big water pipes were—the same pipes where, as I told you last night, the bunny children hid themselves coming from school.

"One of these pipes will make a good hiding place for me," thought Mr. Longears. As quickly as you can wink one of your eyes, into a big, dark pipe popped the rabbit. He went to the middle and remained there very quietly.

Up came the Bad Chaps. They looked all around. They couldn't see the rabbit. They were so stupid they never thought of looking inside the big pipe where he was hiding.

"We'll stay here until we see him," said the Fox.

The three Bad Chaps sat down on the outside of the pipe.

"Dear me!" thought Uncle Wiggily. "I'll never dare come out while they're here. I must scare them away." Then he called in a loud voice: "Boo! Boo! Boo!" And his voice had such a queer sound coming from inside the pipe that it frightened the Bad Chaps away. They thought it was a giant shouting at them. Off they ran and then Mr. Longears came out.

And if the umbrella doesn't catch cold in its ribs from playing in the rain, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's danger.

BAILIEBORO Y.P.U. SCORES WITH PLAY

"Mammy's Lil Wild Rose" Successfully Presented To Appreciative Audience

BAILIEBORO, Jan 5—"Mammy's Lil Wild Rose", a comedy drama, of the sunny South, by Lillian Mortimer, was the play which was staged by members of the Young Peoples Union of the United Church, in the church on New Year's night.

The play, which was a three-act production, was presented to a large crowd and was under the capable leadership of Mrs. Offa Williamson, who acted as instructress and was largely responsible for the splendid way in which the play was put across.

The action took place in the cabin dooryard of Uncle Joe (Carl Lang) and Mammy Cehe (Miss Clara Beens) in the mountains of Virginia. The kindly old darkie and his wife were typical characters and well taken by the local young people. The plot centred around a pretty little mountain girl, Rose O'May (Miss Winnifred Gainer) who very cleverly acted the difficult part of a little wild mountain Rose, who was taken to the city in a vain attempt to transplant in an environment unsuitable to her make-up. Lester Van, the part of the young fortune-seeker, well taken by Harland Beens, who ultimately failed in his attempt to double cross his friend, Daniel French, a young writer (Fred Barnard), who finally won Rose's heart in spite of the disapproval of Rose's aunt, Miss Hester O'May, played by (Miss Margaret Beens) and a native plotter, Wade Carver, played by (Alex Watt) who had designs to take advantage of Miss O'May and Rose's helplessness and was coercing the girl into marrying him. The parts of Letty Van and Peggy French were well taken by Mrs. M. Perrin and Miss Ruth Dawson. While Mrs. Courtrane, a lonely woman, who turned out to be the wealthy grandmother of the Mountain Rose, was taken by Mrs. Norman Thompson. The real laught of the presentation came on each occasion when Babe Joan (Elva Jewison), and Orpheus Jackson taken by Stanley Johnston appeared in their comic roles. The mountain charmer, finally winning her native Romeo and later when Orpheus was presented with twin sons the incident caused prolonged merriment.

Numbers were provided between acts when a group of boys from the continuation school, David Cook, Neil Bothwell, Ralph Greer and Merle Barnard sang a group of cowboy songs. Rev. E. M. Cook also rendered several much appreciated vocal numbers and presided as chairman for the entertainment.

JANUARY SESSION IS HEPBURN'S HINT

Cabinet Meeting During Afternoon Expected To Set Exact Date

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (CP) — Premier Hepburn said to-day the Ontario Legislature would meet "earlier than usual." The session usually begins the first week in February.

Returning to Toronto from a Christmas vacation at his Elgin county home the Premier said it was his intention to pass legislation in connection with the power contract situation prior to judgment of the Privy Council the Ontario Hydro Commission appeal.

He said the Privy Council may hear the appeal February 1. The Hydro Commission is appealing the decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal in the case brought by the Ottawa Valley Power Company.

The Appeal Court by a majority judgment last November 19 held invalid Ontario legislation cancelling the Quebec power contracts and ruled the Ottawa Valley Company could, without consent of the Attorney-General, enter action against the Hydro Commission for non-performance of contract.

Mr. Hepburn said the Government was seeking legal advice in connection with legislation to forestall any possible unfavorable decision by the Privy Council.

A cabinet meeting will be held later to-day and final decision concerning an early session is expected to be made.

2 STORE HOLDUPS NET $43,900 CASH

Manhattan Bandit Is Later Found Slain In Quarrel Over Division Of Loot

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 — (AP) — Gang holdups of more than 100 cigar stores and clerks in two stores here were followed to-day by a denunciation of New York's police administration by Joseph Gollomb, president of the Taxpayers' Union.

The hold-up Saturday night of more than 50 customers and employees in Benny's Cigars, Inc., a downtown Manhattan store, by five men who carried off about $40,000 in cash and jewelry was described by Gollomb as "the best by in the continent."

As about the same time three men were holding up 14 persons in a tobacco and candy shop in Brooklyn. The robbers got $1,900 in cash.

In a telegram to Governor Herbert Lehman, Gollomb said criminals are marching on defenseless citizens of New York city unmolested by police and "holdups are commonplace daily. He requested an interceding from Mayor LaGuardia and Police Commissioner Valentine. Gollomb said 39 holdups have occurred in four short weeks on Madison avenue within a mile.

One of the robbers in the clothing store was shot to death an hour later in an apartment about two miles from the store. He was identified as Fred Dunn, 30. In the room were shotguns bearing the store's name and part of the loot.

Police said he was killed in a quarrel over division of the loot.

After questioning Dunn's 17-year-old bride of a few months police arrested six alleged gunmen and charged them with having taken part in the robberies.

DONALD KNIGHT IS NAMED SECRETARY

Annual Meeting Of Ratepayers Of Norham School Section Is Held

NORHAM, Jan. 5.—The annual meeting of the trustees and ratepayers of the Norham school section No. 1 and 25 was held on Wednesday morning in the school room with a fair attendance. Reports for the year were read by the secretary.

Alfred O. Cliffe, who for a number of years has been a trustee and a very efficient secretary for the section, tendered his resignation and Mr. Irwin Greenly was appointed to fill the vacancy on the trustee board. Other present trustees are Norman Harren and Murney McCann. As none of the trustees wished to act as secretary this year Donald Knight has been appointed to that office. Contracts for fuel-buying and caretaking will be dealt with by the board at a later date.

Sunday School Meeting

The annual meeting of the Norham Sunday school was held in the church hall on Wednesday evening last with a good attendance. Rev. J. W. Platt was in charge of the meeting. Howard Evans, secretary-treasurer, read the financial report for the year, which was very encouraging, the Sunday school closing the year with an almost balanced budget, a good showing in view of the fact that at the beginning of 1936 the school was much indebted for papers and supplies.

Superintendent, F. H. Huycke; assistant superintendents, Mrs. Emma Cole and Mrs. Norman Gummer; secretary-treasurer, Howard Evans; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. Alex Peterson; organists, Misses Edythe Brenton and Emma West.

Teachers: Young people's class, Mrs. Lorne Evans; intermediate girls' class, Miss Jeanne Diamond; intermediate boys' class, Mrs. Sam Platt; junior girls' class, Mrs. Stanley Brenton; primary class, Mrs. Geo. Palmateer. Appointment of a Bible Class teacher was left till a later date.

It was decided that for January, February and March the assistant superintendents would relieve the regular superintendent, Mr. Huycke, who lives at a distance and finds it very inconvenient to get out during the winter months. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the officers and teachers of 1936 for their very efficient and satisfactory work. The meeting closed with prayer by the pastor.

C. W. Lynch, 255; Stanley Stevenson, 222; Harry W. Dodd, 218; L. E. Kelly, 209; Harry M. Fowlds, 136; J. J. Perrault, 126; J. R. Tripp, 61.

Oppose Nazi Intervention In Spain

DR. SCHACHT

VON BLOMBERG

Opposition to Nazi intervention in Spain's civil strife has reportedly been voiced by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, and Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg, war minister. Chancellor Hitler, it is said, has received Schacht's opposition on the ground of economics and Blomberg's for military reasons.

LAKEFIELD HAS WEEK OF PRAYER

Three Congregations Are Joining In Movement That Is Nation-wide

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 5.—Three Lakefield congregations are joining in the Week of Prayer services which are being held throughout Canada this week. They are St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the Baptist and United congregations.

The services here commence on Tuesday and conclude on Thursday. On Tuesday the opening meeting is held in the United Church. Rev. Robt. Boyle will be the speaker. On Wednesday Rev. Geo. Kelly will speak in the Baptist Church. On Thursday evening Rev. W. B. Walker will address the united congregations in the Presbyterian Church. The services commence at 7.45 p.m. The public are invited to attend that they may, at this, the beginning of a new year, add their petitions to those of hundreds of other persons througnout the nation who are uniting in this universal brotherhood of prayer.

SURPRISE PARTY ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Mr. And Mrs. Maxwell Brown Honored By Members Of Elgin Sunday School

HASTINGS, Jan. 5.—On New Year's eve a most delightful time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Preston when the members of the Elgin Sunday school and neighbors of the community met together for a surprise party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Brown and family, who are leaving the Elgin settlement to reside on the farm formerly owned by the late Mr. Harvey Scott of Donegal.

During the evening a short address, voicing the appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Brown's stirling worth and regret for their departure from the Sunday school was read by Miss Helen McGee and the presentation was made by Mr. Lloyd Fleming of a beautiful bound Hymnal to Mr. and Mrs. Brown and smaller Hymnals to Orland and Doreen. Mr. and Mrs. Brown both made suitable replies. They have been faithful members of the Elgin Sunday school all their lives and have given generously of their time to the work in connection with the Sunday school and are followed by the best wishes of a host of friends. After the presentation all sang "For they are jolly good fellows." A dainty luncheon was served, games enjoyed and a social time spent together as they watched the old year out and the new year in.

W. A. NIXON HEADS LAKEFIELD POLLS

Light Vote In Election Of Four Members Of Village Council

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 5.—W. A. Nixon was elected at the head of the polls for the 1937 councillors of Lakefield Monday with Gordon Scriver, J. W. Botterll and Alex MacDonald completing the list of successful candidates.

Reeve C. S. Tanner was re-elected by acclamation. Voting was exceptionally light. The number of ratepayers who exercised their franchise, 336, was hardly half the total number entitled to vote.

The complete results were as follows:

	Poll 1	Poll 2	Tot.
Wm. Nixon	127	108	235
G. Scriver	115	98	213
J. W. Botterll	89	81	170
Alex MacDonald ..	79	80	159
W. J. Hendren	74	74	148
Chas. Armstrong ..	64	52	116
A. Ahearn	49	63	112

Walter Chappell and Harry Armstrong were deputy returning officers, and Edwin Hill and R. Welbourne were poll clerks.

William Nixon and Alex MacDonald are both new members of the council. They have been property owners for many years and have always taken an active interest in the affairs of the village. In his first candidature Mr. Nixon had the distinction of receiving the largest vote John Hendren, an active member of last year's council, was one of the unsuccessful candidates on Monday.

HAVELOCK W.I. HAS POT LUCK SUPPER

Miss Mary Seeney Gives Fine Talk On Bright Outlook Of New Year

HAVELOCK, Jan. 5.—The January meeting of the Havelock Branch, Women's Institute was held on Monday afternoon in the town hall with an average attendance. In the absence of the president, Mrs. John Armstrong, the chair was taken by the vice-president, Mrs. Clare Price.

The "roll-call was responded to in an interesting fashion, with each member presenting different "hints and helps in carrying on Institute work." A paper was given by Mrs. George Rigby on the subject "New Year's Resolutions." Mrs. Donald Holdcroft was unable to be present to render her vocal solo, due to sickness in her family, and her place on the program was ably filled by Mr. Maurice Williams, who played a splendid number on the piano, entitled "Falling Wafers."

Miss Mary Seeney gave a most interesting talk on the New Year, pointing out that "we can begin 1937 with a much brighter outlook than we had on the first day of the year now past, in many ways. For one thing war, that last New Year's Day seemed imminent, with France and the free peoples of the Anglo-Saxon heritage drawn into it, it is not yet a reality though it may still be a fear. But each day that goes by and war has not broken over the heads of these free people, is a day gained, and the way is still clear for common sense to prevail against those who grasp at power. Each day of this New Year will be a day in which the realisation of the absurdity of war that the few may line their pockets, may grow and spread. In the year past we lost a King, we lost Kipling, a beloved idol left us. But Britain still carries on, a Roosevelt is once more on the throne of a great young country. France has grappled with her problems and is a force for stability, and in our Dominion there is a returning tide of prosperity. There is a genuine ring in the words we use—"A Happy New Year."

A pot-luck supper served at the conclusion of the meeting, under the convenorship of Mrs. Joseph Little, proved to be a regular banquet and was very much enjoyed.

The next regular meeting will be held on Monday, February 1st, with Mrs. R. McCutcheon acting as program convenor.

FLAMES BAR RESCUE

Fathers Absent On Road Building Project 100 Miles Away

MINITONAS, Man., Jan. 6.—(CP). —Coroner Dr. G. E. Bruce to-day ruled unnecessary an inquest into the deaths of five children burned to death yesterday in a farm house fire in the Grahamville district near this town, 280 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

Three of the children, Catherine, four, Irene, 12 months, and a six-weeks-old boy, were those of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham. The others, Mary, three, and George, 12 months, were children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKenzie.

The Grahams and McKenzies resided together on the farm but the fathers were employed 100 miles distant on a highway project. The mothers had lighted a fire in a small cook stove to warm the house yesterday morning and had gone to the stable to feed livestock and milk cows. Shortly afterwards, they discovered the house was ablaze.

Owing to the long distance separating them from their nearest neighbors, the women were unable to summon help in time to be of assistance. They were forced to stand by helplessly while the house and its contents were destroyed.

MORMON BISHOP IS ALBERTA'S NEW MINISTER MINES

Nathan E. Tanner, 38-Year-Old Teacher, Replaces C. Ross In Social Credit Cabinet

WAS FORMERLY SPEAKER

By J. F. Sanderson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

EDMONTON, Jan. 6.—(CP). —Alberta had a new Minister of Lands and Mines to-day—Nathan E. Tanner, 38-year-old school teacher from Cardston and a Bishop in the Mormon church.

Tanner took the oath of office yesterday, a few minutes after Premier William Aberhart accepted the resignation of C. C. Ross, who had held the portfolio since the Social Creditors swept the provincial elections in August, 1935.

The Premier would give no reason for Ross' resignation, insisting he had no wish to discuss it. The resignation, however, was not unexpected because it had been rumored in political circles here nearly three weeks.

Meanwhile, Ross also was reticent. In Calgary, he said he had not been advised of the acceptance of his resignation and "until I have, there will be no statement for the press."

"I have no announcement to make at the present," Premier Aberhart said yesterday when asked if other Cabinet changes were contemplated.

A few minutes after he became a Minister, Tanner said his policy would be to develop the natural resources and industries within the province for the benefit of the people as a whole."

Tanner was born at Salt Lake City, Utah, May 9, 1892, and came to Canada as a small child. He was educated at Cardston, site of the largest Mormon temple in Canada and the Salt Lake city of Canada.

For the last 14 years he has been a school teacher, although he resigned as principal of the Cardston Public school in June, 1935, to take part in the provincial elections.

Tanner was elected Speaker of the Alberta Legislature last session, a position vacated by his elevation to the cabinet.

FIND COUNTERFEIT PLANT IN COBOURG

Discovered On Cellar Shelf By New Hotel Proprietors While Cleaning Up

COBOURG, Ont., Jan. 6 (CP)—Complete equipment for manufacturing counterfeit coins was discovered here in the basement of a local hotel when the new proprietors were cleaning up the cellar. The equipment consisted of two plaster of paris moulds with weights and pressure screws and a number of United States and Canadian half dollars and raw metals were found.

The coins were said to be perfect as far as milling and design were concerned but lacked the proper weight and ring and were a little off colour.

Departure From Usual British Diplomacy Stirs Speculation

ANSWERS SAID READY

Both Expected To Be Far From Definite—Eden Said Ready For Stern Action

LONDON, Jan. 6 (C.P.). — In what was regarded as a departure from customary British diplomacy in the tense Spanish situation, Great Britain demanded to-day that Germany and Italy answer her proposal to ban volunteers from Spain by Saturday at the latest.

Great stress was laid in diplomatic circles on what was described as the "unusual" tone of the British note, according to the Associated Press.

Significance was seen in the fact that coincidentally with the despatch of the note the Admiralty ordered a reshuffling of British naval strength in Spanish waters. The manoeuvre, which would have the effect of materially strengthening the British Fleet around Spain for a few days, was described, however, as routine.

The Admiralty announcement described the changing of bases of 27 warships in the Mediterranean as "routine so crews who have been in Spanish waters will be able to get shore exercise."

The Havas News Agency said the battleship Queen Elizabeth and the cruisers Arethusa and Devonshire had been ordered from Malta to the Western Mediterranean; that officially the orders were given to aid evacuation of refugees from Spain, but that it was understood they were a precautionary measure following upon recent international naval incidents in Spanish waters.

Sir Eric Drummond and Sir Eric Phipps, British Ambassadors at Rome and Berlin respectively, were instructed to demand a formal answer to the Anglo-F[illegible] demands from the Fascist G[illegible]nments before the end of th[illegible]

In the event of such an answer, according to the Associated Press, it was said Foreign Secretary Eden already has determined his course of action, although it would not be put into effect until after Cabinet discussion of the actual answers.

"If replies (Germany and Italy) are not received within the specified time," the paper said, "or, if on receipt, they are found to be unsatisfactory, it will be the duty of the British Government to proceed at once to sterner action.

"The time for delay and hesitation went by long ago."

CRACKSMEN CUT HOLE INTO VAULT TO GET $2,594 CASH

Scorn $3,000 Of Sandwich Township Cheques—Scatter Them On Hall Floor

USE PICKS, SLEDGE

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 6 (CP).—Safe crackmen cut through the 10-inch rear wall of the large vault in Sandwich East Township Hall last night and made away with $2,594.42 in cash.

They scorned an additional $3,000 in cheques, which were left littered about the floor outside the vault with the fragile cash box and a pile of brick and mortar.

Entry was gained to the building through a window of the relief office in the basement. Instruments used to break through the wall were two picks and a heavy sledge obtained from the tool house at the rear of the hall. The picks and sledge were left lying beside the vault and were not touched pending arrival of James R. Wilkinson, Windsor's finger-print expert.

Theory the thieves were persons familiar with the layout was strengthened by the fact there are two vaults in the building, but only the one in which there was money was opened.

The cash box containing the money was to the front of the vault. Township Treasurer Clarence Ouellette explained, and for this reason it is believed that somebody must have had to actually enter the vault to obtain the box. This theory was strengthened by discovery of woollen hairs on the bricks, as if somebody found it a rather tight squeeze.

CAR HITS 5 BOYS ONE KILLED, 2 HURT

No Negligence On Driver's Part Say Police Of Crash In Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP) — Condition of Douglas Mundell and Jack Wilson, two Mount Hamilton boys injured last night when a car driven by William A. Forrest, Hamilton, struck a group of five boys walking along Gage avenue road, was fair today.

Philip New, 11, was killed in the mishap. Douglas Mundell has head injuries with possibility of a fractured skull and Jack Wilson, who besides head injuries, has a serious compound fracture of the leg. Wilson's condition was worse and officials of the Children's Aid Society, of whom the lad is a ward, arranged for blood transfusions in an effort to save his life.

Inspector Moore of the Provincial Police announced today that investigation of the accident had shown that there was no criminal negligence on the part of the driver and no charge had been laid. An inquest, however, will be held.

$1,000,000 LESS RELIEF

Believe Reduction in Toronto Will Run About Same as in 1936

TORONTO, Jan. 6—(C.P.).—The Ontario Government grant to Toronto for relief in 1937 will be reduced by approximately $1,000,000, it was learned from an authoritative source to-day.

Government relief officials have not completed estimates concerning contributions to Toronto and other northern municipalities, but it was estimated the reduction for Toronto will be about the same as in 1936 when provincial grants were $910,000 lower than in 1935.

Reduction in relief population due to increased employment was given as the reason for the reduction.

Pet Dog Is Located At C.P.R. Station

IMPATIENT to be re-united with her aged master, to whom she is devoted, "Flossie," the pet dog owned by Robert Beverley, aged 96 years, of Guelph, is safe and sound in the baggage room at the C.P.R. Station here. She is to be forwarded on to Mountain Grove, where her master awaits her arrival on Thursday morning.

En route from Guelph to Mountain Grove last Monday night the aged traveller expressed the intention of breaking his journey at Peterborough, according to the C.P.R. agent here, and for that reason his dog was put off here.

Evidently changing his mind, the old gentleman proceeded straight through to Mountain Grove, where he is going on a visit, and thus dog and master became temporarily parted.

MILLAR WILL SPLIT GOVERNMENT'S AIM

Unlikely To Step In If Several Mothers Share The $500,000

TORONTO, Jan. 6. — (CP).—Should court rulings result in distribution of the $500,000 Charles Vance Millar estate to several "stork derby" mothers, the Ontario government is unlikely to take a hand in directing where the money shall go, it was learned to-day.

While Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck said he would study the situation before the Legislature meets January 19, he would not comment on the possibility of the government stepping aside to allow distribution of the Millar estate outside its jurisdiction.

It was learned, however, that the government would consider to purpose accomplished if the courts decide leading mothers in the 10-year race, which ended October 31, 1936, were tied and divided the fortune among them. Premier Mitchell Hepburn has said several times he was opposed to one mother obtaining all the money.

Last Minute News Flashes

TORONTO — Premier Mitchell Hepburn called a special meeting of the Ontario cabinet for late this afternoon to consider an "important," but undisclosed, matter. The meeting was called following the Premier's visit to Government House where he held lengthy discussion with Lieut.-Governor H. A. Bruce on "affairs of state."

LUNCHEON GIVEN BY NEW ALDERMAN TO CITY COUNCIL

Four Members Accept Invitation Of Alderman-Elect Gordon

PRESS NOT INCLUDED

Four of the members of the city council of 1937 accepted the invitation of Alderman-elect Hon. G. N Gordon, K. C., to be his guests at luncheon today at the White House. They were Alderman Cotton, Hamilton, Wilson and Sloan.

The absentees who sent their regrets that they could not attend were Mayor Macdonald, Aldermen Stocker, Juby, Glover, McIntyre and Dutton.

As the press was not included in the invitation list it was learned that Alderman Gordon intimated in his letters of invitation that the dinner would provide an occasion for the discussion of matters of interest to the council prior to the inaugural meeting of next Monday. One of the questions, it was stated, was the appointment of the standing committees for the year with the chairmen of the respective committees.

Several of the members who were not present were asked by The Examiner to comment on their absence, but they declined to make any statement for publication.

Too Busy To Picket Says Mrs. Roosevelt

Washington, Jan. 6. (AP)

MRS. Franklin D. Roosevelt disclosed yesterday her new membership in the New York Newspaper Guild had strings tied to it.

The wife of the United States President told a press conference that before joining she pointed out to guild members that she would not have time to attend meetings and could not strike. She explained she could not picket for the present.

DR. J. J. CRAIG HAS RESIGNED HIS SEAT ON SCHOOL BOARD

Incoming Board Which Meets Thursday Has Authority To Fill Vacancy

COMES AS SURPRISE

With a year of his term uncompleted Dr. J. J. Craig on Tuesday evening introduced a distinct element of surprise into the final meeting of the 1936 Board of Education by announcing his resignation after thirteen consecutive years of service.

Dr. Craig's resignation tendered for personal reasons, chief of which he stated was pressure of business, was accepted with expression of sincere regret from the chair on motion of Mrs. W. R. Morris, seconded by D. H. Melton.

Mrs. Morris, senior member of the Board in point of service, loath to see Dr. Craig resign hesitated to make her motion and said she did so only upon realizing that her fellow trustee was firm in his resolve to [illegible]. She joined with other members of the Board in expressing her regret at Dr. Craig's resignation.

Tendered in Writing

First knowledge of the matter came to attention of the Board in a letter read by Secretary G. H. Thompson towards the close of the meeting. Just previously Harold G. Walker, who was defeated at the polls on New Year's Day, had made his valedictory speech to the Board, in which he expressed his appreciation of the cooperation he had received during his term, and especially in connection with his chairmanship of the property committee.

On behalf of the Board, Dr. A. Moir as chairman, voiced appreciation of Mr. Walker's outstanding services and while regretting that he had been defeated at the polls hoped that at some future time he might see fit to seek re-election.

Mrs. Morris, member of the Board for 14 years, lauded Mr. Walker's services and referred to "the particularly valuable service he gave as chairman of the property committee."

Comes as Surprise

Then when it appeared as if the business of the 1936 Board was completed came Dr. Craig's resignation for consideration. Commenting on the letter that was read by the secretary, Dr. A. Moir observed that Dr. Craig had been very modest about himself, but he wished to declare publicly that Dr. Craig rendered invaluable service during his long

Sails From New York Full of War Materials Before Congress Acts

Leaves With 8 Planes Unlashed On Deck In Haste To Escape Ban

Washington Hopes To Block $7,000,000 In Munitions Under 4,205 Licenses Before Night

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Spanish freighter Mar Cantabrico sailed for Cartagena, Spain today, winning her race to leave the United States with war materials for Spain before new embargo legislation is passed in Congress.

The vessel got away from her dock in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn with such haste that none of the eight crated airplanes on her decks were lashed down. In her holds was a huge amount of war material, foodstuffs and medicines for the loyalist forces in Spain.

Expect Ban By Night.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP).—The United States' Congress swept to-day toward passage by nightfall of a ban on shipment of $7,000,000 of munitions to the Spanish government.

Hearing the admonition of Foreign Relations Committee Chairman, Senator Pittman (D., Nev.), to "think of our own peace," the Senate agreed to return to work on the emergency measure as soon as President Roosevelt finished delivering his annual message.

The House also prepared for immediate action on the embargo resolution, Majority Leader Rayburn announcing he would seek consideration of it when the executive message was finished.

In introducing the measure prohibiting shipments to Spain, Pittman asserted it would not constitute indirect aid to the insurgent forces.

"No one knows," he said, "which faction would receive two consignments of munitions for which the State Department has issued permits—against its will—for shipment to Spain.

While Pittman spoke in the Senate, the National Munitions Control Board reported that arms valued at $36,568,732 had been shipped from this country from November 6, 1935 to November 20, 1936.

In a lengthy detailed report to Congress, the Board disclosed 4,-205 licenses to export munitions had been issued to 491,000 persons and corporations.

FLU CLAIMS 108 MOUNTAIN STATES

20,000 Cases In Denver Alone With City Schools Closed

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Deaths from influenza-pneumonia mounted to 108 today in the Rocky Mountain states. Carl P. Schwalb, Denver health manager, estimated there were "at least 20,000 cases" in Denver—one out of every 15 inhabitants. He said deaths totalled 78 for the epidemic to date.

At Billings, Mont., Dr. Eri M. Farr, county physician, said 8,000 persons —a fifth of the city's population— had contracted flu. He reported six recent deaths.

Denver schools remained closed after the holidays and the General Hospital here has been turned over to influenza cases exclusively.

ONE WHOLESALE MART

Committee Suggests One Distribution Point Only For Toronto and District.

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—(CP).—Appointed to inquire into marketing conditions in Toronto, a committee under the chairmanship of Paul A. Fisher recommends in its report establishment of one wholesale market for the city and district, managed by a body chosen by growers, wholesalers, retailers and consumers.

Ontario vegetable and fruit associations appointed the investigating committee at the request of Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, and it found improved conditions could be obtained by placing all wholesale business in one market.

Cold Victim Who Goes To Work No Hero, But Menace To Society

Windsor Doctor Holds Best Combat Method Is For All Sufferers To Stay in Bed

DISEASE SPREADING

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 6—(C.P.)—The man who goes to work as usual when attacked by a cold is not a hero, but a menace to society, Dr. Fred Adams, Medical Officer of Health, said to-day in commenting on the increasing prevalence of colds and a mild form of influenza in the city.

As doctors throughout the city reported an unusual number of flu victims, even for this time of the year, the Medical Health Officer advised the best way to combat the spread of this disease is for all sufferers to get to bed.

"It's not a question," Dr. Adams said, "of what is good for the individual, "it's a question of what's good for the community."

England Fears Flu May Spread To Fleet

London, Jan. 6 (A.P.).

NAVAL authorities, indicating concern lest influenza, widespread in England, strike hard within the Fleet, issued a warning last night to sailors on shore leave to avoid crowds. The disease has spread more rapidly than any which has hit England in recent years, becoming general within two weeks. Thus far it has caused comparatively few deaths.

FRENCH TROOPS MAY BE SENT INTO PYRENEES

Uneasy Over Unguarded Frontier With Large German Army In Spain

CONFERS WITH BRITAIN

Anglo - French Blockade Of Spanish Coast Seen If German, Italian Replies Evasive

PARIS, Jan. 6 (CP)—France was reported today considering the dispatch of troops to the Pyrenees Mountains to guard her undefended Spanish frontier against the implied threat of massed German volunteers in Spain.

A source close to the foreign ministry, according to the Associated Press, said the French and British general staffs likely would confer immediately on British "preparedness" to aid France in event the troop movement is ordered.

First steps to work out such a program were said to have been taken in a conference between British War Secretary Alfred Duff Cooper and Edouard Daladier, Minister of Defence, Monday night.

The conference gave rise to reports today that if German and Italian replies to the British demand for a non-intervention answer are unfavorable, France and Great Britain would order a naval blockade of the Spanish coast to enforce strict neutrality.

The Havas News Agency said Britain had sounded out the French government on a plan for establishing such an Anglo-French blockade.

The Communist newspaper L'Humanite indicated the reported British proposal had been submitted to Daladier by Duff Cooper during the latter's visit to the French capital.

The consequences of a German military invasion of the Iberian Peninsual comprised the principal subject of discussion between the French and British ministers, the Communist organ said.

Press Favors Blockade?

"We would like to believe information reaching us saying that Duff Cooper had met with Daladier on the consequences of a German military invasion of the peninsula," L'Humanite said. "We would like to believe that the British cabinet envisages a Franco-British blockade of the Iberian coast."

Genevieve Tabouis in l'Oeuvre said the British foreign office and admiralty were supporting the plan for an Anglo-French blockade. She said, however, that France would take no action on the reported suggestion until tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

Andre Francois-Poncet, French ambassador to Germany, was expected to arrive here from Berlin tonight for an important conference with Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos on the Spanish situation.

Portugal's reply to the Franco-British notes appealing for a halt on sending "volunteers" to Spain was received at the Quai D'Orsay late yesterday an informed source said the answer was "temporizing."

Portugal, the only one of the Fascist bloc of nations to have answered, was said to have raised a number of objections without flatly rejecting the plan.

NEW LOW SET UP ON ONTARIO LOAN

Twenty Million Issue Goes At Two And Half And Three Per Cent.

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (C.P.). — Second $20,000,000 Province of Ontario loan to be sold in 20 days was floated, according to Treasury Department officials, at exceptionally low-cost basis. Announcement of the sale of the issue was made last night.

Proceeds will be used for refunding purposes and the issue includes 2½ per cent. and 3 per cent. serial debentures. It is the first serial issue sold by the Ontario Government since it came into power in 1934. First maturity to be refunded, it was stated, bears interest at 4 per cent and falls due January 16.

Officials said operations were completed at "a new low cost basis on this type of financing in Canada." The 2½ per cent. maturities were sold at 98.66 and the rest at 98.52. Debentures of the new issue mature each year from 1943 to 1962 and the first five maturities bear 2¼ per cent. coupons, the remainder 3 per cent. coupons.

The syndicate which handled the first $20,000,000 loan, a 3½ per cent. 15-year issue, purchased the latest flotation. In incdes Wood, Gundy and Company, A. E. Ames and Company Limited, Dominion Securities Corporation, Royal Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

In announcing the loan, Treasury Department heads stated gross ordinary revenue of the province for the first eight months of the current fiscal year increased by $12,113,373 compared to the same period in the previous fiscal year. Gross ordinary expenditures, including relief and sinking fund, dropped $3,413,093, making a net improvement of $15,526,466.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—,

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

4 NAZI WARSHIPS PATROL OFF SPAIN

Two More To Be Dispatched As Denial To Reports Watch May Be Slackened

BERLIN, Jan. 6 (AP)—Germany has no intention of abandoning her patrol of Spanish waters, it was indicated today, although she has marked the Spanish government's seizure of the freighter Palos a closed incident.

The pocket battleship Admiral Scheer and the cruiser Nuremberg were prepared to sail for Mlei, it was learned, to relieve two of the warships now in the Bay of Biscay to prevent "acts of piracy" on German merchantmen.

The government has determined to regard the Palos affair as ended, informed circles said, regardless of the Spanish government's refusal to heed a German demand to release the cargo of the Palos and a captured Spanish passenger by 8 a.m., Friday.

Germany is determined to proceed with her announced intention of handing over to the insurgent Junta of General Francisco Franco two Spanish merchantmen it holds in retaliation.

There will be no further reprisals in the Palos affair, it was stated, and Foreign Minister Konstantin Von Neurath was thought to have obtained assurances the Spanish government would refrain from further German ship seizures.

Naval authorities disclosed their patrol in Spanish waters is formed by the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee and the cruisers Koenigsberg, Koelln and Karlsruhe.

The ministry of propaganda reasserted the capture of the Spanish freighter Aragon was made by the Admiral Graf Spee and not the Scheer as it had erroneously corrected a previous announcement to read.

PROBE IN DEATHS OF 3 INDIAN BOYS

Jury Urges Excessive Corporal Punishment If Practiced At School Be Ended

VICTORIA, Jan. 6—(C.P.).—Officials of the Indian Office here awaited a full report to-day upon circumstances surrounding the deaths of four Indian boys who ran away from the Lejac Indian school to die of cold and exposure on the icy shore of Lake Fraser.

Indian authorities acted swiftly upon receipt of a report from Vanderhoof, 30 miles from Prince George in the central interior of British Columbia, that a coroner's jury investigating the deaths had recommended in a rider to their verdict that "excessive corporal discipline, if in practice" at the school, should be curtailed.

The jury found that death was "unavoidable" considering the bitter cold into which the boys trekked, coatless and clad in light clothing. They also expressed the opinion officials at the Lejac institution should have taken "more definite action" when they noticed the boys had left the school to tramp across Fraser Lake to the Indian Reservation at Nautley.

The boys, huddled together on the frozen slush ice of the lake, were found three quarters of a mile from the reservation Saturday night. All were less than 10 years old.

FOUL PLAY HINTED IN WINDSOR DEATH

Police Investigate After Aged Man Dies From Blow On Head

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 6 (CP)—Mystery surrounding the death of Robert Charles Thrasher, 73-year-old Sandwich East Township resident, continued today as Provincial Police announced they would continue to investigate.

A coroner's jury last night delivered a verdict that Thrasher came to his death Christmas Day from a blow on the head with some instrument in the hands of a person or persons unknown.

Thrasher died in hospital here several hours after he was found lying in a pool of blood at the bottom of the porch steps of his home by his widow and son John, on their return home from midnight mass.

Dr. Paul Poisson, Windsor, who conducted a post mortem, said Thrasher would probably have lived if he had been taken to hospital sooner. The jury said immediate cause of death was hemmorrhage of the brain.

The jury's conclusion that a blow on the head resulted in the fatal hemmorhage was reached from evidence submitted by Dr. Poisson, who held against a theory Thrasher's injury might have been caused by a fall. Dr. Poisson also remarked there was evidence of a "bluish swelling" on both the dead man's fists, which might indicate he had been involved in a fight.

SUBTERRANEAN STUDIOS

Broadcast Air Raid Warnings During Time of War

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The British Broadcasting Corporation was reported last night to be planning construction of subterranean studios near London for use in the event of war.

The studios would be used to broadcast air raid warnings and official bulletins. It was said the company has already begun to acquire land near the capital for construction of the stations.

Lt.-Col. Ronald Stafford, appointed "to perfect measures to assure the functioning of the B.B.C. in wartime," was understood to be behind the plan. It is part of the government's general preparedness program.

THE BLOODHOUNDS BAY

by Walter S. Masterman

CHAPTER 31

REID WAS lying on a couch, and as his eyes opened he saw, as in a dream, a man with his back to him wringing out a blood-stained towel in a basin. The room seemed strangely familiar, and he gradually recalled the appearance of the place. Then full recollection came back and he knew he was in his cottage. It all seemed strange. He tried to move and a deadly pain shot through him, causing him to give a gasp.

The man at the table turned, and Reid recognized dimly, as in a dream, the face of Selden. He wanted to laugh, it was so funny.

Selden came and knelt by his side. "Thank goodness! You've had a close call; you must be made of iron."

"You saved my life," Reid gasped feebly.

"Only just in time. My word, those brutes nearly had you!"

"But how did you get there?"

Selden took his wrist in his finger and thumb and felt the pulse. "You'll do," he said cheerfully; "but no questions now, and no talking. I've bound you up as well as I can, having taken the liberty of tearing one of your sheets into strips; I've had experience in first aid. Lie still now. You'll have to have a proper doctor."

"Nonsense, Selden." He moved his arm stiffly and it caused excruciating pain, but there were no bones broken, thank goodness. He was lying wrapped in a blanket, and his tattered clothes bloodstained and saturated lay in a heap on the floor.

Suddenly he sat up and seized Selden's arm. "Man, I can't stay here—the light—I must go!"

"You don't understand—I'm not raving. Sylvia—Miss Lawrence put a light in her window, and that was the sign that danger threatened. I must go."

Selden smiled. "Not like that. But are you serious?"

"Deadly so. I was detained at the Colonel's house and escaped, but the devil set his hounds on me."

"I thought as much," Selden said quietly, but his face was grimly set. "That will have to wait, like other things; but tell me about the light."

His face was grave. "I saw the light, but could not guess the meaning, of course. You can't possibly move from here. Why, those brutes have bitten you almost to the bone in your arm and leg."

Reid made an effort to rise, but sank back with a groan.

Selden patted him gently. "I know what you fell like—it's maddening; but, my dear fellow, you can't do impossibilities."

"Of course they do, and I've cauterized them. I always make a point of carrying a first aid outfit. I don't want you to get hydrophobia."

Reid sank back, sick and giddy, and a groan he could not suppress broke from him.

"I must go—that is if you think you can be left," Selden said.

"Never mind me. I should only be a hindrance in my state. Yes, you must go."

"How did you propose to get in touch with Miss Lawrence?" Selden purposely moved to the table as he spoke, and replaced the articles he had taken from his first aid dressing case. "I can't very well go to the front door and arouse them with my ring," he added.

Reid remained silent. To tell Selden meant revealing a secret that might place his life in jeopardy, but without that secret Selden could not get into the house. He heard the other speaking in a half joking manner.

"Had you arranged to swim the lake, like Leander, and was Hero going to lower a rope?"

"No, Selden, I have a means of getting into the house, I must tell you, though it may lead to your having suspicions of me."

"Perhaps," Selden said slowly, "I know more than you think, Reid, tell me as a friend, not as a detective. I promise to respect your confidence."

In spite of the tight grip Reid was holding over himself, something like a sob escaped him. "You're a white man, Selden," he gasped.

"Your're very weak, old fellow. Lie still while I'm gone, and I will leave you my automatic—no, you must have it," he urged as the other made a gesture of protest. "I shall manage."

Time pressed, they both knew it, and there was no opportunity for explanations. Reid told Selden about the cellar and the loose bars, and Selden needed no coaching.

He rose to his feet. "I don't like leaving you, but this matter must be investigated. I can't understand the light burning all this time. It seems to indicate that Miss Lawrence, though perhaps in danger, has not been more than that."

"Find out—that's a good fellow," Reid said urgently.

"I'll go at once."

"I won't keep you, but tell me one thing—I shall only worry—how did you come back from London at that very time—in the nick of time for me?"

Selden laughed. "It's a long story. I will tell you tomorrow, but I will leave you this: I have never left the village at all, except to go to London to get some clothes."

"Good lord."

"No more now," Selden said, laughing. "Lock the door behind me if you can manage it, and I've left the flash if you feel faint." He closed the door behind him and went out into the storm.

Selden followed the track through the woods, partly for the shelter it afforded, and because he knew this would bring him out on the lake side.

Once there he followed the edge till he stood exactly opposite the place indicated by Reid. The light still burnt steadily in the window, calmly and reassuringly.

The water into which he slipped quietly was not cold, for this storm had succeeded a long period of hot weather. He swam steadily across and reached the dark walls of the Abbey that rose straight and grim from the water. Feeling his way carefully he came to the cellar window and removed the bars.

Reid's directions had been plain, and Selden was quick in taking instructions. He emerged, dripping, into the corridor. Everything was absolutely quiet, and he wondered whether either Reid or Sylvia had gone wrong about the signal. He stole up the stairs, but the groaning of the old place and the fierceness of the storm drowned any slight sounds, and he found himself outside the door that Reid had told him was Sylvia's sitting room, to which she had moved the children.

He opened the door softly and looked in. An electric reading lamp had been moved to the sill of one of the windows, and the light shone out over the lake. The window curtain had been pulled back over the light, and the room was in partial darkness, but there was sufficient to show that nothing had been disturbed. It was neat and orderly as Sylvia had left it when she had tidied up after the turbulent twins had gone to bed. Selden breathed a sigh of relief.

Sylvia's bedroom, he knew, opened on one side, and the children's on the other, the whole suite having in the old days been reserved for special visitors. Selden felt that his position was equivocal. It would have been in order for Reid to have come, after having agreed to do so, but he, Selden, had no status in the house, and there might be some difficulty in explaining his presence. It was, to say the least, unprofessional. But things had gone too far for hesitation, and he hoped that Sylvia, like a sensible girl, would not shriek if she saw him.

He opened the door on the right and peeped in. Not a sound greeted him, not even breathing. Sudden alarm seized him and he switched on the light. Two beds stood side by side, and each bed had been selpt in, the sheets and blankets had been turned back, and the marks of their heads on the pillows could be seen. They were nowhere in the room, but there were no marks of violence or disorder. For a moment he hoped that the children had gone to Sylvia's room, and he stole across the sitting room to the other bedroom.

Then he saw the door was not closed—in the half light he had not seen that. He pushed it gently open and crept in. Then he hurriedly switched on the light and stood gazing at the scene.

The room was empty, but clothes were lying about, hurriedly thrown down, and the place was in a state of riot, as though some wild romp had taken place. Sylvia and the children were nowhere in the three rooms, nor in the bathroom.

Voter Scrawls "Nuts' Across Entire Ballot

MONTREAL, Jan. 5 (C.P.).—The voter in Notre Dame de Grace Ward didn't think much of any of the candidates. Tabulators in Montreal's current Mayoralty election recount found he's simply scrawled across the ballot: "Nuts."

The Central Methodist Church at Liversedge, England, recently honored Lewis Wood, who has been playing the organ there for 50 years.

Released By Hitler

Carried on shoulders of sympathizers, Lawrence Simpson, U.S. seaman imprisoned by the Nazis in Germany since June, 1935, for distributing communistic propaganda in the reich, responds to the cheers of friends on his return to New York. Simpson had been sentenced to three years' imprisonment at his trial last September when he admitted that he had smuggled anti-Nazi propaganda into the reich while a seaman on the American liner Manhattan. He was pardoned by Adolph Hitler.

GIRL LAYS CLAIM TO CHIEFTAINCY

16-Year-Old MacLean Lass If Victor Would Be First In Scottish History

EDINBURGH, Jan. 6 (CP Cable).—Sir Francis Grant, the Lord Lyon King of Arms, yesterday began hearing final arguments on the claim of Catriona Louise MacLean to the chieftaincy of the Clan MacLean of Ardgour.

The 16-year-old girl's claim is contested by her cousin, Lieut.-Commander Henry Hugh MacLean of Bursledon, Hampshire, male heir, who claims the chieftaincy passes at all events firstly to heirs male.

Should Miss MacLean win her case she would be the first girl chieftain in Highland history. Her claim is to the "undifferenced and principal armorial bearings" borne by her father, 16th laird and chieftain of Ardgour, the estates of which in Argyleshire total 40,000 acres. Miss MacLean will fall heir when she reaches the age of 21 or marries.

JANETVILLE Y.P.U. CHOOSES OFFICERS

Fireside Talk On Hudson By Norma Stacey Features Meeting

JANETVILLE, Jan. 6.—A special feature at the last meeting of the Young People's Union held in the United Church was the fireside talk by Miss Norma Stacey, who is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stacey, on Hudson where she is teaching school and which is two hundred miles east of Winnipeg. Miss Stacey gave a delightfully interesting account of the religious, business, educational and social activities of the town which in 1926 consisted of a railroad station and two shacks and is now, owing to the discovery of gold near that region, a thriving town of several hundred.

Miss Edna Robinson, literary convenor, presented the topic, "Looking Back on 1936," and Harold Bradburn provided two guitar selections which were very much appreciated.

The election of officers for the new year resulted as follows: President, Leonard McNeil; vice-president, Roy Marshall; secretary, Miss Isabel Marshall; corresponding secretary, Miss Myra McGill; treasurer, Mr. Percy Hamilton; pianists, Misses Bessie Howe and Verna Wright; Christian fellowship, Mrs. P. Hamilton and Miss Bessie Howe; missionary, Messrs. Victor Batherwick and Frank Russell; citizenship convenors, Jack Wiles and Roy Marshall; literary convenors, Misses Edna Robinson and Audrey McGill; recreation committee Misses I. McInnis, Dorothy McNeil, Muriel English and Harry Latham; social committee, Mrs. (Rev.) Wolfraim, Mrs. (Rev.) Walker and Mrs. Oswald McGill.

NEED NOT CARRY LIGHTS

LANSING, Mich.—Supreme Court here has ruled that small, hand-drawn express wagons need not carry tail-lights when being hauled along the streets. The ruling occurred in the case of Bernard Reetz versus Irving Schemansky, in which the plaintiff won $1,000 judgment for injuries received when the defendant ran into the small express wagon he was pulling along a Detroit street. The defendant said that the wagon carried no tail-light.

50th Anniversary Reception on Tuesday.

The spacious rooms of the handsome West End residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Patterson of Hunter street west were filled with flowers for the observance on Tuesday of the Golden Jubilee of their wedding. The array of flowers was simply gorgeous, the roses alone counting up into many scores. Most of them were of the golden-pink Talisman variety which is so much admired, and later, when the supply in town evidently diminished, so great was the demand by the friends who wished to send evidences of their regard, other yellow roses appeared, along with tea roses and daffodils and iris lilies, all in golden tints.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, both of whom have been ill intermittently for some time past, were unaware of the celebration planned by the members of their family, until yesterday. They were delighted to receive so many of their friends, numbering well over one hundred and twenty-five, during the evening hours, and enjoyed thoroughly the many messages received from local and out-of-town friends, including a call from their son Harold, in Schenectady, who was unable to be present and from friends in Florida. They received lovely gifts also, many in gold, and each member of the family gave an individual remembrance to the parents. Sons present were Frank, James and Gerald Patterson, all of Peterborough, with their wives (Mrs. Gerald Patterson, who is ill, was unable to be present), and their three daughters were with them: Mrs. H. E. Cassan of Lansdowne street, and the Misses Mabel and Grace Patterson, at home, also their grandchildren, and Mrs. Patterson's sister, Miss H. Dillon of Kingston.

The Peterborough Club, of which Mr. Patterson has been a member for many years, sent a gold cigarette case and a beautiful bouquet of golden roses, and former associates in the Canadian General Electric Company, of which Mr. Patterson was local superintendent for so long, remembered him with fifty yellow roses.

The dining-room, where refreshments were served, was also filled with fragrant blossoms on the table, buffet and serving tables. A central basket rested on the lace d'oyley which centered the polished wood. Along with individual bud vases, it was filled with golden Talisman roses. There were yellow candles in silver holders, a large silver Sheffield tray, and gold china for sandwiches and cakes. Messrs. Hooper's catered.

Coffee was poured by Mrs. James Patterson and Mrs. H. E. Cassan. Assistants were Mrs. Frank Patterson and the Misses Mabel and Grace Patterson.

New Year's Party at St. John's.

A gay New Year party and dance was held on Tuesday evening, when the members of the Boys' Junior Bible Class of St. John's Church entertained their friends at a pleasant gathering which began with a banquet held in the parish hall at tables decorated very tastefully, with the bright red of the Yuletide season predominating in the candles the holly wreaths and the Christmas crackers which adorned the board.

Approximately eighty-five people were present, including the Rev. W. P. Robertson and the Rev. R. T. F. Brain. H. Chate, leader of the class, presided. Arrangements were in charge of a capable corps of ladies, directed by Mrs. Chate.

An honored guest of the evening was Miss Dorothy Lacey, who has been ill for the past year.

The congratulations of the class members to their leader, H. Chate, on the occasion of his birthday anniversary yesterday, were extended by Roy Pitchford. A flash of the gathering was taken by Roy Studio.

Later, dancing and games were enjoyed, to music played by Reg Dyer and his orchestra. Each guest was presented with a favor.

Those present included the Rev. W. P. Robertson, the Rev. R. T. F. Brain, Meedames L. H. Deyman, H. Chate, H. Howard, W. McWilliams, R. Ross, M. Baritrop, C. Coleman, A. Bacon;

The Misses G. Marshall, H. Morrow, D. Williams, E. Smith, M. Lorne, P. Pink, J. Shurety, V. Barnes, H. Johnson, E. Gynane, J. Lush, H. Ephgrave, M. Mycroft, N. Ray, J. Reynolds, A. E. Milburn, J. Young, A. Sisson, M. Rea, D. Lacey, C. Delorme, K. Lacey, L. Bacon, J. Williams, M. Andrews, G. Williams, E. Clarke, A. Gates, A. Soulby, J. James;

Messrs. M. Legros, V. Chate, W. Harris, W. Hewett, A. Pritchard, V. H. Howard, H. Merrett, H. Hood, A. Bacon, F. Hooper, L. Galley, P. Demos, V. Coleman, A. Stephan, R. Pitchford, W. Gynane, J. Lorne, A. Pink, C. Jeffries, W. Hewitt, N. Orbell, F. Pammett, G. Clegg, A. Chivas, H. Chate, G. Young, N. Chate, K. Baritrop. The orchestra was comprised of Messrs. Reg Dyer, W. Farr, A. Marshall and E. Suddards.

Fashion Service

Here's a soft high throatline black crepe dress that is intended especially to flatter the mature figure. The little cut out V-opening is the thing that does the trick.

The pointed bodice detracts from undue breadth through the waistline area. The sleeves have just enough shoulder fulness. They may be short if you like. At the front of the skirt, there's a length-giving panel that is grand for the fuller figure. The hem has graceful fulness.

This lovely basic dress is so simple to sew. It's inexpensive, too. It takes only 4¼ yards of 39-inch material for the 36-inch size.

Style No. 3250 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50-inches bust.

F. H. Dearborn's room had the most mothers present at the meeting.

BURIED IN SNOW SLIDE

Man Narrowly Escapes Death in Rocky Mountain Slide

GALT, Ont., Jan. 6—(C.P.)—W. J. Brown of Preston has received word that his son, Robert, who was born in Hespeler, escaped death recently in a snow slide in a British Columbia Mountain pass where he was working as a "trouble shooter" on telegraph lines. The slide occurred on the Kettle Valley Railway, a Canadian Pacific subsidiary. Brown was buried to the armpits when caught in a whirling mass of snow.

Yugoslavia will greatly increase its cotton growing area.

Weddings

LAWSON—GRANT

NORHAM, Jan. 6.—A quiet wedding of local interest took place at St. Andrew's Presbyterian manse, Cobourg on Saturday, January 2, when Janetta May (Maisie) Grant second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grant of Norham was united in marriage to Dr. Frederick Samuel Lawson of Woodstock. Rev. J. B. Rhodes, M.A. was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was attractively gowned in rust crepe with matching hat and brown accessories. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth (Bess) Grant in a becoming wine costume. Mr. Thomas Phillips attended the groom.

Following the ceremony the bridal party returned to the bride's home where a sumptuous repast was served, after which the bride and groom left by motor for a short honeymoon. The happy couple will reside in Woodstock.

INDUSTRIOUS FARMER

Moon Came Out Brightly So Farmer Decided to Plow.

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 6.—(CP).—B. G. Palmer of Norwich district near here probably deserves the title of "most industrious farmer in Ontario."

When the moon came out bright the other night he decided it was light enough out to finish a bit of plowing he had started. He worked with tractor and three-furrowed plow until an hour before daylight.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

YOU may have some weak streak which causes you to do extremely foolish things without realizing it, but you can remedy this. The great trouble is that we are unconscious of our weaknesses. We cannot see ourselves as others see us, and some good friend, even though it pains and humiliates us fearfully, can help us wonderfully by holding up the mirror. —O. S. Marsden.

Dear Friends:

Did you ever search for the weak streak in yourself? Or have you asked for the candid truth from a friend, and then resented it?

Until we know our weakness, how can we learn to be strong, how can we go ahead as we should with that thing in our makeup holding us back, when if we really knew it, we could do wonders.

I have found in myself, that one of my weaknesses is crossing my bridges before I come to them, of taking life too seriously, of not alone carrying my own burden, but carrying those of other people, and none of these things have done me much good.

My good doctor once said to me, "If I could only get you hard-boiled, or show you how much harm you are doing to yourself by thinking too much of the other fellow's suffering, if I could teach you to try and do your part, and let the others do theirs, then you would forge right ahead." And so I am trying to learn this hardest of all lessons, for when a thing seems to be part of your makeup, when you have done it for years, it is very hard to alter.

And oh, how it has held me back. How it has darkened the days for me, how it has weakened me so I got every cold that was going around, and a lot of other things that no one else got in the way of sickness.

There is a sensitiveness that is a positive drawback, for you not only suffer your own troubles, but you also suffer the ones of those who caused these troubles, so you get it coming and going, and it can make life very miserable for you.

You may have common sense, or ability, you may have read and studied, and yet this weakness can take all the joy out of life from you, make you lose confidence in your own judgment, keep you from mingling with other people, make you retire into your shell, give you a sense of inferiority, and what good does it do you or anyone else?

No matter how much you care for other people, you can not live their life for them, and when you try you only come a cropper. You get no thanks, for they will live their own lives in spite of all you may say or do, and so, letting yourself be blue, or despairing is only harming yourself, and how well I know it.

Many's the time I have worried about others, and found while I was going through agonies of mind about them, they were off having a good time. What I never will be able to understand is, why should some feel such a sense of responsibility to others, while these same others feel no responsibility towards them?

And so, I am trying to rid myself of this weakness of mine which has held me back so much, and has caused me such acute suffering. Our Lord said, "I would have saved ye but ye would not," and we in our own lives would vase others from the consequences of their own folly, but they will not let us.

So, all we can do is to let them go their own way, and maybe bitter experience will teach them, where all our help was of no avail. The tragedy is, that they rarely suffer alone but those who tried so hard to help them suffer also, sometimes much more than the ones who were so determined to go their own way regardless of consequences.

Too much unselfishness can be a big drawback, and hurts the giver most, because all they get in return is the knowledge that the ones they used it for, think only of themselves. Our Lord said also, "cast not your pearls before swine," so let us remember to live our own lives, and let the other fellow live his, and if suffering comes to them because they would not listen, it is too bad, but that may be the way they have to learn.

Some choose the hard way of living and make it harder for those who love them, but we should strengthen our weakness and not make it harder for ourselves. I could go on and on, and may do so later.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Exploiting the Unemployed

Two relief recipients in Toronto set themselves up in business by taking contracts to wash windows in school houses. They secured the work from janitors, some of whom do their work by contract. The new business men stipulated they would hire only unemployed men and were ready to pay them 16¼ cents per hour.

When Welfare Commissioner Lavery heard of the scheme he immediately took the names of all those concerned off the relief lists, explaining the relief department was not allowed to subsidize employment of relief recipients receiving abnormally low rates of pay. The contract called for paying 10 cents per window, and the men who were going to do the work were to receive 6½ cents per window, or approximately 16¼ cents per hour. If they worked a full week of 48 hours the washers would receive $7.80, and apparently they were expected to supplement this by what they might receive from the Welfare department.

We do not believe that is the way out. Plainly the idea was to use the men on relief so the contractor could make something like a 35 per cent. profit on their work while they were also getting relief, and desirable as work is that is not the way to operate things. A good many people and a good many concerns have fallen into the evil way of taking it for granted that because there is a surplus of labor offering at the moment the price must of necessity come down to a point which is below a living wage. When a relief office refuses to allow itself to be exploited for any such purpose it is doing exactly what a relief office should do. More people working for living wages is the one sure way out of the depression and all its effects.

Might Try Silence

Chaplain C. H. D. Grimes, rector of the English church in Vienna, has been asked why he allowed the Duke of Windsor to read a Christmas Scripture lesson from the lectern. The anwer of the rector appears to be simple enough. The Duke himself suggested that he would like to do so, and the rector says he was pleased the former King was so interested in the service.

It might be well if some of those folk who consider themselves so constituted that they can question the comings and goings of all people on earth to realize the time has arrived to allow a little much-desired silence play its part in their daily programmes.

Truth is there was something in the attitude of the Duke of Windsor which most people admired. When he left his home just before the Christmas season he did not leave all to which he had been accustomed. When the Christmas season opened he went to the church of his choice in a strange land; he caused it to be known he would be willing to participate in the service; and all he did was to read a lesson which was appropriate for the season. Those who seek to question the motive or the propriety of such an action are bent on a mild form of petty prosecution. Nothing else.

Popular With Farmers

No matter what may be said about the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act it is plain as a pikestaff that farmers have gone for it as a sinking man for a life-line. The Act has been in operation for a year and a half and in that period:—

Over $150,000,000 of farmers' debts have been involved in proceedings.

Cases already dealt with represent $90,000,000.

Debt adjustments have been made to the extent of $30,000,000.

The annual cut-down in interest totals at least $2,500,000.

Many cases have revealed what is termed "outrageous pressure" on the part of exacting creditors dealing with hard-up farmers.

The Act was framed in the first place to assist farmers in the drought area of the West, but Ontario and Quebec have provided the most cases. The record is this:

Ontario	6,495	Alberta	3,181
Quebec	5,057	Manitoba	2,768
Saskatchewan	4,338	Br. Columbia	479

The Maritime provinces have not figured in the totals to any extent. There are a few applications from New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, but none at all from Nova Scotia.

The Little Tree Came to Town

There was a little Christmas tree standing at a rakish angle against the garbage can. Perhaps that is not what is called a scoop as far as news is concerned, because the same thing might have been seen on many streets in many cities. But for the moment we deal with this one tree. There was a bit of tinsel left in it and one stray bit of red paper. It had seen all there was to be seen of the gay Christmas season and it had been permitted to remain standing over the New Year festivities, and then its days were through. It had twinkled and glittered for a season. And then it stood tilted sadly against the garbage can. It will be consumed with fire and be no more forever.

Possibly that bit of a tree was glad enough when it was selected as one which should go to town at the gay season. It may have grown weary of standing in one place year in and year out, and life may have been dull on the strip of land from which it came. We have heard of people who feel the same way. They long for the bright lights and the tinsel of our civilization.

This bit of a tree made quite a hit when first it arrived. People welcomed it; they took it right into the home and gave it a preferred place. Upon it they strung lights which were gay indeed; and on its limbs they placed toys and presents and tinsel and red and green drapings. The little tree was right in the centre of everything, and it had more attention paid to it in a few days than it had received in all its life spent out in the bush. (Some people have had similar experience.)

The little tree may have thought the struggling days were over as far as it was concerned. No more would it have to stand up against the north wind nor would it have to resist or struggle. All was warm and bright and very gay. But today we saw it standing against the garbage can and it was not standing up very straight either. The health had not gone from it but the spirit of dejection seemed to camp all over it. It was just waiting for the garbage man to come.

Our Maturing Debentures

At the time of the municipal election the claim was made by several speakers that the debt of the city should be refinanced at 2½ per cent. The method by which such a change could be made has never been fully stated. The city could not within its own powers begin to pay say 50 per cent. of its debenture obligation. When a debenture is issued it is an agreement with an individual that he will loan money to the city at a certain rate of interest for a specified length of time, and we believe the honorable thing is to observe such an agreement. It would be desirable in many ways if our money rates were more flexible, but at present they are not. If our debentures had been issued with a clause saying they could be called in and reissued at the end of five or ten years, then the way would be open to take full advantage of present lowered money rates.

Within a few years there will be a decided reduction in the debenture debt of this city. According to the last auditor's report the debenture debt of the city stood at $4,674,836, and there was on hand in sinking funds an amount of $2,025,533. The debentures maturing within the next ten years are:

1938	190,789	1943	430,618
1939	337,381	1944	122,526
1940	491,019	1945	357,921
1941	302,865	1946	245,342

The total of the maturities given amounts to $2,735,275, so in the ten years to come there will be a satisfactory scaling down of the debenture debt. That is not a guarantee, however, that there will be a corresponding effect on the tax rate. For example: There was a debenture maturity of $156,487 in the year 1936, but in that amount there was $20,200 waterworks debentures and $7,000 gas works, and such items do not affect the tax rate as the debentures are cared for by the Utilities Commission. In the 1936 maturity there was $35,000 on public schools, and that would affect the supporters of those schools.

The policy of keeping away from the issuing of more debentures, and facing into years when the maturity of existing debentures is high is bound to have the effect of increasing the city's financial strength for the very sufficient reason that the city's obligations are being progressively lessened and new obligations are not being undertaken.

According to the long-time average in the auditor's report the year 1907 saw the greatest percentage of taxes collected, the figure being then 96.48. The year 1920 came close to making a similar record with a payment of 96.44 per cent, and in 1928 payments registered at the high point of 95.23 per cent. It is interesting if not pleasing to note how the percentage of paid taxes has decreased since then:

1930	91.98	1934	83.98
1931	90.59	1935	86.00

It may be the ratepayers of 1907 who hung up the high mark of 96.48 per cent. payment found it easier to pay because the taxes of that year were but $136,873 against a total of $928,905 in 1935.

The Boy Acted Wisely

Evidence was submitted in court at Wallaceburg in a case where two men were convicted of trying to steal turkeys from a farmer. Fred Lernhout, a young son of the farmer whose premises were about to be raided, was returning home after skating. He saw the car the men were using and noticed the lights were dimmed and then extinguished, after which in the light of early evening he could see shadows leaving the car. The boy went to the car and took off a license plate and also disconnected the wiring so the ignition would not work. The result was that the turkey raiders were caught.

That is what can well be called presence of mind. By taking the marker from the car the lad had made certain of its identification, and by interfering with the working of the ignition system had made it certain the men could not escape in the car. A boy of that type would probably be able to face an emergency without excitement and know the right thing to do.

NOTE AND COMMENT

What this country needs is some way of keeping those Western blizzards from straying off the home grounds.

St. Thomas Times-Journal exclaims "Long Live Prosperity!" It does look as though at long last Jumbo had a rival in that city.

A New York firm offers to train after-dinner speakers and it is to be hoped a considerable portion of the course will be to teaching the budding orators when to stop and sit down.

So many birds were sold here around Christmas and New Year's it is somewhat surprising to find there are enough live ones left to hold a poultry show.

This is quite a country. While the West has been digging itself out from a blizzard the firemen in Halifax have been called out to handle grass fires.

Belleville has elected a thirty-two year old mayor. The new chief magistrate is younger than some of the Belleville ball club.

The weatherman says the latest cold wave is to last two days and most folk are hoping that there will not be any hangover.

In Postmouth Reeve John Fisher was the pitcher who went too often to the well. He was beaten by seven votes after 31 years in the position.

The widow of Senator James Couzens, of Detroit, has been awarded an allowance of $25,000 a month which should pay the coal bills and leave a little over for general expenses.

Arnprior finds it a hard job to get anybody to accept the job of mayor. Possibly if the salary were raised a little there would be more citizens eager to serve.

The authorities seem to be having about as much trouble deciding just which slot machines are legal as the players are having in operating the machines to their own profit.

Canada had over 20 million pounds of creamery butter in storage on January 1st. And yet across hundreds of supper tables tonight dads will be shouting to their youngsters some thing about "going easy on that butter."

T. P. Lancaster, member for Peterborough county, is mentioned for the position of new whip of the Conservative party in the Legislature and the folk down this way are willing to assert that if the Havelock man should be given the job the work will be smoothly and efficiently done.

Webbwood in Northern Ontario has re-elected its woman mayor, Mrs. Barbara Hanley. The fair sex gets into the halls of parliament once in a while and sometimes even into the senate, but Mrs. Hanley is the only woman in Canada to be given the job of bossing a municipality.

One cannot complain of monotony in our Canadian climate. Eddie Cornell who farms on the Breslau Road in Waterloo county, plowed three acres of land for two days in succession at the New Year, and on the third day took his snow shovel and dug a path from the house to the barn.

THEY SCOFFED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Old Jonas Bones was crazy mad, they said so when I was a lad, the people all agreed; he had strange notions so they said, and he was leaking in the head, his brain had gone to seed.

¶ A swamp lay in the village then, a damp and dismal sort of glen, and it was never drained; and now and then the thing broke out, and flooded cellars all about, most every time it rained.

¶ Old Jonas Bones was reeve one year, he planned to make that swamp land clear, he called it a disgrace; he'd make a park, a playground there, have rows of posies bright and fair; 'twould be a resting place.

¶ The people in the village swore, that Jonas would be reeve no more, that was the voting cry; they said the tax bill soon would mount, and so they took old Jonas' count, the village passed him by.

¶ The swamp brought fever so 'twas said, and three folk in the place were dead, that raised a village cry; they'd have to do as Jonas wished, before more goodly folk were dished, they drained the swamp land dry.

¶ In summer children play in there, and aged men sniff evening air, at times they're moved to grieve; they know that Jonas Bones is dead, and they recall the things they said—when he was village reeve.

A Little Glimpse At Royal Family

(Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in Toronto Saturday Night)

MY WIFE and I happened to be in England soon after the marriage of the Duke and Duchess of York (now Their Gracious Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth) and were fortunate in being included amongst the guests invited to a Royal reception at St. James' Palace. We had the honor of being presented to the Duke and Duchess of York and had an interesting chat with them. We found they had a surprising knowledge of Canada and expressed a keen interest in Canadian affairs generally. Shortly before that there had been some talk that the Duke might come to Canada as Governor General, and while they expressed the pleasure it would give them were that possible, they felt that the responsibility of such an important position should be undertaken by someone of more mature years and wider experience in public affairs.

One is reluctant to introduce a personal note into a brief appreciation of this kind. I do so only because I feel I can make clearer the purpose of my observations in relating one or two incidents that have to do not only with the personality of the then Duke and Duchess of York but with their home life.

We, with Mr. Bennett, had the honor of being invited to an informal luncheon at their home. It might have been any delightful family circle. The two young Princesses came to the dining-room for dessert. Little Princess Margaret Rose sat on her mother's knee and nibbled some brown sugar crystals, while the Princess Elizabeth stood alongside of my chair while we chatted together. There have been cruel stories disseminated with regard to Princess Margaret Rose, intimating that she had not the use of her limbs nor had she the power of speech. It is quite beyond one's imagination to understand how stores without a tittle of foundation apparently find credence with some people. As one watched these two sweet children playing about the drawing-room, laughing and chatting together with all the spirit of childhood, one marvelled as to how such baseless rumors originated and by whom they were being circulated. Princess Elizabeth is called the sweetheart of the nation, but certainly the young sister, Margaret Rose, holds a position close to her in the love and admiration of all classes of people. While we sat in the dining-room, Princess Elizabeth asked us if we would like to see her Christmas cards, and being assured that we were interested, she went out and returned with three of them. They were reproductions on a card of photographs of Margaret Rose and herself. At her suggestion, I drew a straight line across the fly leaf of the card and she wrote her name "Elizabeth" with obvious pride. She gave us each one of these cards. Then she turned to me and in a whispered tone asked me if I would like one of her by herself. I assured her I would be delighted. She ran off and shortly came back with a card similar to the former one, except that she was the sole figure. She insisted on autographing it for me and again I drew a line, using the back of a table knife as a straight edge, and she wrote her name.

These two cards are amongst my most cherished souvenirs of a very happy stay in England.

This little sidelight on the domestic life of the present King and Queen will, I hope, be useful in showing to those who may read this sketch, the happy family atmosphere of a home of normal type, where these children are being brought up under the very finest influences.

LESS THAN WARTS.

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

WE WERE told once upon a time that we were so small that a mosquito could take all the juice out of us in one suck. We winced at that and went on a milk diet until our ego felt strong enough to stagger out again into the broad sunlight. Such wordy assaults on our stature place us in eclipse for only a short time; but a recent discovery convinces us beyond a doubt that we are but a driblet on the skin of a mighty planet.

We wouldn't have known about this but for the fact that book publishers, after tapping the $3 to $5 market with their first editions, issue reprints at prices that enable us to gather in a few of the choice volumes that the upper strata were reading from one to three years back. Thus it is that there has come to our possession a copy of the very interesting Geography of Hendrik Willem Van Loon, eminent Dutch-American author.

Mr. Van Loon informs us that all the human beings in the world could be packed very comfortably in a box measuring half a mile in each direction. He says the latest estimate of our planet's human population is about 2,000,000,000. Being a very liberal man, Mr. Van Loon allows each corpse a space six feet, by one foot by one and one-half feet, and not many of us bulk that large even on the hoof.

The first fly-leaf of our copy of the Geography is covered with multiplication and division. Our figures prove not only that we doubted Mr. Van Loon's assertion but that Mr. Van Loon is right. If you don't believe either of us, try it yourself. There are 2,640 feet in a half-mile.

From now on we will be very meek.

A Bit of Nonsense

What It Meant

Johnny was reading the "thriller" he'd got as a Christmas present.

"Mother, what does dee-dee stand for?"

"Doctor of Divinity, my dear. Don't they teach you such things in school?"

"Read it out aloud, dear."

"The witness said he heard the defendant say, 'I'll make you suffer for this. I'll be Doctor of Divinity if I don't.'"

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Editor Examiner:

Sir: I regretted very much to learn that Alderman Tuggey had been defeated at the recent municipal election. I consider it a great loss to the city council and the citizens in general. He gave his time and business experience unstintingly in the best interests of the taxpayers. At times we did not always agree with him but we always knew his intentions were honest. During Christmas week, the incinerator was shut down three days for repairs, and Alderman Tuggey personally supervised the work, and saved the city $1,25 per hour, the price formerly paid for this work. He was also responsible for the re-organization of the incinerator staff, which was badly needed, and since then the work has been done satisfactorily.

Who have we to take Alderman Tuggey's place? Who will look after the city's property, and see the work carried out in a first class manner? No one. We can fill his place, but not so efficiently. He was also a valued member of the Board of Health. Prior to the Isolation Hospital upheaval—Alderman Tuggey would not take everything for granted and I know that he took the trouble to investigate certain matters in order to be sure of his ground. That is one reason why the city council were unanimous in making the great change, and events have proved they were right.

The Examiner reported that some electors were not satisfied with the change in the garbage collection. About a year ago last fall, Mr. Armstrong, Alderman Tuggey and myself attended the meetings of the Ontario Municipal convention at Kitchener. One evening, before retiring, I suggested to Alderman Tuggey that we get up early next morning, take off our badges, hire a taxi, and go down to the city incinerators, and look carefully over the plant, motor trucks etc., and try and see the plant in operation. We did this, and the men in charge were kindness itself, giving us all the information we required. We also saw the trucks load and unload—they were bringing in one load per truck per hour. The trucks were dust-proof and waterproof. The population of Kitchener is about 31,000 and they use three motor trucks to take care of this work. If the citizens of Peterborough will exercise a little patience while the men become thoroughly accustomed to the machine, I know they will be well pleased with the change. With best wishes for the New Year.

Yours Truly

Peterborough, Jan. 5.

SPAIN

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The first really illuminating explanation of the crisis in Spain comes from an American priest, who no doubt with the approval of his church, states that the church in Spain being a state church or one that is paid for and maintained by the state came to be regarded as a part of the government, a sort of ministerial department, identified with the government in every way. The government of Spain became the creature of the interests which grievously oppressed the people and when the people rebelled against it they rebelled against the church as well. Hence it is a warning to the church in every country he says to look to the temporal as well as to eternal welfare of the masses of the people, as proclaimed by Pope Leo XIII, and the present pope, or disaster will follow.

This warning applies to all faiths, since people are sure to get the idea that churches (that is the ministry) are less concerned about the people than they ought to be and when to this is added the free criticism of everything sacred comprised in modernism, we have religion failing both in theory and in practice with results that can easily be foreseen. Spain is an example. There are, statistics show, no less than 70 millions of Americans without a church and at least one-third of the rising generation do not attend Sunday School and as religion is taboo in the day schools there is no effectual means for educating either the rising or the risen generation in spiritual things to that enormous extent. Hence the rise in crime is to be expected and it has come. When people become despiritualised the whole spirit and nature of man vanishes and we become merely a sort of more intelligent animal, ruthless and terrible. Hence the world as it is today.

(From the Ottawa Journal.)

RICHARD F. FULLER owns a Boston book store that "is responsible for approximately one per cent." of the whole book business of the United States. He knows his books, knows what the people read—or at least what they buy.

In an article in the Atlantic Monthly Mr. Fuller gives some interesting details of his business. He had begun to think "best sellers" represented the greater part of his turn-over, wondered why 50,000 other titles should be kept in stock. But a check showed that week by week the six best sellers in fiction and non-fiction made up only ten to fifteen percent. of the week's sales. The list of fifty titles in a national chart of best sellers represent in dollar volume only eighteen percent. of his sales.

His curiosity aroused, Mr. Fuller proceeded to explore the remaining 82 percent. Science and medicine represent seven and one-half percent., religious works seven percent. Mr. Fuller points out that the new edition of the Bible "designed to be read as living literature" is certain to increase this percentage, because "for the first time in our 168 years of bookselling we are now treating the Bible as a new book and reporting it as one of our six best sellers."

Periodicals, Mr. Fuller found, amount to seven percent., rental libraries produce eight percent. of the store's total volume, dictionaries two percent., reference books three percent.

New books which do not become best sellers—there are about 10,000 of them every year—account for 40 percent. of the total dollar volume of the Fuller business. And the remaining ten percent. is explained by "the good old standbys which sell year in and year out." Dickens leads this field, although even his popularity seems to be waning. Kipling and Hardy and Mark Twain still are in demand. Few people buy Stevenson books, and nobody buys the turgid Meredith's. There is a constant demand for the standard poets, and the people never tire of Alice in Wonderland.

Out of his survey Mr. Fuller reaches the interesting conclusion that "the book world is not really dominated by best sellers," even by such prodigies as Gone With the Wind, now in its second million. "We are on the right track," he adds, "in carrying those fifty thousand other titles," which is some consolation for run-of-the-mill writers whose books never find places in the lists of those "everybody" is reading.

THOSE GARBAGE CANS.

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

THE Peterborough Examiner raises an interesting question, when it suggests that something should be done to eliminate the collection of unsightly garbage receptacles on Peterborough streets once or twice a week.

The collection of garbage is a service for which taxpayers of Kingston are charged a special and separate tax. The collection of garbage cans, old boxes and other rubbish which decorates our residential streets twice a week adds nothing to the beauty or attractiveness of our city. Neither is the odor which emanates from garbage cans a pleasant one.

At the start of a new year might it not be possible to take a progressive step in Kingston in connection with the collection of garbage? Forty and fifty years ago, before Ontario cities had general sewage disposal, the necessary work was done through the night. Have we not about reached the time when garbage collections should be made through the night too? If not, could not garbage be left in backyards until collected? A collection of ill-smelling garbage cans on our sidewalks twice a week is hardly in keeping with the dignity and beauty of a modern residential city such as Kingston.

SPEED AND SAFETY.

(Providence, R. I. Journal)

THE EXTENT to which speed is a factor of danger in automobile driving continues to be a subject of controversy, although it should appear by this time that the relationship has been clearly established. Further evidence has been furnished by an experiment recently conducted in St. Louis and duly recorded in "Public Safety." For a period of thirty days in that city there was a systematic effort to restrict every motorist within the municipal limits to a maximum speed of thirty miles an hour. The result would seem to prove that high speed in itself, regardless of all other factors, is an exceedingly potent cause of accidents. At the end of the experiment there had been only three deaths from automobile accidents, as compared with fourteen deaths during the preceding thirty days. There was also a marked reduction in the number of accidents and in non-fatal injuries.

BONDS OF EMPIRE.

(The Legionary)

ONLY a Democracy could have survived the crisis, could have solved it without shattering the Empire. Because that is so, and because the Empire must endure, so also must Democracy. Like the other sections of the British nations, Canada has no use for "isms," if the best these can produce is the manifestation we see elsewhere. Among the British nations we are at home. They talk our language, think our thoughts, cherish our traditions and preserve our institutions. Our respective paths must always be convergent, leading to closer association in all things involving our mutual welfare. To travel otherwise would invite complete disaster.

WE'LL ALL GO BACK.

(Niagara Falls Review)

PERENNIAL wheat, that dream of the farmer, is reported to have been discovered, according to an Ottawa announcement, though it may be several years before there is enough seed to go round. Imagine the difference that will make to the farmer, who will have no more sowing, plowing or cultivating. He will cut his wheat just like grass and, when that time comes we will all go back to the farm.

CELLULOID COLLARS

(Neal O'Hara, in New York Post)

Even in this enlightened age, hundreds of persons wear celluloid collars because they believe that kind of plastic haberdashery cures them of certain throat and lung diseases. (It's really true that the camphor content of celluloid has medicinal properties.)

YOU YOUNG SINGLE MEN

Do You Save Money Regularly?

Perhaps your ready answer to that question is "yes." You put something into the savings bank each week or month. Fine!

But do you leave it there? At the end of the year does your bank balance show an increase over the year before?

Here is something that will give you a real incentive to save money regularly, an Imperial Life Endowment Policy.

And when the date of maturity comes—which may be a time you will most need money—you will receive $1,000, $2,000, $5,000, or whatever the value of the policy is—in cash.

Or you may decide to have a monthly income for a certain number of years or for the balance of your lifetime.

More than that, your Imperial Endowment Policy will be of great importance if you marry. In any case it will help you to achieve your ambitions.

Think it over. You may make many investments....but none will give you greater satisfaction than an Imperial life policy. You are probably insurable now; later you may not be. Your name and address will bring you full information.

.....YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU FILLED IN THIS FORM—MAIL IT TO-DAY.....

SKI CLUB ADOPTS NEW CONSTITUTION

Prizes Are Presented In Various Contests Conducted Last Season

Hard feelings and discontent manifest at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Ski Club when members disputed matters which the club's constitution failed to cover adequately, were remedied with adoption of a new constitution at a general meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday evening. Modelled by a committee along the lines of constitutions of other Ontario ski clubs, the amended document of rules and regulations was accepted with little discussion by fifty members present.

The constitution was shaped by a committee composed of Art Rhodes, convenor; Elizabeth Killaly, Lahring Parsons and Ross Thompson. A feature of the new governing regulations is provision for election of nine directors each year by the club body, the responsibility for choice of president, vice-president, treasurer and secretary in turn resting with the nine directors.

Several prizes symbolizing 1936 club championships were presented by President Jerry Duffus during the meeting. The awards were to Otto Laderach, jumping champion; Jack Holland, slalom; Ethel Brownlee, girls' downhill; and Dolph McFadden, boys' downhill. Award of a pair of skis to Andy Rutter by the Peterborough Canoe Company for his efforts in the recent membership drive was announced. Pat McCarroll was given a sweater by the club for her membership efforts.

HOUSE OF MAGIC IS COMING TO CITY

First Time Shown In City With Less Than 75,000 Population

The famous "House of Magic," developed in the Schenectady laboratories of the General Electric Company, is coming to Peterborough February 16 and 17 and will demonstrate its marvels in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute. This will be the first time this assembly of many of the latest wonders of electricity has ever been shown in a city of less than 75,000 population.

"The House of Magic" display is being sponsored here jointly by the Kiwanis Club, the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Engineering Institute, and the Social and Athletic Association of the C.G.E. company. An early announcement is made of this event, frequently mentioned on the air by Floyd Gibbons as seemingly miraculous products and inventions of the research department of the General Electric Company, to avoid conflict of dates with other local affairs.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6. — The wheat market back-tracked a bit yesterday from the prevailing seven-year high price level.

A lull in European demand for the grain, the chief market stimulant in recent weeks, and pressure of Argentine wheat at reduced prices encouraged liquidation of futures purchased at last week's high levels.

Net losses of 2⅝ to 3¼ cents a bushel were recorded on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, coincident with correspondingly sharp setbacks in other markets. The May future closed at $1.26⅝ and July at $1.21⅞.

Their immediate requirements apparently filled by heavy purchases in the past several weeks, European millers were said to be evincing noticeable lack of interest in New York offerings of wheat. Only 400,000 bushels of Canada's wheat was sold yesterday, the heaviest sales of the New Year.

Argentine exporters found few takers despite a 2¼-price reduction to $1.35 a bushel in their offers. At that level Argentine wheat was nearly 27 cents under Canadian prices.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 6. — In view of the proposal to vote on the question of opening a liquor store in Campbellford the Temperance forces have already rallied with several committee meetings and have now planned to hold a public meeting in the High School auditorium on the evening of Thursday, January 7. As well as the Temperance question which will be the chief theme of the evening and will be discussed by such well-known speakers as Dr. John Coburn of Toronto, the committee has also arranged for a musical program which is headed by Mr. Ruthven McDonald, one of Toronto's noted singers.

DONKEY LIKED LIVER

WATERLOO, Belgium, Jan. 6 (CP Cable). — An Irish donkey's weakness for goose liver proved the basis of a strange mystery on a farm near here.

The farmer found five of his best geese dead in a meadow, each with a neat incision in the side, from which the liver had been sucked out.

Without trace of the culprit, the farmer, equipped with a rifle, established a nightly vigil. The third night the Irish donkey excitedly dashed for a duck which, quacking, was seized between the donkey's teeth, and neatly delivered.

MIRACLE WORKER BROTHER ANDRE DIES IN MONTREAL

grateful followers would seek his installation as a Saint on the basis of the miracles they assert he worked.

Sought No Honors.

Yet honor such as this highest gift of the church in death had been farthest from the little brother's mind in life.

Brother Andre lived in self-effacement, doing the humblest of menial tasks joyfully, even after the qualities he possessed had began drawing the pilgrims to his door.

He scrubbed floors in his early days in the congregation of the Holy Cross, and he mended the clothing of the boys at St. Laurent College. In his spare time, he cut their hair. Always, he exhorted them to pray to St. Joseph.

That was his advice too, in later years, when he was building his $4,000,000 oratory from the contributions of those who came to seek his prayers. "I am nothing and have done nothing," he would tell these. "It is the good St. Joseph who does it all."

But they called him "the miracle man" just the same, and they came from all over America to lay their troubles of mind or body at his feet. Some asked only that he touch them. Many who had limped painfully up the mount on cane or crutch came away without them.

How Brother Andre attained this saintly status in the eyes of his devotees is a religious saga that has no counterpart in modern Canadian history. He rose to it from a beginning of abject poverty and over the obstacles of chronic ill-health and almost complete illiteracy.

Kept From School By Sickness.

For the Alfred Bessette who was born in 1845 in the Quebec village of St. Gregoire D'Iberville came of an impoverished father and suffered almost at birth of dypepsia so severe he could not go to school.

Later, when it came ttime for him to earn a living, his health would not permit of gainful employment. After three or four brief jobs, he tried to work in a cotton mill at Plainfield, Conn., but his health broke down.

An old priest had given him a glimpse of religious culture, and religious fervor began to develop in young Bessette as he reached manhood. After repeated refusals because of his lack of ability to read or write, his pleadings finally gained him admittance to the Holy Cross congregation.

In St. Laurent College, he labored unobtrusively until his piety began to attract attention. Pilgrims announced cures, and his reputation spread outside the college's bounds. The attention directed at the lowly college worker soon created a problem for the institution's authorities, and finally they allowed him to erect a small shrine some distance from the college.

Pilgrims and contributions, increased. Soon there was money enough for a little chapel, n 1907. For two years more Brother Andre continued as a porter. But after that, as his means grew, he devoted his time to the shrine. And in 1915 he was able to make a beginning on the stately edifice of today.

MRS. J. D. MILLS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

St. John's Mission Circle, Campbellford, Has Very Interesting Debate

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 6.— Mrs. J. D. Mills was elected president of their weekly meeting held on Tuesday night. Mrs. Wm. Scott, 1st vice president conducted the business part of the meeting then called on Mrs. H. B. Neale who lead in worship. The study book, which was on Africa, was taken by Mrs. Buchner after which was a debate "Resolved that the W.M.S. should have more rural workers in church centres and overseas" in which the affirmative was upheld by Miss Velma Reynolds and the negative by Miss Irene Jeffs. After a contest in which all took part a dainty lunch was served and the meeting concluded.

PLAY TO BE GIVEN BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Campbellford Society Decides To Begin Rehearsals For Production Immediately

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 6.—The weekly meeting of the St. Andrew's Young People's Society, held in the basement of the church on Monday evening, took the form of a devotional meeting and was devoted in part to the singing of hymns. The president, Mr. Frank Rowe, presided for this portion of the program. During that part of the meeting devoted to general business, it was decided that the Young People should start to practise immediately for a play to be presented in the near future. The balance of the meeting consisted of a miscellaneous program. Miss Violet Patrick gave the topic for this week, and others who assisted in the program were Mr. Hector Macmillan and Miss Frances Hendy. Miss Jessie Linn was left in charge of the program for next week, when the Young People are having a literary evening.

BOYS' PARLIAMENT DOING GOOD WORK

Jack Carr, East Northumberland Representative, Describes Activities Of Session

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 6. — "I would like to dispel any doubts in the mind of the people as to the purpose of the Older Boy's Parliament" said Jack Carr representative for East Northumberland, in the Sixteenth Ontario Older Boy's Parliament, in an interview. "Throughout the service there are Trail Rangers, Tuxis Boys, and Sunday School Classes. In each district these boys, if they fulfill certain qualifications, elect a representative to go to Toronto. The sessions are held from December 26th to the 31st and while there we pool our ideas and enact bills for the furtherance of boy's work throughout the province. "All work is based upon Luke 2:52 'And Jesus increased in wisdom and in stature and in favour with God and Men'". We try to follow the teachings in this verse and help our groups to do so.

New Legislation.

"This year we stayed in residence at Burwash Hall and our sessions were held in West Hall, University College. While there we were divided into legislative committees, life problem committees, and district enterprise committees. In the legislative committees we either revised and ammended the former acts or worked on entirely new acts. For instance the Supply Act of 1937 is entirely new. Again we intended to merely amend the Parliament Act, but we made so many changes that it had to be repealed in the House and an entirely new one introduced. Acts were introduced concerning camps, National Athletic Contest, worship services, organization, etc. Since we had only a few days at our disposal we had to work continually and energetically from early morning till late at night.

"Our Life Problem committees were of all types including, Vocational Guidance, Boy and Girl Relationships, World Friendship, and Service Activities.

"I was on the Vocational Guidance Committee and certainly learned some startling facts. The counsellor on the committee was Mr. W. G. Frisley of the Eastern High School of Commerce, who was in a position to verify all the staggering statements he gave which by the way would fill two or three columns.

"One of the first things we did was to elect our premier, Ken. D. Morland of North Bay. He is a very fine chap and we hope to have him here some week-end to address several meetings and services. As long as there are boys like him in this province, boy's work cannot fail."

NDUSTRIAL HEADS AGREE WITH PRESS 37 TO BE BIG YEAR

lining Strides Stand Out — Open Vast Outlets For Distribution Of Wealth

RAIL PROBLEM WORST

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (CP)—Leaders f industry give full endorsement in rticles published today in the Globe and Mail annual industrial eview, to the claims of bankers, hartists and financial commentators that 1936 was a big year for anadian business and that 1937 is ikely to be even better.

Many emphasize the strides being nade by the mining industry and he part it is playing, not only in ncreasing Canada's favorable balance on international trade account, ut in distributing wealth for machinery, airplanes, power and wages nd in the establishment of new settlements.

The railway chiefs, while showing atification for a measure of progess in 1936, are inclined to emphasize the problems confronting them ue to rising costs and the stiffening of competition.

Touching on the diversion of reight traffic from the railways to ther transportation systems, Sir dward Beatty, president of the anadian Pacific Railways, recalls hat in 1913 the railways carried 06,992,710 tons of freight and in 935 the total was 69,141,100 tons. assengers carried in the same ears were 46,230,765 and 20,084,185, espectively.

Newsprint Sets Record

The output of newsprint set an ll-time record in 1936 and the outook for the pulp and paper mills is ow brighter than it has been in everal years, writes A. E. Cadman or the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Although world production of teel increased about 26 per cent ver that of 1935 and passed the 929 peak by a million tons, recovery f Canadian production lagged beind that of most leading nations, rites Ross H. McMaster, president of the Steel Company of Canada. This country increased its output 18 per cent and the total was equal to about 80 per cent of the 1929 record.

More Power Being Used.

T. Stewart Lyon, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, writes: "The outstanding features of the operations of the Commission during the past year have been a steady, if still not very rapid, growth in the demand for power in industrial centres and the very remarkable increase in the use of electric energy in the gold mining and milling industry in Northern and North-western Ontario."

The textile industry maintained through 1936 the marked improvement of 1935, and employment by the industry registered a noticeable gain.

Sales of tobacco moved steadily forward, giving the manufacturer greater operating income, and in this increased prosperity the grower, factory worker and those engaged in selling the product shared, writes Gray Miller, president of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada.

Increase of employment and sales over 1935 marked trends in the automobile industry in 1936. The volume of export sales was maintained and sales of cars in Canada improved about six per cent. Both domestic and foreign consumption are likely to show much greater increases in 1937, predicts R. S. McLaughlin, president of General Motors Company of Canada.

Agriculture Looks Up.

"At the end of 1936 agriculture in Canada was in a better position as a whole than at any time for the past few years," writes Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture. "The outlook for 1937 is, broadly speaking, more encouraging than it has been since 1929."

The Minister of Mines for Manitoba, Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, reviews 20 years of pioneer mining effort in that province, marked by steady progress with 1936 a top year.

Reviewing Ontario mining activities, Thomas W. Gibson, consultant of the Ontario Department of Mines, traces the developments from 1915 when Ontario's output of gold was $4,501,391, onward to the end of 1936, with the last year showing output of about $82,000,000. He reviews the number of new and promising fields opened and emphasizes the needs of electrical power to bring to fruition the possibilities presented.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Federal Minister of Mines and Resources, regards the outlook for mineral production in Canada as particularly bright, with consumer demand increasing throughout the world and surplus stocks decreasing.

"Have a scout car look for Bud coming in and tell him his wife called that he forgot to load his pistol."

Commands Fleet

Closely following upon the sudden retirement of Admiral Foerster, commander of the German fleet, was the appointment of Admiral Carls (ABOVE), former vice admiral, to succeed him. It is rumored the reason for Foerster's retirement was his disagreement with Adolf Hitler's naval policy in connection with the Spanish war. Foerster, it is understood, warned his chief of the danger of hostilities with the navies of France, Russia and Britain.

CARDS, DANCING AT HALL'S BRIDGE

Enjoyable New Year's Eve Held By St. Matthew's League

HALL'S BRIDGE, Jan. 5. — The St. Matthew's League arranged a euchre and dance party for New Year's Eve and in spite of the weather and the roads, it was most successful. The affair was held in the St. Matthew's Parish Hall, and was attended by over eighty guests. There were ten tables of progressive euchre, the prizes being awarded as follows: Miss Dorothy Hall, with a score of 43, took first prize for ladies, the first prize for gentlemen going to Donald Haines, who also scored 43. The consolation prizes went to Miss Elsie Elliott and Harry Brown with scores of 22 and 18 respectively. Number 43 was the lucky admission ticket of Miss Viva Shearer, and also took a prize.

After the euchre dancing started about 10.30. The floor was comfortably filled with enthusiastic dancers who carried on to the music of J. Irwin's orchestra and the calling of Bert Easson and Bruce Hall. At 11.45 dancing stopped whilst the bell of St. Matthew's Church rang out the Old Year and rang in the New, after which the company joined hands and sang the chorus of "The Miner's Dream of Home," which was feelingly rendered by the Rev. E. C. Moore. Dancing was resumed until 1.30 a.m. In the interval between the euchre and dancing a welcome lunch was served by the ladies of the League.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1937

101 Years Old: OTTAWA.—Attributing his longevity to "living right and thinking right," Anthime Bigras, veteran lumberman and riverman in the days when Ottawa was a great lumbering centre, today celebrated his 101st birthday anniversary in a home for the aged. His 92-year-old wife lives with him at the home, and four of their 16 children are still living.

Knife Gashes Eye: ST. CATHARINES.—Richard Lehan, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lehan, may lose an eye as the result of a recent mishap. The lad was cutting a piece of cardboard with a pen-knife when it slipped and gashed his eye. He was taken to hospital, but it would not be known for a few days whether sight of the eye might be saved.

SCHOOL BOARD CLOSES YEAR WITH $4,075

Unforseen Staff Changes, Night School Saving Accounts For Surplus

NEW FUEL SYSTEM

The 1936 Board of Education concluded the year with a surplus of $4,075.12, according to the general statement of receipts and expenditures submitted by Secretary G. H. Thompson at the final meeting on Tuesday evening.

Made up of credit balances of $2,732.64 on the Public Schools account and $1,342.48 on the Collegiate and Vocational School account, the surplus is attributed by Mr. Thompson to several factors that were unforeseen when the estimates were struck at the outset of the year.

Chief of these causes, Mr. Thompson explained, were unforeseen staff changes both in the Public Schools and the Collegiate, an unexpected saving on night school fees; and economies which resulted from the installation of fuel saving devices.

As an indication that the needs of the Board for the past year were carefully budgeted as usual, Mr. Thompson explained that in connection with the Government grants which were reduced during the year, "we were successful in estimating them correctly at the outset of the year, so that there was practically no adjustment to be made in this direction."

The financial statement which has been sent on by the Board to the city auditor, was presented as follows:

SCOTSMAN WANTS NORTH CROWNING

Clyde Man Suggests Royal Family Live More In Scotland

LONDON, Jan. 6.—(CP).—Now that Scotland had given a Queen to the United Kingdom, why should not the King be crowned in Scotland as well as in England, asked Professor A. Dewar Gibb of the University of Glasgow, addressing the Scottish Liberal Club.

Professor Gibb said he thought now was the time for the Scottish people to ask that they should in future see more and not less of the Royal family. Let a court be established as a permanency in Edinburgh, with the sovereign more often in residence and with a regent there during his absence. Were this simple and gracious step taken, Scotland's situation would be instantly improved and her prestige enhanced.

Sir James Leishman said the recent "tragedy" was too painful and surprising for words. He thought the chief actor was open to very serious criticism. "It would be hypocrisy for anyone to say different," he said. "It is harsh to say, but I have no use for a quitter even if that man has quit for some woman."

NAMED GOVERNOR.

LONDON.—Lord Wakehurst today was appointed Governor of New South Wales, succeeding Admiral Sir David Murray Anderson, who died in office.

Third Annual Banquet Of St. John's Church Junior Boys' Bible Class

NAMED ON LIBRARY BOARD

Inspector A. Mowat has been reappointed by the Board of Education to the Public Library Board for a three-year term dating from February 1st, next.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Among the guests registered at the Empress Hotel are Herb. Conway, of Dundas, an executive of Grafton and Company and former resident of Peterborough Fred J. Stevenson of the Canada Bond Company, Toronto, and Miss M. Mitchel of New York city.

TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY.

The Peterborough Rotary Club is planning to celebrate the anniversary of Rotary next month with a ladies' night. An invitation will be extended to President Saunders of the Toronto Rotary Club to be the guest speaker.

REMOVE CHRISTMAS TREES

Citizens were today urged by Fire Chief George Gimblett to remove all Christmas trees from within their homes as soon as possible. The trees are now beginning to dry and are becoming serious fire hazards, the Chief stated.

RENEW MEMBERSHIP.

The Board of Education has renewed membership in the Ontario Ratepayers' and School Trustees' Association. The membership fee of eleven dollars includes a year's subscription to "The Canadian School Journal," a publication stated by members of the Board to be of vital interest to school trustees in general.

WASHOUTS ON ROADS

Washouts on roads caused in the Bethany district by the heavy rains of last week are now being repaired. The most serious occurred at Ballyduff, Lotus and Manvers. Local residents report the washouts are the first they can ever recall taking place in the week between Christmas and New Year's.

HOCKEY STICKS ARRIVE.

R. M. Glover has received a shipment of three dozen hockey sticks from the Ontario Athletic Commission to be used to assist youthful hockey players here. The sticks have been turned over to "Bill" Prindible and will be distributed among the teams of the Junior City Hockey League.

WIN IN HAMILTON.

The two Central Ontario rinks, one from Lindsay and the other from Kingston were victorious in the first round of the Ross Harstone Trophy at Hamilton. N. Gregory of Lindsay defeated R. MacDonald of Hamilton Victorias, 10 to 8, and J. H. S. Derry of Kingston beat Dr. W. J. McNichols of Hamilton Thistles, 12 to 8.

ESCAPED INJURY

Cyril J. Rice and the driver of the second car, Vernon Lawrence of Orillia, escaped injury in a car crash on icy roads near Orillia early this week. Damage estimated at $350 was done the two cars. Two Ottawa residents who were passengers in Mr. Rice's car also escaped injury. While his car is being repaired, Mr. Rice has been forced to interrupt for the week his schedule of rounds among the County schools as supervisor of music.

TO DECORATE HOMES

A suggestion that Peterborough citizens save their Christmas trees to use for decoration of their homes and the city streets during the big winter carnival here on the weekend of January 30 was made today by Fred J. Overend, president of the Chamber of Commerce. The trees should be stood outside the homes in back yards or other open spaces in order that they will stay fresh during the month, he urges.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

A communication from S. F. Rutherford, director of vocational training, has been referred by the Board of Education to the Advisory Vocational Committee. The letter hints that with recent changes under the Ontario Apprenticeship Act requiring apprentices to attend technical night classes, extra appropriations will this year be needed for the auto mechanics' classes.

NUTRITION CLASSES.

The Peterborough branch of the Red Cross Society is again holding nutrition classes at the Collegiate Institute for the purpose of teaching the preparation of well-balanced and nourishing meals at the lowest possible cost. The classes are free and anyone who wishes to attend may register at the Y.W.C.A. on Friday at 7.30 o'clock.

SHOWING THEIR GRATITUDE.

The members of the newly elected Manvers council believe in showing their gratitude to the voters. Councillor John Payne held a dance in the Orange Hall, Pontypool, on Monday night to thank his supporters and Reeve-elect J. C. Cummiskey has arranged a big party for Friday night in Bethany that promises to be a gala affair.

HOPES HE IS OVER 50.

"I hope he is over 50 years old." Dr. Lorna Cotton-Thomas said, commenting on the letter she received from a Peterborough citizen apparently of Fascist sympathies, as she addressed a C.C.F. Club meeting on the subject of Fascism Tuesday evening. Criticising the arguments set forth in the anonymous document, she expressed the hope no young man in this city was deluded by the empty ideals of the Fascist state.

JUDGMENTS RESERVED.

Judgment was reserved in both cases by Judge Sheldon Smoke after hearing two actions in Division Court this week. Lloyd Scriver and George West sued T. J. Cardwell for damages in connection with an auto collision near Westwood; Emmett F. Sheehy acting for the plaintiffs and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the defendants. Miss Estelle Cuff of St. Catharines asked $105 as rent allegedly owing and damages from A. R. Piper in connection with the tenancy of Mr. Piper in a house which she owns here. Alex. L. Elliott acted for the plaintiff, and Mr. Gordon for the defendant.

"ORAL HEALTH WEEK."

It is announced that an "Oral Health" campaign is to be held in this city from February 1-4 (both dates inclusive). Sponsored by the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council the campaign is to be held under auspices of the Ontario Departments of Health and Education. The program will be outlined at a local meeting called for the evening of January 13, when final plans are to be completed.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

Wilbert Simpson of Lundy's Lane was sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment on pleading guilty before Magistrate A. E. Gee this (Wednesday) morning to a drunk-driving charge. Arrested at Rubidge and Townsend streets the previous evening, after his car had stalled, the defendant was described by police as having been "in a very drunken condition." Following the drunk-driver into the prisoner's dock was a homeless transient who gave his name as John Sullivan. He received a similar term of imprisonment on an ordinary charge of intoxication.

SCHOOL DOCTOR REPORTS.

Under the head of major defects in his report to the Board of Education bearing on the health of the city's public school population for December, Dr. A. W. McPherson notes the following: Enlarged tonsils, 10; inflamed throats, 5; permanent teeth decay, 11; abscessed teeth, 3; defective vision, 8; defective hearing, 2; defective speech, 2; malnutrition 2; other defects, 2. During the final month of the year 5 children had their tonsils removed and five had vision corrected, while 14 children were brought under the care of their family physician and 13 were brought under the care of their family dentist. One case of chicken-pox was reported.

BOARD REFUTES CLAIM

In adopting the report of the property committee tendered by Harold G. Walker, the Board of Education on Tuesday evening decided to take no action in regard to a claim for damages made by George Sorensen, proprietor of the Argyle street greenhouses. The report was worded as follows: "Regarding the communication from Hall, Hall and Stevenson, acting for George Sorensen, claiming damages for loss of his business on account of the overflow of a drain on March 28 last, and which was referred to this committee, we beg to report that after due consideration your committee is of the opinion there was no negligence on behalf of the Board in connection with the overflowing of the drain in question. Therefore we recommend that no action be taken."

MARIAN BOOTH IS DEAD

Daughter of General William Booth, Founder of Salvation Army

LONDON, Jan. 6—(A.P.).—Marian Booth, 72, daughter of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, died to-day in Sudbury. A life-long invalid, she was inactive in the work of the Salvation Army, but held the honorary title of Staff Captain. Her father died in 1912.

The main highway between Johannesburg and Pretoria, South Africa, will be made a non-skid road.

The Rambling REPORTERS

CREATES "CAVITY" ON BOARD

In retiring from the Board of Education after thirteen consecutive years of service, Dr. J. J. Craig supplemented his letter of resignation with a verbal explanation. After stating that he had decided on that course of action not without a certain feeling of regret, the veteran member of the Board concluded, "I wish to thank you for the manner in which you have accepted my resignation."

"Hold on," John R. Marshall exclaimed. "If my recollection serves me correctly this Board has not yet accepted your resignation. What would you do if we declined to accept it?"

"I'd tender it to the incoming Board," Dr. Craig replied with a smile.

"I always thought that members of your profession were more adept at filling cavities than in creating them," D. H. Melton humorously remarked with reference to Dr. Craig's dental practice.—H.R.

A UNIQUE SPECIMEN

Alderman Walter Stocker, genial chairman of the parks committee of the city council has a rare plant specimen at his home which is definitely without any botanical classification. It is not thought that he contemplates planting the parks with them, although it was suggested that such plants would find great favour with the kiddies. Alderman Stocker calls it his lollypop tree. It is what might be termed a synthetic plant, as it is made from tree twigs and vari-colored gum drops. The "plants" are easily made, and provide a very artistic and effective decoration as table centres. Here is the recipe: take a jack knife and select a fair-sized twig with multiple branches; then purchase a couple of pounds of lollypops of the gum drop variety from the "five-and-ten" store, and attach the gum drops to the twiglets. You will then have a lollypop tree.—H.R.

GOOD GOING BOYS.

In making a large flashlight group picture at the third annual banquet of the Junior Boys' Bible Class at St. John's Parish Hall on Tuesday evening, Roy Pitchford and Wilfred Gynane engineered matters very neatly, both from a technical and gastronomic viewpoint. They took the picture before the dinner started and so arranged matters that they were able to grab the choicest seats for themselves at the head table. By virtue of their elevated positions, they were served first and got away to a head start on the rest of those present. The Rev. W. P. Robertson, rector of St. John's, took the opportunity of giving the two lens lads—who are incidentally members of his congregation a good wigging. With mock seriousness the rector called attention to the "effrontery of the two blinkerant photographers," who had so neatly crowded themselves into the picture, as it were.—H.R.

OBITUARY

AGNES CAMERON SAWYER

Succumbing to an illness of three months, Agnes Cameron Sawyer, widow of the late Frederick Sawyer, 690 George street north, passed away this morning (Wednesday). She was in her 67th year.

She was born in London, England, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Postle. She came here 27 years ago from London.

Surviving are one daughter, Beatrice of the Collegiate and Vocational School staff here, one sister, Mrs. Julia Milton in England, and two brothers, Perry and Edwin in England. Her husband predeceased her in 1915.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2 pm. from the Belleghem Funeral Home to Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe officiating.

PATRICK QUINLAN.

The death of Patrick Quinlan, a lifelong resident of Peterborough County, occurred at his home, 363 McDonnel Street, early this morning (Wednesday). He was 77 years of age, succumbing to a short illness.

He was born in Asphodel Township, son of the late Patrick Quinlan and Annie McEwan. He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral and of the Holy Name Society.

Surviving are his wife, formerly Bridget Conroy, two daughters, Mrs. Edward Barrett and Mrs. Robert McIlwain, and one son, Charles Quinlan, all of this city. One sister, Mrs. Ruth Conroy, resides in Peterborough, and two brothers, Wilfred Quinlan and John Quinlan, reside on farms east of Indian River.

The funeral will be held on Friday from the family residence, 363 McDonnel Street, at 8.45 a.m. to St. Peter's Cathedral for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

MISS ANNIE McVANNELL

Miss Annie McVannell, Blanshard prominent worker in women's organizations of Knox Presbyterian Church, St. Mary's, for many years, died suddenly at her home south of St. Mary's yesterday.

She is survived by three brothers, Duncan at home, Alexander of Ottawa, Douglas of London, and two sisters, Miss Elizabeth McVannell of Peterborough Normal School staff, and Mrs. Jenny Bowden, Toronto.

BRADMAN BRINGS TOTAL UP TO 270 IN THE THIRD TEST

Aussies Score 564 Runs In The Second Innings Of Match

MUST MAKE 689 RUNS

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 6—(C.P. Cable).—Defeat faced England in the third cricket test match against Australia to-day. Scoring 564 in their second innings, the Australians set their opponents to make 689 runs in the last innings of the match on the fifth day of play. At the close, the Mother Country had made 236 for six.

Don Bradman carried his score from 248 to 270 before he was dismissed near the close of the Aussies' innings and his great display was followed by a splendid effort by Maurice Leyland, as England attempted to hit off the arrears. The Yorkshireman played in his usual dogged style and at the close had made 69 not out. Wally Hammond was retired after compiling 51.

25,000 Spectators

L. B. Fishlock, young Surrey player, took the place of William Voce, Nottinghamshire fast bowler, when play was resumed before 25,000 spectators in dull weather to-day.

LAMBTON FARMERS UNWORRIED.

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 5 (C.P.)—It is quite common for the fields of Lambton County to remain practically bare all winter and farmers in this district are not alarmed at the lack of snow. Recent rains have helped solve a water shortage in some parts of the county.

In nearby Perth County farmers were worried a lack of snow would mean poor fall wheat.

PETERBORO RINK ENTERS FINALS

Mrs. O. DeGraw Defeats Toronto Victorias' Entry In Ladies' Curling

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (C.P.), — Mrs. O. DeGraw's Peterborough rink reached the finals of Ontario Ladies' curling competition for Robertson Trophy here to-day, defeating Toronto Victorias, skipped by Mrs. Grant, 8-6.

The Peterborough rink entered the semi-finals by victory over Hamilton Thistles, skipped by Mrs. G. Brown, 10-7, in the quarter-final stage of play yesterday.

The other finalist is a Toronto Victoria rink, led by Mrs. Moorehouse. Victorias defeated Mrs. Kearns' Toronto Granites, 16-1.

Toronto Granites, Mrs. Kearns, defeated Toronto Granites, Mrs. Hudson, 11-10.

TO BE SAFE DRIVER OF A MOTOR CAR CHARACTER NEEDED

Rev. Dr. George Little Addresses Week Of Prayer Service In Trinity

FACE MORAL REALITIES

It requires Christian character to be a safe driver of a motor car, Rev. Dr. George Little said as he continued his Week of Prayer series of sermons in Trinity United Church Tuesday evening. The driver of Christian character has self discipline, concern for others and constant unselfishness, he said as he illustrated how a new life through conversion can demonstrate itself through social attitudes.

Many of the strongest Christian leaders have had a definite conversion experience, he said. He mentioned Paul, Augustine, Luther, Wesley, Chalmers, Spurgeon and Moody.

"It means a clean break with the past, the surrender of all one knows of self to all one knows of God," he said. "Conversions are happening still among old and young, good and bad. Even church members and ministers may receive a fuller indwelling of the Spirit of God. A new life comes when we begin to do something with our wills."

Changed people filled with God's grace will not be content to spend a lifetime in acquisitiveness or in pagan self-indulgence, Dr. Little said. "Each one of us may receive from God a higher life than we have yet had. As individuals we must face moral realities and get a truthful picture of what we are doing with our lives. Awareness of God makes us more sensitive to the needs of others."

The living church of Christ must be God's agent in the world and not a sentimental society for the enjoyment of pious moods, Dr. Little declared.

DIED

SAWYER, Mrs. Agnes.—January 6, following an illness of three months, Agnes Cameron Sawyer, 690 George Street North, widow of the late Frederick Sawyer, in her 67th year. Funeral January 8, at 2 p.m., from Belleghem's Funeral Home to Little Lake Cemetery.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, January 7.

THE LUNAR and mutual aspects of the predominant planets for this day seem to indicate a breaking up of old stagnant and crystallized conditions, making way for important improvements in the affairs, with an increase in the value of real possessions and a tendency to put the fortunes on a stable footing. Elderly persons may have a hand in this, but there maybe some trying or vexatious experiences with young people.

Those whose birthday it is are under a promise of a year in which much may develop to put the finances on a sound basis. Elders may be of assistance, but be careful with young people, who may cause anxiety. Excited or rash mental conditions should be avoided lest they jeopardize good prospects in business and employment.

A child born on this day may be talented, adventurous and ambitious, but steadfast and reliable. It should have a fortunate life through its own efforts as well as by the benefices of friends and elders.

QUEBEC CENTER FASCIST MOVE C.C.F. IS TOLD

Organization Already Formed To Spread Movement Throughout Canada

STATE IS SUPREME

"It can happen here!"

Paraphrasing Sinclair Lewis with these words, Dr. Lorna Cotton-Thomas, Peterborough C.C.F. leader, warned a full gathering of C.C.F. Club members that the Fascism of Italy and Germany is not an impossibility in Canada and declared that an organization to bring it about is already in formation in Canada, in an address in the Moose Hall Tuesday evening.

"In all probability there were people in Italy who sat back and said it can't happen here while the cause was growing beneath their very eyes," she declared. She said citizens in Canada are thinking that same thought today. "But it can happen here. There are groups organizing at the present time in order that it may happen."

Centered in Quebec

Dr. Thomas said Quebec is, up to the present, the center of Fascist inclination in the Dominion but that the Fascist movement is growing at such a pace that it can easily spread to national dimensions.

She warned her hearers against the Fascist doctrine of Mussolini and Hitler that the state is supreme and that the individual exists only for the good of the state. The state is nothing without the individual composing it and all principles of freedom and happiness demand that the state exist solely for the welfare of the individual," she said.

"Mussolini is a keen psychologist," she continued. "He took advantage of seething discontent in his country following the war and the parliament there was as ineffective in facing the crisis as ours today would be." She portrayed Mussolini going to the ruins of the old Roman amphitheatre and, with his pose of ferocity and his spell-binding harangue, deluding the populace into thinking they could be the reincarnation of the ancient Romans under his leadership. Lenin is a saint in the eyes of the Russians and Mussolini has made himself a saint in the eyes of downtrodden Italians.

Unthinking

The speaker placed the final blame for their plights under iron-heeled dictatorships on the working peoples of Italy and Germany themselves. The proletariat never thought as long as he had a full stomach. He left his thinking to political leaders.

Speaking of the proletariat in another light, she said, "I always wish the proletariat were as simple as Karl Marx saw them. He saw them united in fighting the capitalist. I see fifty per cent of them united in fighting the other fifty per cent."

Dr. Thomas said she foresaw a world conflict in the near future growing out of the same ghastly system of world politics which obtained in 1914. The pawns in the world politics game are neither the capitalist or the politician but the innocent, unthinking working man, she said.

CARRIER BLOCKED BY SUDDEN FLOOD

Bruce Campbell Has To Make Long Trip On Foot

LASSWADE, Jan. 6—Bruce Campbell, the rural mail carrier between Coe Hill, Lasswade and Lake, found his way blocked on arrival at the Long Swamp on Saturday. Due to the heavy rain of last week the swamp which is almost a mile long had suddenly flooded to quite a depth on Friday, and then frozen over just enough to carry a man's weight. Campbell left his car, and carrying the mail bags walked to Lasswade P.O. then on to Lake P.O. and back to his car, a distance of about eight miles. Two days before on his usual schedule, the swamp was open to traffic. It is most unusual for the Long Swamp to be under water at this time of year.

CRIPPLED AMERKS TAKE 7-1 BEATING BY THE RANGERS

Goalie Worters Is Injured In Final Session Under Pile In Mouth Of Cage

OPERATION NECESSARY

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Jan. 6—(C.P.)—New York Rangers stayed in their tie with Detroit for first place in National Hockey League sectional honors last night by sinking the crippled New York Americans under a 7-1 defeat.

The Amerk lineup was further riddled when Goalie Roy Worters was injured in the final period, when he was caught under a pile-up of players in the mouth of his cage. After a dressing-room examination, the club physician said the little netman had suffered a rupture and an operation would be necessary.

The physician said that in his opinion Worters would not be able to return to action this season. Manager "Red" Dutton said he would try to get the veteran Lorne Chabot at his Toronto home, failing which Goalie Alf Moore of the New Haven International-American club, would be brought up.

It is understood the Amerks bought the veteran Chabot's contract from Montreal Maroons early in the season.

The veteran Frankie Boucher and the youthful defenceman "Babe" Pratt started the winners off on the road to success by scoring in the opening frame.

Alex Shibicky, kid wingman, added a brace of markers in the second session before "Deed" Klein registered Americans' solitary counter. Ott Heller, Phil Watson and Neil Colville tallied in the last frame as the disorganized Amerks fought vainly to reduce the Rangers' large margin.

It was the fourth match of the intra-city series, with the Rangers now holding a 3-1 edge. The game, played before 14,000 fans, was fast and strenuously contested throughout but lacked the rough play of previous clashes.

Referees—O. Cleghorn and E. Dalgnault.

First Period

1—Rangers, Boucher (Dillon, Patrick) ..... :40
2—Rangers, Pratt 17.35
Penalties—Dillon, Murray.

Second Period

BRUINS DEFEATED 3RD TIME IN ROW BY DETROIT WINGS

Hit Slump After Having Detroit Well In Hand, And Lose 3 To 2

TRY SIX FORWARDS

BOSTON, Jan. 6—(C.P.)—Detroit Red Wings, tied for sectional National Hockey League leadership, last night defeated the third-place Boston Bruins, 3 to 2, with a swift closing rally that netted two goals.

A crowd of 15,000 saw the game. The Bruins, who have been unable to turn back the Red Wings in three starts this season, appeared to have the game well under control when they hit a sudden slump. As they stumbled about, Gordon Pettinger registered the 2-2 tying goal on a rebound, and then aided "Mud" Bruneteau cage the winning tally, made during the second last minute of play.

Both the Boston goals were made the hard way. "Cowboy" Bill Cowley and Ray Getliffe slashing in pucks to climax power plays in the first and second periods.

During the last minute of play Goalie "Tiny" Thompson was pulled off, and the Bruins threw six forwards into action.

Boston.—Goal, Thompson; defence, Shore and Portland; centre, Weiland; wings, Cooks and Goldsworthy. Subs, Jerwa, Clapper, Cook, Beattie, Hollett, O'Neil, Schmidt, Getliffe, Cowley, Sands.

Referees—Babe Dye and Mickey Ion.

First Period

1—Boston, Cowley (Shore) 11.15
2—Detroit, Howe (Pettinger, Goodfellow) 13.19
Penalties—None.

Second Period

3—Boston, Getliffe 10.48
Penalties—None.

Third Period

4—Detroit, Pettinger (Barry) 17.47
5—Detroit, Bruneteau (Pettinger) 18.31
Penalties—None.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(C.J.P.)

BELLEVILLE SCRIBE says Trenton players lack condition, yet and proved easy for Belleville the other day. The latter outfit apparently showed a lot of speed, experience and combination. The Quinte gang had Ken Watt, from Athens, Ontario, in goal; and two tough defencemen to pass in Jim Ethier and Harry Ingram. Other players on the squad include McGuire, Buster Whitton, Barriage, St. Louis, Morgan and a trio from Deseronto. We don't expect the Petes will have much trouble knocking over Trenton this e'en, but Belleville will make it a battle when they tackle the local intermediates here on Friday. The Fliers are busy these days in Kingston district loop playoffs.

* * * * * * *

THIS ITEM from Belleville explains itself: "Prior to the game, Referee Joe Smith visited both dressing rooms and explained some of the new rules. Joe, however, pointed out the folly of bodychecking in the centre zone, saying: 'It is permissible to bodycheck in centre but remember the rules say bodychecking and you can't bodycheck unless standing still or moving very slowly. If you bodycheck while skating fast it constitutes charging, so my advice is to lay off it as much as possible.' His advice was taken by both teams."

* * * * * * *

CHURCH PUCK Loop schedules, first halves, are published this e'en. Teams should be on time for tilts if they wish full playing periods. Regardless of weather conditions, only executive members may postpone a game and it is not called off till the team is so notified by the loop secretary. Information may be had from Secretary Don Charlton, 159 Rubidge St., or phone 441. This circuit operates under 1937 O.H.A. rules with these exceptions: (a) Referee's whistle ends the period; (b) body checking only in defence areas and only the puck-carrier may be bodied; (c) no penalty shots permitted; (d) minor offences call for one-minute penalties. Managers should clip out the schedules.

UP AND down Sports' Rialto: Dick Butler of Lindsay, former C.O.B.L. umpire, headed the polls for Council the other day there . . . . George St. Bantams and St. Paul's Juveniles won their church hockey tussles last night . . . . Belleville Juniors are at Tweed tonight . . . . C.G.E. girl cagers should be quite a bit stronger this year in the Ladies' Loop . . . . How is the Southend Hockey League coming along? . . . . Quinte writer thinks our Colts should have eased up on scoring the other eve; juniors don't know how to ease up, thank goodness! . . . . Two husky defencemen, LeBarr and Howe, play for Johnson Motors this winter . . . . POME: The baby elephant is sad, his life is dull and gray; he cannot suck his thumb because, his nose is in the way.

* * * * * * *

UP TOWARD the northend of town the other day we paused to see a kids' hockey game. The open-air rink was a rather runty and rough affair but the youngsters—a dozen of 'em—were having a whale of a setto. On one side were five while the other crew had seven, all about the same size. We asked one punk how come they weren't equal in man-power. "Oh, they got Speed and he plays in the School League," he piped up. We had to agree that one guy from the School League was likely worth two or three who hadn't advanced that far yet in puckdom. Some odd and awful looking uniforms—as multi-colored as Joseph's coat—were worn and peculiar pads. One kid's pant leg gave way in a rush and lo, and behold, if a Ladies Home Journal didn't come tumbling out! And mom reading the latest serial likely. . . .

* * * * * * *

IT TOOK a bit of time to get onto some of their rules. They were well up on bodychecking, using the tossed torso in any part of the rink. And they were, it seems, permitted to kick the rubber into the net—said net being two stones a few feet apart. Subbing was on the fly but if a lad didn't feel like going out at the time he just sat to one side and had a rest, going on when the mood struck him. The passing wasn't so hot but those gaffers were rapidly learning how to stick-handle in amazing style on the small cluttered-up surface. They didn't faceoff after a goal, the team that scored simply going back to midice and the others bringing it out. Or did we forget to mention they had no referee? Everyone wanted to play.

* * * * * * *

WE WATCHED for a time and then asked a goalie what was the score. "I dunno," he replied, "both sides got a lot of goals, but we don't keep much track of that anyway." Having been completely spoiled by being mixed up for years with clubs and players who decidedly know at all times who was winning, we meandered off—admitting silently that maybe we were really, after all, missing the point in sports. "Don't keep track"—well!

* * * * * * *

POND PUCKSTERS of a tender age are the ones who will direct the destiny of the game yet. And weren't kids using the forward pass years before the pros tried it? That subbing system and the no-referee idea we saw in this tilt certainly rate a thought, eh? And no nonsense or wasted time about a faceoff. You can often learn a whole lot from kids at play. Imagination? No, it's not Les Patrick, Ross or Smythe—it's the punks who in summer play cowboys and Indians or sail rafts on Curtis' brickyard pond calling 'em battleships in the Mediterranean. And in winter mush through the frozen Alaskan wilds up around Nicholls Oval—or play hockey.

* * * * * * *

THREE SENIOR City Hockey League games open that schedule here tomorrow (Thursday) e'en at the Brock, starting at seven o'clock. First tilt is between Westclox and Johnson Motors; next is at eight betwixt Norwood and Mayfairs; and the final sees Bewdley and Millbrook tangle at nine bells. Games must be started on time. With three squads made up of good local players—many former O.H.A.-ers or chaps good enough yet for it maybe—and three out-of-town teams, that will be strong, fans can bank on plenty of the old gingerino in the three-part showing of the old Blood and Thunder Circuit. New pro rules will go by all means and Heaven help the puck-carrier in the centre zone if he forgets that you can now be bodychecked in that zone all the way up to the rafters if you're not very careful and keep on balance! Should be lots of action and fun.

MAROONS BATTER CANADIENS DOWN IN 4 TO 2 BATTLE

League Leaders Slug From Behind a 3-0 Lead To Crack In Two In Final

FAST, ROUGH GAME

MONTREAL, Jan. 6. — Montreal Maroons staved off a furious third-period rally by Canadiens to win their first intracity National Hockey League game of the season last night, 4 to 2, before close to 11,000 fans, the largest N.H.L. crowd here in three years.

Canadiens, outplayed throughout the first two periods, fought from behind a 3-0 deficit established by the Redshirts by the halfway mark of the second period. They had the score 3 to 2 just 42 seconds after the third period opened, but couldn't break through the brilliant Alex. Connell for the all-important equalizer.

It was a fast, rough game, and its result reduced Canadiens' section lead over Maroons to four points. Previously Canadiens had won once and played two 2-2 ties against their city rivals.

Dave Trottier ended a frenzied opening attack by scoring for the Maroons less than three minutes after the game opened and Jimmy Ward and Baldy Northcott combined for two second-period goals before Canadiens found the range. Ward scored first, then Northcott counted on a breakaway rush while Evans was in the penalty box.

At 18.38 of the second period, George Mantha finally beat Connell on Siebert's pass and George Brown, playing his second professional game since his jump from amateur ranks, scored his second N.H.L. goal after forty-two seconds of the final period.

With four and five forwards up, the high-riding Frenchmen attacked powerfully during the third period. But Connell was unbeatable and old Lionel Conacher made things sure for Maroons with a late goal on a play with Earl Robinson.

Canadiens—Goal, Cude; defence, Siebert and Buswell; centre, Haynes; wings, Blake and Desilets; subs., McKenzie, Joliat, Gagnon, Morenz, Miller, Brown, McGill, Mantha, Lorrain.

Officials—Clarence Campbell and Bill Stewart.

First Period.

1—Maroons, Trottier (Blinco) . 2.56
Penalties—McKenzie, Brown, and Ward.

Second Period.

2—Maroons, Ward (Northcott) . 4.34
3—Maroons, Northcott (Ward) 10.23
4—Canadiens, Mantha (Siebert) 18.38
Penalties—Ward, Marker, Haynes, Evans.

Third Period.

5—Canadiens, Brown (Blake) .. 42
6—Maroons, Conacher (Robinson) 10.10
Penalties—Runge, Gagnon, Conacher.

Toronto Squad Takes Dartmouth For 10 to 1 Scalping

HANOVER, N.H. Jan. 6—(CP)—University of Toronto's blue-clad hockey band set the pace for the International Inter - Collegiate League to-day after scalping Dartmouth Indians here last night, 10-1.

It was the second lopsided score run up by Varsity over United States' opposition. They tamed Princeton Tigers in Toronto last month 10-0. Princeton is the only other team of the eight composing the league which has played two games so far. Queens crowned them 6-1 in their second start.

ALASKANS DEFEATED

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Jan. 6. — (CP).—Complete with parkas and mukluks, the Fairbanks, Alaska, Polar Bears Hockey Club came to Moose Jaw last night, but found the southern climate too much for it. The prairie-bred, steam-heated Millers tacked a 9-2 trimming on the lads from the far north before a crowd of 500 that braved sub-zero weather to witness the exhibition tussle.

WHITBY, OSHAWA BATTLE TO 2-2 TIE

Squads Put On Real Show With Old Rivalry Coming Out

OSHAWA, Jan. 6.—Whitby Red Wings and Oshawa Coca Colas battled to a 2-2 overtime tie here last night before 800 fans in a crowd-pleasing O.H.A. intermediate "B" fixture. With at least half the fans present being from the county town the traditional rivalry of many years' standing between Oshawa and Whitby teams was renewed for the first time in ten years as the teams battled themselves into exhaustion in a desperate effort to pull out with a win. "Taffy" Mayne put Whitby ahead in the first period when he broke away during an Oshawa ganging attack, but thirty seconds later Sargent put Oshawa on even terms as Oshawa renewed their ganging. J. Sleightolm was in the penalty box during both goals.

Early in the third period "Dud" Pipher put Whitby ahead on a hard shot from the blue line. Late in the period the veteran "Hap" Hamel put Oshawa on even terms when he coasted right in on Hurst after taking Sargent's pass. Whitby had a distinct margin in the overtime, only sensational work by Jerry Peterson in the Oshawa net, holding them out in the closing minutes of the game.

Whitby—Goal, Hurst; defence, Hunt and Mayne; centre, Blanchard; wings, Lewis, Vicond and E. Sleightholm. Subs—Pinher, Heard, L. Vicond and J. Sleightholm.

Oshawa—Goal, Peterson; defence, Osler and Low; centre, Rowden; wings, Hamel and Sargent. Subs—Barnes, Hooper, Goodchild, March and Young.

Referee—Stan Crossett, Port Hope.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

Once again all ices were going and well before eight o'clock...A little co-operation by all parties helps a whole lot.

We expect to be able to show a fast sheet of ice for tonight's games.

The Tankard rinks had a little workout last night...how about a little for the District Cup boys?

We will have our usual Saturday bonspiel...but this time it will be hams instead of chickens ... Keep the date open.

Lindsay Juniors Win Opener From Sutton

LINDSAY, Jan. 6. — Lindsay Juniors last night nosed out Sutton in a close O.H.A. tilt by a 3-2 score. Pearson opened the scoring in the first period, Brennan tying the count a few minutes later. Burnham tallied in the second, Lindsay coming back to again tie the score when Jamieson banged the puck in from a scramble. Jamieson notched another in the third, and Lindsay stayed off the Sutton attack until the final bell.

Sutton—Goal, Pivnic; defence, Noble and Gilhey; centre, Cook; wings, Cooper and Burnham; alternates, Pearson, Brady, Snoddon, Porte and Schmidt.

EXPERTS CLAIM TOMMY LOUGHRAN LOST HIS SPEED

Loss To "Sonny Boy" Walker On Coast Convinces Them He Is Through COULDN'T PRODUCE

By HAROLD HEROUX

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 6—Tommy Loughran, the erstwhile "dancing master" of Philadelphia and one- time light-heavyweight champion of the world should retire!

That was the opinion of Pacific coast boxing experts after watching Loughran in his recent ten-round bout with Sonny Boy Walker, the promising young heavyweight from Phoneix, Ariz.

Walker, who was in his cradle when Loughran first started to climb the fistic heights, put Loughran on the canvas twice, took seven rounds and the decision easily. It was a case of youth conquering age.

Loughran, now 34, is still a crafty boxer—but a crafty boxer without speed is lost.

No Speed

"Faster, Tommy, faster . . . come on, more speed . . ."

But, Loughran couldn't produce the speed. At the end of the fight, he was a very gory sight, with blood flowing freely from a cut under his right eye and from his mouth.

Should Loughran accept the advice of the experts and retire, he can look back over a colorful career that stamped him as the ringmaster with more speed and cleverness than any other light-heavyweight in the game—before 1937!

The experts are convinced that the Loughran of yesteryear would have toyed with Walker.

Who is Walker?

May Be Contender

Many fans may soon ask that question for one or two reasons. One reason might be that he convinced Loughran that he should retire. Another possible reason is that Walker himself may soon rank as a contender for the heavyweight crown.

Walker and Phil Brubaker, the "boxing parson" of Dinuba, Calif., are ranked as the two leading young heavyweights of this region.

Brubaker came back into the picture after a siege of hand injuries and a defeat by Jack Sharkey to kayo Lee Savoldi, the St. Paul Minn. sensation.

Efforts are now being made to arrange a Walker-Brubaker bout.

Walker ,who cleaned up on all heavyweights in Arizona before moving into California to seek bigger and better game, has licked Savoldi twice here and has also trimmed Andre Lenglet, who is called the heavyweight champion of France. Walker tips the scales at 203 pounds.

Lionel Conacher, conscious of his lost beauty, was operated on to improve the appearance of his nose. The operation took place in Montreal, Jan 7, 1927, after the Big Train's nose was broken in three places. Since then the nose has been banged up so much he is calling off all beautifying operations until his hockey career is ended.

HARVARD UNEASY OVER U. OF T. GAME

Varsity's One-Sided Victories Convince Coach Stubbs His Boys Must Be Good

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 6.—(CP)—Potentially one of the strongest teams the Crimson has turned out in the last decade, Harvard's hockey team awaited with some trepidation today their opening match in the International Intercollegiate Intercollegiate Hockey League tomorrow night with University of Toronto.

The Canadian team's one-sided victories over other American colleges in the early games of the new circuit has convinced Coach Joe Stubbs his big and youthful pucksters will have to be at their best to hold the Varsity Blues in check.

Harvard supporters are banking a good deal on Joseph Patrick leading the Crimson. The 20-year-old son of Frank Patrick, well known in Canadian and United States major professional hockey circles, easily won a place on the team in his freshman year. He weighs 155 pounds, is 5 feet, 10 inches tall and shoots right-handed. He is expected to pivot the third line of John Callaway and Winthrop S. Jameson, Jr.

George S. Ford, captain of the team is the first string centre for the time being and will be flanked by Ralph Pope and Francis Harding.

Coach Stubbs had more than 50 candidates for berths on the team when the training season started but after a series of holiday exhibition contests he has slashed the squad down to 21 players none of whom are over 21. The average weight of the team is 170 pounds.

JACKSON HOLDING HIS SCORING LEAD

Adds Two Goals And Assist For Total Of 29—Markle Second With 26

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 5.—(CP) — Art Jackson, Syracuse star, maintained his hold on the scoring leadership of the International-American Hockey League during the past week by adding two goals and an assist to give him a total of 29 points, Jackson has scored 13 goals and assisted in 16.

The official statistics announced today by the league showed Jack Markle, Jackson's teammate, with the western division leaders, in the runner-up spot with 26 points, two more than Jack Keating, of Providence.

Jack Church of Syracuse was way in the van as the league's "bad-man" charged with 21 minors and one major. Ossie Osmundson of New Haven with 14 minors was second.

KING OF WINTER SPORTS

Skiing

By Charles Schaer

Sponsored By Peterborough Ski Club

A satisfactory grain for hickory skis.

9. THE WOOD OF THE SKI

Skis are made from hickory, ash, maple and birch. Hickory is the best wood for ski manufacture being tougher than the others mentioned and therefore more durable. Ash is somewhat less tough and does not wear so well, but it is lighter in weight than hickory and therefore more easy to handle, especially for beginners. It is often preferred by ladies.

Maple and birch also provide a somewhat lighter ski than hickory but the wood is considerably more brittle.

A great deal of importance must be given to the grain in ski woods, which determine to a great extent their strength and ability to absorb strains without splitting or breaking. A broad heavy grain which crosses the entire ski is much more likely to split off or break than a long "tight" grain that spreads its length down the ski thus distributing weight strain. A satisfactory grain in a hickory ski is shown in illustration. You will note the long angle of the grain which reduces the danger of breakage should the ski edge be chipped.

Too heavy skis are hard to control and also place you at a disadvantage when climbing. At the same time, when selecting your equipment you must remember that a good wood for skiing is bound to be heavy.

To preserve and lengthen the life of your skis they should be rubbed at frequent intervals during the summer months with linseed oil.

GRID GAME OF AGE COLLEGE ATHLETES

Need Not Expect Many Changes In Future In Collegiate Football Game

By John L. GRIFFITH

CHICAGO, Jan. 6—(CP)—At the close of each year it is customary for those who are interested in any sport or group of sports to prophesy that the next year will be better than the year just passed.

This is because we all indulge in wishful thinking. It is safe to say, however, that 1936 saw the attendance at United States college games considerably improved over 1935. When we think of attendance we usually think of football, so it may be pertinent to call attention to the large crowds that, generally speaking, attended the college football games last season. There is no other game that attracts so many spectators as does college football each autumn Saturday.

Two Systems

There have been many arguments this year between those who favor the open game and those who believe that runs and bucks constitute fully 80 percet. of offensive football. The majority of teams that might rightfully be named among the 10 best in the country use both the passing and running attack; but most of the coaches employ passes and tricks as a means of making the running attack work.

Football has come of age. We need not expect startling innovations each year in the future. Football coaching technique has been improved, thus making the work of the officials more difficult. Especially have the field judges been forced to make a great many close decisions on forward pass plays. The chaces are, however, that the forward pass will be retained and the rules governing this feature of the game will not be materially modified.

Basketball is now looked upon as a major college sport in most sections of the United States.

College baseball in 1936 held its own and in some section reports indicate there was increased interest in this fine game.

BACK IN HOCKEY LEAGUE

MANCHESTER (CP)—Manchester, dropped from the English Ice Hockey League because of the smallness of its rink, was readmitted when the Rapides made their home here after being forced to leave Paris.

Jumping Is Part Of Modern Baseball

It's eyes on the ball, in basketball as well as golf, and several pairs of eyes fasten themselves on the sphere in a jumping duel at the Hippodrome, New York, when Illinois Wesleyan whipped Long Island university 41-29. The basket game is going over big in the American circuit again this year with packed houses to watch the boys perform. Morgenthaler (53) of Wesleyan and Kramer (23) of L.I.U. are the ball-chasing rivals.

Hockey's Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Neil Colville, the high-scoring wingman of New York Rangers, jumped back into the Big Seven last night as he picked up three points, while the National Hockey League scoring leaders went pointless. He shared fourth place with Detroit's Marty Barry, four points below Larry Aurie, who remained on top with 22 points. Jimmy Ward of Maroons made his first Big Seven appearance in a three-way tie for the last two places. The leaders:

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Vines is 8 to 5 over Perry tonight—and are the tennis writers climbing out on that well known limb . . . You can laugh about a Tony Galento-Joe Louis match (proposed for Detroit) all you want to, but if the Newark night stick ever hits Joe squarely, we know one Brown Bomber who'll stay down for keeps . . . When and if Bill Terry moves into the Giant front office, Travis Jackson will be No. 1 on the list of managerial prospects if he makes good at Jersey City . . . The Tony Canzoneris are looking for a bombino bundle the last of the month. Tony's comeback plans are held up pending the arrival.

New York writers came back from Philly blasting the verdict which gave Al Ettore a decision over John Henry Lewis . . . Others hearing the anvil chorus are members of the tennis committee which ranked Alice Marble ahead of Helen Jacobs . . . Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York state racing commission, predicts mutuel betting will be in vogue on all New York tracks in four years . . . Buzz Buivid and Sammy Baugh may be able to pitch that football, but now about this pair: Frank Straner and Cobb Corbett of Clearwater (Fla.) high school completed 21 out of 34 overhead attempts in one game recently. Boys, you can write your own ticket in almost any collitch in the country.

It required 7,720 square yards of material to decorate the winners in the various dog shows last year . . . Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight, is engaged to one of the richest gals in Italy, but says he won't go home until he wins the championship. P. S. Wedding postponed indefinitely . . . The Garden wants to put on a return Lewis-Ettore go . . . Vines and Perry will do their stuff before a swanky mob tonight, Dwight F. Davis, donor of the Davis Cup, will be there. So will former Mayor James J. Walker, Postmaster General Farley, John McCormack, Gloria Swanson and Connie Bennett, to say nothing of Lupe Velez and Johnny Weismuller . . . Gene Tunney will wear the tails for the sports crowd . . . Sorry to hear of the illness of Charlie Dunkley, A.P. sports editor in Chicago and easily the best cook along all Randolph street.

Dusky Film Beauty

Especially imported from Africa to play opposite Paul Robeson, world-famous American stage star, in the spectacle "Jericho," Princess Kouka, Soudanese beauty, is pictured just after her arrival in London. This is the first time she has ever been out of her native Africa.

IN MEMORIAM

FERGUSSON—In loving memory fo Mrs. Alex. Fergusson, 471 Rubidge street, who passed away one year ago to-day.

Quickly and suddenly came the call,
Her sudden death surprised us all;
Dearer to memory than words can tell,
The loss of a mother we loved so well.
Years of sacrifice, little of play,
Loving and giving, and smoothing the way,
Life is too short, mother, ever to pay;
Strong in adversity, ready to do,
Gentle, unselfish, a friend ever true
Our proudest possession, dear mother, was you.

—Ever remembered by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fergusson and grandson Donald.

FERGUSSON—In loving memory of Mrs. Mary Eva Fergusson, who passed away January 6, 1936.

Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

—Ever remembered by Son and Husband.

GREEN—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, James Robert Green, who died the 6th of January, 1932.

Time may heal a broken heart,
Years may make the wound less sore,
But it cannot fill the longing
For the loved ones gone before.
Who shall say the grief is lessened
Though the smile may hide the tears
Memories keep the wound still open,
During the pine of five years.

—Sadly missed by wife and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mr. E. Hanwell and family wish to extend their sincere thanks and appreciation to those who expressed their sympathy and for floral tributes received during their recent sad bereavement.

Mrs. F. Guthrie and family wish to thank their many kind friends and neighbors, also those who loaned cars, for their kindness during our recent sad bereavement, or any person who helped in any way.

I wish to thank all those who supported me at the polls on Monday and wish you one and all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.—Alex. Leaitch, Norwood.

IGOR STRAVINSKY A BRIDGE FIEND AND MOVIE FAN

Also Plays Poker Admits Russian Modern Music Wizard

ARRIVES IN TORONTO

By Ted Farah
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (C.P.).—Igor Stravinsky, the little Russian who has exerted a greater influence on modern music than any other man alive, arrived in Canada for the first time yesterday and confessed calmly that he is a bridge-fiend and an inveterate movie-fan.

The soft-spoken little man with the long artistic nose, spectacles and the cigarette in a holder, here to conduct the Toronto symphony in two of his compositions, thinks tough-jowled Edward G. Robinson is the nuts as a cinema actor. Particularly in gangster pictures does Mr. Stravinsky thrill to the playing of Mr. Robinson. In "Bullets and Ballots", for instance, Little Caesar was "magnifique."

In addition to admitting under questioning that his favorite pastime—after his daily stint of creation—is to run off to a bridge party or the neighborhood cinema in Paris, Mr. Stravinsky says he is as good a poker player as the next fellow.

As a matter of fact, the composer has found such pleasure in psychic bids and bob-tailed flushes that his latest ballet is called "A Card Game in Three Acts" and it will be produced by the American ballet in New York next spring.

Films Leading Way.

Reverting to the cinema, Stravinsky avers that all the development in the theatre today is taking place in the films. Even the bad American pictures, he claims, have vitality and interest.

The fiction writer who thrills Stravinsky more than all the others is Ernest Hemingway, the United States writer. Stravinsky has read some of his books in French and now he is reading Hemingway in English.

The two compositions Stravinsky will conduct here are his Firebird Suite and Petrushka, warm, live music he wrote for Daghileff's ballet in Russia before the war.

Now Stravinsky's proud boast is that he has divorced his creations almost entirely from ideas and intellect. He tells you that the music he writes cannot be discussed in words. It speaks for itself. Music is sound, that's all.

Someone asked what Opus among the masterpieces of music, apart from his own works, he would most have liked to compose. Stravinsky expressed bewilderment at the question. His music was part of him. He wouldn't want to write anyone else's music, only his own.

BULLOCK CHARGED IN STORE LOOTING

Warrant Executed As Prisoner Lies Seriously Wounded in Brantford Hospital

BRANTFORD, Ont., Jan. 6 (C.P.)—Already under guard and charged with participation in the recent Plattsville hold-up, James Bullock, Sr., today was charged with looting Clark and Grant's general store at Teeterville. Bullock is in hospital here, a bullet wound in his lower abdomen, his condition still serious.

The Teeterville robbery warrant, issued at Simcoe, was executed at Bullock's bedside by Provincial Constable Carl W. Farrow and Detective George Kerr. He was charged last week with assault and attempted robbery as sequel to the Plattsville shooting in which Melvin Lachman, garageman, and William Love, his employee, were injured.

He maintained during a period of consciousness he was shot at a bootlegger's, but police charge he received the wound at the Lachman hold-up, in which four men took part.

Bullock is the second man implicated in the store robbery at Teeterville. Nick Uvanille is held at Simcoe, charged with stealing clothing, tobacco, and a .22 Remington bolt action rifle from the store. A rifle of this description had been used to batter Lachman over the head and was picked up in two pieces at the Plattsville crime.

31 INDIANS RESCUED

Snowbound Band Found Near Starvation.

GALLUP, N.M., Jan. 6 (A.P.). — Indian service agents reported by telephone last night they had reached another band of 31 snow-bound Navajo Indians, including a two-weeks-old baby which is in a serious condition.

The Indians were near starvation and ill from exposure to sub-zero temperatures on the snow-swept Western New Mexico plateau. Eleven including the baby, were rescued. An Indian service truck was reported ready to evacuate the other 20 today.

FLU NEARS PEAK ACROSS BRITAIN

5,000 Posties, 800 Policemen Ill—Hospitals Taxed To Limit

LONDON, Jan. 6 (C.P.-Havas).—Britain's influenza epidemic, the most serious in years, was believed today to be rapidly reaching its peak. Hospitals were taxed to capacity, with many doctors working day and night. The flu is of a mild type, however, and the death rate is not alarming.

Out of 24,000 post office employees, 5,000 were down with the flu. The London, Midland and Southern Railway announced one out of six employees of the line was out ill. There were 800 policemen on the sick list.

LEAVES FOR ROYAL WEDDING.

LONDON.—The Duke of Kent left Hendon airdrome early to-day in his private plane bound for the Hague, where he will attend the wedding of Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfield.

The Duke left privately and will not represent the Royal family, since Queen Wilhelmina made it known some time ago that she regarded the wedding as a family affair and was inviting no official guests.

Sewing Machine Top Is Operating Table

Orangeville, Jan. 6.

WORKING by the light provided from a motorcar battery, and utilizing an ordinary sewing machine top as an operating table, three physicians today successfully completed a difficult operation on a 2½-year-old child. Because of the fear of infection from scarlet fever which has broken out in this district, Drs. White, Scott and Leach of Orangeville were unable to bring the young son of Gordon Cole, North Mono Township farmer, to hospital. So they went to the farmhouse, and there performed the mastoid operation which was necessary to save the child's life. Tonight, it was stated, the child stands an excellent chance of recovery.

NEW LEGAL RULES.

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (CP)—Benchers of the Law Society of Upper Canada have drawn up new rules concerning accounts. These are expected to safeguard the interests of the public by preventing the mixture of private funds with trust funds and providing for drastic punishment should barristers and solicitors pursue improper courses in connection with the moneys of their clients. The new rules are applicable to all lawyers in Ontario, effective February 1.

MORE CONTRACTS AWARDED.

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (CP) — Contracts awarded in the Dominion for December, 1936, amounted to $6,118,800, an increase of 40.2 per cent. over the same month in 1935, MacLean Building Reports, Limited, show. Ontario with $2,336,200 and Quebec with $2,132,200, head the list.

Restless Nights - Pepless Days Take the Joy Out of Life

MILBURN'S HEALTH AND NERVE PILLS

The potent cause lies in the hurried life we lead, in the extreme nervous tension and fever heat with which we follow in the pursuit of wealth, position and pleasure.

Late hours, want of necessary rest, excessive mental or physical exertion all put a strain on the system it is unable to withstand. No wonder then you pass restless nights and get up in the morning with no ambition to go about your daily tasks.

Take Milburn's H. & N. Pills and see what they will do for you.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DANGER

Mrs. Longears, the rabbit lady wife of Uncle Wiggily, looked first from one window of the hollow stump bungalow and then from another window. Between times of looking she hopped up and down.

"You are very nervous and fidgity, Mrs. Longears," said Nurse Jane. "What's the matter?"

"I'm worried," said Mrs. Longears.

"What about?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"About Wiggy," was the answer. The rabbit lady called her husband "Wiggy," as a short, pet name. Of course, his ears were very long, but at least he could have a short name and it was "Wiggy" to his wife and friends.

"What's the matter with Mr. Longears?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. Though she and Uncle Wiggily had been good friends many years, Nurse Jane never called him "Wiggy," though he often called her "Janie."

"Wiggy is very slow getting home," went on Mrs. Longears as she hopped around again and looked out of the window once more. "It is getting late. I wish he would come home."

"I wish he would come home."

Night Shadows

"It's dark," said Nurse Jane. It was, indeed. Mrs. Longears could scarcely see from the windows now. The Winter night was casting black shadows over Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountains where Uncle Wiggily lived.

"Did he go any place special?" asked Nurse Jane. "I mean, more than adventuring as he always goes?"

"He took some carrots in his automobile to Widow Jack Rabbit," said Mrs. Longears. "You know her husband was shot by a hunter this last season and she and the children are very poor. So Wiggily, bless his pink, twinkling nose, said he would take her some carrots as we have so many."

"It was kind of him," said Nurse Jane.

"But I can't see what's keeping him," went on the rabbit lady. "He said he would be home early."

"Maybe he found two adventures," said Baby Bunty, who, with the other little rabbit children, was safe in the bungalow as night came. "Unkie Wig likes adventures," said the little orphan rabbit child.

Likes Adventures Too Much

"Indeed, he does. Too much for his own good," said Mrs. Longears, again hopping to a window to look down the dark road along which she hoped her husband would soon come driving.

"Perhaps," said Nurse Jane, trying to be helpful, "he stayed longer to see Widow Jack Rabbit than he meant to."

"Oh, Wiggy wouldn't do that," said his wife. "He said he wouldn't go in—just leave the carrots at the door. Hark! Is that him?"

A noise sounded outside the bungalow. It was only Buster and Custer, who had opened the door to get a few balls of snow, thinking they might play marbles. But the snow melted too quickly.

"Oh, I wish Wiggy would come!" said his wife.

"Do you think he might be in danger?" whispered Nurse Jane.

"He might be," said his wife. "I think I'd better telephone the Police Dog and get him to look for Wiggy." While she was doing this Uncle Wiggily was traveling home through the dark in his automobile. Near the cross-roads a voice called to him: "Be careful of danger!"

"My goodness! I wonder who this is?" thought Mr. Longears. And if you are patient and don't worry (for there is no need) I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's snow slide. But please don't let the football put on its shoes and go out to play tag in the snow.

TORONTO NURSES VOTE 8-HOUR DAY

Would Provide Work For Fifty Per Cent. More Girls Than Under 12-Hour System

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (C.P.). — An eight-hour day for Toronto Graduate Nurses has been decided on by a vote of the membership of the Central Registry of Nurses, it was learned to-day. A majority of more than 400 votes was polled in favor of cutting working hours of nurses on private cases from 12 to eight. The Registry board meeting will be held to-night to consider the vote result.

The eight-hour day, aimed at providing work for 50 per cent. more nurses than have been able to obtain steady employment under the 12-hour day, will also mean reduction in the daily fee to individual nurses, but the cost to patients, who will have three nurses instead of two if 24-hour attention is required, will amount to only 30 cents per day more.

The former Toronto basic rate of $5 for a 12-hour day, plus $1 meal allowance will now be $3.75 for an eight-hour day, plus 35 cents meal allowance. Total cost will be $12.35 against the old rate of $12.00.

Registry nurses get four days' work in rotation. Names of nurses are taken from the top of the list and are placed at the bottom after completing four days on duty.

HUSTON JUDGED BEST ACTOR IN '36

"Mr. Deeds Goes To Town" Catches Critics' Eye As Outstanding Cinema

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (C.P.).—The motion picture "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," starring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur, today bore the stamp of approval of New York's professional critics as the cinema world's best effort during 1936.

Eighteen critics, representing 13 metropolitan newspapers, huddled yesterday for three silent hours before distributing their collective palms to filmdom.

Walter Huston, noted Toronto actor of stage and screen, was adjudged to have given in "Dodsworth" the finest male performance.

Luise Rainer's portrayal of Anna Held in "The Great Zeigfeld" was voted the outstanding female characterization and the pundits decided the finest bit of directing was supplied by Rouben Mamoulian in handling "The Gay Desperado."

France has reduced working time to nine hours in the mines of Indo China and will introduce an eight-hour day, beginning January 1, 1938.

Don't be CARELESS with COLDS

A cold is not something to treat with carelessness or indifference. Thousands of people found this out to their sorrow last year. A cold should be treated quickly and effectively for what it is—an internal infection.

It's only logical to treat an internal infection by internal treatment and that's what you get with GROVE'S BROMO QUININE.

GROVE'S BROMO QUININE acts at the cold from the inside by doing the four necessary things to drive the cold out of the system quickly.

1. It opens the bowels gently but effectively.
2. It combats the cold germs and fever in the system.
3. It relieves the headache and "grippy" feeling.
4. It tones up the system and helps fortify against further attacks.

At the first sign of a cold go to your druggist and buy a box of GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Insist on getting Grove's. Start taking the tablets two at a time. If taken promptly GROVE'S BROMO QUININE will check a cold in 24 hours. This is the kind of action you need.

Grove's has been the standby of thousands for over forty years in the treatment of colds. 432

VARIED ISSUES SHORT SESSION IS PREDICTED

Parliament Will Probably Lay Stress On Canada's Trade Relations

TEXTILE PROBE

OTTAWA, Jan. 6 (CP) — Trade and international affairs promise to bulk large in the debates of parliament which opens Jan. 14, with prospects of a short but active session. While no legislation of startling new import is expected, the program before the members of Senate and House of Commons will have the merit of variety of interest.

The coronation of George VI in May will necessitate an effort to shorten the session. Prorogation may come in April. Usually the session runs into June and often into July.

The past year has seen Canada's trade, both external and domestic, mounting at an encouraging rate. On the international scene, however, threats of war have cast a gloomy shadow over economic improvement. These threats may reflect on the floor of parliament in the form of a review of Canada's position in the League of Nations, an expanded national defence program or demands for one or both.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King will lead any discussion on international affairs with an account of his representation of Canada at the 1936 assembly of the League.

Ratify Agreement

Parliament will be asked to ratify the trade treaty with Germany and may be called upon to ratify a revised trade agreement with the United Kingdom. Negotiations on the latter have been proceeding with a view to ratification at this session if possible. New concessions to the United Kingdom in the form of reductions in the textile duties may appear in the treaty.

The textile industry has been probed by a Royal Commissioner, Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, and his report will probably be laid before parliament. It is expected to contain recommendations on tariff rates.

New legislation on wheat marketing and on the so-called reform laws now before the courts is not expected this year. The decision of the judicial committee of the privy council on the Natural Products Marketing Act, the Employment and Social Insurance Act and other measures will probably come too late to permit the introduction of new legislation at the short session.

As for wheat the government's chief prober, Mr. Justice Turgeon, is in the middle of his inquiry into wheat marketing generally and the operation of the present wheat board. It is probable, therefore, the present wheat board act will continue without major change for another year.

Executive action approving of the abdication of King Edward VIII and the proclamation of his successor will require parliamentary approval in the form of a bill or resolution.

Deal With U.S. Trade

Last session parliament ratified the trade treaty with the United States and members will have something to say this session on its first year of operation. In addition their eyes will turn towards Washington as they watch President Roosevelt in his projected drive to obtain Congressional approval for the St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty.

They will also be asked to ratify an agreement with the United States providing for mutual reduction in income taxes on residents of either country in respect of income derived from property in the other.

Unemployment and relief are perennial topics and members will be able to appraise the initial efforts of the National Employment Commission. New housing legislation with the double-barrelled purpose of providing employment and improving the dwellings of Canadian citizens will be presented.

Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, will likely have some vital material to work on in his budget speech. He will be able to report unexpected increases in revenue, perhaps offset to some extent by increased expenditure. He will urge continued efforts to reach a balanced budget but whether he will forecast the achievement of this aim in 1937-38 is problematical.

Arising out of the recent meeting of the national finance committee legislation will be introduced to strike out the "gold clause" from all contracts to pay, including some $3,000,000,000 worth of federal, provincial, municipal and corporation bonds and debentures.

The action will be largely formal in that with export of gold from Canada prohibited except under license and with United States security holders precluded from demanding payment in gold there is presently no way of fulfilling the gold clause.

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, has plans for the development of aviation and centralization of control over steamship, air, highway and railway rates which may require legislation. An early attempt to establish federal control over highway motor traffic, however, is unlikely.

On the social side the session will be more brilliant than last, when mourning for the late King George V precluded official entertainment. This year Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir will hold their first drawing room on the night of Jan. 15 and many wives and daughters of members elected in 1936 will be presented for the first time.

Heavily Armed German Cruiser Harries Shipping

Tension in the Spanish conflict continued to mount as the German cruiser Koenigsberg, whose forward guns are pictured here in action during naval manoeuvres, continued to harry loyalist shipping in reprisal for holding of the cargo and one passenger of the German freighter Palos at Bilbao. The Palos was released upon demand from the cruiser, but the cargo, allegedly war contraband, was held. The Koenigsberg then seized or drove ashore three loyalist Spanish ships and threatened to continue the "warfare" until Bilbao gave up the captured cargo. Madrid warned that Germany was committing acts of war. Britain may augment her fleet in the Mediterranean to protect her ships from the menace of rebel Spanish fighting craft.

To Relieve Bad Cough Quickly, Mix This at Home

Does the Work in a Hurry, Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, and, for real results, it is still a very dependable thing for distressing coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really superior cough remedy—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

HAMCO COKE
Keeps every room Warm and Cosy AT LESS COST

ANY ordinary furnace burns Hamco Coke without any special equipment.

Last winter, thousands switched to this modern, dustless fuel—so light on the shovel, so simple to regulate, so easy on the budget.

You, too, will find that you can keep your entire house warmer at all hours if you change to Hamco Coke. You will like the way it keeps the house free from smoke and soot—and the small amount of ashes.

Remember—coke will heat your home at a lower cost than other hard fuel.

Because one article is lower priced than another it is not necessarily of poorer quality.

The best illustration of this is in the fuel field. Carefully made coke, such as Hamco Coke, is considerably lower in price than other hard fuels.

But thousands of householders after years of experience, would buy Hamco Coke even if it cost more. They get better heating results, with less trouble, fewer ashes and no soot or smoke.

The economy of coke has long been accepted by popular opinion. It has been demonstrated in innumerable home furnaces — and increasing sales show how the good news is spreading from one householder to another.

The makers of Hamco Coke say—"Buy Hamco Coke, not as a substitute, nor as a way of saving money. Buy it because it is an all-Canadian fuel which will give you greater heating satisfaction. Incidentally, you save many dollars on your winter's supply of fuel if you choose Hamco Coke."

term on the Board. "We deeply regret to learn that he has decided to retire," he said.

Dr. Craig explained that for some time he had realised it was becoming increasingly difficult for him to continue with his duties to the Board owing to pressure of personal business, and "I thought it only fair under the circumstances to tender my resignation. I do it with a certain amount of regret, because my associations on the Board have been very pleasant, and while differences of opinion have arisen from time to time things have gone along very harmoniously in the main."

Ready to Serve Again

He expressed regret that Mr. Walker had been turned down by the electors and spoke of him as being a man of sterling qualities who had rendered outstanding service to the Board. "I know he has the interest of the community at heart and that when the opportunity comes along will be prepared to give further service on the Board."

Dr. Craig also spoke of his long and pleasant associations with Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal of P.C.I. and V.S. and with Inspector A. Mowat.

After the motion had been put to the vote and Dr. Craig's resignation formally accepted, Dr. Moir, who is retiring chairman of the Board, voiced appreciation for the fine measure of support that had been given him by every member, and hoped that the same spirit of service and cooperation would characterize the work of the incoming Board.

He told the press that the incoming Board has the authority to appoint a member to fill the unexpired balance of Dr. Craig's term and anticipated the appointment would be made at the initial meeting of the 1937 Board on Thursday evening.

HAVELOCK Y.P.L. PREPARE SUPPER

Interesting Travelogue Through North Michigan Is Given By Max Warne

HAVELOCK, Jan. 6.—The Young People's League of the Havelock United church, commenced their 1937 activities Monday evening, with a pleasant program conducted by Miss Helen Buchanan, leader of the Christian Fellowship group. A travelogue, by Mr. Max Warne, describing a three weeks' trip through North Michigan, was very interesting, as was the recitation given by Mrs. James Young. The New Year resolutions presented by the different members were quite varied and the cause of much laughter.

A pot-luck supper will be held next Monday night before the regular meeting.

The first of three special services in the annual week of prayer was held on Tuesday evening in the United church, with Rev. S. A. Kemp conducting the service. The second will be held in the Methodist church on Thursday evening, and the third and final will be held on Friday night in St. John's Anglican church. The services commence at 8 o'clock p.m.

ANNUAL CONCERT GIVEN AT WARSAW

Pupils Of Presbyterian Sunday School Present Very Enjoyable Program

WARSAW, Jan. 6.—Warsaw Town Hall was well filled on New Year's evening for the Presbyterian S.S. entertainment at which Dr. Munro, S.S. superintendent, presided.

The Infant class told their wishes; Willa Wright sang a little song; Rodney Douglas recited; "The Little Mothers", a pretty dialogue by little girls; June Bell gave a song; five junior girls sang Christmas carols; Alvin Bell recited; Donalda Payne and Marjorie Clements sang a duet; junior boys and junior girls gave a pretty representation of camping times. They sat around a camp-fire with their musical instruments and played and sang. The stage lights were shaded and the hall lights were out. The pantomime by seven senior girls, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," was especially pretty. A play, "Double Crossed," ended the program.

Mr. E. N. McDonald was present and about the middle of the program emphasized S.S. work, urging everyone to make an attempt to attend. Mr. Robert Somers also said a few words of encouragement in his usual genial way.

Candies and gifts were distributed and the gathering broke up after Auld Lang Syne. The hall was prettily decorated and lighted, in red and green.

Social Evening Held

Owing to the stormy weather on Wednesday, December 30, the United Church W.A. social evening was not so well attended as hoped. The winning side for attendance, led by Mrs. Charlotte Cooper, was entertained by the losing side, led by Mrs. George Weller. Those who were there had a jolly time. There were carols, contests, among them a wedding contest and pictures of people of note, games, spin the plate and others. A delicious supper was served. Thanks were tendered the ladies for the very enjoyable evening. Each lady was invited to bring husband, brother, or some boy friend. Mrs. John Sargent, who was an active member before moving to Peterborough, was present, also Mr. Sargent.

HOME EDITION

VOL. LXXVIII, No. 5 — PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1937 — PRICE THREE CENTS

GOVERNMENT SAVES CITY RATEPAYERS $20,200

ONTARIO TAKES WHOLE BURDEN PENSION COST

Also Assumes Entire Mothers' Allowance But Will Keep All Income Taxes

BENEFIT 935 CENTRES

Five Only To Suffer—Switch May Cost Province Million Dollars

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (C.P.)— Enunciating a "policy of the greatest good for the greatest number," Hon David Croll, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs, to-day announced 935 municipalities would profit and five would suffer losses from the Government's new plan to assume the municipalities' share of the cost of mothers' allowances and old-age pensions.

There will be no rebate to the five municipalities losing on the plan, he said. Toronto's loss was estimated at $468,000 and losses for the other four centres were: London $10,000, Ottawa $25,000, Windsor $15,909, Brockville $5,300.

Figures were arrived at by municipal officials by considering the 1936 payments for old-age pensions and mothers' allowances.

The Government will retain all revenue from the provincial income tax as stipulated in the legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature.

May Cost $1,000,000.

Mr. Croll estimated the Government would assume extra expenditures amounting to $750,000 under the new plan, but treasury officials said the new Government responsibility may cost the province $1,000,000.

Figures available indicate the counties will profit generally more than the urban centres.

"We are not making a special case of any municipality," Mr. Croll said. "It is a clear-cut policy that will apply to every municipality. Those that gain will be tickled and the few that lose will just have to take care of the loss."

The municipalities were not consulted on the move, the Minister said.

At present provincial income tax shared with the municipalities totalled $2,248,000. Cost of the new social welfare policy would be about 43,000,000. The Dominion Government now pays 75 per cent of old-age pensions, the province 15 per cent and municipalities 10.

Toronto Heaviest Loser.

The province and municipalities carry the full burden of mothers' allowances on a 50-50 basis. Through the latest change, the five municipalities adversely affected, including Toronto, would lose from a few thousand to several hundred thousand dollars.

Study of last year's civic budget estimates and recent report of the Toronto old age pension board, indicates Toronto would lose $468,000 by the government retaining income tax revenues.

The city's share of old-age pension costs last year was $229,000; mothers' allowances costs were $510,000. With the government taking over these two services, the city is relieved of an annual charge of $739,000. However, last year Toronto obtained from the government a rebate of $1,207,000, compensation for abolition of the Municipal Income Tax a payment now abolished.

London officials figure they lose about $20,000 to $25,000 annually, according to City Clerk K. C. Crawford. London's share of the mothers' allowance payments has been about $50,000 annually and for old

WHEEL CHAIR FOR POPE

Pontiff Hopes Thus to Regain Some of His Old Activity

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 7—(A.P.)—Pope Pius XI, refreshed by a relatively good night's sleep, inspected to-day the specially constructed wheel chair he hoped would bring back a measure of his old activity.

Well informed circles said the Holy Father was eager to undertake all work his doctor, Professor Aminta Milani, would allow.

As an indication of his continued interest, prelates said the Pontiff was carrying on his fight against Communism from his sick bed.

British Flu Wave Sees Quarter of London Ill

Malady Sweeping U.S. In Unusual Mild Spell Brings on Pneumonia

New York City Reports 227 Deaths From The Disease In One Week

20,000 SICK IN DENVER

Hospitals In Both Countries Filled To Overflowing With List Growing

LONDON, Jan., 7—(C.P.).—England and the United States to-day were in the grip of an influenza epidemic, milder by far than the great death-dealing plague of 20 years ago, but sufficient to cause widespread inconvenience and a number of deaths.

Greater London reported one person out of every four affected by the malady that has taken actors from the stage, policemen from their beats, clerks from their counters, and athletes from the playing fields.

Unseasonably mild weather was blamed for the malady which, in the United States, was accompanied by an unusually high number of pneumonia cases.

New York City reported 227 deaths through pneumonia last week ,with 20 deaths from flu. Colder weather during the past 48 hours appeared to have halted the ravages of the twin maladies that have jammed hospitals to overflowing.

Denver, Colorado, reported 20,000 respiratory cases, while 129 deaths in less than a month were counted in the United States Rockey Mountain belt. Cincinnati, Ohio, despatches said 123 had died in the nearby Tri-State area in two weeks.

In England the epidemic was widespread, with 1,400 London policemen off duty and noted actors such as Charles Laughton, Sir John Martin Harvey — whose Dickens' characterizations are so well known in Canada—and Dorothy Dix unable to appear on the stage.

At Oxford the entire crew training for the university boat race were inoculated as a precautionary measure.

HOLLAND REJOICES AS JULIANA TAKES GERMAN HUSBAND

Burgomaster Performs First Of Brilliant Double Ceremonies At Town Hall

GOLDEN CARRIAGE USED

THE HAGUE, Jan. 7 (A.P.) — A burgomaster to-day made Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard Zu Lippe-Biesterfeld man and wife in the traditional Dutch civil ceremony.

Joyful cheers swept across packed streets as the Prince and Princess started from the Royal Palace in a golden carriage to be married, first civilly at the Town Hall and then in Great St. James' Church, according to the customs of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Juliana was resplendent in a wedding dress that glittered under a silver robe. Bernhard, smiling happily, was a handsome figure in the full dress uniform of a captain in the Blue Hussars.

"Do you confess your willingness to take Juliana as your legal wife and to support her wherever she goes?"

"Yes," the Prince replied.

When the burgomaster asked Juliana the counterpart of the same question, she answered unhesitatingly, but in a low, hushed voice. "Yes."

"Then" the burgomaster said, placing their hands together, "under Dutch law I declare you to be married, and am now entitled to address you as Your Highnesses."

Queen Gives Approval.

Before performing the ceremony, Dr. De Monchy received the nodded approval of Queen Wilhelmina, the bride's mother, and Princess Armgard, Bernhard's mother.

The enthusiasm of the people for the marriage of Queen Wilhelmina's only daughter, future ruler of the Land of Dykes and Windmills and its vast colonial empire, was unbounded.

Four times the population of this ancient capital of "Europe's biggest little nation" thronged the streets for a glimpse of the tall, plump bride and the scion of German royalty who they prayed would ensure the succession of the House of Orange-Nassau.

Many who had waited through the night for vantage places along the route of the wedding procession were delighted by the culmination of a Swiss holiday romance which united "Our Juliana" and Prince

DR. MONTGOMERY PASSES IN EMBRO

Well-Known Physician Of Cavan And South Monaghan Dead

MILLBROOK, Jan. 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—Dr. Wilson Montgomery of Embro, Ontario, died today. For some years he was associated with Dr. Turner in his medical practice here, and was held in widest respect in the community.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery, he was born at Garden Hill. At the outset of his career he was mathematics master at Pickering College, but returning to University of Toronto he later graduated in medicine. His first practice was at South Monaghan. Later he practiced medicine in Washington territory before returning to his native county. Prior to taking up residence at Embro twenty-six years ago, he was associated with Dr. Turner.

On the shores of the Dead Sea a new factory capable of producing 30,000 tons of potash annually is being built.

Wanderer 96, Settles Down To Await Arrival of His Dog

STILL LIKES TO WALK

MOUNTAIN GROVE, Ont., Jan. 7.—(CP).— Aged Robert Beverley, wanderer for nearly 80 years of North American highways, was trying to decide to-day the question of settling down as he made himself comfortable in this small village, 40 miles north of Kingston. His only anxiety was for the safe arrival of his old dog Flossie, waiting in Peterborough railway station for the next train north.

The 96-year-old hiker came to Mountain Grove from Guelph to stay with his niece-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Beverley, who hopes the wander-lust has left the veteran of the road. Beverley had intended walking the 250 miles from Guelph, but illness sent him grumbling to hospital, a strange place for him. Guelph friends decided when he was able to leave the institution the best way to travel for the aged man was by train.

As far as the train journey was concerned, Beverley said he considered it "tiresome"—the scenery went flying past too fast for enjoyment. He missed the affectionate Flossie on the trip. Railway officials barred her from the passenger train so she had to stay over in Peterborough until noon to-day.

Italy, Germany Take Conciliatory Attitude

Both Send Answers To Franco-British Demand—Rome "Agrees In Principle"

MAY BE KEY TO PEACE

ROME, Jan. 7 (A.P.). — Italy, agreeing "in principle" that foreign volunteers should be discouraged from enlisting in Spain, answered Franco-British demands for non-intervention to-day with reservations pointed at the French.

The Italian reply to the two-power plea for a stoppage of the flow of Italian and German volunteers to the Spanish Civil War was handed by Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, to Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador, and J. F. Blondel, French Charge d'Affaires.

Informed sources said the three-page note, closely typed, agreed as a matter of principle to discouragement of the volunteer enlistments, yet raised a number of points and many reservations.

These were in particular based upon the question of the Franco-Spanish border, over which most of the international volunteers fighting with Madrid have passed.

Berlin Replies.

BERLIN, Jan. 7 (A.P.). — Germany sent her answer to French and British pleas for a stoppage of Spanish volunteer enlistments to the Embassies of those two Powers to-night.

Believed to reflect a conciliatory attitude, the lengthy note gave a comprehensive statement of Germany's position on the whole Spanish non-intervention problem.

Eden Sees Bismarck.

LONDON, Jan. 7 (C.P.). — Foreign Secretary Eden expounded the increasing gravity of the Spanish volunteer question in a frank talk to-night with Prince Otto Von Bismarck, the German Charge d'Affaires.

Facing anxiously-awaited Italo-German replies to a plea to stop volunteers, the Foreign Secretary closeted himself with the German envoy after an important conference with Prime Minister Baldwin.

Informed sources, according to the Associated Press, said the replies of the Fascist Powers might have a vital effect on the peace of Europe.

PARIS, Jan. 7 (AP).—Thirty-four French naval vessels, accompanied by a number of submarines, will be concentrated in Spanish waters by January 19 "in case they are needed in connection with the Spanish crisis," officials announced today.

SCOT COMPTROLLER ON JOB 40 YEARS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (C.P.). — Duncan MacInnes, a Scotsman born and bred, who has gained considerable local renown by pinching taxpayers' pennies in his capacity as First Deputy City Comptroller, today was launched on his 40th and final year as an employee of the Finance Department.

MacInnes, known as "the best watchdog the city treasury ever had," will be 75 to-morrow, but he has been conservative in all things, and that, he allows, is responsible for his robust health. He is throwing away his harness because he is far past the retirement age, not because he wants to.

FRANCE TO BAR TURKEY SEIZING PORT IN SYRIA

Trouble Looms As Dictator Ataturk Demands Alexandretta's Independence

MOBILIZES DIVISIONS

Turkish Cabinet Meets Within Few Miles Of Border—Fears Italy Getting Town

PARIS, Jan. 7.—(CP-Havas)—France will not tolerate any armed coup by Turkey for the seizure of Alexandretta, North Syrian port, it was indicated today following reports Kemal Ataturk was preparing some drastic move on the Turko-Syrian frontier.

The threats of armed Turkish action in support of the demand for Alexandretta's independence from the French mandate, coupled to Ataturk's holding of a cabinet meeting yesterday within a few miles of the border at Ecki-Shehir, were regarded here as attempts at intimidation offering no real reason for alarm.

Nevertheless it was understood the Quai D'Orsay has already entered into communication with London on the situation in the Sanjak (district or administrative area) of Alexandretta.

What attracted no little attention was a statement published in the semi-official organ of Kemal Pasha, "Cumhuriyet," which declared "turkey is determined to win its point in this affair by all and any means and if war should result it will be France's fault."

In connection with reports two Turkish divisions had recently been mobilized in the Syrian frontier region, it was said here France has only three battalions in the vicinity of the Sanjak, one of them at Antioch.

Considerable anti-French agitation is being directed by Turkish papers in Alexandretta and in Antioch, the two chief centres of the Sanjak, it was said.

Demands Independence.

Yesterday Kemal Ataturk held a four-hour cabinet session at Eski-Shehir, only a few miles from the Sanjak, at which the demand the territory be given an independent status in connection with the termination of the French mandate over Syria was discussed.

$114,711 SAVED—

THE Ontario Government's decision to assume full cost of old-age pensions and mothers' allowances provides immediate relief to the municipalities. The City and County Councils were charged with half the cost of mothers' allowances and 10 per cent. of old-age pensions.

From local and district information to-day the benefit throughout the district, which totals $114,711, is tabulated in the following approximate amounts as compared with 1936 payments:

City of Peterborough gain — $20,200.

Northumberland and Durham gain—59,000.

County of Peterborough gain—$22,711.

Victoria - Haliburton gain—$22,800.

FORT BELVEDERE IS BEING CLOSED

Edward's Effects Being Stored —George To Decide On Estate's Disposal

LONDON, Jan. 7 (CP Cable).—Fort Belvedere, the Duke of Windsor's favorite residence as Prince of Wales and King, today had been cleared of furniture and effects. It will remain empty, it is understood, until King George decides its future.

Linen, plate and such things have been stored at Windsor Castle until the Duke requires them. The Belvedere estate is being kept up perfectly, and it is believed it will go to a member of the Royal Family or a personal friend of the new King.

Meanwhile, preparations are proceeding at Buckingham Palace to provide a suite for the King and his family, who are still resident at 145 Piccadilly. A moving date has not been fixed.

BULLET IS TAKEN FROM BULLOCK

Lead Believed Fired In Plattsville Holdup Is Found Under Skin Of Thigh

BRANTFORD, Ont., Jan. 7 (CP).—A bullet was removed by doctors here last night at the Brantford General Hospital from the thigh of James Bullock, Sr., held in custody here on charges of breaking and entering John Langwin's blacksmith shop, assault and attempted robbery at Plattsville garage, breaking and entering and theft of goods valued at $400 from Teeterville general store. Bullock was shot in the lower abdomen ten days ago, but the bullet was not located until yesterday, when an incision was made in the thigh. The bullet was thought to be in the abdomen, but it had plowed through the abdominal wall and intestines and through the thigh. It was imbedded just under the skin.

Physicians are uncertain whether the bullet is a .22 long, and it has been turned over to Inspector Charles Gurnett, of the criminal investigation branch of the Ontario Provincial Police.

BRITAIN TO BUILD 4 NEW ARSENALS

Contracts Let For Government Plants At Cost Of $20,000,000 Each

LONDON, Jan. 7 (CP-Havas). — Contracts were let today for the construction of one of the four new arsenals planned by the government at a cost of $20,000,000 each. The arsenal will be erected at Shorley, Lancashire.

Special safety designs will be employed to avoid disasters from explosions. The plant will consist of no less than 500 separate buildings. In none of them will explosives be concentrated in quantities capable of causing any damage to the others in the event of an accidental explosion.

Timely Relief Given Ontario's Taxpayers By Hepburn Cabinet

Assumes Entire Cost Of Old Age Pensions And Mothers' Allowances

COUNTY $22,711.59

Saving Of $50,000 Made In Northumberland And Durham Counties

Substantial and timely relief to the taxpayers of the city and county of Peterborough and of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham will be the direct result of provincial government's assumption of the entire cost of old age pensions and mothers' allowances.

Statements today by representatives of these municipalities were unanimous that the government had taken "a step in the right direction" mainly because these social services have been steadily increasing and have been a cause of worry to every municipal council in the district against which these charges have been levied.

The Hepburn government had previously relieved the city and county municipalities of complete liability for the construction and maintenance of provincial highways in response to remonstrance and agitation, especially from the farmers, that had been continuous for years. Objection to the charge of half the cost of mothers' allowances and 10 per cent of old age pensions has been a more recent development, culminating in petitions to the government to assume these costs.

Hon. Mr. Croll's announcement today explains the Ontario government's new policy of retaining local income taxes, which it collected for the first time last year, and granting the municipalities exemptio nfrom all costs of old age pensions and mothers' allowances. In this respect the counties apparently fare even better than the cities, for income taxes in the rural communities were negligible sums.

Mayor Geordie Macdonald

"Hon Mr. Croll's announcement is very good news and is especially welcome as the council starts out on the new year," Mayor Macdonald said this morning. "It is a direct benefit to the taxpayers, and according to last year's figures I think it will be equivalent to a reduction of nearly a mill in the tax rate. I can't recall the exact figures off hand, but the saving will be in that neighborhood. Of course this applies only to last year, because our income tax receipts last year which came back to us from the government were about the lowest we ever collected.

The government has done the right thing because these social services were put into effect by the provincial government. They were created by the government who are now assuming the full burden. That is why it is a big step in the right direction."

Morley E. Shaver, city treasurer, informed the Examiner that the city's payments to the government in 1936 were $21,150 for mothers' allowances and $8,953 for old age pensions, a total of $30,103. Peterborough received from the Ontario government late in 1936 a cheque for $9,869.54, representing the amount of income tax collected in Peterborough by the provincial government under the new arrangement by which the province undertook to collect this income tax and refund to the municipality approximately the amount which the municipality itself had collected during the preceding year.

"That makes a difference of $20,200 as the amount we paid for those services last year in excess of the income refund from the government," Mr. Shaver said. "In one sense it means more than that because these social service charges have been mounting year by year, and might be higher again in 1937. A mill on the assessment last year was equivalent to $24,000 in round numbers, so this $20,200 is quite a large part of a mill."

City Clerk Armstrong pointed out that the 1936 income tax was based on the 1935 income assessment, "which was the lowest we ever had".

"There have been years when the income assessment reached $900,000, and at our present rate this would have provided income revenue of approximately $33,000," Mr. Armstrong said.

Even Trains Halt For Hunt In England

Melton Mowbray, England, Jan. 7.

At Wednesday's meet of the Belvoir hounds, the fox and hounds swam the River Eye twice and then crossed the railway tracks just as the approach of a London express was signalled. The huntsmen were endangered. A railway worker with a red flag ran along the tracks to signal the train, which slowed down as it approached the scene of the hunt.

The fox escaped.

SPECIAL WARDENS ON RICE LAKE ARE ASKED FOR SPRING

Fish And Game Association Of United Counties Plans To Extend Sphere Of Influence

PETITION FOR HATCHERY

(By A Staff Reporter)

BEWDLEY, Jan. 7.—Extension of its sphere of influence and activities was planned by the Durham and Northumberland Fish and Game Protective Association Wednesday night by the appointment of Harry Holdaway, Port Hope, as vice-president for that town, and by authorizing the executive to appoint as other vice-presidents representatives named by branches or local committees of the association in Cobourg and at Cesarea on Lake Scugog.

Stimulation of interest in similar branches in Campbellford, Hastings, Trent Bridge and Orono was also proposed with the intention that these local groups would promote conservation of fish and game in their respective areas, and become attached to the main association for the two counties at least by a vice-president for each place who would attend meetings of the parent body and thereby strengthen the organization in Northumberland and Durham.

Ezra Houghtailing and Frank Stover of Cobourg attended the meeting at Bewdley, but they preferred to wait until they had consulted other members in their town about designating a vice-president. A letter from B. K. Williams of Warkworth suggested that the Percy township village might provide another branch, and the president, Joseph Thorne of Cavan township, said that he and other members of the executive would attend meetings of the branches to assist them in their own efforts toward broader organization.

The objective of the central association is to enlist as many as possible of the sportsmen of Durham and Northumberland in the enterprise of protecting the fish and game resources within their own counties as an attraction for tourists, and as a means of co-operating with the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries in giving effect to the present laws and in devising

Raid Ends Slot Machine Fever Nick of Time For Haliburton

Children Spend Grocery Change, Sunday School Collection, Rink Admission

THEN MAKE UP SLUGS

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 7 (CP)—Business is now back to normal in the village of Haliburton, according to a correspondent who writes slot machines, running wide open in the village of Haliburton for two months, reaped a bountiful harvest. The craze swept the village with such force that Sunday School collections where allegedly reduced to a minimum and patronage at the local rink fell off to such an extent that the condition became serious.

Children sent to the stores for supplies returned home minus the proper change. The slot machines were gobbling the village up. When legal coin ran out, the inventive genius of the village manufactured slugs from cardboard, and lead coverings of tea packages suddenly were in great demand for the same purpose.

Then some citizens complained and Provincial Constable Cecil Taylor of Minden swooped down on the northern village and raided all the slot machine establishments. The machines have all been removed and business is now back to normal, much to the satisfaction of the large number of indignant citizens who were instrumental in effecting the clean-up.

Argentina will spend about $7,000,000 on navigation and port works in the next five years.

Would Footprint All Wandering Purps

Pocatello, Jan. 7.

A rogue's gallery for tough mutts and a missing purps' bureau—footprinting, photographing and all — was advocated today by Poundmaster S. M. Cook.

He said he would seek sanction to footprint and "Mug" all stray dogs, hoping to expand the city pound into an elaborate identification bureau.

He said pads of dogs' feet have swirls on them like human fingers.

Cook asserted his bureau would be valuable in tracing missing canine aristocrats as well as identifying "bad actors."

DUNNETTE CRASH COSTS COUNTIES $2,536 DAMAGES

Accident Near Roseneath Injured Plaintiff's Wife Fatally, Drowned Son

$16,000 CLAIMED

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—Mr. Justice Keiller MacKay in a judgment given at Osgoode Hall yesterday ordered the United counties of Durham and Northumberland to pay $2,536 and costs to Joseph Dunnette, farmer living near Roseneath as damages arising out of a motor accident Nov. 19, 1935 in which plaintiff's wife was fatally injured, his son drowned and the plaintiff seriously hurt. Dunnette claimed $10,000 damage for the death of his wife, $1,000 for his son and $5,000 for his own injuries.

The accident took place between the villages of Baltimore and Roseneath. Plaintiff claimed his car, driven by his son, was eased off the roadway and crashed down an unprotected embankment and into a river.

Albert E. Johnson, driver of the car Dunnette had pulled over to allow to pass was named as co-defendant but the action against Johnson was dismissed by His Lordship, Mr. Justice MacKay held that the driver of the Dunnette car made every effort to control the vehicle but that the accident occured because of the unguarded and dangerous condition of the shoulder of the highway.

AUSTRALIA WINS THIRD TEST MATCH

English batsmen Are Dismissed For a Total Of 323 In Second Innings

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 7 (C.P. Cable). — Australian cricketers won the third test match against England to-day by 365 runs, dismissing the English batsmen for a total of 323 runs in their second innings.

Led by their famous captain, Don Bradman, who scored 270 runs, the Aussies were dismissed before lunch to-day for a second innings total of 564. Trailing by 688 runs the Englishmen fought back doggedly and at the close of play had compiled 236 for the loss of six wickets. Australia's first attempt netted 200 for nine, declared, the tourists making 76 for nine, declared, in reply.

Victory for the Antipodeans will give them another chance to retain the mythical "Ashes." England having taken the first two tests at Brisbane and Sydney, two tests remain to be played.

The current Test series now stands at two matches to one in favor of England, the tourists having won previous tests at Brisbane and Sydney. Two matches in the series remain to be played.

TRANSIENT HELD BURGLAR SUSPECT

Believed To Have Robbed Tweed Rectory After Being Given Meal

TWEED, Jan. 7.—Taking advantage of the previous hospitality shown him, a man, who police state is Norman McDermott, address not stated, was arrested in the village of Madoc, on Tuesday, after allegedly burglarizing the rectory of Father Meagher. Early Tuesday Father Meagher had taken compassion upon a transient and had assisted him in the matter of a meal. Later the rectory was broken into and a sum of money stolen. McDermott was arrested by Constable Danford and placed in the Belleville County Jail on charges of breaking and entering and the theft of the money. His case will be heard in a subsequent police court.

Patrick Palmer, of the village of Frankford, was arrested on Wednesday by Provincial Constable W. E. Smith on a charge of accusing his father-in-law, Charles Bowman with an indictable offence, with the intent to extort money. Palmer was arrested while cutting wood on the sixth concession of the township of Sidney, at noon on Wednesday, following reports received from his father-in-law, regarding letters written to him, allegedly in Palmer's handwriting and not only accusing Bowman of an indictable offence, but also suggesting that certain monies be turned over to Palmer in attempted extortion. The amount mentioned in the letter was a small sum, Provincial Police stated. Palmer was taken before a Justice of Peace, and remanded in custody until Friday. The entire matter is a family affair, it was stated by the police.

Finds Cows Eat Less Give More With Radio

Greenfield, Ind., Jan. 7 (AP). ALMON Wickard installed a radio in his cowshed a week ago so he could listen to his favorite programs while milking.

It didn't occur to him, he said today, that the cows would pay any attention to the contraption, but it had some surprising results. Before the installation a three-gallon bucket would hold all the milk his two cows gave, Wickard said, but now their lacteal output shows a daily increase of two gallons.

And the farmer finds that while turning away from the feed box to listen to the radio the cows eat only about half as much as they used to.

STRUCK ON JAW CONSTABLE DIES

Ottawa Police Hold For Investigation Lorne Kennedy, Electrician of Arnprior

ATTACK IS ALLEGED

OTTAWA, Jan. 7 (C.P.). — Constable Robert Mahlig of the Canadian National Railways Police, was killed last night in the Union Station, and police held for investigation a man identifying himself as Lorne Kennedy, 43, electrician, of Arnprior, Ont.

Kennedy was taken to police station by John A. White, assistant stationmaster, after Mahlig was dropped to the floor by what spectators said was a vigorous blow to the jaw.

Mahlig fell on the stone flagging of the station lobby, and the coroner found he was dead.

Kennedy said first Mahlig was chasing men out of the station and that he believed he fell down stairs. Witnesses said, however, the constable fell on the floor a considerable distance from the steps leading to the concourse.

ST. PATRICK SUPPER WILL BE ARRANGED

Bailieboro Ladies' Institute To Hold Event For Lighting Fund

BAILIEBORO, Jan. 7.—Mrs. T. A. Skitch, president of the local branch of the Women's Institute, presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Society when they met at the home of Mrs. Blanche Dawson on Tuesday afternoon.

A most interesting meeting opened the activities for the New Year. Mrs. Dawson Rutherford gave a talk on "Togetherness," and Mrs. Gerald Dawson, a paper on "Color." Mrs. John Heaslip gave an excellent talk on "New Year's Resolutions" The secretary, Miss Leurie Jackson, read a letter of thanks from a Toronto family for a package of Christmas cheer sent from the local Institute.

The ladies decided to put on a St. Patrick's supper with a program and a debate, the proceeds to be used to light the village streets.

Mrs. Dawson served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Personals

Mr. John Greer shipped a truck load of cattle to Toronto on Monday.

Mr. Frank Tickner has moved his family from Millbrook and is residing in the residence at the rear of his garage.

Mr. Howard Lancashire of Millbrook was a visitor to the village on Wednesday.

Mr. M. Perrin returned from Toronto on Monday where he was a business visitor.

Another case of measles was reported in the village on Tuesday and several residents of the district are ill with flu.

Mr. W. D. Hibbard, of Bewdley, spent Tuesday at his summer home at Rice Lake.

The Young People's Union executive are holding an executive meeting in the church on Tuesday evening.

BOY SAVES FAMILY

Spots Flames on Roof, Warns Father, Who Rushes Children Out.

OTTAWA, Jan. 7.—(CP).—Prompt alarm sounded by young Oswald Lavergne resulted in his seven brothers and sisters being saved from fire early to-day. The lad was playing in the yard of his home when he saw flames shooting from the roof. He ran into the house and warned his father, Eugene Lavergne, who carried the other children from the blazing house. Several were in bed in the upper part of the building.

Duke Of Kent To Visit The Duke Of Windsor

ENZESFELD, Austria, Jan. 7 (C. P.-Havas). — The Duke of Kent is expected to arrive here on Saturday or Sunday to visit his brother, the Duke of Windsor. The Duke of Kent is at The Hague to attend the wedding of Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard Zu Lippe-Biesterfeld today.

VIENNA.— (CP).— Austria will spend for armaments the $34,000,000 profit shown in 1935 by the government tobacco monopoly.

Itching, Burning, Stinging Eczema or Salt Rheum

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Eczema or Salt Rheum as it is often called is one of the most agonizing of skin diseases.

The intense burning, itching, smarting, especially at night, or when the affected part is exposed to heat, or the hands placed in water, are almost unbearable.

Use Burdock Blood Bitters internally, and apply it externally. A few bottles are usually sufficient to afford relief from this torturing blood and skin disease.

FIRST SURPLUS IN MANY YEARS SHOWN IN CHURCH REPORT

Bailieboro United Hears Of Splendid Progress Made During 1936

A SPLENDID SPIRIT

BAILIEBORO, Jan. 7. — About twenty-five members of the congregation of the local United Church gathered in the hall on Tuesday evening and did justice to one of the finest pot-luck suppers ever put on in connection with the church activities.

At the conclusion of the bountiful repast the church members retired to the auditorium of the church where the annual congregational meeting was held.

The pastor, Rev. E. M. Cook presided and led the meeting in an impressive worship service.

Alex Watt was reappointed secretary of the church and read the minutes of the 1936 congregational meeting.

Rev. Mr. Cook in his report stated that there was a resident membership of one hundred members. There had been one death among the members during the past year. Sixty-five dollars from the local church had been paid into the Missionary and Maintenance fund. Mr. Cook voiced his hearty appreciation for the co-operation he had received during the past year and told those present that he was happy to be able to bring to the people one of the most encouraging reports that has been presented at a local congregational meeting for many years.

Will Have Balance

The treasurer's report presented by Mr. Cook in the absence of the treasurer, Mr. T. E. Dawson was one of the finest presented in many years. All expenses had been paid and only nineteen dollars was owing on the minister's salary. Over thirty dollars was yet to be handed to the treasurer and this would leave a balance on hand for the first time in many years.

Mr. T. E. Dawson was unanimously reappointed to the office of treasurer and special mention was made by Pastor and elders of the excellent services rendered by Mr. Dawson in this capacity.

The reports presented by representatives of Young People's Union and Sunday School were very favourable and in each instance a substantial balance was shown in the past year's finances as well as increased enthusiasm in the activities.

The report of the Ladies' Aid disclosed that there were eighteen members who had paid dues during the past year. The receipts for the year had been in the neighborhood of two hundred and eighty dollars and there was a balance on hand of over seventy dollars. Much credit was given the small group of ladies who under the leadership of their president, Mrs. Blanche Dawson had done a great deal to help carry on as well as balance the budget.

Mr. Offa Williamson, and Mr. John Porter were appointed auditors to audit the church books.

Stewards appointed for 1937 were Messrs. Harry Barnard chairman, N. Earl, O. Williamson, A. Watt, F. C. Jewison.

Elder Re-appointed

Mr. John Porter was the retiring elder and was reappointed for the next three years. The other elders are Brothers W. H. Barnard and T. E. Dawson.

Ushers appointed were Alax Watt chairman, George Dean, Arthur Bateman, Lloyd Jewison, Frank Barnard, Wilbur Smith, Harland Seens.

The committee appointed to purchase fuel was Messrs. O. Williamson, Percy Barnard and G. Dawson, while the parsonage committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dawson, Mrs. B. Dawson and Mr. O. Williamson.

Miss Frances Watt was appointed organist with Miss Jean Dawson assistant.

Mrs. F. Hie was reappointed caretaker. The committee to look after the Missionary and Maintainance fund was as follows: Miss Clara Seens, Mrs. J. Jewison, Mrs. M. Perrin, N. Earl, A. Watt and F. Barnard.

The board of stewarts will form a committee to look into the advisability of building a church hall.

Those present at the congregational meeting decided one and all that the general atmosphere which prevailed throughout the past year as well as at the annual meeting was one which was of an inspirational value. Harmony prevailed in every department of the church's activities and the future outlook was most encouraging owing to the untiring efforts of minister and congregation.

THE BLOODHOUNDS BAY

by Walter S. Masterman

CHAPTER 32

TO SELDEN'S astute mind several things were evident from the state of Sylvia's bedroom. There were no marks of blood or signs of any struggle, and it seemed impossible that Sylvia and the two children should have been abducted without rousing the house or causing some noise. Then the noise of carrying them, if they had been drugged, surely even in this storm must have given an alarm? True, only Lady Severinge slept in the front part of the house and the rest of the household were far away. But even then? There was something all wrong here. Why should the light have been left burning? It seemed more probable that Sylvia had become alarmed either genuinely or from nerves, and had taken the children to another room. But then, why had she not left some message for Reid?

On thing was certain—he could not rouse the household and give the alarm, nor could he conduct a search himself. If kidnapping had taken place it was hardly likely that the kidnapers would be so foolish as to remain in the house—or, at any rate, in a place where they could be found by him at this time of night.

Grave as the situation was, his duty obviously was to return to Reid and find out what he knew about the threatened danger, and in any case he did not like leaving the wounded man alone in the cottage.

He switched off the light in the window, thinking grimly that perhaps the extinguished signal might be seen by others, and made his way back by the way he had come. On the other side of the lake he looked back at the silent pile, like some gigantic monster hiding its dread secrets.

Soaking wet and desperately tired, he knocked softly at the door of the cottage. Getting no answer, he turned the handle and it yielded to his touch. Reid had either been unable to reach the door to lock it, or had fainted away before he could do so. He was lying where Selden had left him, his face flushed, and breathing heavily. Selden locked the door, and quietly set about making a fire in the old kitchen grate.

A damp steamy heat filled the room, but the storm outside had abated, and the sun was trying to break through the watery clouds. On a line across the fireplace the wet clothes of the two men were stretched forlornly.

Selden, wrapped in a blanket and looking like a rather decayed Red Indian, watched the face of the sleeping man anxiously. He was flushed and moved restlessly, muttering in his sleep, beset with nightmare.

"The sooner I get you into a proper bed the better, my friend," he said aloud, and the sick man opened his eyes. He gazed round in half-awakened bewilderment, and then horror sprang to his eyes, and he tried to sit up.

"Steady." Selden went to him. "How do you feel—bit stiff, eh?"

"What has happened? Why didn't you wake me? Is Sylvia safe?"

"One thing at a time, old man. You've had a nasty experience, and the immediate question is food. I want to get you to a proper bed and into the doctor's hands."

"Never mind that," Reid was getting excited and feverish.

Selden recounted his adventure in the Abbey, stressing the fact that there had been no sign of a struggle and that the light had not been switched off.

"Good Lord! And I was lying here like a log while you were doing my job and risking your life. But we must get to work at once."

"Now listen quietly to me, Reid, and don't get excited, or it will mean a fortnight down with fever. We've got to discuss this affair dispassionately, and hurry will do no good. I must get you something to eat and drink, and I'm pretty peckish myself. By this time the people at the Abbey must have found out that Sylvia and the children have gone. What will Lady Severinge do? I can give you a good guess—she'll telephone to Hutchins. He'll be there this morning investigating, and probably wire for me. I shall 'come down' at once—do you follow me? But if I go there now it will give the game away."

Reid responded:

"I am in your hands. But as far as food is concerned, I only left here yesterday, and not quite knowing what would happen at the Abbey I did not trouble to take my small stores. I have paid rent in advance." He gave a ghost of a smile.

"Capital! In that cupboard, I suppose?"

Reid nodded, and Selden soon had a kettle on and a tin of soup opened. They made a scratch meal almost in silence, for Selden insisted on waiting till it was over before discussing anything. Then he clothed himself in his semi-dry clothes with a shiver, and helped Reid to don underclothes and a dressing gown.

Hot tea and soup restored the wounded man somewhat, and with a cigaret lighted he prepared to listen with what patience he could.

"We must wait here," Selden said deliberately. "There are several reasons. First, your clothes are at the Abbey and you can't go there yet."

"Why not?" Reid said, looking at the other in wonder.

"Because, unless my brain is at fault, we shall have Colonel Graham here before long, and until you have seen him we mustn't make a move."

"You think he'll dare to come here?"

"I am nearly sure. He'll have found the dead hounds and will think that you shot them. You must let him think that. He will probably realize that a fight took place by the torn bits of cloth and other marks, and will think that you dragged yourself to the cottage."

"Why not to the Abbey?"

Selden laughed.

"Try to read his mind. If you had gone to the Abbey, wouldn't you have raised the devil, and by this time either the police would have been at Paynton Manor or he would have heard from you."

"That sounds plausible. But if he comes, won't he try to finish off what the cursed hounds began?"

"Not in the least. Mind, I shall be hiding in your bedroom above. I must on no account appear in this affair—you haven't even seen me. Keep that automatic handy, but I don't think you will want it—this is a case of cunning rather than force. Whatever happens, don't bring me in. If things turn out as I anticipate, I shall see you this afternoon."

"But surely you are going to explain matters—I'm all in the dark. Where have you been all this time?"

Selden laughed heartily. "When we've got over this business we must have a talk, but not now. I've learnt a good lot already."

"Tell me one thing," Reid said imploringly. "Are Sylvia and the twins in any danger?"

"That I can't say," Selden said gravely. "Certainly not at present, for there is a very strong suggestion here that Miss Lawrence has gone of her own accord. But hark! I believe that's the Colonel, I'll hop it." He seized his own cup and plate and made for the staircase.

A tap came at the door, and Reid called "Come in," and waited. Colonel Graham's thin cadaverous face appeared in the doorway, and he came forward with all the appearance of a man overjoyed to find a friend safe.

"Reid I can't tell you how pleased I am to find you here. I had a very bad moment when I found the dead hounds—very valuable animals too—I feared that you had been badly injured. What a terrible experience you must have had."

"It was not a joy ride," Reid said dryly.

"I would have given anything for this not to have happened. Are you badly hurt? You must be or you wouldn't have stayed here in this condition." He looked suspiciously round the room as he spoke.

"Just a bite or two, and a rather bad shaking up, but nothing to make a song about."

"I am very glad you take it that way," Graham said, with a tone of relief. "But, my dear fellow, whatever made you do such a mad thing as to get out of the window and bolt on such a night?"

This was turning the tables on him, but Reid, mindful of Selden's warning, restrained himself.

"I found the handle of the door would not turn," he said lamely.

"How stupid! My man found it this morning when he tried to take your tea in—it must have got loose somehow. But whyever didn't you ring? I told you there was a servant on duty, and I also told you that Coats was exercising the hounds in night tracking, a most important part of their training."

Reid felt foolish. He had determined to have it out with the Colonel, but here he was being treated like a scared child, and Selden had foreseen this and warned him.

"You must get away from here. The doctor ought to examine your bites as soon as possible. But what on earth made you do such a stupid thing?" There was a note of contempt hard to bear in the Colonel's voice.

Reid felt that even if he were considered a frightened fool it was better than to suggest the real reason for his hurried departure.

"I don't know," he said. "I supposed it was finding the door fastened and the shutters locked, and perhaps your generous liqueurs."

SOCIALISTS FORCED BACK ON MADRID

18,000 Germans Reported In Van Of Fierce Rebel Attack

By Jean Rollin
(Copyright, 1937, The Havas News Agency.)

MADRID, Jan. 7.—(CP-Havas)—Madrid's stubborn defenders today beat a strategic retreat west of the capital in the face of a violent attack by an insurgent army which reportedly included 18,000 German "volunteers."

Ten thousand of the Germans, organized in motorized units, were said to have fought the government militia in suburban Las Rozas. The government claimed an additional 8,000 were concentrated in the University City sector.

General Jose Miaja's defense council, in announcing the government lines had withdrawn before the insurgent onslaught, claimed however that the government troops merely fell back on prepared positions following a plan of retreat outlined in advance.

The council emphasized the main defences west and northwest of the capital were unimpaired and that the government still commanded the all-important La Corunna and El Escorial roads linking the capital with the forces in the Guadarrama mountains.

The insurgent attack was accompanied by violent artillery fire which devastated entire sections of the capital. The bombardment created wield confusion among the populace, but as usual no panic.

Twenty-seven insurgent bombers added to the terror with an intensive bombardment of the suburbs. Hundreds of bombs were dropped on Tetuan del es Victorias in the northwest.

The official government communique claimed the presence of the big German contingents in the enemy ranks. It also said that insurgents had lost 8,000 men since they attempted to enter Madrid through University City last October.

Venezuela's oil production is at record high.

VOLUNTEERS FLOW THROUGH FRANCE

Spanish Border Officials Report Men Are From Many Lands

PARIS, Jan. 7 (A.P.). — French border authorities reported to-day a small but steady stream of volunteers from many lands was flowing through France to offer their aid to the Spanish Government.

The reported movement was said to be continuing apace amid negotiations to apply a ban on such volunteers.

Despite French expectations of concluding strict non-intervention agreements in the near future, border authorities said there had been no appreciable increase in an effort to beat the deadline which the proposal would set.

Officials of Perpignan said most of the volunteers were French with some British and the rest of varied nationalities.

No estimates were made of the number of volunteers other than it was "the same as usual."

Some Goods Lose Weight

There is an interesting case in London, Ont., where a grocer was in court for selling prunes wrapped in packages and priced 12 cents. It was stated that some prunes had lost weight since being packed, and there was a sign used "weight when packed", and that saved the situation as far as the dealer was concerned. The judge in London recommends that this custom shall be discontinued as far as retail stores are concerned, although his recommendation would not apply to packaged goods in general.

It is no secret that the weight of a number of commodities sold in grocery stores will decrease after being packed because moisture leaves them, and it is difficult to see how, as far as the London judge recommends, a label should be attached giving the net weight, because net weight is a changing quantity. All evaporated and dried fruits such as raisins, prunes, currants, apricots, etc., lose weight, and when the goods are fresh the loss of weight may run as high as five percent. in a week. One dealer informed the Examiner that most cereal meals will lose weight as rapidly as one per cent. in 24 hours, although corn meal evaporates at a slower rate. White sugar is not much affected, but brown sugar will lose weight at the rate of 3 per cent. in a week.

With that constant change going on it would not be possible for a merchant to wrap such goods in advance and guarantee their net weight at the time of sale, particularly when the weighing for the purposes of inspection is done to the fine dimension of split ounces. The wrapping of certain bulk goods in advance is not a new custom; it has been done for years. The reason is that when the rush of customers comes on a Saturday they can be given faster and better service than if it were necessary to wait until each package was wrapped as ordered by the customer.

We do not believe the men in retail trade have any desire to give their customers short weight, and we believe customers have almost unbounded faith in the merchants with whom they deal. The grocery merchant is dealing with certain commodities the weight of which constantly changes and he will do the best he can to see to it that his customers do not lose in the process.

Just An Electrician

Robert G. Elliott of New York is described as lean and grey-haired, and he prefers to be known as an expert electrician. He has a thorough understanding of the electric chairs which are used in death cells. It is his business to properly seat a condemned person in the chair, adjust the metal cap to the partly-shaven head, put the connection on the leg, and then spin the rheostat of death.

This week he will have what is regarded as a busy night, for there are six going to the chair. Each execution takes about five minutes of Robert Elliott's time, and for each one he is paid $150, or $900 for that particular evening. In ten years he has operated the chair in New York 163 times, and then there have been scores of others in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New Jersey.

It is said that Elliott does not like being referred to as an executioner. He is an electrician and an expert and he has little competition. Other electricians could do the same work, but Robert Elliott's services are in demand because he has had experience. Whether Mr. Elliott can go home and turn in for a sound sleep after applying his knowledge of electricity to six persons in the chair is something which the report does not mention. Most people could not.

How Much Alarm?

A report from Washington says the debt of United States has now reached a new all-time high level of $34,000,000,000, and some financial critic was inclined to "view with alarm" the enormity of the obligation. The trouble in trying to get alarmed over a debt of 34 billion dollars is that no person would know how much alarm to use on such a case. We doubt if the average financier has adequate grasp of how much that amount of money would be.

The average individual thinks of money in terms of his own surroundings and environment. If he makes $30 a week he thinks in terms of $30 a week. That is the level where his financial mind is apt to operate.

One might be able to grasp the idea that by getting a thousand dollars a thousand times it would amount to a million, but when figures go into the brackets of billions then it amounts to mental confusion.

So there is trouble enough when a person starts "viewing with alarm" a debt of 34 billion dollars. It is difficult to know just how much alarm to employ.

Where Cricket Goes Strong

People in Canada who want to play cricket find it difficult to finance the game. Nearly all communities have their quota of folk from England who are passionately fond of their cricket. But when the games are played there are few who go to see them. The number who would buy a ticket to see a cricket game would be small.

In Melbourne, Australia, during the third test match between England and Australia, it rained. We read that play was stopped several times during the day, and after the tea interval there could be no more playing. But in spite of such weather there were 87,798 persons who passed through the turnstiles and the receipts for this one game on a rainy day amounted to $37,000.

At the cricket grounds in Melbourne it is possible to accommodate 100,000 and the prediction is that the time will come when it will be filled to capacity. We have nothing in this Dominion to compare with the cricket crowds of Australia.

"Lee's Old Hen"

At Walnut Ridge in Arkansas Farmer Lee Edwin has a black Spanish hen 18 years of age and blind, but she lays eggs. All the folk in the district know about that bird, and she is referred to locally as "Lee's old hen." Farmer Lee has had that hen since it was a chick.

And it is remarkable. A hen is supposed to have an age possibility of 14 years, but few of them ever have opportunity to show how long they can live. The commercial instinct of the owners generally regulates the age of the hen.

Scientific men have been busying themselves making calculations about "Lee's old hen." They have even made excursions to Walnut Ridge to see this ancient creature. Then they have turned once again to their calculations and have announced that the chances of a hen living to the age of 18 years and exhibiting productivity at that age are one in six million.

So "Lee's old hen" will be written into scientific record because she lived for 18 years, which is longer than she should have lasted, and because at that age she laid eggs, something which was not considered possible. Thus the records of 1937 are in their making.

The Best Picture of 1936

Professional critics in New York went into conference which lasted three hours. There were 18 critics from 13 metropolitan newspapers, and their business was to decide which was the best picture produced in 1936. Their decision was unanimous, and it said that "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" was the best picture of the year.

There was considerable sanity in their judgment because that picture was an indictment of a good many things which the world has stamped as quite all right. Mr. Deeds inherited a fortune of millions, and when he went to the great city to look after it the vultures were waiting and the sensational press was ready to record all his ventures.

When Mr. Deeds was moved by evidence of human want to get rid of his fortune by the excellent plan of giving to each man a piece of ground, a cow and some measure of assistance, he was at once attacked by relatives of his benefactor as being insane and not a fit person to be entrusted with so much money. It was looked upon as evidence of a defective brain that a man should desire to assist others by actually giving away a fortune.

The story behind the play and the unpleasant light in which it exposed many of the practices and customs of today was what gave the thing initial strength. It had that substantial "something" which too many of the screen offerings of today lack, and it struck deep in human emotion. When the critics gathered and named "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" as the great picture of 1936 we believe there will be general agreement with their choice.

Passing Back for More

Winnipeg Medical Society appointed one of its members to investigate conditions in relief dining halls. The doctor, unknown as such, ate his meals with the unemployed men for a week and then made his report. He said few of the men were content with one serving. Three helpings are common; four not uncommon. In one section of his report he stated: "One of my table mates, the waiter informed me, had been eating continuously for an hour and a-quarter." The doctor said that the manner of the eating of young men was unfitting them for work as they were eating far too much.

Seeking information on this question, the Examiner was informed that a man who was not working did not require a great deal to eat. He was not doing anything to make use of the steam and power he was generating. The amount a man should eat at any given occupation could be carefully and quite accurately computed on the basis of the man's cubicity and the caloric count of the food content needed to nourish and maintain that cubicity. The caloric count is based on the theory of one calorie being the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree centigrade. Such computations are frequently made, especially for those who are forced to live on restricted or special diets.

We learn too that the trouble comes in trying to convince a good many people that they are eating too much, and that the habit of passing back a second or third time is not far removed from plain gluttony. Our professional adviser stated too that the habit of eating until one felt he was full or had all he could eat was another form of nonsense. Above all he was quite certain that the man who was not working did not need many large meals in a day to keep him in good condition. The man who was working needed more.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Phillip M. Plant, a former Broadway playboy, is leaving for Africa to lead an auto trailer safari in search of a collection of wart-hogs. Some people have a queer idea of fun.

The Montreal voter who scrawled "Nuts" across his ballot may not have been very polite but at least he left no doubt as to just what he thought about the whole field of candidates.

If experience counts for anything—and it should count for a lot—this year's county council should prove one of the best in history. There are only two members who have never been in the council before.

Lettuce is reported sprouting in Halifax, but the young folk will be glad to learn that the report does not say anything about spinach making rapid progress.

The announcement of a two weeks' period of grace for the purchase of automobile licenses has made everybody happy save the people who rushed out before New Year's to buy their markers.

German folk are being advised to quit using butter and to travel on street cars rather than buses. The object of the latter advice of course is to save gasoline for military purposes.

Toronto service clubs are distributing white canes to be used by sightless persons. There will be a notice to the public to give the folk who carry them the right of way and considerate treatment on all occasions.

A magistrate says men who drink and drive are as bad as gunmen. We would say they were worse for the crook with a gun as a rule only goes after the folk with money while none of us are safe against the drunken driver.

Passengers carried by the Toronto Transportation Commission last year amount to over 150,000,000 and during the Exhibition weeks it looked as if that many were all trying to get on the cars at the same time.

At Antigo, Wis., Joe Strasser was the only prisoner, and the sheriff sent him home because his cell could not be warmed. Joe promised to come back when the heat was turned on. That's what the world needs today—co-operation between prisoners and sheriffs.

Havelock electors voted almost unanimously to provide a free site and fixed assessment for a new industry. There will be a general hope that the enterprise will justify the confidence that has been displayed in it and will prove of value to the community.

Russia made a vigorous attempt to stamp out religion, but in the census now being taken there is this question: "Do you believe in God?" The actual returns are a state secret, but officials have openly expressed surprise at the number of affirmative answers given to that plain question. Prosecuting people for their belief in God is one certain way to increase that faith and it will work that way in Russia or any other land.

FIGHTING A COLD

(By A. R. K.)

¶ John Thomas feared he'd catch a cold, he faced the danger brave and bold, he thought it out one night; he would not bend before disease, nor would he tremble at the knees, he'd stand up straight and fight.

¶ John Thomas bought some pills and snuff, he'd use the cold germs rather rough, he'd murder them when young; some stomach drops he bought that day, they'd keep his innards bright and gay, put pink upon his tongue.

¶ He raised his window up at night, to have the temperature just right, felt fine when he arose; was careful of each step he made, and he walked forth quite unafraid, nor wore too many clothes.

¶ John Thomas scrubbed when he got up, and splashed cold water like a pup, 'twould harden up his pelt; he told his friends along the block, that he breathed deep each time he'd walk, the best he ever felt.

¶ He used some disinfectant too, no germ he'd let come sneaking through, he got it from a friend; nor did he weaken in his plan, to be a brave cold-fighting man, he'd battle to the end.

¶ I missed John Thomas several days, nor did his travels cross my ways, they always did of old; I asked, and this is all they said, John Thomas was at home in bed—he suffered from a cold.

An Attack That Merits Censure

(From the Lindsay Watchman-Warder)

FROM TIME to time it becomes the painful duty of the press to condemn unbridled and improper statements made by individuals at public meetings. We have seldom had an obligation which we were so loath to fulfil as the one which now rests upon us to refer to the attack made on the Jewish race recently by an Alderman in our good neighbor town, Orillia. We are loath to refer to this incident because we are ashamed to admit that in this Canada of ours, with its freedom from racial and religious prejudices a man holding such unbalanced views could attain any public office.

However, the issue has been raised and that being the case we are pleased to say that our opinion, and the opinion of the vast preponderance of the citizens of this country with respect to our Jewish fellow-citizens is very much different from the unreasoning and ignorant prejudices of the Orillia alderman.

He thinks Jews should be prohibited from holding public offices. To honestly hold that view he can never have gone to school at all, for even a very young public school student could tell him that Benjamin Disraeli, one of the greatest Prime Ministers Great Britain has ever had, was a Jew. If he knows anything about current affairs he must be aware of the fact that some of the most distinguished public men in England during the past twenty-five years have also been Jews. Such names as Rufus Isaacs (Lord Reading), Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Philip Sassoon speak most eloquently for themselves.

What is true in Great Britain is true in a lesser degree in this country. One of the most respected and distinguished members of the Federal Parliament, "The wit of the House of Commons," Samuel Jacobs, Esquire, is a Jew. A member of the Ontario Cabinet at the present time, who is regarded by members of all political parties as the ablest Minister on the Treasury benches, and who moreover, is doing a splendid job in some of the most difficult departments of the administration, is Hon. David Croll, a Jew.

There are many more who have not attained quite the same fame who could be mentioned, but we will content ourselves with one more reference, namely Mrs. Frieman, of Ottawa, a lady whose public services won her recognition from His Late Majesty King George V. on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of his accession to the throne.

These facts are so clear and the inference to be drawn from them is so obvious that we will not insult the intelligence of our readers by commenting on them to any length. The Orillia alderman who made the offending remarks displayed both crass ignorance and disloyalty in saying what he did, for the statements attributed to him in the press are of a character which would tend to disrupt the peace and harmony of the country; we find difficulty in raising his outburst to the level of our contempt. We note that he is retiring from public life and we would suggest that it would be a good thing both for Canada and for him if he were to go to his spiritual home in Germany. Certain it is that we don't want people holding such views as he does in this country.

WANTON DESTRUCTION.

(Oshawa Times)

IN SOME people there is a stronger desire towards wilful destruction than in others. Why some people do some of the things they do in the way of unnecessary and mean destruction is difficult to understand.

From the little village of Niagara-On-The-Lake comes a strange story to emphasize this. Numerous complaints have been made of late by residents of this village that damage is being done to wreaths and flowers in St. Mark's Cemetery.

One family came to the cemetery the other day to see the grave of a departed loved one on which grave they had placed two wreaths some time previously. When they came to the grave they found the wreaths "practically destroyed and the remains strewn all over the ground."

It has not been learned who was responsible for this piece of foolish destruction so far, but whoever it is it seems difficult to imagine very many people who would resort to this type of wanton destruction.

A NEW ARMADA.

(Hamilton Spectator)

THERE IS quite a difference between the Spanish armada which last night slid out to sea from the Biscay ports of Bilbao, Gijon, Santander, Bermeo and Santona, and the one which Philip of Spain sent against England four centuries ago.

The present loyalist armada is composed of armed fishing trawlers and old freighters, on which guns have been hastily mounted in the front of the wheel houses, and it is under orders to convoy government vessels, to fight rebel ships and to open fire upon any foreign battleships which threaten loyalist lines of communication.

The armada of Philip of Spain at the time it was built was the greatest fleet of battleships in the world, but it was harried and destroyed by the winds and by the little frigates of England. It would be a curious thing if history repeated itself inversely, as it were, and if this gallant little makeshift armada prevailed over the well equipped, efficient war craft which are helping General Franco.

A Bit of Nonsense

Inside Information

A quiet man went up to a bookie who was offering 10 to 1 against a horse in a race with only three runners, and put a tenner on it. It won.

"That was a lucky bet of yours," grumbled the bookie.

"Not luck," said the backer. "I had inside information about it."

"Indeed," said the bookie, sarcastically. "I'd be interested to know whom you got it from. It may surprise you to know that I own that horse."

"Not at all," said the quiet man. "I own the other two."

BEER IN YORK

Editor Examiner.

Sir: Your editorial Dec. 21st, 1936, "Turning on the Beer Spigot."

The Township of York is not under local option. It has a population, constantly growing, at the last census, of 69,593. It has two widely separated hotels to serve this population. One of these is constantly overcrowded.

As we understand the situation, the Liquor Commissioner told the township that he would not issue more licenses until they had a vote. That was nearly three years ago. No steps have been taken to bring on a vote. The present Reeve has advised that, if a vote were taken, the township would overwhelmingly vote in favour of retention of beer licenses.

The Liquor Commissioner has stated, in effect, that he can no longer be responsible for the orderly conduct of trade under present conditions. It is believed that one more license is contemplated to take the strain off one of the present licenses.

You have a method of comparison in Peterborough, where, with a population of 22,327, you have eight hotels. In York township there is a population over three times greater, with two hotels.

We do not attempt to speak for the Commissioner, but, with first hand knowledge ourselves of conditions, we would think if other licenses are contemplated there is no attempt to sell more beer but to sell the present quantity under conditions more favorable to the orderly conduct of the trade.

Sincerely,
H. S. PRITCHARD.

Calls It a Silly Holiday.

(By Wm. F. McDermott, in The Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

NEW YEAR'S DAY is the saddest of holidays, even for people who don't make fools of themselves the night before. It marks another victory for the tyrant of mankind, time. It is another click of the shuttle that weaves our shroud.

I don't know why we should be so gay about it. As a matter of fact, we aren't.

This midnight whistling and laughing and shrieking in greeting to the New Year represents a fraudulent merriment. It is whistling in the dark and laughing for fear of being obliged to weep.

In a dim sense we feel our defenselessness against the mystery and the invincible onslaughts of time and we crowd together for consolation and buoy our spirits with the outward forms of merriment.

These loud voices and this shrill laughter have an echo in the heart which says "another year gone, another year nearer an unknown hereafter."

New Year's is a silly holiday. The world is millions of years old. It should stop having birthdays.

One year in the march of eternity is no longer than a split-second in the life of a man. We don't go around celebrating a man's birthday every tenth of a second. That is what we do for eternity when we cut it up into years and make a great to-do on the first of every January.

There is some sense in celebrating the Fourth of July, or Thanksgiving or Christmas. They commemorate liberty, the bounty of nature, the birth of a great spirit. New Year's celebrates mankind's greatest and most implacable enemy, the briefness and the decay of time.

Personal birthdays are bad enough. Why should a man wish to celebrate the fact that he is one year nearer the grave? But there is some human and sensible reason for observing the birthday of an individual.

After all, it is something of a personal triumph to be born, to stand up against the depredations of infant mortality, to escape plagues, epidemics and lunatic automobile drivers and to wind up at the age of 40 or 50, more or less whole and in possession of the usual number of legs, arms and senses.

In the case of an individual's birthday, it is not the mere passage of time that we celebrate. It is the fact that he is still here in the face of obstacles that were put in his path.

I am told that New Year's in China has its practical aspects. It is the day on which every righteous Chinese makes a reckoning of his accounts and pays up all the debts that have accumulated during the year. That method of celebrating the New Year has its obvious advantages.

It's a Risky Proposition.

(From the Sault Ste. Marie Star.)

ONTARIO discusses one scheme after another to get its mineral wealth uncovered and overlooks one idea that would probably stir men to take the risks of prospecting.

It is this: To guarantee to the man who discovers a new find that he shall always have an interest in the property if and when it becomes a producer. If the mining law had a clause giving the staker a minimum of $50 a month from its revenue upon reaching a profitable producing stage, the risky job of hunting for mineral would become far more attractive than it now is.

When the old Helen Mine became a reality, Mr. Clergue put Ben Boyer, its finder down on its payroll for $75 a month. In like manner, the McIntyre and no doubt other mines show their appreciation of good services. But these examples are outstanding for their rarity.

The prospector's lot is a tough one. If he is "on his own" he goes into the bush as a rule with scanty provisions,—a little bacon, a little flour, a little tea and sugar. His staking permit, his transportation, and odds and ends he must have bear heavily on his slim resources. If by good work or good luck he happens on a promising find, there is more expense, the claim recording, the assessment work and so on.

Everything costs money, food, tools, clothes, tents, packsacks, not forgetting the journeys to the recorder's office. A prospector has to have a stout heart to stick it through. Too often he finishes a hard season's work, even when he is grubstaked with nothing at all for work. It is a disheartening end.

The finding of mineral is made by the prospector,—almost always a poor man. This work is vital to Ontario. The least the province could do would be to remit fees on successful finds and guarantee the finder something out of the property's revenue no matter who operated it.

Should Bury the Past.

(From the Hamilton Spectator.)

IT IS reported from Ottawa that Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Canadian Opposition, who has just reached London in the course of his tour of the British Empire, will ask to see all the correspondence which passed between Canada and Great Britain in regard to the recent abdication of King Edward VIII.

Now Mr. Bennett, as an Empire statesman who has enjoyed the confidence of the British government, may be entitled to see this correspondence in order that he may apprise himself of the true situation and govern his political conduct accordingly. Indeed, we feel that Mr. Bennett in the public interest should see that correspondence. But it should be clearly understood that no political capital should be made out of it. As an eminent private citizen Mr. Bennett should be permitted to enjoy confidences denied others; as leader of the Opposition, he should—in the interests of the Dominion and the Empire—bind himself not to bring into the arena of Canadian domestic politics a tragic and embarrassing Empire crisis which requires a maximum of tact and adroitness to negotiate without trouble. This, we presume, Mr. Bennett will be perfectly willing to do.

We note, also, that Mr. J. S. Woodsworth likewise is anxious to make a request for production of the correspondence relative to the crisis. In this case, it is to be presumed that Mr. Woodsworth is definitely anxious for a laying bare of facts and for a political debate. No good purpose can be served by such. Furthermore, we do not believe that any of the great social principles with which Mr. Woodsworth is so earnestly concerned are involved in the tragedy which took the man who is now the Duke of Windsor from the throne of England. The tragedy which touched the Empire, although it did involve certain important constitutional questions, was an essentially personal one.

And incidentally, there is one point which both Mr. Bennett and Mr. Woodsworth seem to have missed. Once the constitutional crisis arose, events moved with an ever-increasing velocity and there was little time to write letters to and fro across the Atlantic. Intra-Empire negotiations surely would have been carried on by telephone, and telephone calls obviously cannot be tabled in any House of Commons.

TOO LENIENT.

(Niagara Falls Review)

SOME magistrates in other parts of the province are altogether too lenient in their sentences for drunken drivers, even in cases where the offence is repeated. A Los Angeles judge has sentenced a drunken motorist, who drove after his license had been revoked, to eighteen months in the common jail. Such sentences, imposed elsewhere, would make drinking drivers infinitely more careful.

THIS IS GOOD NEWS.

(Montreal Star)

TO OUR rejoicings over periodic bulletins and statistical computations showing Canada's return to better times let us add the good news, vouched for by the National Department of Health, that not in many years has this country been so free of certain kinds of diseases at this season as it is just now. Year-end report show less than ten thousand —9,267, to be exact—cases of communicable diseases in the whole of Canada,— a thousand less than this time last year and four thousand less than the year before. Best of all, most of the cases now on record are of minor types of children's ailments and the "killer" disease, diphtheria and pneumonia, have at the present time only 218 victims throughout the country.

No one will regard the present happy state of affairs as normal or expect it to last indefinitely. We are, unfortunately, certain to have very many periodic returns to much less favourable figures before the present excellent state of the public health becomes the standard for the country. But it is mightily encouraging that we should have struck a "new low" like this at any time, particularly at this time of year.

It has not come to pass by accident, Canada's health is getting better and better for one reason only and that is because Canada is paying more attention to its health. Better health services; more general recognition of hygiene and preventive measures; wider knowledge and recognition of proper nutrition and diet,—all these things together of course with the steady progress of medical science itself account for the present fortunate state of affairs in the public health of this country. Relax our vigilance and watch the swift and deadly reaction; maintain and increase it and —slowly but surely—today's happy conditions may become normal throughout the year.

HERE'S IGNORANCE.

(Niagara Falls Review)

AMAZING where one finds ignorance. Thus the Review has received a letter from a New York city publishing concern—we are tempted to use the name but won't—offering us certain books and, of course, sending it to people in a foreign country like Canada, the progressive New Yorkers have quoted prices in the kind of money used in Canada, thus:

"Little black book 6x4 £1.0.0.

"Big black book 15x9 £2.10.0"

Isn't it kind of them to quote us in pounds, shillings and pence, instead of in dollars, when, of course, we would have had to figure the difference in the kind of money in Canada and across the line?

HECKLING, BOOING.

(Belleville Intelligencer)

THOUGHTS after the holiday, include the story which Sir. John A. McDonald used to tell on the hustings when heckling was plenty and irksome. "It's the tree with the best fruit in the orchard that the most sticks and stones lie under." Municipal officials recently heckled in public meetings might get a crumb of comfort out of the story if any were needed—but, gosh, all hemlock, it really can be taken as a compliment this heckling. Shows that the hecklers think the heckled one is important enough for their attention. However, heckling is one thing and booing another. Booing is bad manners and bad business. Anybody can boo—even cows and pigs. Humans belittle themselves when they descend to booing.

age pensions approximately $30,000, a total cost of $80,000. The income tax collection refund to London last year was about $100,000.

New Legislation Shortly.

Until the necessary legislation is passed at the legislature session, starting January 19, the municipalities will carry on as at present.

When the government extended the scope of the Mothers' Allowances Act to include mothers with only one child, costs jumped $1,000,000 a year, said Mr. Croll. He also added in his statement local mothers' allowances and old-age pensions boards would be expected to continue playing prominent parts in future administration.

"We consider that the new policy is based on sound principle," he said. "It expressed our belief that the wealthy—the income taxpayers—should bear as far as possible the cost of the social services. We also want to lift a bit of the burden from the hard-pressed municipalities so that they in turn may reduce taxation on real estate. The rural municipalities, I believe, will especially benefit."

The minister stated with the depression the numbers of pensioners increased. When old-age pensions first appeared highest possible peak was placed at 23,000 but now there were 55,000, involving an expenditure of more than $12,000,000 annually.

NORMAL STUDENTS VISITORS TO SHOW

Made Studied Inspection Of Large Number Of Exhibits At Poultry Show

Dr. A. J. Madill and a party of around eighty Normal School students paid their annual visit to Peterborough Poultry Association Show on Wednesday afternoon, and made a studied inspection of the large number of exhibits in the various classes.

Another interested visitor was A. D. Runions, provincial agricultural representative and his five-year-old son Jimmie. The large number of visitors witnessed an interesting demonstration of the new method of wax dressing of poultry, which was given under the direction of M. R. Mitchell of Ottawa, representing the Federal Department of Agriculture (Poultry Service).

Earlier in the afternoon M. C. Wallace of Iroquois completed the judging of the exhibits, and placed the completed prize lists in the hands of the secretary.

Great interest was taken in an 85-year-old chicken coop, owned by Elerie White of Charlotte street, which was on display at the Show.

"Benno," who, some day, will sit beside her on the throne of the Netherlands as Prince-Consort.

A cordial telegram from Chancellor Hitler of Germany to Queen Wilhelmina dispelled any fear the Netherlands' first Royal marriage since 1901 would not be the "family wedding" the Queen had hoped for Hitler Sends Best Wishes.

Possibility of an international incident which had troubled the nation during the gay week of pre-nuptial festivities was believed ended by Hitler's message wishing the Crown Princess happiness in marriage.

At the same time, in the little Town Hall at Oestgeest Village, the simple farmer folk gathered to attend the civil marriage of "the other Juliana."

The peasant girl and Martinus Van Stijn, her sailor-fiancee, shared the nation's rejoicing because—both Julianas having been born the same hour of the same day 27 years ago—their's was the only other wedding permitted in Holland to-day.

Among the most interested spectators in imposing St. James' Dutch Reformed Church where Queen Wilhelmina was married 36 years ago to Juliana's father, the late Prince-Consort Henry, were those who paid a total of $10,000 for 1,000 seats. Their money helped heat and decorate the edifice.

SPECIAL WARDENS ON RICE LAKE ARE ASKED FOR SPRING

any new legislation for the conservation of fish and game.

Petition for a Hatchery

On a motion by Robert Holdaway of Bewdley, seconded by Howard Brackenridge of Millbrook, it was decided to petition the Department for the establishment of a fish hatchery in the Kawartha Lakes district. Mr. Thorne recalled that the Hon. Harry Nixon had promised that during his term of office he would set up three new hatcheries.

"I don't know whether the Minister has carried out that promise yet," Mr. Thorne said, "but I think we ought to ask him to allot one of these hatcheries to this district."

"Peterborough has made this same request and they want us to support," Mr. Holdaway reported as he drafted his resolution.

Special Wardens

Another request that is going forward to the Department is for the appointment of six temporary game wardens for at least ten days of the spawning season, three of them to be assigned to Rice Lake and three to the Otonabee River. It is also expected that two of them will be retained until the fishing season opens. Five were appointed last year with such satisfactory results that the members are confident the Department will increase the number to six next Spring.

Muskrat Season

The Department has announced that the muskrat trapping season will be from March 25 to April 15 this year, but the Durham and Northumberland Association decided to ask that the opening be advanced to March 15.

Mr. Houghtailing urged the earlier season especially where he traps at Bradley's Bay below Campbellford which he said was usually open March 15, and the bulk of the trapping was over by March 25. Spring came earlier to Bradley's Bay than to Rice Lake, and a late opening of the season meant a loss to the trappers on the lower Trent.

A. K. Minaker, game warden, explained that opening of the season on different dates in the Kawartha district would cause confusion, and was not likely to receive the approval of the Department.

William Dixon of Bewdley said that "taking it one year with another the season around Rice Lake usually when the rats are running is about the middle of March, and if you can't trap them until the twentieth that is often a week too late." He favored the earlier opening, saying that freshets in the river brought a lot of water toward the lake and in the marshes and along flooded farm lands. Mr. Brackenridge also supported the March 15 date, and the appeal to the Department was carried unanimously.

Penalty For Spears

Another suggestion that is being forwarded to the government proposes a penalty to be imposed on any person found with a spear in his possession on or near any water in which game fish are found. The meeting was sternly opposed to the man carrying a spear, and it was agreed that possession of this killing instrument was a prima facie evidence of intent to use it in catching game fish.

The association is also asking for more small fish from the hatcheries; continuation of the open season for pickerel from May 16 to October 16; and a request for a sufficient number of signs to be posted at all docks and boat liveries warning the public against drifting, casting from boats, and the use of artificial bait during the period from May 16 to July 1.

Apply For Pheasants

The Department will also be asked to restock the district with pheasants, and to supply game warden's buttons to Elmer Sidey of Bewdley, Thompson Huggins of South Monaghan and J. H. Benson especially to invest them with authority to protect pheasants from the guns of motorists who drive along the highway killing these birds.

Mr. Sidey said he recently saw two Toronto men who killed a cock pheasant, and who admitted they had shot at it. He said he had no doubt they killed the bird because he found it dead while the men were nearby. Their offence was compounded by the fact that they were shooting on Sunday. Other instances of this practice of frustrating the government's attempt to increase the stock of pheasants in the district were reported, and it was believed that the government should empower its temporary game wardens to confiscate guns and to take steps for the arresting of the "gunmen" who are killing off these game birds without any regard to season.

At the close of the meeting at midnight refreshments were served by Mrs. Holdaway assisted by other ladies of Bewdley.

OBITUARY

MRS. CORA JOHNSON

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 7. — After a brief illness the death occurred on Tuesday morning, January 5, of Mrs. Cora Johnson, beloved wife of Silas Johnson. The deceased, who had been in good health up to the time of her death, was born in Rawdon Township on January 5, 1866, later to become the wife of John Thompson, who died on January 5, 1928. Residing in Campbellford from January 5, 1932, when she became the wife of her now sorrowing husband, she was an ardent worker in the United Church of which she was a member. One sister, Mrs. Everett Chambers of North Bay and three brothers, Manson of Rawdon, Hilliard of Detroit, and Edison of Saskatchewan, are also left to mourn her loss.

After a brief service at her late home the funeral service will be conducted at the Hubble Hill Church by the Rev. Harold B. Neale of St John's United Church.

MRS. DANIEL DUGGAN

LINDSAY, Jan. 7.—A native of Bedelia Christie, relict of the late Daniel Duggan, of Fenelon Falls, passed away in Detroit a few days ago and was interred this week in the family plot at Fenelon Falls. The deceased was born in Indian River, Peterborough County, seventy-two years ago, and resided in Verulam township forty-seven years. She is survived by two daughters and five sons.

HASTINGS.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Gould, of Stayner, Ontario, motored from their home, accompanied by the latter's mother, Mrs. Charles Huycke, to spend New Year's at Sunny Brae. Mrs. Huycke has spent six weeks with her daughter.

Mrs. Wm. Whitred and daughter, Helen Margaret, spent the week-end with relatives in Norwood.

Miss Margaret Wilson, of Toronto, spent the pas. week with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitred and other friends.

Mr. James Lobb, of Norwood, spent the week-end with his uncle, Mr. W. Gilchrist.

Rev. W. Stocks of St. Anne's Church, Toronto, will occupy the pulpit of St. George's Anglican Church.

A very delightful time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smith on Monday evening when they entertained over 100 of their Percy friends at a house party. The main entertainment of the evening was on Sunday, January 10th. round and square dancing, with music provided by local talent. At midnight a dainty lunch was served and dancing resumed until the early hours of the morning.

DROWNED ON SECOND HONEYMOON.

CALL 1600

✧ ✧ ✧

Today marks the twelfth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Harrison of Payne avenue.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McIvor of Fairburn street have returned home after spending the holiday week with friends in Toronto.

✧ ✧ ✧

In honor of Miss Jessie Scholey of Stewart street, a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Miss Norrie Barry, 123 Stewart street, when many useful and pretty gifts were received by the bride-to-be.

✧ ✧ ✧

This is the twenty-fourth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brioux of 275 Romaine street, formerly of Lake street.

✧ ✧ ✧

R. Ross and his son Bob were in Toronto on Wednesday on a business trip.

✧ ✧ ✧

An interesting holiday re-union at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCarrell of Lindsay brought a number of guests from Peterborough, including Mr. and Mrs. W. McColl, Mr. and Mrs. R. McColl, the Misses Dorothy Bertram, Wilma Hewett and Margaret McCarrell, and J. McColl.

97th Anniversary Otonabee Residents.

Today marks the observance of the fifty-seventh anniversary of the wedding of well-known residents of the township of Otonabee: Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Conroy, both of whom are in good health. They are natives of Otonabee and have been lifelong residents of the township. Mr. Conroy is eighty-four years old and his wife is seventy-six.

✧ ✧ ✧

Shower For January Bride.

Mrs. R. J. Kearns of 111 Stewart street was hostess at a very pleasant miscellaneous shower held in honor of a bride-elect of the month, Miss Jessie Scholey. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Marie Kearns and the two daughters of the house also brought in a basket prettily decorated and filled with lovely gifts, accompanied by an appropriate poem read by Miss Marie Kearns to the bride-elect and her fiance, Neil Alton, who came in later and helped in opening the parcels. The evening was spent in playing games and cup reading, closing with the service of dainty refreshments.

Broadcast Tonight With Local Connection.

Listeners-in on radio programs tonight may be assured of a treat in music that has a local connection, as it were, when a symphony composed by the late Muzio Clementi will be heard over the air on the NBC network from 8.45 to 9.30 p.m. This symphony will be played in New York by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Dr. Serge Koussevitzky.

Muzio Clementi, the Italian composer of the Symphony which will be broadcast tonight, was the father of the late Rev. Vincent Clementi of Peterborough, grandfather of the late C. H. Clementi, who was identified for many years with the old Peterborough Morning Times, and great grandfather of Mrs. John A. Bertram of Smith township, who possesses several of the musical manuscripts of the composer.

Muzio Clementi was born in Rome, Italy in the early part of the 18th century. In later life, he married an English lady and lived in England, where the Rev. Vincent Clementi was born. The latter, in his senior years, came to Canada, and was rector of the Anglican Church at Lakefield. After his retirement from parochial duties, he lived in Peterborough.

It is related of Muzio Clementi that, at a concert performance in England, he sat at the back of the hall to listen to Lisat, the great musician, playing one of the Clementi compositions. Angered at the manner in which the piece was interpreted, with his fiery Italian temper at boiling-point; he rushed to the stage and demanded that Liszt relinquish the piano to him for a more satisfactory interpretation of his own music.

Invite the Toronto Fathers to Luncheon.

The following item will be of interest to the members of the Home and School Associations of the city, also possibly to women teachers, as it expresses views similar to those held by them:

"For a few years now the Toronto Home and School folk have been giving a luncheon for the women trustees on the Board of Education. But this year, deciding quite rightly that Dad should have his share in the work of bringing up the little dears, the association has turned the luncheon into a dinner—it will take place on Friday evening — and is asking the men. There will be, in addition to trustees on both the spindle and the distaff side, inspectors, school principals—and all the fathers who can be persuaded to accompany the mothers to the banquet. The speaker of the evening will be Prof. Underhill and he is expected to give his audience something to think about. We commend this idea of bringing in the fathers and the male portion of our educational system, and we think it would not be a bad thing if the subject of inequalities in salary and authority were incidentally brought into the limelight. There seems to be no good reason—except the very bad one, that a man should always be paid a great deal more for, often, a great deal less—and poorer work—than a woman. It is rarely that this inequality of stipend is brought before men. They have a deep-rooted conviction that a woman spends her salary on bonbons and such, while the man, he shoulders the burden of the wife and little ones! Unfortunately, ageing fathers and mothers, younger brothers and sisters, gas bills, rents, water rates and electric light bills, cost the unmarried woman teacher, just as much as wives and little ones and civic services cost the husband and father. If that fact could be inserted into the intelligence of fair-minded men a wrong would, we feel sure, be soon righted."

Home And School Association Notes

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

Dr. J. E. Middleton, talking on "Care of the Child's Teeth," was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Queen Mary Home and School Association this week, with Mrs. E. R. Shirley presiding and forty members present.

Charles Shaw, a member of the Board of Education, also spoke of his interest in Home and School work and regarding the supplying of cod liver oil to the children. Members volunteered to take charge of the daily distribution of milk and cod liver oil during January.

A nominating committee was appointed, with members in Mrs. J. E. Middleton, Mrs. E. G. R. Clarke and Mrs. T. P. Carley.

It was decided to have a 'Founder's Day' program at the February meeting, in honor of the late Mrs. A. E. Courtice, foundress of the Home and School movement.

Mrs. T. P. Hooper, accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Logan, played a violin selection and encore.

The banner for attendance went to Miss Irene Madill's room.

Dr. Middleton outlined the modern ideas of preventive dentistry, accomplished by proper diet with food containing minerals essential to tooth and bone building, and also by keeping the teeth clean. He told how dental, as well as medical, care was now a health service and, after stressing the need of a full-time dentist, spoke of a proposed Clinic for children of pre-school age.

At the close of the business session, refreshments were served by the Social committee.

STRANGE ORDER FILLED.

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP).—An order for a wildcat means nothing to Clarence Gray, Yarmouth County guide. When officials of the wild life exhibit of the Nova Scotia booth in sportsmen's shows in Boston, Hartford, and New York decided they wanted a wildcat, they asked Gray for help. He came back with a five-foot cat the same day.

Where Tapioca Scores Is In Fruit Pies Mary Moore Discovers

HARVARD PUDDING

By MARY MOORE

UNRESTRICTED by a title announcing a certain lone subject I am liable to go berserk. The three or four ideas that are at the front of my mind have to do with such diverse foods as minute tapioca, gallon cans of tomato juice, celery leaves, and dried and canned apples.

Enough space is filled with my preaching in the cause of good raw food that you will not accuse me of belonging to The Tin Can Trust if I boost canned tomatoes by the gallons and apples likewise.

Now that explanations have been duly made minute tapioca can have its innings.

Always a reader-of-directions-before-using we have made the Tapioca Cream pudding described on the box of minute tapioca and decided it was pleasant, quickly made, but nothing sensational.

Where tapioca scores is in fruit pies.

We had 12 jars of Montmorency cherries that were jinxed—ferret as I would for acceptable ways of serving them in dessert form to my family the result was nil—until I thought of thickening the excess juice with minute tapioca, just as we did rhubarb juice for rhubarb pie. (To extra sugar we added 3 tablespoons of the minute tapioca and stirred it through the quart of cherries and let stand 15 minutes, then put it into the pie.)

But I further blessed it when it answered an S.O.S.: Many of you will recall our recipe for Mary Thomson's Mincemeat in 1934. This charming lady is almost a neighbor of ours and for several years has left a generous jar of this same mincemeat for some of our Christmas feasts.

This year we had so many guests for the Sunday following Christmas we had to have two big pies, and while the jar was an imperial quart it was not quite enough, so we chopped three apples finely and added them, and sneaked some brandy from my husband's annual bottle, but found we had made the mincemeat too watery—so I smugly took down the box of minute tapioca and added 3 tablespoons of it.

It was a huge success. Of course there was no evidence of it when we tasted it at dinner—it had merely extended the amount and thickened the excess juice without being at all perceptible.

Tapioca in Soup

As you know, the soup pot is an institution in our kitchen—and since we have acquired a little annex coal heater to make a little warmer our cold kitchen, which has only one radiator—we have a soup pot brewing at the back of it every day. Today we had to start afresh, but since we had turkey bones as a starter, the going was easy. But with all my additions of celery and onions and tomato juice and carrots, I wanted a little rice, but our supply had run out, so again I brought out the trusty minute tapioca, added 2 tablespoons of it to the soup pot about 10 minutes before serving—it gave it body and of course a little extra nourishment.

Gallon Cans of Tomato Juice

We consider the purchase of a gallon can of tomato juice each week of the real winter months a cheap investment in good health—for a family of three adults and two children.

We pay from 37 to 45 cents per can of 6 lbs. and 9 oz. When the tomato juice can is first opened we pour some of it into two 1-quart jars, filling them only four-fifths full so there is room for expansion for we stand them outside on a high shelf on our back porch and they might freeze. The remainder we keep in the ice box for constant use in a large covered china pitcher.

Two mornings per week we serve tomato juice as our fruit course for breakfast. It is also there if the doctor wants to raid the refrigerator late at night.

To add zest to the soup pot if it has become too insipid by additions of too many vegetables waters—we often pour in a cup of tomato juice.

With the addition of soaked gelatine to hot tomato juice, cooled, then filled with chopped celery you have a salad course for dinner.

Two cups tomato juice add to macaroni and cheese (in place of milk) make for superb flavor if baked long enough and slowly enough.

Tomato juice added to tea biscuit mixture in place of milk—if biscuits are served while still hot—have my hearty approval.

Since there was no time in our household for large scale canning this year—and since many of you have probably dipped deeply into your tomato reserves—this is good nourishment with capital G. M., and insures vitamins aplenty, for as we have repeated o'er and o'er the vitamins in tomatoes are not injured by canning.

Although not a professed communist I nevertheless think some of the staple necessities of life such as milk and coal should be provided by the community and paid for in our taxes, when you may be sure we would get them without the retailer's profit being included.

Another one of such necessities is apples. In this nation of plentiful apples—Okanagan Valley in the West, Niagara Peninsula in Mid-Canada and the vast apple-growing country in Maritimes, there should be apples in abundance for every family rich and poor. But such is not the case. While I am in complete sympathy with the farmers that are growing them under present circumstances and think they deserve every cent of the price they can get—I nevertheless think there should be an ever-ending supply of apples for everyone the year round.

When we pay $1.75 for second grade Spy apples, and come to use them for cooking purposes I am full of lament. On pondering the problem I telephoned the wholesale grocer to ask him prices of dried apples for pie, pudding and sauce purposes. Much to my delight I find they can be had for 12½ cents per lb., if I buy a 25-lb. box. At this rate the apples to fill one 9-inch pie costs 6¼ cents—for it requires ½-lb. of them when soaked overnight. That makes a most inexpensive dessert for any family of 5 adults.

Harvard Pudding

One-third cup butter, ½ cup sugar, 2½ cups flour, 3½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1 cup milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients and work in butter with tips of fingers; beat egg, add milk and combine the mixture; turn into buttered pudding dish or mould, cover and steam 2 hours; serve with warm Apple Sauce made from dried apples and hard Sauce.

Apple Sauce (from dried apples)

Pick over and wash dried apples, soak overnight in cold water to cover; cook until soft; sweeten, and flavor with lemon juice.

NOTE: We add grated lemon rind to our apple pies when dried apples are used for filling and like the fresh tang it imparts.

✧ ✧ ✧

With celery becoming more expensive weekly we like to use all the outer stalks and top leaves to the best advantage. Of course it is a well known practice to use finely chopped celery leaves in the home-made soup pot—but do any of you know Celery Dish?

Unless I have printed it before or you have heard of it by word of mouth I do not think you can be familiar with it for as far as I know it is an invention of my mother's.

Celery Dish

Using at least 4 outer stalks of celery, and the leaves from the tops of two bunches—chop these into ½ inch pieces—the leaves finer, and cook in salted water to cover until quite tender. Add 1½ cups whole milk and 1½ cups rather finely broken crackers (but not rolled) and 3 tablespoons butter. Taste for saltiness. The very writing of this down makes me homesick. My mother used to serve this as a rare treat, when what she was actually doing was making a little go as far as possible.

Instead of discarding any celery leaves, if you do not have an immediate use for them, spread them on a heavy brown paper and dry them (then roll and store in a jar for future use) in the receding heat of the oven after a baking spree.

Tested Favorite Recipe

By MARY MOORE.

LITTLE as I want to admit it I do know that vegetables become increasingly difficult as the winter progresses. There are a limited number that we may use fresh.

Corn Oysters are a fine variation for those of us who like vegetable plates—and a fine accompaniment to a cold meat course.

Corn Oysters

One can standard quality corn, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons milk, ¾ cup very fine cracker crumbs, 1 egg, well beaten. Put the corn in a glass or enamel dish, let stand exposed to air for 30 minutes, then simmer gently for 5 minutes while stirring. Add remaining ingredients and drop by spoonfuls on hot iron frying pan or griddle, which contains a small amount of hot bacon fat. Brown not too quickly on one side and turn.

The above makes a grand breakfast dish if one more egg is added, and sliced tomatoes and frizzled bacon are served with them.

CREAMED MUSHROOMS ON TOAST.

Using 1 lb. of mushrooms to serve 8 people.

In iron frying pan melt 4 tablespoons butter and then put in the mushrooms which have been scrubbed (but not peeled) and cut into slices lengthwise, stems included. Stir about in the butter until coated and a little wilted, then add 4 tablespoons flour and stir until flour and butter are blended. Then add 3 cups milk (whole milk is preferable but for economy's sake skim milk may be used) and stir until milk thickens, then cover and reduce heat to as low as possible and let simmer for 7 or 8 minutes until mushrooms are tender, then add 1 teaspoon salt and serve on toast points or in patty cases or in flaky tart shells garnished with parsley. Peas or diced pimentoes may be added to the mixture to extend it if desired.

ATTENTION E. K.: Following is remainder of answer to your letter published last week.

"How to make tough meat tender without stewing it all the time": There are three methods of cooking tough meat without stewing it: 1. Pound tough steaks such as round flank or shoulder of veal with a steak pounder to break the fibres which are tough, and dip the steaks in flour and either broil or fry them. 2. Mince the meat and form into cakes or loaves and fry or bake. 3. Pot Roast the meat.

The first two methods are common but you might need directions for pot roasting.

Pot Roasting

Four lbs. beef from the middle of the rump or round. Wipe clean with a clean wet cloth. Sear all over in heavy roaster such as a Dutch Oven or iron kettle or utensil made of porcelain-covered steel, or by placing in hot iron frying pan with about one-third lb. of suet or trimmings from the meat, and turning continuously until all the surfaces are browned. Put in kettle with 1 cup boiling water and place it where it will keep just below boiling point. Do not let the water cook entirely away, but add only enough to keep the meat from burning. Have the cover fitted closely to keep in the steam. Cook until very tender—about 4 hours being required. Add seasonings such as salt, pepper and paprika about ½ hour before finishing. Add more water if needed but cook down to let juices brown at last. Serve hot or cold. Towards end finely chopped onion and carrots may be added to enhance flavor.

"Recipes for Fruit Desserts without dough or paste":

Pineapple Gelatine Pudding

Soak 1 level tablespoon gelatine in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes and dissolve in 1 cup hot canned pineapple juice; add ½ cup sugar, shake of salt and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. When it begins to stiffen, beat until frothy and add 2 stiffly beaten egg whites and continue beating. Fold in 1 cup diced canned pineapple, ½ cup sliced bananas, and ¼ cup stoned Tokay grapes or prunes, and a few sliced cherries. Turn into wet moulds or cups and chill. When set turn out and garnish with small touches of whipped cream, or if summer serve with crushed strawberries.

Prune Gelatine

Two tablespoons gelatin dissolved in 1½ cups cold water, add 1 cup boiling water, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1½ cups prune pulp, cool in moulds. Serve with cream or custard sauce.

Fruit Salads

For individual plates of dessert fruit salads the lettuce must always be cup shaped and after crispening, dried with a clean towel.

Two halves of Bartlett Pear with a ball of cheese in the cavities, and sprinkled with chopped toasted almonds on lettuce makes one of the choicest of dessert salads.

Two slices of pineapple with balls of cheese, and a half of a banana (dipped in whipped or plain cream to keep it from browning), garnished with chopped cherries and served with Fruit salad dressing is another favorite.

In fruit salad dressing marinate ½ cup seeded Tokay grapes, the sections from one Navel orange, ½ cup pineapple tidbits, and ½ cup sliced canned peaches. None of these are arbitrary amounts, substitute what fruit you have on hand for those we suggest, but these do make a choice combination. Lift the fruit from the marinade and let any excess drip off, then place in a cupped lettuce leaf. Top with a cherry and garnish with a date stuffed with nuts or cheese.

Fruit Salad Dressing

One egg beaten lightly, 1 tablespoon flour, one-third cup sugar, juice of ½ lemon, juice ½ orange, ¼ cup cream whipped, ½ cup juice from canned pineapple. Combine the egg with the flour and sugar. Add the fruit juices and cook in double boiler stirring constantly until thick. Cool and fold in whipped cream. Serves 5. This may be kept and used to dip fruit for salads—it will keep apples and bananas from browning if dipped in it before putting into salads. Keep covered in refrigerator. It will keep a week this way.

We hope these suggestions are useful and shall be glad to help you at any time.

QUESTION: I wrote you a while ago and received a recipe for chutney which turned out lovely. Thanks a lot.

Now I want to bother you again for potted meat. Do you make it from pig's head or calf's head? And the ingredients please?

I made it last year and it was rather flat in taste and appearance. As soon as the heat came in contact with it the meat would become soft and I could not cut it.

You do not know how much good I get from your cookery page, but as I live in the country I sometimes do not get the paper regularly, however when I do get it I save all the pages, and I am getting to be a fairly good cook—and much credit goes to your page—hope you will live to be one hundred or more. L.McD.

ANSWER:

Headcheese

Headcheese or Potted Meat is made from pig's head. The feet as well as the head (and indeed other parts such as hocks) are commonly used.

Skin the head, remove the eyes and the brain and split the head through the midline, or down the centre of the forehead and the nose. Usually the jowls are removed and salted. (All this preliminary preparation you can have done by your butcher.) Put the head pieces and feet and hocks if they are used into a large kettle, add enough cold water to cover the meat, and boil until meat falls from the bones. About one hour before meat is done, add 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 whole bay leaves and 6 pepper berries and 6 cloves, the latter three wrapped in a thin piece of muslin tied on a string so that they can be removed readily. When the meat is done remove it from the liquid (saving the liquid of course) remove the bag of spices and discard them. Chop the meat finely on a board with a knife—do not put it through the mincer as it makes a better looking loaf when hand chopped. Remove bones from cooking liquor, and put meat back in kettle, straining enough of the liquid back over it to barely cover and give it the consistency of good headcheese. Bring it to boil and boil for 10 minutes. Put the cooked meat into moulds such as granite bread pans, or pyrex oven dishes or earthenware bowls or crocks, adding more of the reserved cooking liquid if you think the mixture can take it (it will all jell of course, but you might like it thin or thick with meat I do not know). Cool.

Ladies Of George Street Sunday School Have Man As Teacher

Mrs. A. Olin was elected as president of the Welcome Bible Class of George Street United Church Sunday School, at the annual business meeting held at the home of Mrs. A. E. Stinson, Brock Street.

T. Brenton is the class teacher and additional officers include Mrs. W. J. Moore, first vice-president; Mrs. A. Marshall, second vice-president; Mrs. Walter Fisher, treasurer; Miss Sarah Miller, secretary.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Olin took the chair prior to the election of officers for the new year. Various reports were heard, the class having sent many bouquets during the year to sick and 'shut-in' members.

Mrs. Stinson thanked the members for a gift sent her during the Christmas season, and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and social committee, with thanks to the hostess and singing of "She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

This little black crepe silk Spanish bolero dress is as gay and young as for the youthful figures it is intended.

You can take off the scarlet crepe jacket with gold embroidery and have a complete change of costume. The sash matches the jacket.

The neck is softly draped; the sleeves create interesting wide shoulders and the flaring skirt sways beautifully in motion.

Royal blue crepe jacket and sash with the dress of wine colored crepe is another young combination.

Or how about a gay print crepe with the jacket and sash of plain bright toning crepe? It will give loads of dash to your dark winter wardrobe. You'll wear it all spring.

You can use the jacket pattern again for a sequin jacket for your dinner dress or a Dalmatian felt jacket for your wool sports dress.

Style No. 3494 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material with 1¼ yards of 39-inch contrasting for jacket and sash. Pattern E-11175 costs 10 cents extra.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

ALL THINGS come home at eventide.—Song.
It is the hour when from the boughs
The nightingale's high note is heard;
It is the hour when lovers' vows
Seem sweet in every whispered word:
... So softly dark and darkly pure,
Which follows the decline of day,
As twilight melts beneath the moon away. —Lord Byron.

Dear Friends:

All things come home at eventide. The birds to their nests the cattle to their stables, and human beings to their homes. And the saddest thing about life is when they do not or cannot come home.

And as we go through life, how many of us look with longing towards the end of the long day of life so that we can go home. Home is where the heart is, and many of our hearts reach out to that home which was not made by hands, where those who have gone before will be waiting to welcome us.

Where all the crooked puzzling things we have had to endure will be made plain and clear, where aching lonely hearts are unknown, and the heat of the day is over.

But, while it is yet day with us, we must be as valorous as we can. We must do the work that has been assigned to us, without whimpering too much about it, we must show we are worthy of the rest we crave so much, and not leave things unfinished, for someone else to do.

We must not only be brave ourselves, but help weaker ones to become stronger. We must bring order out of confusion, strength out of weakness, agreement out of disagreement, before we can hope to hear that "well-done" we all hope to hear.

And it isn't such a big task as it seems. All we have to remember is to do our part to the best of our ability, and try to get the other fellow to do his or her part also, for if we are to be blessed for helping them, they also need this blessing for helping us.

Some of us are in such a hurry to give, that we leave nothing for others to give us. "It is more blessed to give than to receive," and if we like giving and doing, we might stop and think if we are allowing the other ones the same pleasure in giving which we have ourselves.

There are many who are good givers but poor receivers. (I used to be one of these, until a good friend opened my eyes) and when we are like that, we can do much harm by making other people selfish. We should at least, give them the chance we gave ourselves, so that their work on earth will get them the same reward at eventide, that we are hoping to get.

And when we look at it as if it were a long day, with rest at the end, it will not be so tiresome. We shall go at it with best and courage and a nice looking forward. We shall not judge so harshly, nor condemn so utterly, but will realize that we are all trying for the same goal, and that maybe their lines are not set in any pleasanter places than our own.

That they are just as confused as we are, and that their lives may have more complications than we can see. That after all, we can only see the outside, or the results, never what goes on inside of their lives. The struggle to be brave, the fight against odds, the bitter things that have disappointed them and warped their natures.

And when we come to the end of the day, when we are wending homewards, we may meet up with them, and add our "well-done" to that of God. And maybe they also will add theirs to make our joy complete, and that will warm our hearts so much.

Spenser says this:

"Sleep after toyle, port after stormie seas,
Ease after warre, death after life, does greatly please."

And our Lord says this: "Come unto me, all ye that are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest." Hoping your burdens are not too heavy and that I have lightened them a little.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

LAKEFIELD W.M.S. PLANS BUSY YEAR

First Meeting Of 1937 Marked By Enthusiastic Acceptance Of Challenge

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 6.—When the Women's Missionary Society of Lakefield United Church held the first meeting of the New Year in the Sunday school here on Tuesday afternoon, the devotional part of the program was in charge of Mrs. Geo. Kelly, first vice-president, and Mrs. P. H. Darling, second vice-president. The meeting was very worthwhile; the program was concise but interesting and had a pronounced spiritual value. The idea that the society is facing a new year was kept before the meeting and served as a challenge. After the usual hymn and a New Year's prayer by Mrs. Kelly, the roll was called which was responded to in a novel way. Each member replied by quoting a verse of Scripture containing the word "new" which brought the quotations in keeping with the season. Mrs. C. Finnemore, Mrs. Stanley Richardson and Mrs. D. H. Charlton read passages of Scripture in keeping with the theme of the meeting, which was ""Jesus' Sympathy for Women and Children." Short extracts in the spirit of the New Year were read by Miss M. Sanderson, Miss Milbourne and Mrs. McKerchar. Mrs. Wm. Millage sang a solo. Mrs. Percy Darling dealt with the study book, "Men and Women of Far Horizons." She called on Mrs. Stanley Richardson, who gave a short resume of one of the preceding chapters. Mrs. Darling discussed more fully, and concluded, the third chapter of the book.

Mrs. W. W. Yale, the society's new president, took the chair for the business period. Mrs. McKerchar and Mrs. Kelly were chosen to represent the society at the Presbyterial meeting in Peterborough on January 26. Miss Sanderson presented the treasurer's report, showing a balance in the expense fund at the end of the year 1936, after the allocation of $485 had been reached. It was decided on motion, that two persons should be appointed to be responsible for the devotional part of the program each month.

An executive meeting is called for next Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. W. Yale for the purpose of choosing persons to be responsible for the program each month.

MADOC

Mrs. Hamm and Miss Marion Hamm of Madoc are spending the holidays in Ottawa, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ash Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Murray of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Max Ransom of Wilson, N.Y., Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Ransom and son Willard of Pjloton, spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. R Bonny in Madoc.

Master Stanley Hawthorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hawthorne, twelve-year-old boy soloist of St. Peter's Church, Madoc, was the guest soloist of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, on Sunday last, choosing as his selections "The Ninety-and-Nine" and "The Hem of His Garment."

Mrs. William Rupert, who has been seriously ill since shortly before Christmas, is still very ill and under the doctor's care.

Mr. Sam Rollins, who has been ill for some days, is reported to be recovering slowly.

The Week of Prayer is being observed by the united services of the Protestant denominations being held on Tuesday evening at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, on Wednesday in Trinity United Church, and on Thursday evening in St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, the several ministers assisting in the services.

LIQUOR ON RESERVE COSTS INDIAN $15

Tweed School Section Elects Herman Tucker To Replace Fred Blakely

TWEED, Jan. 6. — Fred Hill, Tyendinaga Reserve, was found guilty of the possession of intoxicants illegally upon an Indian Reserve when he appeared before the Indian agent, H. J. Eade. A fine of $15.00 and costs, were imposed. Hill was arrested by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police following a search made of his premises where a quantity of alleged home-brew beer was discovered. At the request of the accused the payment of the fine was adjourned for one month.

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of Tweed Consolidated School Section was held at the school on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock for the election of one trustee to represent the Chapman portion of the Section and to receive the financial report for the year 1936.

Mr. Fred Blakely, who has represented the Chapman Section on the School Board, retired after twelve years of efficient service. His decision to retire was the cause of deep regret to the other members of th School Board, the ratepayers and the members of the teaching staff of the Tweed Consolidated School. Mr. Blakely had an excellent grasp of educational and business matters pertaining to the conduct of Public School affairs, and his counsel was greatly appreciated. His successor, Mr. Herman Tucker, has had a great deal of experience in municipal matters, and will be a most capable addition to the Board. The members of the Board for 1937 are C. R. Porritt secretary-treasurer, H. C. Myles, T. C. Graham for Tweed, Lincoln Elliott for Farnsworth, and Herman Tucker for Chapman. The chairman will be chosen at the first meeting in January. Inclement weather kept the attendance of the annual meeting down considerably below the figure of other years.

Miss Jessie Lamb has returned to her school in Hastings after spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lamb.

Owing to the icy condition of the roads, the play given Christmas night by the Y.P.A. of Trinity United Church will be repeated at an early date.

Miss Grace Carew left Saturday to resume her school duties at Tory Hill, after spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Carew.

Miss Mary Faulkner has returned home from visiting her friend, Miss Irene Ross, in Toronto.

The many friends of Mrs. Harry Lamb will be very sorry to know she is confined to her home through illness.

Miss Madeline Grey has returned to her school duties at Bancroft after spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Ivory.

Yields 283 Needles: DUNDALK.—When a Proton Station woman ran out of needles, she decided to open an old pin-cushion to see what she could find. The pin-cushion yielded 283 needles, and the woman thinks she has enough now to last her for life.

To Aid Spanish: DUBLIN. — Unexplained activity of large groups of men at the headquarters of General Eoin O'Duffy in Cork led to reports today the Fascist leader had assembled a new contingent of his "Irish Brigade" to aid the Spanish insurgents. The activity resembled that which was observed last month when 1,000 members of the brigade set out for Spain.

MAN WAS MADE TO GROW, NOT STOP DR. LITTLE SAYS

"Retarded Personalities" Is Subject Of Week Of Prayer Service At All Saints'

GOD HAS NOT LET GO

The week of prayer service was held in All Saints' Church on Wednesday evening. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. J. D. Paterson assisted by Rev. S. G. McCormack of Knox United Church. The prayer for Epiphany, January 6, the twelfth day after Christmas was used.

Dr. Little spoke about retarded personalities. "Man was made to grow, not stop. Why stay we on the earth if not to grow?" Stability comes through progression. Christ grew in wisdom and in stature and in favor with God and man. The disciples grew through fellowship with Christ and the apostles became spiritual revolutionaries, turning the world upside down. There is no limit to our own spiritual possibilities if we live positively and purposely. It is tragic when people go through life with a dead soul.

God Has Not Let Go.

There is encouragement in the fact that God has not let go of us. His hand is still upon us for good. His love and power are available for us. Through Christ, God's purposes for us may be realized. Fifty years ago the world knew very little about electricity, but by the work of Bell, Edison, Marconi, Pupin and Steinmetz, electricity is now a permanent possession of the race and there are inexhaustible reserves to draw from. In the first century the faith that we call Christianity was unknown, but in the fifty years following the crucifixion of Christ, the literature that forms the New Testament was produced and is a permanent possession of mankind. Through the cross of Christ we may draw upon the infinite love of God.

Hope For Handicapped.

There is hope for the handicapped. Some of them through surrender to the will of God make marvellous recoveries. Nearly everyone thinks that he has a quick temper and a sharp tongue, yet they may attain control by the grace of God. Moses the exponent of law in the Old Testament began his career as a murderer. Paul who wrote the noblest eulogy of love ever penned, was consenting to the deaths of Stephen and had been a persecutor. This higher life cannot be lived by the light of nature. It flows from daily contact with the spirit of God, the actual God at work in the world today.

Conviction comes from insight. Faith is not believing the incredible or professing to hold what is irrational. Conviction comes from mental clarification and demonstrations in experience.

Dr. Little told of one woman interested in personal evangelism who in four years has entertained four thousand people in her home and by helping others has grown immeasurably spiritual. She has now a wealth of conviction through new insights.

Two methods of spiritual growth were suggested. For one month read all four gospels through each week. A chapter from a gospel may easily be read in five minutes. Mark's gospel may be read in an hour and two days each may be given to Matthew, Luke and John. Keeping in touch with the life of Christ enables us "to grow with the growth divine." Throughout 1937 become familiar with the hymn books used by the Anglicans, Presbyterians, Baptists, United Church and Salvation Army. They contain Christian truths expressed in poetry set to music. One man plays and sings a hymn after every meal. As a result his inner life is growing.

Dr. Little concluded with Paul's ringing challenge "Why live as though you still belong to the world!" If the church is to be able to give a blood transmission to the anaemic moral conditions of today, Christians must be wholly committed to God. Satan cannot be used to cast out Satan. A house divided against itself will fall. We cannot be comfortable trying to serve both God and Mammon. Trying to make the most of both worlds we can fully enjoy neither. Our divided selves can be healed and our personalities integrated by listening to God and having his indwelling spirit. Christ can make our souls live. It is in Christ that we reach our full life. A unified self may be achieved through God-controlled living.

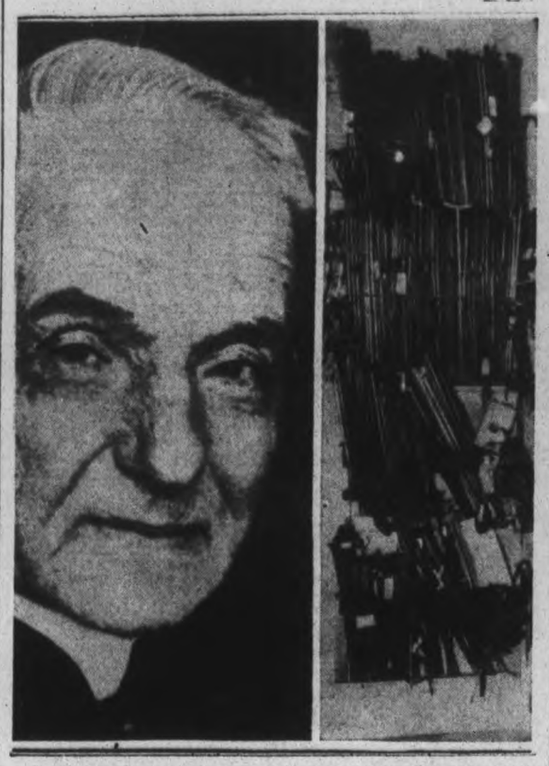
Montreal Miracle Worker Dead



Application for canonization as a saint of beloved Brother Andre, the Miracle Man of Montreal to thousands of Roman Catholics, will probably be made following his death at the age of 91 in Montreal. Born in poverty and a former school porter, the brother, who devoted his life to his patron saint St. Joseph and became noted far and wide for his piety, died with his great hope — to see completion of the $4,000,000 basellica on the slopes of Mount Royal—unfulfilled. The edifice, started with sums saved by Brother Andre and donations from pilgrims, is still under construction. Brother Andre is pictured ABOVE. At RIGHT are some of the crutches left at his shrine by visitors who claimed miraculous healing from their visit and prayers at the shrine. Many of the miraculous cures are on record.

The Rambling REPORTERS

Once in a while an old newspaper clipping appears to remind one that there were serious road accidents even before the day of the automobile. A clipping relating the details of a carriage accident in Ashburnham, taken from an 1899 issue of The Examiner, fell out from the backing of a picture which was being unframed at the home of Mrs. Mary Hall in Otonabee just the other day.

According to the yellowed slip of paper, Mrs. Roger Devlin of Otonabee, in company with two daughters, Norah and Mary, two sons, John and William, and a neighbor by the name of Fitzgerald, were driving in a carriage along an Ashburnham street when the horses bolted at the sound of rattling milk cans in a rig following. The runaway resulted in an upset and Mrs. Devlin and her two daughters all sustained serious injuries. They were rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

True to modern accident reports, the clipping suggests that the milk rig behind was being driven at a wanton and reckless speed and was responsible for the accident.—C.P.K.

THE LIAR'S CLUB.

Following the example of their American cousins, a local Liar's Club is about to be formed in the city, and the aspirant to presidential honors is telling the following tall yarn which should put him in the running for highest office local liars have to offer. Motoring through the Maritimes, Liar No. 1 relates he and a friend purchased a 6-quart carton of beer when nearing the eastern boundary of New Brunswick, 2-quarts of which were consumed before crossing the boundary into Nova Scotia. Waiting while a flat tire was being repaired, the Peterborough Ananias and his friend strolled around the N.S. village, and to their surprise found a cop seated in the car upon their return. The officer threatened them with a fine of $100, or six weeks in the cooler because they had imported N.B. beer into N.S. Tearfully pleading ignorance of the law the pair were allowed to proceed with the strict injunction to destroy the evidence at the earliest possible moment. They proceeded to do so to the tune of two more quarts. Later when rounding a curve a roadside sign greeted them. It said, "Welcome to Parisburg." Feeling peeved, they showed their displeasure at the Nova Scotia law by placing the full remaining pair of quarts on top of this inviting sign. Returning that way three days later they found the aforesaid bottles were still where they left them. They were full at that.—R.

AGE SCORES ON YOUTH

Today we witnessed an amusing incident in which age scored a neat little victory over youth. A young man progressing at snail's pace over treacherous icy pavements on George street was this afternoon briskly overtaken by a man many years his senior. The elder man drawing abreast of the younger pedestrian cheerily remarked: "Are you finding the going tough. Take a tip from me and wear creepers. I have them on and feel as sure-footed as a horse with spiked shoes. You're in the position of a horse that is not properly shod and are afraid to put one foot in front of the other." Taking a firmer grip on the black brief case he was carrying the elder man lengthened his stride and confidently vanished into the gloom and murk of a winter's day.—H.R.

ADDITIONS TO COLLEGE.

LONDON.— (CP). — Extensions and additions to Kings College to cost approximately $800,000 were outlined by Dr. W. R. Halliday, principal, at the college commemoration dinner.

TIMELY RELIEF IS GIVEN TAXPAYERS

000 a year on the basis of last year's payments for old age pensions and mother allowances.

"These two services cost the counties just about $25,000 each last year and that worked out at about 1½ mills in the county tax rate. The government's decision will be grateful to the property owners in Northumberland and Durham. In our counties these social service charges have been increasing by bounds, and they have been frequently discussed by the counties council. We have taken the position that they should be taken over by the government, because it was felt that the owners of property, the farmers and the people in the towns and villages, should not be called upon to pay for pensions and mothers' allowances which were adopted by the government and then passed on in part to the municipalities."

Warden Fred Waterman.

Warden Fred Waterman of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, at his home in South Monaghan this afternoon, said, "It sounds like a good proposition to me. Our appropriations last year for old age pensions was $25,500 and the same sum for mothers' allowances. That is a total of $51,000. I think we finished the year with an expenditure of about that amount for these two items. It might be a little more, but if there is an excess expenditure it will be very small. Farmers generally will appreciate relief from these social service taxes because we require all our funds for the ordinary taxes. Cost of old age pensions and mothers' allowances have been growing at such a rate that they were a heavy burden, and we will all be glad to be rid of them. We had urged the government to assume them, and this feeling was general with all the counties in the province."

Warden Gifford

"Like the assumption of the total cost of highways by the province, I feel that this action of the administration in taking over the entire cost of old age pensions and mothers' allowance represents a sincere attempt on the part of the government to lessen the burden of taxation upon those who are least able to pay," was the comment of Warden James Gifford, in regard to the announcement by Premier Hepburn. "When the detailed statement of the cost of these services is made out it will be possible to see definitely just how much the municipal taxpayers have saved."

22,800 in Victoria

Inquiries at the county buildings in Lindsay reveal the fact that the County of Victoria stood to gain about $1,900 monthly, or $22,800 a year, with the province assuming the entire cost of mothers' allowance and municipal share of old age pension. This estimate is based on last year's figures, Clerk Weldon pointed out, and these disbursements were increasing all the time.

Verdict of Approval

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—Municipal heads throughout Ontario to-day examined their financial records and generally gave a verdict of approval of the provincial government's new policy of assuming the cost of mothers' allowances and municipalities' share of old age pensions.

Changes in the pension policy were announced by David Croll. Losses could be expected by Toronto, London, Ottawa, Windsor and Brockville, and the social welfare scheme would cost the government $750,000, he estimated.

Reaction of officials of Toronto will be the biggest loser was one of criticism. Mayor W. D. Robbins said the scheme gave Toronto "most unjust treatment."

The loss of $468,000 when the province assumed old age pensions and mothers' allowances and retained all income tax would add a half mill to the city tax rate, he stated.

Hamilton officials, on the other hand, estimated a saving of more than $50,000, if income revenues rose, however, the benefit would be wiped out, authorities believed.

Finance Commissioner S. K. Watt of St. Catharines saw the move as a "step in the right direction." He thought social costs should be paid in their entirety from income and should not be a tax on property.

Mayor S. K. Serviss of Galt expressed satisfaction at the government's plan to assume cost of social legislation, but did not approve of its retention of all revenue from the income tax.

At Brantford, J. P. Ryan, president of the Ontario Municipal Association, welcomed Mr. Croll's announcement.

"It is what the municipalities have sought," he said. "They wish to be relieved of certain social legislation enacted by the government, part of the cost of which is passed on to the municipalities when municipal revenues are decreasing and there are no new sources of revenue available."

Ryan added: "The municipalities have been in favor of a move that either the government supply new sources of revenue or remove the cost of social services."

Hon. David Croll said 935 municipalities in Ontario out of 940 would gain, while losses would result for the following municipalities: Toronto, $468,000; London, $10,000; Ottawa, $25,000; Windsor, $15,000; Brockville $5,300.

The following are some of the municipalities that will gain under the new plan, with the approximate amounts:

Hamilton, $48,000; Kingston, $7,148; Fort William, $15,000; Port Arthur, $13,399; St. Catharines, $8,185; Niagara Falls, $13,062; St. Thomas, $12,000; Brantford, $12,000; Guelph, $9,000; Belleville, $12,000.

Welland, $3,820; Chatham, $14,000; Kitchener, $5,000; Galt, $1,300; Trenton, $6,000; Oshawa, $2,500; Owen Sound, $11,430; Sarnia, $7,000; Peterborough, $22,200; North Bay, $16,000; Sudbury, $9,600; Sault Ste. Marie, $16,000.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 7—(C.P.)—It was stated at the City Buildings to-day that Kingston would gain approximately $11,000 as the result of the new policy of the Ontario Government in taking over the entire cost of administering the mothers' allowance and the old age pensions, while assuming all the revenues from the provincial income tax.

The mothers' allowance cost Kingston $23,150 last year, while the cost for old age pensions was $11,000 making a total of $34,000.

Kingston last year received $21,800 as its share of the income tax, so that a clear gain of $11,000 will be made.

INDIANS ARE FINED FOR DESTROYING MUSKRAT HOUSES

Hall's Bridge Man Pleads Guilty To Unlawfully Selling Muskrat Pelts

TWO FISHING CHARGES

On pleading guilty to charges of unlawfully spearing, breaking-up and destroying muskrat houses in the township of Otonabee on January 2, David Jacobs and Cecil Knott, Indians from Curve Lake reservation were this (Thursday) morning ordered by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to pay fines of $10 and 75 cents costs each. Informations against the pair were laid by Game and Fisheries Officer I. J. Lyons, who caught them breaking game laws at Bensfort Bridge and placed their motor car under seizure. The magistrate, in imposing minimum fines, told the defendants:—"It is a cruel thing, apart from any other consideration. You broke up the homes of these poor animals. Maybe you speared one little muskrat and left the rest to freeze to death." His Worship advised Knott, the younger of the pair, to get steady work wood-cutting, and told him if he again appeared before the Bench for breaches of game laws he would be more severely dealt with. Melville Hall, of Hall's Bridge, charged with unlawfully selling muskrat pelts, pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs. Charges against Irven Smoke and Osborne Beaver, Indians from Alnwick reservation, of unlawfully fishing through the ice, were adjourned to January 14. Smoke entered a plea of not guilty. Beaver was not present to answer to the charge.

NEW INTEREST IN RELIGION.

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP).—Masses of Russian citizens are professing fresh interest in religion, authoritative sources reported today on the basis of indications shown during the first days of the national census.

"Do you believe in God?" is one of the questions census-takers ask each citizen in the gigantic canvass of the Soviet Union.

Although returns are official secrets, many government officials were reported surprised at the religious trend being shown.

BANK CLEARINGS.

A good start was made in 1937 at the Peterborough Clearing House with bank clearings showing an increase in the first week over the corresponding week one year ago. In the past week which closed Wednesday night the clearings totalled $783,493, and for the same period one year ago they were $739,704.

LIBERAL SOCIAL AFFAIR.

Liberal workers in the Federal riding of Peterborough West will be the guests of the three party associations at a social evening in the Canadian Legion Hall Tuesday, January 12. The workers and their friends will be the guests jointly of the Men's Liberal Association, the Women's Liberal Association, and the Young Liberals' Association, and officers, poll chairmen and other workers from all parts of the riding are being invited. The program will include euchre, bridge, dancing, supper and a half a dozen short speeches.

MEET NEXT THURSDAY.

The Peterborough County Seed Growers' Association is to hold its annual meeting Thursday evening next week and an announcement concerning the seed cleaning plant to be obtained for this district may be made at that time. The association was organized last summer and has since been active in planning purchase and erection of a cleaning outfit here.

STOLEN CAR FOUND.

Stolen from the parking lot outside the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday evening, a sedan automobile owned by P. J. Giffen was recovered less than twelve hours later by city police. The car was found abandoned at the south gate of Little Lake Cemetery at 7.30 a.m. today by Acting - Sergeant John Thompson.

SLIPPERY GOING.

Various officials who have their offices in the county buildings and others who had business to transact there, were this (Thursday) morning obliged to abandon their cars on Water street and struggle up the ice-coated hill on foot. Before the surface of the roadway and sidewalks was sanded auto traffic found it impossible to negotiate the grade. Even wheels fitted with skid chains failed to find traction on the glare ice.

INJURES HIS KNEE.

R. D. O'Brien of Oshawa, representative of D. S. Howland & Co., of Toronto, a guest at the Empress Hotel, slipped on Wednesday night as he was getting into his car and struck his knee. The injury was not regarded as very serious at the time, but to-day it was found necessary to remove Mr. O'Brien to St. Joseph's Hospital for examination and treatment.

IT'S A DAILY EVENT.

The weather makes no difference to the checker enthusiasts who frequent the office of Market Clerk Brown. Come January thaw, or sub-zero dip, the devotees of the game gather just the same for their daily jousts and while the setup includes ten kibitzers for every player, it is all good clean fun, and the regulars seem to enjoy it. The checkers are supplied by the Market Clerk.

INAUGURAL MEETING.

The inaugural meeting of the City Council will be held next Monday morning at 11 o'clock with the first regular session on Monday night. With the Council very little changed from last year the feeling seems to be that there will not be much of a shakeup in the chairmanships, although the defeat of Ald. Tuggey will necessitate a new appointment for the property portfolio, and that may develop into other changes.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Alex. Wedlock has been elected president of the Senior A. S. Bible Class of Knox United Church for the coming year. Other officers chosen for the organization, one of the largest young men's classes in the city, were: Orm. Benson, vice-president; Harold Murduff, secretary-treasurer; Gordon Morrison, Ross Allen, and Marlow Banks, executive members. Rev. S. G. McCormack and Andrew McKenzie were named honorary presidents.

TABLET UNVEILED.

A tablet commemorating All Saints' Anglican Church's second rector, Rev. William S. Major, has been unveiled in the church. The memorial is inscribed: "In honored memory of William S. Major, Second Rector of the Parish, 1904-1908. He served this Congregation faithfully, adorning the Word of Truth with a blameless life. Erected by Members and Friends, 1936."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, January 8

ACCORDING TO the stellar activities of this day, there may be a rather secret or subtle turn in the affairs, in which elders may have a voice. This may accelerate affairs to a high tension, particularly in the promotion of new projects or worthwhile undertakings. Business generally will be lively.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively and interesting year, although affairs may have a rather secret or under-cover aspect. This element of the subtle also complexions the private life in its social, domestic and sentimental relations.

A child born on this day may be constructive, energetic, enterprising and fond of responsibility, which will attract the confidence and support of its elders and employers.

Clean-Up Staged By Police Of Recent Series of Robberies Six Young Men Under Arrest

Three Enter Pleas Of Guilty And Are Remanded For Sentence

WIGG GIVEN CREDIT

Wholesale arrests made by city police overnight and early this morning, are believed by Chief Constable Samuel Newhall to clean up the recent series of break-ins and robberies.

As the first pair to make their appearance before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., Dennis Plumpton and Volney Woodcock both elected summary trial and entered pleas of guilty to joint charges of breaking and entering and theft at the warehouse of D. Florence, Stewart street junk dealer. On request of the Crown they were remanded for sentence until January 13.

Arrested in bed at his rooming house, Alexander Smith pleaded guilty to separate charges of breaking and entering and theft from Childerhose Radio Store at 261 George street, and to receiving 15 stolen watches, the property of Schneider Brothers, jewelers. He was similarly remanded for sentence until January 13.

John Callaghan, 411 London street, was remanded to the same date after pleading not guilty to breaking and entering and theft at Schneider Brothers store, and not guilty to a further charge of breaking and entering and theft of Childerhose Radio Store.

John Carmody, described as a transient pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was remanded for sentence to January 13, when the Crown requested time for the police to complete their investigation.

Also charged with vagrancy David Peters, 283 Armour road, entered a plea of not guilty. The Crown requested and obtained a remand until January 13. Peters requested bail, which was set in the sum of $2,000. When told that bail would have to be substantial, the defendant who presented a neatly-dressed appearance, composedly replied: "That's all right."

Wigg Is Credited

A major portion of the credit for the arrests was given by the Chief Constable to Sergt. Wm. Wigg, although several other members of the Department assisted in the round-up. As a result largely of investigation conducted on his own initiative Sergeant Wigg Wednesday night arrested Plumpton in a local pool room, while Woodcock was picked up later at his home on Victoria avenue by Constable William Piercy. Charges against this pair allege they were involved in theft of copper tubing from the Florence junk yard on December 31 last.

Carmody and Peters, who are held on nominal charges of vagrancy, were apprehended during the night by Constable John Stevenson and were placed under arrest when they failed to give the officer a satisfactory account of their movements.

Sergeant Wigg and Constable Archie Menzies are jointly credited with the arrest of Callaghan and Smith, alleged to be jointly implicated in the theft of a radio from Childerhose store on January 5 and theft of waiches from Schneider Brothers store on the same date.

Arrested This Morning

Callaghan was arrested at his home at eight o'clock this morning by Sergeant Wigg, who was accompanied by Acting-Sergeant John Thompson, and Constables J. Wheeler and A. Menzies. Additional police were on hand in anticipation of trouble, it is learned, but the prisoner submitted quietly to arrest.

Smith was arrested at his rooming house on George street by Sergeant Wigg. He was in bed at the time of the officer's visit, and is alleged to have been found in possession of 16 watches answering to the description of stolen goods, and also a radio believed stolen from the Childerhose store.

ELECT TRIAL BEFORE JUDGE.

Committed for trial before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., earlier this week on joint charges of attempted armed robbery and assault, Gordon Druce, 19, and John McClennan, 18, this (Thursday) morning appeared before the County Judge in Chambers to elect trial before the County Judge and enter pleas of not guilty to the charges. They will appear for trial before County Judge Sheldon L. Smoke here on March 2. Both accused are being represented by the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. They are alleged in the charges to have been involved in the attempted holdup and wounding of Edgar D. Carson, north-end grocer, on the night of November 26 last.

Farmers Are Asked To Dress For Dinner

London, Jan. 7.

SHOULD farmers be forced to dress for dinner?

Invitations to the National Farmers' Union dinner in London this month said: "Evening dress or dinner suit." •

T. Brooks of the Buckingham Branon asks: "Why should we farmers have to wear evening dress? My wife has threatened to do all sorts of things to me if I get one. I have been to dinners as big as this one, and the bigwigs don't wear it."

Brooks added: "If I could go without evening dress I would go. My old black suit is good enough for me, whatever the N.F.U. toffs may say."

Headquarters are to be asked if a few Buckingham farmers may dress as they please....or they won't be there.

PRICE OF BREAD TO REMAIN SAME

Bakers Have Not Considered Increasing Price In The City

Although flour has advanced more than $1.00 a barrel in price in concurrence with the rising price of wheat in the past year, no general increase in the price of bread has yet been considered seriously in Peterborough, inquiries to-day indicated. A price of 9 cents for standard loaves and 10 cents for extra quality loaves has prevailed generally here since last spring.

The necessity of increasing the price of bread to keep pace with the rising price of wheat is not remote, but the first move will likely be made by small bakeries which have been underselling the market with a cheaper product at 7 and 8 cents, one leading local baker predicted. Such bakers must now be running right on the line between profit and loss even though they may have been taking full advantage of the use of cheaper ingredients, he said.

Several bakers when asked of the possibility of a price increase said they had nothing to say on the subject.

SENATOR O'CONNOR RESIGNED OFFICE IN LIBERAL PARTY

Is Reported Ready To Withdraw From All Provincial Party Activities

STATEMENT EXPECTED

TORONTO, Jan. 7—Sen. Frank P. O'Connor has resigned his office of Treasurer of the Ontario Liberal Association, it was learned on good authority at Queen's Park, yesterday.

Other members of the association denied last night having any knowledge of the resignation, but it was reported elsewhere that the Senator may make some formal statement concerning his course of action before the end of the week.

Friends state that it is his intention to dissociate himself entirely in future from active participation in the affairs of the Provincial Liberal party.

Liberal M.L.A.'s who were at Queen's Park yesterday, and professed to be aware of the situation, were unable to explain it. Some ventured the opinion, however, that it heralded an early reorganization of the association set-up, with stress to be laid on campaign direction. Since East Hastings by-election there has been considerable grumbling in party ranks about the alleged ineffectiveness of the campaign management. There also has been a lot of under-cover demand for an annual meeting of the Provincial association. No such meeting was held last year, and the rank and file are said to feel that it is about time for such an intraparty confab.

Members of the Ontario Government had nothing to say last night concerning Senator O'Connor's reported retirement. Premier Hepburn could not be reached for comment.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANNIE AGNES YOUNG.

A well-known resident of Peterborough passed away this (Thursday) morning in the death at Port Hope in her 83rd year of Annie Agnes Loomis, widow of Charles Henry Young. Mrs. Young had been ill for about three months. She had been visiting a daughter in Toronto and was taken ill on the way home, stopping at Port Hope, where she was taken care of at the home of another daughter, Mrs. R. H. Hewitt.

The deceased, who was the daughter of the late Chester and Mrs Loomis, had lived in Peterborough thirty-five years, coming here from Norwood. She enjoyed the regard of a large circle of friends, to whom the news of her passing will bring grief.

Surviving relatives are four daughters: Mrs. P. G. Christie and Mrs. E. A. Bull of Toronto, Mrs. R. H. Hewitt of Port Hope and Mrs. G. H. Cutmore of 223 Prince Street, Peterborough; one sister, Mrs. W. German of Warkworth and one brother, George Loomis, of Brighton.

Mrs. Young was a member of Knox Church.

The remains will rest at Nesbitt's Funeral Home, Charlotte Street, until Friday morning, when they will be taken to the home of Mrs. Young's daughter, Mrs. Cutmore, 223 Prince Street.

The funeral will be held at Knox Church on Saturday, at 2 o'clock, with Rev. S. G. McCormack and Rev. J. D. Paterson officiating. Friends are asked to omit flowers. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

EDITH LYLE WESTCOTT.

The death of Edith Lyle Westcott, wife of Routliffe L. Westcott of Toronto, formerly of this city, occurred in the Women's College Hospital, Toronto, on Wednesday. Funeral on Saturday at 2 p.m. from the William Speers Chapel, Toronto, to the Park Lawn Cemetery.

AN ASSESSMENT ERROR.

Reeve Frank Leahy has called The Examiner's attention to a transposed figure in the new equalized assessment of Douro Township as reported in Tuesday's Examiner. And that inadvertent mistake looms large in its effect and might cause misapprehension among the ratepayers of the township. Douro's new assessment is $1,068,533.12 instead of $1,680,533.12.

Japan's population gained 1,004,009 in 1936.

CANADIAN REDS RALLY JAN. 29-31

Will Discuss Current Conflict Between Industrial and Trade Unionism In U.S.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—(CP).—Communist leaders from many parts of Canada will gather here January 29, 30 and 31 for the semi-annual meeting of the Central committee of the Communist Party of Canada, Secretary Tim Buck announced today.

Among those to attend will be James Litterick, M.L.M., Winnipeg, first Communist legislator elected in North America; Malcolm Bruce, Vancouver editor of the British Columbia Workers' News; Ald. J. Penner, Winnipeg; Ald. S. O. Smith, Toronto, Secretary Ontario committee; J. Stock, United Mine Workers of America organizer; Sam Carr, organizing secretary, and Charles Sims, Central committee secretary, Toronto.

On the agenda for discussion is the current conflict between industrial and trade unionism in the United States. Canadian Communists, according to Secretary Buck, are 100 per cent. behind the efforts of John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, who is waging war on United States' trade unionists.

FACES THIRD CHARGE.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Jan. 7. —(CP).—A third charge has been laid against James Bullock, who lies under guard in Brantford General Hospital in serious condition from a bullet in his abdomen, it was announced here to-day by Provincial Constable Jack Clark.

Bullock, already charged as one of the four men who attacked Melvin Lachman, Plattsville garage proprietor, and William Love, his assistant, during an alleged attempt to rob Lachman's garage, was yesterday charged in connection with robbery of a Teeterville store, when the rifle broken over Lachman's head was identified as part of the Teeterville plunder.

HASTINGS WOMEN ARE PLANNING TEA

Institute Hears Particulars In Regard To Contest For Girls

HASTINGS, Jan. 7.—Twenty-seven ladies attended the January meeting of the Hastings Women's Institute on Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. C. Baker, presiding. The roll call "How to Manage a Husband," caused laughter in response to the amusing answers.

Correspondence included: A letter of thanks from Mrs. L. Revoi, for flowers received; letters from Mrs. A. E. Spooner and family and from Mrs. A. S. Spooner thanking the members for their sympathy extended to them in their bereavement. Instructions were received in regards to the Girls' Supper Club on "How to be well dressed and groomed." The course will be open to girls between 12 and 26 years, and will consist of 6 or 8 lessons; record books will be kept and scores given. Members will compete with members of East Northumberland at Campbellford, and winners at Campbellford will be sent to Peterborough and Belleville Fairs and also be entertained at a banquet at the Empress Hotel at Peterborough. Any girl interested in the Club should get in touch with the president or Mrs. J. A. Brown.

An invitation was extended to the members by the Roseneath Women's Institute to attend their 30th Anniversary Euchre and Dance on January 15th.

Mrs. C. Baker and Mrs. H. Stephenson will donate wool samples for the making of two quilts.

A Birthday Tea

It was decided that a 25 cent Afternoon Birthday Tea and home cooking sale be held in Lynch's Hall on Saturday, January 30th. Mrs. Gowans, Mrs. T. A. Walsh, Mrs. Findly, Mrs. H. Stephenson and Mrs. Hay were appointed as a committee to arrange for the tea.

The programme in charge of Miss F. L. German included a talk on Current Events by the Rev. F. H. Newell, who congratulated the local branch on their work in connection with the Christmas Cheer, which he said was worthy of highest admiration. His instructive talk centred on the following topics: Our National Christmas Stocking, National Safety, The Royal Family, the Abdication, the Accession of the new King, Armaments, the Spanish War, Automobile Strike in United States and Evil Forces in Canada.

Mrs. Gordon Faux then gave a pleasing solo in keeping with the roll call entitled "You Must not Scold Back, or Pray it or Frown, if Hubby Storms at you all day," with accompaniment on the autoharp. The topic, "But for the Grace of God, there goes me," was given by Miss F. German, and the motto, "Do not waste time looking at your hill, climb it," by Mrs. V. Findly.

Among Art Collections Offered U.S.

This portrayal of the Holy Mother and Child, acknowledged as one of the most beautiful ever executed, is the Raphael "Madonna and Child," known as the Cowper or Nicolini Madonna. Andrew Mellon, former U.S. secretary of the treasury, included this in his collection of art treasures at a cost of $800,000. It is amongst the world-famous old masters he has offered to the American nation as the nucleus of a national gallery to be founded at Washington.

SIX MURDERERS HOPING FOR LIFE

Three Of Group To Die On Thursday Maintain Innocence Of Plot

OSSINING, N.Y., Jan. 7. (AP).—Six convicted killers sat in the death house of Sing Sing Prison today, nervously discussing the possibility Gov. Herbert H. Lehman might commute the sentences of three to life imprisonment before they start the "walk out back" tomorrow night.

The six were convicted of killing Edwin Esposito, a Brooklyn subway collector, for $200 in nickels and dimes in September, 1935.

Relatives, making their last visits, told them of a pavement prayer meeting yesterday in which approximately 400 women gathered in New York in front of the Park Avenue apartment building where Governor Lehman lives, and prayed that he be lenient to the condemned.

The Governor, however, was in Albany, 125 miles away.

District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan, who prosecuted the six, talked with Samuel Kimmel 28, Eugene Bruno 20, and Dominick Zizzo, 26. They insisted they never knew a murder was to be committed. The other three to die are Theodore Di Dionne 31, Joseph Bolognia 24, and Salvatore Scatta, 19. They were reported to have resigned themselves to death.

BETHANY

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lee of Lindsay spent New Year's with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cairns and later were week-end guests of Mrs. Wm. Lee and Miss Verna Belle on Wilson street.

Mrs. Lloyd Kennedy was a visitor to Lindsay on Monday.

Miss Silva Whitcombe, who spent the Christmas vacation with friends in Bethany returned to her home in Lindsay on Monday.

Mrs. Fred Thompson, spent part of the holiday term with friends in Toronto, returning via Peterborough to have New Year's dinner with her daughter, Miss Mary Thompson of the executive staff at the DeLaval.

Miss M. Thompson suffered a severe fall in her home on New Year's morning in some unaccountable manner, losing balance while crossing the kichen while preparing breakfast. Dr. J. J. Hamilton is treating the injured woman.

The many friends of Mrs. George Page of St. Mary's will be sorry to learn of her illness at her home at this time, necessitating a complete rest from her household duties, and will wish her a speedy recovery.

Quite a number of villagers have been incapacitated with the flu epidemic and head colds, during the Christmas season.

Mr. S. V. Young and son, Vernon spent the New Year holiday with friends at a distance.

Mr. Cuminsky on attaining his ambition to the reeveship, tendered a wholesale invitation on behalf of the council to a dance in Town Hall, Bethany on Friday evening, January 8, stipulating that he would be excused as host, pending his presence on business at Cobourg.

Eldridge Shea, one of the three new contesters at Fleetwood polled the winderful vote of 406 and much credit is acclaimed to his many "cousins" in the south of Manvers for the splendid result.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lee of Lindsay and Mrs. O. H. McGill Brunswick were guests at the supper hour of Mrs. G. Foster, Glengarry road.

DOCTORS CHECK KIDNEYS FIRST

Because they know that healthy Kidneys remove from the blood the waste matter—the excess acids and poisons, formed by the ever-changing human body as it decays and rebuilds itself. But if the Kidneys fail, illness surely follows. Backache, Rheumatism, Impure Blood, Lack of Energy, Too Frequent Urination, Sleeplessness, Headaches—all may result from faulty kidneys. As a health safeguard—as a wise precaution—regulate your kidneys frequently with Dodd's Kidney Pills—for over fifty years the favorite Kidney remedy—non-habit forming—safe. 105

NO MORE PILES

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief.

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief—they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medicine succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, eases the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

So if you have failed to get the relief you want from your sore, painful piles, and would like to give HEM-ROID a trial, you have our promise to return your money if just one bottle of this prescription does not give pleasing results. McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store or any druggist can supply you with the genuine HEM-ROID.

GERMANS RUNNING INSURGENT TROOPS

Madrid Learns Nazi Officers In Complete Control Of Andalusian Forces

MADRID, Jan. 7—(A.P.).—Government forces were dispatched today into the Las Rozas sector, 10 miles northwest of Madrid, to bolster defence of the vital El Escorial Highway.

Insurgent troops were known to have gained a foothold on the important communications line to the Guadarramas in what military commanders believed was a new attempt to drive a wedge through the besieged capital's western defences.

Militiamen and international volunteers were heavily reinforced for an attempt to drive the insurgents back and keep the link with the mountain guard intact.

A War Office bulletin reported the defence forces were bombing insurgent concentrations between Majadahonda, base of the attack on the highway, and Las Rozas.

A War Office communique from the Southern front said insurgent Moors and Legionnaires who escaped to government lines from the Jaen province town of Villa Harta reported Spanish officers were almost entirely replaced by Germans throughout Andalusia.

"Whole brigades are formed by Germans," the bulletin said government commanders were told.

WOOLER

The morning service in the United Church was the Communion service conducted by Rev. A. Poulter to a large congregation. His text was "In the beginning," John 1:1. Mrs. Poulter and Clifford Rogers sang together, "God's Purpose." The junior congregation was much larger than usual. Mrs. A. G. Austin was in charge.

Billy Sprung is home, going to school again.

On Tuesday a noon lunch was served in church parlors by Mrs. Redcliffe, Mrs. C. P. Wessels, Mrs. P. J. Wessels, Mrs. Rilla Scott and Mrs. George Anderson.

The auxiliary of the W.M.S. met for a worship service led by the president, Mrs. C. McMasters, and a chapter of the study book was prepared in a debate by Mrs. L. H. Rowe.

Mrs. Nellie Sprung is spending this week in Toronto with her son George.

Mrs. Sam. Palmer is poorly and staying with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Anderson.

Gentleman Cadet Charlie Way of Royal Military School, Kingston, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Way.

Mrs. A. G. Austin opened her home to her Sunday School class on Tuesday evening for the purpose of electing a new teacher.

The Young People's meeting on Tuesday evening introduced in the recreation period a new parlor tennis.

FRESH FINANCIAL SYSTEM PROPOSED TRIAL IN ALBERTA

Would Apply For First Time In World, Maj. Douglas' Social Credit Theories

BEFORE CABINET NOW

EDMONTON, Jan. 7.—(CP).— A new financial system for Alberta, which would apply, for the first time anywhere in the world, the Social Credit theories of Major C. H. Douglas, has been recommended to the Aberhart Government.

The Social Credit planning committee which Premier Aberhart appointed three weeks ago has laid down 11 guiding principles which, if put into effect by legislation, would be unique anywhere in the world. The report is being considered by the Premier and his Cabinet who so far have arrived at no decision on its acceptability.

The 11 principles enunciated in the report were as follows:

Issue of Alberta debt-free money which would be negotiable within the province.

Establishment of a central credit house in Edmonton with branches throughout the province, to function in some respects like an ordinary chartered bank.

Price Discount Plan

A retail price-discount system. Retailers would deduct the discount from their prices and be reimbursed by the government for that amount, the government paying Alberta money.

Operation of a government propaganda bureau.

Extension of legislation adjusting public and private debts.

Reduction of taxation by the issue of interest-free money to take its place.

A provincial wholesale set-up to be formed to handle the import and export trade of Alberta. In brief, this bureau would buy wheat, for instance, from Alberta farmers, paying Alberta money for it. The wheat then would be sold outside the province for Canadian currency which could be used in future trading.

Interest-free loans for inside the province, either in Alberta money or the surplus of Canadian currency piling up in the treasury.

Monthly dividends of $5 to every citizen of Alberta who has registered. Dividends would be paid in Alberta money only.

Alberta money would be made acceptable by law, forcing men and women to accept it for debts on penalty of the debts being liquidated to the amount offered.

OFFICERS NAMED BY HAVELOCK W.A.

Mrs. Joseph Holdcroft Is President—Letter Is Received On Bale To Peace River

HAVELOCK, Jan. 7.—At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican church, held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Leeson, on Tuesday afternoon, the installation of officers for the ensuing year took place. They were as follows: Honorary President, Mrs. Harry Faulkner; President, Mrs. Joseph Holdcroft; Vice-Pres., Mrs. George Smith; Secretary, Mrs. Maxwell Poste; Treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Leeson; Sec.-Treas. of Literature, Mrs. D. Holdcroft; Junior Supt., Miss Bessie Thompson; Sec.-Treas. Little Helpers, Mrs. W. Varty; Rector's, two nominees, Mrs. C. Dickenson and Mrs. T. Cummins; reporter at Board meetings, Miss I. Rowlatt, Toron[illegible]

A splendid [illegible]rt was presented for the past yea., showing an amount of $112 being raised and used for missions. Their work this year has included sending a bale to the west consisting of blankets and warm clothing and another to Toronto, consisting of $8 in cash, clothing and blankets, which was forwarded by the Toronto branch to the mission of Alkavik in the Arctic regions.

Thanks For the Bale.

The following letter was received in acknowledgment of the former bale, which was received for distribution by Rev. Canon T. D. Proctor, superintendent of the Peace River Block, at Dawson Creek, B.C.

"The bale as shipped by your W.A. of St. John's church has just arrived, and I can assure you that it will be a tremendous help to those in need. Fortunately conditions up here are a little better than they have been for the last six years, but so many of the newcomers have so little land under cultivation that they could not take advantage of the good year. Then we have again been fortunate in that the winter so far has been milder than usual although we had it down to 54 degrees below zero, which is cold enough.

Please extend to your W.A. members my sincere appreciation for bale and contents which I hope to commence distributing to-morrow.

Wishing you a very Happy and Peaceful New Year.

Yours very gratefully,
Thomas D. Proctor.

PRESS LASHES OUT AT ITALIAN PACT

Finds Little Merit In Scheme With Duce Rushing Troops To Spain Steadily

LONDON, Jan. 7 (C.P.-Havas).—The British press joined to-day in a storm of criticism against the Government's new agreement with Italy.

"The more we look at the Italo-British agreement the less we like it," the Liberal News-Chronicle said. "The only excuse for reaching an agreement with Italy would have been an assurance by Il Duce that he intended to co-operate whole-heartedly in a policy of non-intervention in Spain."

The Times declared: "Far from advancing that revival of confidence of which the British-Italian declaration was to be the diplomatic instrument, the Rome Government's failure to withhold extra reinforcements from General Franco has made a discouraging and damaging impression."

"Some further explanation by the British Government of the agreement is imperatively necessary," said The Daily Herald. "Spokesmen for the Italian and German Governments are openly declaring that Britain is against a government victory (in Spain)."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said: "There is talk of an Italian loan from the City of London. There should be no loan to Italy or anyone else to finance war."

LINDSAY RINKS ARE VICTORIOUS IN HOME BONSPIEL

Twenty-Four Rinks Take Part In Diamond Jubilee District Bonspiel

DUNSFORD RINK THIRD

LINDSAY, Jan. 7.—With 24 rinks taking part, composed of Peterborough, Beaverton, Woodville, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Cannington, Dunsford and the local club, the Diamond Jubilee District bonspiel was staged yesterday by the Lindsay Curling Club, finishing up at midnight. The 'spiel was run on the wins and plus system, each rink playing three games, necessitating six draws.

The Fee Motors Trophy and first prizes for most wins and highest plus went to Graydon King's Lindsay rink, with three wins and plus of 17. Second awards were won by a Lindsay rink skipped by Art Carew, with three wins and plus of seven. E. Kennedy's Dunsford rink won the prizes for 2 wins and highest plus, and the prizes for the rink with one win and highest plus went to H. Fever's rink from Lindsay.

CHABOT CALLED OUT.

TORONTO. — Called out of retirement by an SOS call from Manager Red Dutton of New York Americans, Lorne Chabot said he would arrive at Detroit in time to play goal for Americans against the Red Wings on Thursday night.

Battle Royal In Rangers-American N.H.L. Tilt

First-class fights have been notably from Madison Square Garden of late, but when New York Rangers took on their inter-city rivals, Americans, for a N.H.L. encounter, things took a turn for the better. Here is a first-class hockey scrap with Frank Boucher, Ranger center (SECOND FROM RIGHT), and Baldy Cotton No. 6, of Amerks, swapping punches during the second period. Referee Stewart is also seen trying to break up another row. Rangers won the hockey game, 5-1. The fight was called a draw.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

While doing a little housecleaning the other day we ran across an article written by some one who signs himself, "By a Plate Glass Skip."

We do not know where it came from or how long it has been in the cupboard, but there are certain signs that lead one to believe that it may have been published in a Montreal paper, years ago... However, we will print it from time to time.

(By a Plate Glass Skip)

Having arrived at that time of life when I like to sit in the sun in the spring and fall, and behind the plate glass in the winter, and having, fortunately, little to do, it has been my practice for the past few years to spend nearly all my afternoons and evenings watching curling matches. I fell into the habit by accident and soon became an interested spectator. Now I am present at all the important club matches held in a certain rink in this city, and at as many matches between the rival clubs as I can. It fills in the time. It gives me an interest for every afternoon and as many evenings as I care to go out during the winter. I know most of the curlers by sight, if not my name. There are some good ones who never play, if I know it, without me being there. And, in looking on, I have gathered certain views on the same that I would like to set forth.

There are two kinds of curlers. There is one kind who pretends that he does not care how he curls, and another kind who attaches a tragic importance to every shot he makes. On the whole, as a spectator, I prefer the player who frankly shows that he is playing for all he is worth. If the other man is not trying to curl, why is he there? He ought to be behind the plate glass or on the platform with me.

The skips are, of course, the men who are most in evidence. I have been making a study in skips. They are of different kinds. I was at an important match last year and I noticed that the four skips who figured in the finale of the two contests were all quiet skips.

Belleville Redmen To Play Petes Here

The first intermediate O.H.A. game of the season to be seen here will be the scheduled fixture tomorrow (Friday) evening at 8.30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink between the Belleville Redmen and the Petes. Both teams have played and won one game over the same team, by almost the same score. Belleville beat Trenton by an 8-2 count while the locals copped a 9-2 victory in Trenton last evening. The teams should be well-matched and made up of experienced O.H.A. intermediates who show a lot of fine hockey and fight. These old rivals will battle it out bitterly probably before a big crowd of fans.

The Petes may use the same line-up as that used last night with Clarke in goal; Weir, Williamson, Ellis and Gardner on defence; Calladine, Burton and Vitarelli on one line; and Coughlin, Creighton and McDougall on the other. Or a few changes may be made to include one or more of Schultz, Blewett, Hill or Magee. Belleville has half a dozen of their old stalwarts like St. Louis, Morgan, McGuire and Barriage; with two Campbellford stars in H. Ingram and Morton (in goal); besides several others from Deseronto and Napanee. If Morton does not play goal, Watt—an import—will. It should be a fine hockey game with the result in doubt till the last bell.

Rice Lake Puck Loop Includes Four Teams

The Rice Lake Hockey League has been formd for another year and the officers include: President, R. S. Hancock, Bewdley; vice-president P. Harris, Gore's Landing; secretary-treasurer, G. V. Ducette, Bewdley.

The opening game was played on New Year's and Elizabethville defeated Hiawatha 7-2. To-night the return game will be played.

The balance of the schedule is as follows:

January 8—Bewdley at Gore's Landing.

January 12—Gore's Landing at Elizabethville.

Hiawatha at Bewdley.

January 19—Bewdley at Elizabethville.

January 22—Gore's Landing at Hiawatha.

January 26—Elizabethville at Gore's Landing.

January 29—Gore's Landing at Bewdley.

February 2—Hiawatha at Gore's Landing.

February 5—Elizabethville at Bewdley.

GORDON CAMPBELL POINTS HIS RINK AT TWO TROPHIES

Thistle Quartet Turns Aside Glanford, Toronto Victorias And Milton

FINALS TODAY

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 7 (CP).—Consistent winner of major curling championships, Gordon Campbell today pointed his Hamilton Thistle rink toward the two major trophies up for competition at the annual Hamilton bonspiel. The Thistle four, whose other members are Duncan Campbell, Donald Campbell and R. Cross, entered semi-finals for both trophies last night.

All four events in the 'spiel had reached the semi-final stage today and finals were scheduled for this afternoon. Greatest interest, however, lay in the contests for the Spectator and Westinghouse trophies and in the bids the Campbell rink was making for them. Opposition in yesterday's play scarcely threatened the Thistle curlers' hopes.

As they progressed through the Spectator playdowns, they swept aside G. T. Neale's Glanford quartet, 12-8; C. Redfern's Toronto Victoria rink, 13-8, and Fred Robinson's Milton four, 13-4. In the second round of the Westinghouse event they again beat the Redfern team, this time by 13-4.

Hamilton Sure of Place

At any event, Hamilton was assured of representation in The Spectator finals. J. A. Cheriton, also of the Thistle club, and Cecil Smith, Hamilton Victorias, had led their rinks into semi-finals and one of the three was bound to survive that round.

Campbell's main opposition in the Westinghouse Trophy battle was expected to come from Dr. A. E. Walkey, Hamilton Victorias, who skipped a rink that entered semi-finals with a 12-7 defeat of R. H. Howard's Toronto Granite entry. G. T. Neale of Glanford, one of Campbell's victims in playdowns, was another qualifier for to-day's Westinghouse play.

Consolation events, the Ross Harstone Trophy and the Wilcox Trophy competitions included some of the outstanding rinks at the bonspiel. Most of them had lost in early play to rinks like those of Campbell, Neale and Dr. Walkey.

The Hamilton Thistle Club had two rinks remaining in the Wilcox Competition, M. S. Glassco qualified by beating S. Burns, Palmerston, 16-13, and E. F. Lazier also won by two points to reach semi-finals. He beat H. Ward, Ontario Hospital, 11-9.

Expected to furnish strong opposition, though, was B. C. Hall's Kitchener four which survived a low-scoring battle with C. W. Adam and partners of Hamilton Thistles. The result was 8-6.

Chances that the Ross Harstone Trophy would go to Hamilton were not so good as in the other events. Rinks skipped by P. G. Dietrich, Galt, and N. Gregory, Lindsay, were convincing in their second-round triumphs that brought places in the semi-finals.

Lakefield Students Dish Up Fast Game

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—When the Lakefield High School hockey team met the Public School squad in a fast game at the Lakefield Rink on Wednesday afternoon, the junior pucksters were the victors, 6-4.

Charlie Birch, on Public School forward line played an outstanding game and did a good part of the scoring. The line-ups:

Lakefield High School — Goal, Jack Morrison; defence, Gerald Stabler, Wellie Garbutt; centre, Fred Hudson; wings, Julian Morin and Gerald Northey; alternates, Billy Clark, Glenford Murphy, Carman Abrams.

Lakefield Public School — Goal, Chester Windsor; defence, C. Pearson, C. Johnston; centre, M. Bullock; wings, J. Birch, C. Birch; alternates, B. Brown, B. Arthurs, G. Tanner and B. McFadden.

Referee—T. W. Chaplin.

St. Peter's Victors Over Lindsay Squad

A lively exhibition junior game was played between the local St. Peter's team and St. Mary's of Lindsay last night on the latter's ice. Both squads showed a lot of speed but the heavier St. Peter's crew had an edge and came home in front by a 9-2 score. There were plenty of penalties passed out. The teams:

St. Peter's.—Goal, Shaughnessy; defence, Preis, Lynch; centre, Thornton; wings, Craig, Hoy; alternates, Rochetta, McCormick, Corkery.

St. Mary's.—Goal, Mooney; defence, J. McDonald, Begley; centre, J. Connolly; wings, G. Connolly, Millar; alternates, C. McDonald, McCabe, Brennan, Polito, Pankim.

Referee, Rev. Father McCarney.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(C.J.P.)

TONIGHT AT the Brock St. rink fans are invited to drop in and see three Blood and Thunder League puck battles. The Senior City Loop opens its schedule with three tilts, starting at seven bells. Each game is one hour. Westclox and Johnson Motors start it off and are followed at eight by Lakefield and Mayfairs, and at nine by Bewdley and Millbrook. That's right, Lakefield not Norwood. Things have been popping the last day or two. We understand Alex Kempt expected expenses for his Norwood Combines to come here for games but was informed that the local loop "no can do." So he pulled his squad out before they started and Lakefield, which had asked for entry the other day, were taken into the circuit. Some fun, eh?

• • • • • • •

SO, WE still have a six-team loop with three of the outfits from out of town. All are reported strong and the rivalry should be plenty keen. When you recall the old Blood and Thunder Loop battles of other years and remember that half the teams are not of the city—and the loop is affiliated with the O.H.A.—you can look for action galore. Millbrook will be stronger than last year, Bewdley is a newcomer and Lakefield is always classy. The three local squads have some starry players aboard, too. Yeah, these three tussles rate a goodly crowd of customers.

• • • • • • •

WITH PENALTY shots in force this year, the following item from Mike Rodden's column should be entertaining: "Serious at moments, carefree and laughing the next, Johnny Gagnon stands alone in the National League as a raconteur. He has spun many an alluring yarn in his own inimitable way but probably his masterpiece was born when he told how Jean Pusie 'tried seex tams in consecusession to heet de puck from de penaltee shoot terrritaire and den on de seven chance he miss de net by forty feet'."

• • • • • • •

SAYS JOHNNY: "Hexcuse to me if I said dat dis fella Pusee hold up dat gam' for tirty minutes and kept us all tinkin' dat we would be dere all de night. We are disgust so we finally say: 'For goodness sak' dis is only a hexibition gam' anyway. De fans she's sore and de playaires she freeze. Eef you don't heet dat puck ver' soon we'll have been on de holiday so long we'll all be out of condytione again'." So, in order not to have local players pulling a Pusie, maybe that penalty-shot circle at the Brock should be enlarged; the rules say it should be 10 feet in diameter.

• • • • • • •

OUR INTERMEDIATE Petes play Belleville Redmen here tomorrow (Friday) night at the Brock in the locals' first home game in 1937. It should be a swell struggle and don't let that "B" tag Belleville is wearing fool you! They have a good squad. The Quinte gang defeated Trenton by an 8-2 score in the opener while the Petes last night went to Trenton and took a 9-2 victory, so that looks like Belleville and the locals are about evenly matched. Trenton is the weakest team in the intermediate group—the Trenton town team, not the Trenton Fliers. Anyway, don't forget that Friday scrap; you can't go very wrong on seeing it—and don't lay too many potatoes on the outcome, either.

• • • • • • •

WE WERE tickled with the Petes' showing last p.m. It was their first game and we doubted if they'd be strong on condition or combination. They looked good in both departments. The game was rather one-sided but the kind that had the fans roaring lustily most of the way, what with continued speed and action, plus some rugged checking. If Gord Clarke hadn't been on his toes at all times, those scrappy Trenton lads would have scored several more. Especially as the Petes kept drawing penalties to let the homesters gang up on them in sizzling style. The Petes checked well, though, and always looked quite a bit better.

• • • • • • •

MOST OF the Buckland boys flashed midseason form in skating, passing and shooting. A few of 'em aren't in the pink yet but should hit it before long. Probably Calladine, Creighton and Weir were most effective over the whole route; but others like McDougall, Vitarelli and Ellis flashed a lot of form in spurts. It struck us that the whole gang were looking better in this first tilt than the team did halfway through their schedule last year. We don't mean absolutely perfect by any means, but they looked quite good and had a bunch of polish and promise in their system. Pro rules didn't seem to interfere any and our guess is that they'll mean very little in amateur hockey this winter.

• • • • • • •

SHRIMP McDOUGALL in spots showed some of his oldtime form, the tricky little forward turning on a nickel and making the puck look as if it were glued to his stick. Creighton was boring in aggressively at all times and taking a look before he let the bootheel blaze at the goalie. Bill Calladine was as shifty as ever, while Weir and Ellis were galloping around in oldtime form. Vitarelli worked as hard as ever and was quite indignant once for being put off after swarming all over a potential Trenton pass-receiver and almost getting a hammerlock on him. The others worked hard and will show up better yet. Clarke went fine in goal. The Trenton team hadn't the Petes' speed but were full of fight. Schultz and Magee were on hand but not dressed for the game. We look for the locals to go much better this year than they did in '36.

• • • • • • •

PICKING 'EM off the grapevine: Belleville Juniors took an 8-5 win in Tweed last e'en . . . . Southend Intermediate Puck Loop schedule is in tonight . . . . Bantam southend tussles tonight at the Sacred Heart rink are: Leaflets vs. Canucks at six, St. Peter's vs. King Edward at seven; schedule out soon . . . . Junior City Hockey League will meet Saturday night at eight in Duffus' and all teams should be represented . . . . As Kingston intermediates dropped out of the O.H.A., Belleville will go after Fred Bentley of Napanee to play for 'em . . . . Art Heal, local junior recruit is 19 years old . . . . Church Loop hockey games tonight: All Saints Bantams vs. Park St. at six, Murray St. Juveniles vs. Mark St. at seven, St. George's Seniors vs. Murray St. at eight, All Saints Seniors vs. George St. at nine . . . . Colts go to Belleville Monday; we're going to hate that town before Spring after going there six or seven times in a row!

Is Given Award

GLENN MORRIS

Surprisingly nosing out Jesse Owens, Cleveland's triple Olympic winner, Glenn Morris (ABOVE), the Denver automobile salesman who broke the world's decathlon record in the last Olympics, has been awarded the Sullivan memorial trophy. The trophy is awarded each year to the American sportsman who has done most to advance the cause of sportsmanship.

Strikes And Spares

At an executive meeting of the City 5-Pin Bowling League last night, with 13 of the 16 teams represented, it was decided to change the system for the second section of the schedule. The first is completed now. In the second, which starts at 8.15 to-morrow in Duffus', the teams will be divided into "A" and "B" groups, 8 teams in each. The eight high-average teams will be in Group "A" and the rest in Group "B." At the finish of the schedule, the first, second and third high-average teams will meet the winners of the first section for the cup and prizes. This will shorten the schedule and give all teams a chance at the prizes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (A.P.).—Whoop-Di-Doo Dept. Sure looks like a big year for the press agents. They are getting ready to gang up on old John Q. Public. For instance Tom Foudy, big-eared P.A. for St. Mary's, wrote a pal he is aiming us to operate on the following from last year's freshman team. "Lonely" Vigil, a Navajo Indian who plays quarter; "Hasta" Magnana, halfback; "Soup" Campbell, centre; N. Corrigible, guard, and Bill Love, "the tackle everybody is dying for." Bring out the fire hose, boys.

Success story: George "Swede" Akerstrom, well remembered in the East as centre on the 1934 Colgate grid team, is line coach at Little Middlebury College in Vermont. As part of his duties he scouts a future opponent each Saturday. He takes his wife along. She is a shorthand expert and takes voluminous notes on the other team as George dictates. Result: He gets every detail, much more than if he had to take his own notes. Moral: Middlebury was undefeated last season.

News section: When Judge Landis finds that Kentucky farm he is looking for there may be a red hot announcement from Chicago. . . . Mike Jacobs is seriously considering an open-air boxing show in Florida this winter with Barney Ross as one of the principals. . . . Jimmy Braddock now lunches at the A'gonquin (that's where the critics gather) tut, tut!. . . . Helen Jacobs, ranked second to United States tennis queen Alice Marble, can sympathize with Braddock who was put behind Max Schmeling in one 1936 poll. . . . Chuck Dressen, Cincinnati ball manager, is the first to come right out and predict the Giants will not repeat.

Sports cocktail: Anybody who can think up a new name for the Jersey City Ball Club will please write Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants. It positively will not be known as "The Skeeters". . . . Fight writers hereabouts are booming Georgie Zangara, East Side soda jerker, as a new lightweight sensation. But remembering the sad case of Harry Balsamo (who took us all for a buggy ride) your agent is laying off. . . . Art Ross, manager of the Boston Hockey Bruins, had every member of his team innoculated against colds before the season started. So far alll have "took." (Red Dutton please copy.)

FINE BALL SEASON IN AMERICAN LOOP

League President Looks Back Over Past Year With The Utmost Satisfaction

By WILL HARRIDGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (AP)—Holding the pace set by the industrial and mercantile worlds, baseball shared in the prosperity of 1936. I would not say baseball has "come back" for the reason it never went away. During the depression, it suffered, of course, for the fans had to economize and amusements found no place in their budgets.

Twenty-six minor leagues started the 1936 season and 26 not only finish, but went on to participate in post season series. That feat probably is a record. Even in the banner years, when we had from 40 to 50 minor leagues, not all of them weathered the storms and played out their schedules. To me, the fact that the minor leagues enjoyed prosperity in '36 was the biggest event in baseball for the year. For, where would the major leagues be, if it were not for minor circuits through which the players are developed?

Won World Series

Naturally, the American League had reason to be happy as a result of the events of 1936. True, our circuit lost the all-star game but to make up for that, we won the world and Chicago city series.

Players in our league were not backward when it came to shattering records, some of which had stood for many years. In fact, they broke 24 and tied 14 major league marks in addition to setting 26 new and tying 11 American League records. Then again, New York Yankees celebrated their triumph of last October by smashing 16 and tying eight World Series records.

Petes Open Schedule By Copping a 9-2 Win Over Trenton Outfit

Local Intermediates Turn In Fine Performance And Show Big Edge Away From Home In Lively Contest

Opening their 1937 O.H.A. season away from home last night, the intermediate Petes copped a 9-2 triumph in Trenton. It was a bangup game, fast and furious throughout, but with the Petes having a decided edge on play in every period. They led 2-0 in the first and had a 6-1 margin going into the third heat. A fair-sized crowd saw the contest.

In spite of the fact that it was the locals' first fixture of the season, and the score was one-sided, the game was highly exciting most of the way and kept the fans in an uproar. Both squads turned on the heat, hitting a hot pace from start to finish and battling hard. Trenton lacked the system and speed of the Petes but were in as good condition and gamely fought to the final gong.

The Petes turned in a surprisingly good performance for an opening game. They combined nicely, showed a neat burst of speed and checked well. Some of the players were not in top form but the team as a whole looked quite good. Local penalties had them shorthanded fairly often but they held Trenton at bay with good defensive hockey in ganging acts.

LOCAL SCORERS.

While there were no Peterborough outstanding stars, several of the players worked as in midseason form and were very effective. Calladine, Creighton and Weir went good all through and were dangerous on rushes. The former had two goals and two assists. Creighton was in on three and Weir tallied twice. Shrimp McDougall flashed some of his old-time wizardry in spurts and scored once and assisted in another. Ellis also flashed some neat rushes and worked hard on defence. He scored a goal. Vitarelli was in on two. The others battled hard going both ways, too, and Gord Clarke turned in an excellent performance in the cage, especially when Trenton ganged up on him. For the losers, Lott, Bowen and Davis were best while Gould pulled some neat saves at times in the net.

The Petes pressed from the start, both front lines looking good and forcing play. Coughlin drew the first penalty for tripping and four of the homesters crowded into Peterborough territory for a time. Weir notched the first goal on Calladine's pass with the frame over half finished. Shortly afterward, Calladine checked York in close, recovered the disc and gave Gould no chance on his shot. Both sides tore into it hard the rest of the way and made the goalies jump but there was no further scoring.

Petes Get Four

Early in the second inning, Weir got a neat one on an assist from Calladine. Play wa s redhot and Clarke pulled two nice stops. Ellis took a pass from Creighton, whirled around defence a mile a minute and backhanded it into the hemp. Trenton were doing some hard checking but found the visitors hard to hold. Vitarelli drew the gate for interference and again the home crew ganged up. Vitarelli got back in time to take Calladine's pass and sink it into the twine and then Lott scored for the homesters on Davis' pass. Creighton went off for slashing and was followed later by Ellis for tripping, the Petes being short two for 15 seconds. But Creighton got into the game again just in time to tear in, check Bowen and grab the puck and hoist it over the prostrate goalie.

It was fast and even for a time in the third till Creighton and McDougall combined for a tricky goal, Red sinking it. Trenton began pressing with four players up the ice and York finally got a nice one in close. The crowd kept roaring as the teams fought it out furiously at a speedy clip. McDougall took a return pass from Creighton to blast it into the net. Neither side showed signs of easing up, and Calladine got the final marker on Vitarelli's assist.

The teams:

Petes—Goal, Clarke; defence, Weir and Williamson; centre, Calladine; wings, Burton and Vitarelli; alternates, Ellis, Gardner, Coughlin, Creighton and McDougall.

Trenton—Goal, Gould; defence, Bowen and York; centre, Davis; wings, Lott and Johnson; alternates, Kidd, Baker, Miller, Lemoire and Anderson.

George St. Bantams Win Over Mark St.

George St. Bantams defeated Mark St., 7-3, in a listless Church Hockey League game last night at All Saints' rink. The winners came to life in the third heat to win easily after Mark St. had a 3-2 lead till then on three neat solo efforts by Scriver. Parnall and Routley got the first George St. markers. Parnall got three in the third and Routley and Hamilton one each. The East City boys had better teamplay but banked too much on Easton and Scriver to do the scoring. Both teams look promising. The teams:

Mark St.—Goal, Robinson; defence, D. Eason, Scriver; centre, Mackey; wings, Agnew, Moore; alternates, Ralph, C. Eason, Ferguson, Smith.

George St. — Goal, Richardson; defence, Parnall, Routley; centre, Hamilton; wings, Burns, Woodgate; alternates, Graham, Saunders, Parr, Wilson, Armstrong.

Referee—D. Charlton.

KING OF WINTER SPORTS
Ski-ing
By Charles Schaer
Sponsored By Peterborough Ski Club

10. SKI BOOTS

Your ski boots are of the greatest importance in your outfitting. They must supply warmth and protection as well as a comfortable fit, and must be chosen with a view to strength and durability for the job they have to do. They must allow freedom while supplying support to the foot and ankle and they must fit both foot and ski to prevent slipping.

Heavy nailing should be avoided.

A good style ski boot showing proper Height

An over supply of nails tend to conduct body heat away from the foot and thus make frost bite possible.

The boot should reach to just above the ankle and should fit the foot snugly, but not tightly. If the boot is too high and is laced tightly at the top the action of the ankle joint is restricted, thus making it difficult if not impossible to bring the knees forward and over the toes in correct crouch position.

The soles should be thick and stiff at the shank and the lines of the sides of the sole when projected forward, should form an acute angle which is bisected by a line through the centres of the toes and heels. Heels should be provided with grooves for the heel harness.

When not in use keep boots on boot trees to help them keep their shape and prevent toes turning up. To keep them waterproof they should be treated after use with a good dubbin or waterproofing preparation, but remember, not too much.

CHILDREN DEFEND DOG

Residents Ask Mayor to Destroy Great Dane.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 6 (C.P.). — Seven residents asked Mayor T. A. Penney to "suppress" Adolphus, a Great Dane owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Steinberger, claiming the dog trampled flower beds, upset garbage cans.

To Adolphus defence came 37 children. They signed a petition protesting he was just a big, friendly puppy, no worse than other neighborhood dogs. Mayor Penney weighed the matter, then ruled Adolphus "shouldn't be penalized just because he is big."

The Mayor is a six-foot 200-pounder.

Steele Defends Title Against Negro

Freddie Steele, middleweight boxing champion of the world, successfully defended his title against "Gorilla" Jones, heavy-fisted Negro belter from Akron, Ohio, in a ten-round battle at Milwaukee. Here Steele lands a stiff left to Jones' jaw to set the colored battler back on his heels. The west coast champion was on top all the way.

BOUCHER THINKS PRESENT HOCKEY SATISFYING FANS

Has Idea Single Blue Line At Centre Ice Not Far Off As Final Speed Move

WOULD END BLOCKING

By George Maguire
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (CP). — Frankie Boucher, star pivot of the National League New York Rangers, sat in his Riverside Drive home last night gazing thoughtfully at a crystal ball.

Today Swami Boucher revealed the findings of his mystic wanderings, which naturally concerned the popular ice sport, now enjoying its best season since achieving top billing in winter sportdom this side of the border.

The crystal ball revealed to the Ranger pivot pictures of seven-man hockey. Then he saw elimination of the rover and introduction of the onside pass as the magnates sought to lift the tempo of the game. Later came the forward pass and double blue-lines.

Then as the hockey panorama passed before his eyes Boucher saw ousting of two blue lines for one single stripe directly at centre ice as hockey tycoons sought to keep pace with the modern love of speed.

A Single Blue Line.

"Right now I think the fans are pretty well satisfied," Boucher said. "At least the banner attendance throughout the League indicate that. But the march of progress has been rapid in hockey and it may not be in the far distant future before the single blue line idea is adopted.

"At present defencemen have pretty well circumvented one of the main reasons for the two blue lines, which was to speed up rushes—one of the game's finest spectacles —yet prevent forward passes the length of the ice.

"Nowadays defencemen stand right up to their blue line and if the opposition stages a three-man thrust, what happens? The wings check their men and all the defencemen have to worry about is stopping the centre. Generally they make him hesitate just before he gets over the blue-line and the attack is spoiled because the wings slip over the line, causing an offside.

"A single line directly at centre would elliminate blue-line blocking and interference by defencemen. They would not dare take the chance of coming up to centre ice for defensive purposes. Yet, on the other hand, they could advance when their side was staging a power play and naturally the ganging-up act would be more prolonged and intensified, as the defending side would have more difficulty getting the rubber out of their zone.

"And don't forget the fans get a big kick out of the power plays."

St. Paul's Juveniles Defeat St. John Team

St. Paul's squeezed out a 2-1 win over St. John's Juveniles in a neat Church Hockey League tilt at All Saints' rink last evening. The victors had too much man-power and St. John's weakened late in the fray. Finalists the last two years, these teams played a typical close contest. The Anglicans scored in the second on a nice try by R. Clark. Morrow tied it up in the third and J. Easton got the winning goal just before the end. Brilliant work by Turner in the losers' net kept St. Paul's from winning earlier as the speedy St. John's were pushed back by the hard-checking St. Paul's team. McBride and King were outstanding. The teams:

St. John's—Goal, Turner; defence, Morley, Lewis; centre, R. Clark; wings, L. Clark, Lomax; alternates, Dyer, Forsythe.

St. Paul's—Goal, McBride; defence, M. Moorhead, King; centre, McMillan; wings, Easton, Morrow; alternates, E. Moorhead, Mackness, G. Easton, Taylor, Tarkington, Dunsford.

Referee—H. Alton.

Kingston Drops Out Intermediate O.H.A.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan 6—(CP)—Kingston's intermediate O. H. A. team has dropped out of the series for this season. The team was also out of action last year.

Lack of interest on the part of players was given as the reason for the dropping out.

The local intermediate group will be composed of Queens, Royal Military College and Gananoque.

PERRY CRUSHES ELLSWORTH VINES THREE OUT OF FOUR

Record Crowd Of 17,630 Packing Madison Square See Briton Score Upset

CALIFORNIAN EXHAUSTED

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Jan. 7—(A.P.).—Fred Perry of England, world amateur champion for the past three years, signalized his professional debut last night with a dope-upsetting 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Ellsworth Vines, lanky California holder of the world pro. title, before a crowd of 17,630 spectators.

Obviously rattled at the start, Perry quickly recovered from an attack of buck fever, and with amazing accuracy and steadiness rallied remarkably from the underdog role which found him on the short end of 1½ to 1 odds in the pre-match betting.

Vines was badly off form, besides being handicapped by a cold and a temperature of 101 degrees. Except for periodic flashes, Vines' best shot was into the net. Sometimes it was due to weak execution, and other times to Perry's forcing tactics.

The match, from a shotmaking and competitive angle, failed to live up to the expectations of the largest crowd in tennis history, which paid $58,119.50, with the ticket prices ranging from $1.10 to $9.90, and standing room going at $2.20 per square foot. Neither was brilliant, although Perry came closer to approximating the form which won him every major amateur title since 1914.

Perry Unhesitant

Perry most of the time showed little or no hesitation in bringing off his shots. However, he was below par at the net, where quick and drastic monoeuvres often left him in trouble. This was especially true in the third set, although he won it.

The first set was a service battle, which saw Perry fight doggedly to hold his delivery in the long fourth game after leading 40 to 15, and then he broke through Vines' erratic stroking on drives. Vines looked his best in three-game stretches in the second set, winning the first three and the last three after Perry wiped out a 3 to 0 deficit.

Thereafter, however, Perry looked like a winner all the way. He handled Vines' catapulting shots with skilful ease. Vines won the first three games of the fourth set and for a few minutes it seemed the match might go the limit, but Perry bore down and evened the count with the loss of only two points.

Vines Leads in Earned Points

By this time Vines had cracked wide open. He was missing the side lines with his drives by wide margins and even served a brace of double faults in the fifth game. Perry held service at 8 to 6 to make the score four-all and then scored the critical break of service.

Vines had a decided edge in earned points with a total of 37, fashioned from 29 placements and eight service aces but his errors soared to the amazing total of 109 as compared with Perry's even 80. The Briton scored 16 placements and four service aces.

The Californian was so completely exhausted at the end of the match that he had to yield his place in a doubles contest to Bruce Barnes, who played with the veteran "Big Bill" Tilden against Perry and George Lott. Tilden and the Texan won, 6-3, 6-2.

In the curtain-raiser to the main attraction, George Lott, Jr., former world amateur doubles champion, scored an unorthodox 6-2, 5-6 victory over Bruce Barnes of Texas. The match was halted after the tenth game of the second set in order to permit the Vines-Perry contest to start on schedule.

CANUCKS BEAT BEAVERS IN SOUTHEND CONTEST

Canucks took a 1-0 win over Beavers at the Sacred Heart rink last night to open the midget section of the Southend Hockey League. It was a speedy, smart scrap all through with Billy Jones tallying the lone marker late in the first frame on an assist from Cauley. Both goalies were good and the teams appeared well-matched. The losers had no alternates but made it a keen struggle throughout. The teams:

Beavers—Goal, Mattuci; defence, Brioux and Heath; centre, J. Jones; wings, Hallahan and J. Cournyea.

Canucks—Goal, Cournyea; defence, Condon and Vitarelli; centre, Cauley; wings, W. Jones and Wheeler; alternates, Willis, Collins, Corrin, Callahan and Giardino.

BELLEVILLE NIPS TWEED'S JUNIORS FOR 9-5 VICTORY

Redmen's Goalie Sharpe Takes Major Laurels For Team's Victory

LITTLE ROUGH STUFF

Belleville Beats cng

TWEED, Jan. 7.—The Belleville Redmen downed the Tweed Juniors 9 to 5, in a regular ding-dong game, with lots of penalties and miraculous saves by both goalies, with Sharpe in the Belleville net a standout in the first two periods when Tweed was in on him from all angles.

The first period ended in a two all tie when Provost opened the scoring for Tweed on a pass from Rivers. Morgan tied it up and Belleville went into the lead when Tompkins tallied the 2nd Belleville goal. With twenty seconds to go to the end of the first period Tip Tummon took a pass from Provost to tie the count. McCreary for Belleville and Tip and Jack Tummon for Tweed warmed the bench in this period.

In the second period Belleville went into a five to four lead when McCreary, opened the canto with a goal, which was tied up on a tally by Provost from Tummon. Morgan and Jackson put Belleville two up, while with seconds to go in the period Provost took a pass from Long to make the score five to four. Penalties were handed down thick and fast in this period when J. Courneyea took the count twice, and Tummon once for Tweed, McCreary and Robinson for Belleville.

Belleville Opens Up.

In the last period Belleville went to town with Tompkins the standout, tallying three goals in this period, with the fourth Belleville goal going to Robinson. Provost tallied the loan counter for Tweed. Derry, Tompkins, and McCreary and Jackson warmed the bench for Belleville in the last canto while Tummon went to the count of two.

Although not expected to win the game, the Juniors put up a tough opposition, and held the Belleville team in bounds. Sharpe for Belleville had several narrow escapes, when the Tweed lads stormed in and had three and four direct shots on at a time.

Tompkins and Sharpe were standouts for Belleville, the former with four goals, while Provost with four of the five Tweed tallies was the best, together with Tip and Jack Tummon.

Alex Weir of Belleville and Jerry Quinn of Tweed, did a splendid job in checking up the boys, and no rough tactics went unnoticed.

WORTERS THROUGH FOR THIS SEASON RESULT OF PILE-UP

Hernia Operation Necessary—Stand Out For Years—Started In '20

CHABOT REPLACING HIM

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (C.P.). — A sorrowing hockey world to-day sincerely hoped little Roy Worters had not made his last stand. As New York Americans' game goaltender awaited the surgeon's knife for a hernia operation, it was definite he was out of National League competition for the season.

Hockey players may come and go, but few will carve their names among sport's giants as will the midget Worters, who played on after being seriously injured on Tuesday night in a game with New York Rangers. Lester Patrick's men won 7-1, three of the goals flashing past Roy after he had suffered a rupture during a pile-up.

And as Roy steps down, he will be replaced by one of his best pals, another man who knows no fear, Lorne Chabot. Idle after being released by Montreal Maroons last fall, the big fellow will take on a difficult task of guarding the nets of a team which has appeared none too formidable during the last month.

A standout in big-time hockey for years, Worters, a Toronto boy, started his career in Toronto with Ashalantas Juveniles. He helped Toronto Canoe Club win the Memorial Cup, emblematic of Dominion junior supremacy, in 1920. His ability later took him to Timmins, Ont., and back to Toronto senior ranks before going to the United States.

Shone With "Jackets."

With Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets in the United States Amateur League, the "Shrimp," now 35, was a standout as the team won the loop title two years in succession. When the great club which included such stars as Lionel Conacher, Duke McCurry, and Baldy Cotton turned professional in 1925, Worters also made the jump.

He proved a sensation in the monied ranks and played a big part in placing Yellow Jackets in the playoffs against Montreal Maroons, winners of the Stanley Cup. But the Pittsburgh club finally folded up and Roy was sold to Americans. He signed for a stipend, reported the highest ever paid a goalie.

Most of the time Worters has been with Americans he has had the difficult task of holding up weak teams and the gallant little fellow has come through—he never quit trying. He was awarded the Hart Trophy as the most valuable player to his team in 1929-30 while with Pittsburgh, and two years later wearing Amerk livery won the Vezina Trophy as the league's outstanding goaltender.

Mike Rodden, veteran N.H.L. referee, ranks Worters among the greatest net-minders of all time. Writing in the Toronto Globe and Mail, Rodden said: "Some say that the late Georges Vezina of the Montreal Canadiens and the late Charlie Gardiner of the Chicago Black Hawks were superior to Worters, but we could never see it that way, even if admitting that these remarkable players were so closely matched that the gap separating any one of them from the other would have been as thin as a hair."

National Hockey League fans will miss Roy Worters.

MORE RUSSIAN WAR-CASH.

MOSCOW, Jan. 6 (A.P.).—Russia may boost her military budget $540,000,000 this year, preliminary figures of the budget commission showed to-day.

Defence appropriations were listed in the tentative report at 17,500,000,000 rubles ($3,500,000,000 at the official exchange rate), compared with 14,800,000,000 rubles ($2,960,000,000) in 1936.

SIX BURNED TO DEATH.

PESHAWAR, India.—(CP).—Victors in a court case over a piece of land, three men, a woman and two children were burned to death at Badaber in a house locked from the outside and set on fire.

London society women are wearing a flower or jewel in a curl over the right ear.

BORN

IMMONS.—At Conway Hospital, Toronto, Wednesday, January 6, 1937, to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Simmons (nee Grace Munden), 145 Arlington Avenue, a daughter.

EAL.—At Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, Thursday, January 7, to Mr. and Mrs. Allan W. Neal, a daughter, Patricia.

VERETT.—At Nicholls Hospital, on January 7, 1936, to Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. H. Everett (nee Isabel Archibald), of 319 Margaret Ave., City, the gift of a daughter.

OODS. — In London, England, January 4, 1937, to Mr. and Mrs. George D. Woods, of London and Sicily, a daughter.

DIED

'SHEA, Miss Ellen Teresa.—In Peterborough, Wednesday, January 6, Miss Ellen Teresa O'Shea, aged 80 years. The remains resting at Cain's Funeral Home, 467 Water street, until Thursday afternoon. Funeral from the House of Providence, Friday morning, after the celebration of Requiem Mass. Interment Norwood Cemetery.

OUNG, Mrs. Annie Agnes. — In Port Hope, on Thursday, January 7, 1937, Annie Agnes Loomis, widow of the late Charles Henry Young, of 223 Prince street, Peterborough, in her 83rd year. The remains will rest at Nesbitt's Funeral Home, Charlotte street, until Friday morning, and then will be taken to the home of Mrs. Young's daughter, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, 223 Prince street. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon, January 9, 1937, at 2 o'clock, at Knox Church, with Rev. S. G. McCormack and Rev. J. D. Paterson officiating. Flowers gratefully declined.

ARRISON, Douglas.—Wednesday, January 6, Douglas, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Garrison.

IN MEMORIAM

RIEVES.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, James Robert Grieves, who died five years ago yesterday.

Time may heal a broken heart,
Tears may make the wound less sore,
But it cannot fill the longing
For the loved ones gone before.
Who shall say the grief is lessened,
Though the smile may hide the tears,
Memories keep the wound still open,
Despite the passing of five years.
—Sadly missed by Wife and family.

OWDEN. — In loving memory of Clifford Sowden, who died January 7, 1920.
—Ever remembered by his Parents and Family.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Flannery wish to thank friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses and floral tributes, also all those who loaned cars during their recent sad bereavement.

United Church Organization Launches Campaign To Secure New Members

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 7. — When Lakefield United Church Young People's Union held its first meeting of the year in the Sunday School room on Monday evening, the meeting was unusual in form, in that it was devoted almost entirely to recreation. Rev. George Kelly, the able Recreation convenor, was in charge and conducted a variety of active games, which kept the young people on their toes all evening. During the meeting the group present was divided into four sections for the purpose of conducting a competitive drive for new members. At the end of a certain period, the group with the largest membership will be the guests of the others at a social evening. Each group has a leader and is named after an Indian tribe. The leaders are: Phyllis Webster, Nora Webster, Earl Robinson and Delmer Jackman.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SNOW SLIDE.

Uncle Wiggily, who had left some carrots at the burrow of poor Widow Jack Rabbit and was driving home through the dark winter night, stopped his automobile very quickly when he heard that voice calling to him.

At first, as I told you in the story yesterday, the rabbit gentleman didn't know whose voice it was. For a moment he feared it might be one of the Bad Chaps.

"But they wouldn't tell me to be careful of danger," reasoned Mr. Longears. "They would be only too glad to see me run into danger so they might the more easily catch me. I had better be careful."

Uncle Wiggily had a very funny automobile. The wheels had big bologna sausages for tires and whenever he wanted to go fast he sprinkled pepper on the sausages. If he wanted to go extra fast he sprinkled red pepper on them. Red pepper is very hot.

"But now I ought to go slowly," reasoned Mr. Longears. "So I will sprinkle some salt on my tires." He was searching in the pocket of his fur coat for the salt shaker when he saw, coming through the darkness toward him, what, at first, he took to be a snow man.

Thinks It's Snow-Man Alive

"There is a lot of snow," thought Uncle Wiggily. "Some of my little rabbit children, or some of the other animal girls and boys must have made a snow man this afternoon. Now the snow man has come to life and is warning me of danger. How exciting!"

"There's been a snow slide."

But it wasn't a snow man who had warned Uncle Wiggily and who was now waddling toward him, bright and glaring in the headlights of the funny automobile with bologna tires. It was Mr. Whitewash, the Polar Bear gentleman.

"Oh, hello, Whitey!" greeted Uncle Wiggily when he saw his friend.

"Hello, Wiggy," growled the Polar Bear gentleman. He didn't growl because he was impolite. It was just his way of talking.

"Did you call to me about danger just now?" asked the rabbit.

"I did," answered Mr. Whitewash. "I've just been down to the post office for my mail. I had a letter from Santa Claus. He said it was the best Christmas he ever remembered. But at the post office I heard them talking about danger on the road that you must take to get home, Wiggy, so I ran out to tell you about it."

"Danger? What kind of danger?" asked Mr. Longears.

Warns of Snow Slide

"There's been a big snow slide," said the Polar Bear. "I suppose if this were Switzerland, which it isn't, they'd call it an avalanche. But here we call it a snow slide. A lot of ice and snow has carried away part of the road to your bungalow. You'll be in danger if you drive along it. I thought I'd tell you so you could stop in time."

"I'm glad you did," said Uncle Wiggily. "But if the road is broken, how am I to get home? My wife will worry."

"You had better go home by the back road," said the bear. "That is safe, I'm sure. There has been no snow slide there. Do you know the way home by the back road?"

"Oh, yes, thank you," said Mr. Longears. "I'll turn around and go that way. Thank you for warning me of the danger." So Mr. Longears turned his auto to go the back way as Mr. Whitewash shuffled off.

And if the lace curtain doesn't think it's a Swiss cheese just because it has so many holes in it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's danger bush.

JAMES STEWART IS RETURNED TRUSTEE

Again Elected As Member Of School Board For Section 10, Otonabee

STEWART HALL, Jan. 7. —The annual school meeting of the ratepayers of S.S. No. 10 Otonabee was held in the school house on December 30, with a good number in attendance.

Robin Thorn was appointed chairman for the meeting and Gordon Savigny as secretary. The financial report was given showing a balance on hand. The books were audited at the meeting by J. Johnston and David Chambers and their report was adopted. The inspector's report was read, which gave the school a satisfactory standing.

James Stewart was re-elected as trustee for another three-year term. The following are the trustees: Frank Savigny, Lynn Stewart and James Stewart. Secretary Treasurer is Lynn Stewart.

WINNING NOMINEE ENTERTAINS VOTERS

Enjoyable Dance Given By John Payne Returned To Manvers Council

PONTYPOOL, Jan. 7 — The Orange Hall was filled to capacity on Monday night when a dance was held by John Payne who was returned as council man with a big majority.

Nearly every polling place in the township was represented and the fine music which was supplied by local talent, as well as many volunteers from other points, made the evening very enjoyable.

During the first part of the evening Bert Richardson called the crowd to order and asked all the council men, defeated candidates and ex-council men who were present to take the platform.

Speeches were made by Reeve J. C. Cummiskey, Deputy-Reeve Boggs, Councillor John Payne, Floyd Lang, a defeated candidate and an ex-council man, and Willard Skuce. There were also songs by James Kerr and T. Davis.

The ladies had come with well laden baskets and at the midnight hour this was served with a cup of coffee. Dancing was then continued until the early hours of the morning.

School Meeting.

The annual school meeting of S.S. No. 9, Pontypool, was held in the school on Wednesday, December 30th at 10 o'clock, with a good attendance of ratepayers.

Ivan Kelleth acted as chairman, Delbert Bowins secretary, for the business period. The secretary-treasurer's report was read and adopted. H. M. Richardson was re-elected for the coming term. The buying of the wood and hiring of a caretaker was left for the trustees.

The trustees for the coming term are H. M. Richardson, W. H. Hooper and James Cruikshank.

VISITOR IS INJURED

Cicely Cox of Montreal, Falls and Dislocates Shoulder.

WOOLER, Jan. 7. — Cicely Cox of Montreal spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Walker and on Saturday afternoon while she was walking out in the blizzard she stepped on a piece of hidden ice, throwing her down and dislocating her shoulder so that she has to have the injured member in a cast. She will not be able to return home for a week.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for bad winter coughs. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you four times as much cough remedy for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is a very effective, dependable, quick-acting cough remedy for the whole family. Quickly, you feel its penetrating effect in the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You'll be more than delighted with its quick effect in clearing up bad coughs.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

50,000 MEN IDLE GENERAL MOTORS

Effects Of Strike Felt First Time In Detroit With Closing Of Plant

DETROIT, Jan. 7 (AP)—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors, came to Detroit today as conciliator of U.S. government redoubled efforts to bring together corporation executives and officials of the United Automobile Workers of America for a settlement of the spreading automobile strike.

Effects of the strikes were felt directly in a Detroit General Motors branch for the first time with the Fernstedt Manufacturing Company's announcement 7,000 of its 12,000 employees were laid off. This division manufactures automobile hardware.

It was the 20th unit of the large automobile-producing concern to close or reduce operations, leaving more than 50,000 General Motors employees idle.

At about the same time the Fisher Lumber Corporation at Memphis, Tenn., laid off 800 employees last night because the automotive industry's demand for materials had been reduced.

"Let them (the Union) pull the workers out. That's the only way I know to find how strong the Union is. Nobody knows how many of our employees belong to the Union. We don't know. They don't know. Nobody knows."

The corporation's president said his statement that "No one Union" would be recognized as the sole collective bargaining agency of General Motors workers sets forth "our position clearly and unmistakably."

Seek Conferences.

Three United States' Department of Labor conciliators were in Detroit, seeking to arrange a conference between high executives of General Motors and leaders of the Union.

Homer S. Martin, U.A.W.A., president, said he had assured the conciliators—James P. Dewey, Edward C. McDonald and John E. O'Connor—that the Union would co-operate with them.

The automobile labor situation was discussed in Washington in two sessions participated in by President Roosevelt and Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor. Miss Perkins was a White House dinner guest last night.

Upon leaving the White House she explained a report that William S. Knudsen, General Motors executive vice-president, had agreed to meet with the Union and the conciliators was erroneous. She said a mistake in a report transmitted to her from Conciliator Dewey was responsible.

In answer to a query, Miss Perkins said it would be only "spectacular" to attempt to arrange a conference now in her office between Sloan and John L. Lewis, whose committee for industrial organization is aiding the United Automobile Workers in their endeavors to negotiate with General Motors.

Martin, head of U.A.W.A., strategy board empowered to declare a general strike against the corporation's 69 domestic plants to obtain the Union's objectives, said a "general stoppage of General Motors is under way."

The youthful union head declared that its legal counsel would seek the impeachment and disbarment of Circuit Judge Edward D. Black, who issued an injunction against "sit down" strikers in two Fisher body plants at Flint, Mich.

Martin revealed—and the jurist admitted—that Black owned stock in General Motors. Martin said the Judge held $219,000 worth of stock; Judge Black said he had sold "some."

TWENTY-FOUR JOIN HASTINGS CHURCH

Trinity United Has One Of Largest Communion Services In History

HASTINGS, Jan. 7. — One of the most impressive and one of the largest communion services in the history of Trinity United Church was held the first Sunday in the New Year when the pastor chose as his subject for the morning's service, "The communion service in the Highlands of Scotland as was held fifty years ago." Twenty-four people joined the church, twenty-two by confirmation of faith and two by letter.

Young People Meet.

On Monday evening the young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their meeting in charge of the fellowship convenor, Fred Hand with twenty-two members in attendance. Following the reports, business centered around a home cooking sale to be held on January 16th in the store next to Mr. H. Stephenson.

The program consisted of a hymn and prayer by the Rev. D. K. Perrie; scripture reading by Mr. Phillip Ford; reading by Mr. Stanley Pife; reading, Mrs. Stewart Whitred; the topic by Rev. D. K. Perrie; reading, Miss Violet Dainard and a closing hymn.

GARBAGE CREW IS HAVING TROUBLE

Take Some Time To Get New System Into Efficient Operation

Mayor Macdonald has been pinch-hitting this week as chairman of the property committee, directing the change in garbage collection in the central section of the city.

"Because of the result of the elections in so far as it affected Fred Tuggey, I thought somebody else should take over the department until the council holds its organization meeting next Monday," Mayor Macdonald said to-day. "The crew of the new motor truck have been having some difficulty in getting the new central system smoothed out. It may be that we have taken over too large an area. The council expected that it would take some time to get the routine of collection working efficiently, and for the time being we have to ask the citizens in that area to be patient."

The truck crew has been working until late at night on some of the days since the first of the year, but it is expected that within a short time, as experience removes obstructions, the first plans of the committee will be accomplished.

COTTESLOE SCHOOL WILL TEACH MUSIC

Trustees Recommend That Training Along That Line Should Be Adopted

COTTESLOE, Jan. 6.—The school meeting held on Wednesday morning of last week was well attended. Howard Patterson was appointed as the new trustee.

On motion of Messrs. Johnston Blakely and Howard Patterson the ratepayers recommended the teaching of music in the school. While there has been an agitation for some time along these lines this is the first definite step taken to give the children the privilege neighbouring schools adopted some time ago.

Miss Mary Fife of Otonabee has resigned her position of teacher and Miss Alma McCracken, North Dummer, is taking her place.

Good attendance

APSLEY FOLK HAVE COMMUNITY RALLY

Gather On New Year's Eve For Impressive Watchnight Service

APSLEY, Jan. 6.—A well attended community Watch-night service was held in St. George's Church on New Years Eve. The service was conducted by the rector, assisted by the Rev. R. N. McMullin, minister of the United Church. The last few minutes of the old year were devoted to an address by Rev. C. A. G. Spence, followed by an interval of silent prayer at the stroke of midnight. This was followed by an inspirational New Year's message delivered by Rev. R. N. McMullin, who also read the lesson appointed for the occasion. The impressive service concluded with the benediction and singing of the hymn, "The Year Is Gone Beyond Recall."

MILLBROOK GIRLS STUDYING MENUS

Members Of Junior Institute Are Organized As Supper Club

MILLBROOK, Jan. 6.—Members of the Junior Girls' Institute are holding interesting meetings with an aim toward studying food values, meal planning, supper dishes and salads and correct table serving. The girls are organized as a "supper club", supervised by the W.I. leader of girls' work, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong. The remaining members of the executive include the president, Miss Beatrice Fallis; first vice-president, Miss Kathleen Davis; 2nd vice-president, Miss Kathleen Smith; secretary-treasurer, Miss Marion Belch, and assistant leader, Miss Margaret Smith.

The girls are requested to keep a record book of the supper menus, keep a score of food values, and answer the roll call with a good food habit. They are learning how to cook fresh fruit; have studied the values of milk as a perfect food, and eggs and cheeses as sources of protein.

Miss Ella Grandy was hostess to the members who met at her home the previous Saturday when a brief meeting was conducted by the president, Miss B. Fallis, who read "My Favorite Fruit Dish." Miss Marion Belch gave the secretarial report and it was decided to adopt a song composed by the leader "What's the Matter With Our Club," as the club theme song.

The assignment of home work requests the members to make one creamed soup and one scalloped vegetable dish for home use; plan two supper menus and include escalloped cabbage and cream of carrot soup. Misses Audrey Nill and Kathleen Davis demonstrated the value of cream sauce in soups.

The next meeting scheduled for January 16 will be held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Eakins and will feature the making and using of white sauce as to be demonstrated by Misses Anna Rowland and Beatrice Fallis.

BABY LUCAS.

TWEED, Jan. 6.—The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lucas was held on Saturday. Rev. R. R. Nicholson, pastor of Tweed United Church, had charge of the service. The child, who was five months old, passed away in Belleville General Hospital, a victim of pneumonia.

MRS. MARY E. MEYERS

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Mary E. Meyers passed away in her 89th year at the home of her son, F. W. Meyers, 428 Bloor street west, Toronto, on Friday, January 1st. Daughter of Tobias Bleeker of Belleville and grand-daughter of John R. Bleeker and a great-grand-daughter of Captain John Meyers, who both came to Canada with the United Empire Loyalists from New York state and settled in the Bay of Quinte district. The site of Belleville, formerly known as Meyer's Creek, derived its name from the family, which at one time held 7,000 acres in and around Belleville and Sidney.

Mrs. Meyers attended Albert College, Belleville, afterwards going to Rochester, N.Y., during the American Civil war. In 1868 she married the late George Meyers. Surviving are three children, John of London, Ont., Mrs. C. V. Syrett and Frederick of Toronto. A nephew, Mayor J. B. Farley of Devonshire. Eleven grandchildren, and six great grandchildren.

The name of the Bleeker family, which came to America in 1658, represented one of the first Dutch families to settle on this continent and is commemorated in Toronto and in New York by street names. The late Mrs. Mary Meyers spent her vacation at "Cedar Nook" resort, Trent River, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cross (of Toronto) in the summer of 1935.

MRS. CLARA (WHITMORE) PHILLIPS.

COE HILL, Jan. 6. — The funeral of the late Mrs. Clara (Whitmore) Phillips took place on December 29 from the home of her son, Earl Whitmore, Coe Hill, where she was nursed during her last illness of the past three months. The service was held in the United Church at Lasswade, and conducted by the Rev. R. Vatcher, Coe Hill, assisted by the Rev. MacMullen, Apsley.

The remains were laid to rest beside her former husband, Joseph Whitmore, in the United Church Cemetery at Lasswade.

Deceased was in her 62nd year and a member of the United Church.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her many friends, her husband, John Phillips, three sons, Earl and Archie Whitmore of Coe Hill and Thomas at home; three brothers, Amos, William, and Joseph Batchelor, all of Coe Hill. Her maiden name was Miss Clara Batchelor, and was born in Coe Hill, where she resided until her marriage to Joseph Whitmore. Since that time she has lived near Apsley, Peterborough County.

The pall-bearers were: Daniel Whitmore, Fred Whitmore, Sr., Neil Whitmore, Sr., Amos Batchelor, William Dingman, and John Reynolds.

Fickle Weather Keeps Guessers Guessing

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—One has to be a quick-change artist these days to beat the weather.

And even then few really beat it.

To-day, for instance, it's supposed to start off bright and early as fair and cold. Before long, so the Weatherman said, it's going to warm up a bit, become "moderate," in fact. Later on in the day it's to be "unsettled."

Can you beat it!

These days you're liable to come to work in spats and an extra sweater and go home in a row-boat.

Or go to bed in silk pajamas and wake up in a windbreaker.

The wind, by the way, is expected to keep on blowing, "fresh to strong, northeast and east." What does it matter so long as it doesn't blow straight down? Yesterday's coldest in Toronto was 22, and it was 37 at its hottest. And you know how hot that was! Canada's coldest spot was Kenora—32 below.

COULD NOT LIFT ARMS ABOVE HEAD

Owing to Painful Rheumatism

This woman suffered from rheumatism in her back, arms and legs. For two months, she endured this painful condition, then, like many another sufferer, she decided to try Kruschen Salts. Read her letter:—

"About fifteen months ago I had rheumatism in my arms, back and legs. The pains in my arms and legs after getting warm in bed were almost unbearable. I was like that for two months, and could not reach above my head. I read so much about Kruschen Salts that I thought I would try them. I am so glad to say that for more than a year I have not had the slightest return of my rheumatism."—(Mrs.) H.E.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently due to deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. Kruschen Salts assist in stimulating the internal organs to healthy, regular activity, and help them to get rid of this excess uric acid.

U.S. STRIKES MAY CLOSE OSHAWA'S MOTOR PLANTS

Shortage Of Car Bodies Likely To Throw 8,000 Men Out Of Work

ENOUGH FOR JANUARY

Strike Organizers Busy In Canada But Firm Heads Believe Men Satisfied

OSHAWA, Ont., Jan. 8 (CP) — Plants of General Motors of Canada Limited are threatened with a close-down, throwing 8,000 men out of work, unless settlement is reached before the end of January in strikes tying up the United States automobile industry.

In making this announcement last night, Harry J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager of General Motors of Canada Limited, said shortage of body supplies was the greatest threat to the company's plans in the Dominion, located at Oshawa, St. Catharines and Walkerville.

Assembly plants will be able to continue production on a restricted schedule for the rest of this month but unless renewal was made of body metals from the Fisher Body plant in Cleveland, Canadian plants would be closed.

There was no immediate danger of a strike in Canada, Mr. Carmichael said. It was known, however, United States strike organizers were on this side of the border and that strike papers and circulars were distributed among the men. It was impossible to calculate how far organization had progressed.

"We do not expect a strike because we do not think the men are discontented," he said.

HOMELESS COUPLE STARTLE COURT

Girl 20, Candidly Admits She Is Male Companion's Common-Law Wife

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 8 (CP)—A strange pair of homeless hitch-hikers—man and girl—appeared before Magistrate W. A. Smith in County Police Court today and pleaded not guilty to vagrancy charges, despite the fact they walked into Amherstberg police station, 18 miles south of here last night and asked for free lodging.

The girl, a 20-year-old blonde, was roughly but warmly clad. She said her home was originally in Vancouver but that she left because her mother had been cruel to her.

The two gave their names as Isabel MacFarlane and Duncan Scott. When Magistrate Smith asked them if they were related the girl answered: "No, except that I am his common-law wife."

Scott said he came originally from Toronto but has no home there now. The pair were remanded one week in custody pending further investigation.

LADY STEWART PASSES

Niagara Falls Woman Second Cousin of Queen Elizabeth.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 8 (CP) — Lady Elizabeth Stewart, known here only as Mrs. Elizabeth Gardiner, wife of William H. Gardiner, died today after short illness. She was a second cousin of Queen Elizabeth.

Born in Scotland, she came to Canada when a child and never used her inherited title. Before her marriage she trained in a Montreal hospital and was one of a group of 10 nurses assigned to escort the late King George V and Queen Mary when they visited the institution as Prince and Princess of Wales.

MENTAL PATIENT BEEN DEPORTED TO PETERBOROUGH

Claims To Have Been Born Here But Resident Of States 24 Years

SERVING LONG TERM

Described on the information as John Jasper, a well-groomed and neatly-dressed young man of twenty-six years, was this (Friday) morning remanded to Whitby mental hospital for observation and examination. He was charged under the Mental Hospitals Act with being mentally ill, and appeared on remand.

Because he claims to have been born in this city, Jasper, a resident of the United States for the past twenty-four years, was recently deported to Canada. At the time of his deportation, which was authorized by Commissioner A. L. Joliffe of the Dominion Department of Immigration and Colonization, he was an inmate of Fairview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Waymart, Pennsylvania.

Deputy Sheriff F. J. A. Hall, testifying at the hearing before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., said that in the third week of December he received a communication from the United States' Department of Labor, with reference to the accused. Subsequently Jasper was delivered into the custody of the sheriff here.

Committed in June.

Quoting from documents sent to him by the United States' authorities, the Deputy Sheriff referred to a certificate signed by Superintendent Charles A. Zeller of Fairview State Hospital as proof that Jasper was committed to that institution in June, 1936 as being mentally ill. The certificate describes Jasper as being of a "psychopathic personality."

Prior to his transfer to the hospital for the criminally insane, The Examiner learned from another source, Jasper was serving a 20 to 60 year sentence at Eastern State Penitentiary following his conviction in February, 1932, at Philadelphia of robbery with arms and participation in several hold-ups.

In his communication to the sheriff here, Superintendent Zeller of Fairview Hospital states: "In so much as he (Jasper) is an alien to be deported to Canada, in my

1932 MORTGAGE MORATORIUM ACT TO BE REVIEWED

Roebuck Believes Ontario Legislation Has Outlived Its Usefulness

MAY LET IT EXPIRE, JUNE

TORONTO, Jan. 8—(C.P.). — The Ontario Mortgage Moratorium enacted at the 1932 session of the Legislature will be studied to ascertain the feasibility of allowing it to expire June 30 next, Attorney-General Roebuck said to-day.

Officially known as the Mortgagors' and Purchasers' Relief Act, it was passed as a depression measure in 1933, and was amended to expire June 30, 1934. Each session of the Legislature since has extended the act for a year, but Mr. Roebuck believes it has outlived its usefulness.

A study of the effect of the act is being made by Eric Silk, chief law clerk of the Legislature. He said he had found few persons taking advantage of the legislation.

Only mortgagors whose mortgages were negotiated prior to March, 1932, are entitled to relief under the act, and it is understood the Attorney-General feels that if such mortgagors have not already made private settlement with the mortgagees they are no longer entitled to special privilege.

The act gave a mortgagor right to apply to the courts which could suspend payment of principal for six months and to direct new terms for payment of interest. The courts also had the right to extend the six months' principal moratorium twice so the mortgagor actually could secure 18 months' relief from principal payment.

Thief Caught Here is one of the most unusual photos ever taken. Made in the wee sma' hours, it shows a man stealing a bottle of milk from the porch of Charles F. Norris, Portland, Ore., photographer. Angered by the frequent disappearance of his milk, Norris set a camera trap with wires running from the milk bottles to a camera and flashgun inside his living room window. This is what he caught. The man remains unidentified.

U.S. WOULD DEPORT KEY WOMAN IN '24 BLACKMAIL CASE

British Woman's Detention Recalls Romance With Wealthy Indian Potentate

SWINDLE FOLLOWED

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Maude Robinson, English woman whose romance with a fabulously rich Indian potentate gave rise to one of the biggest blackmailing cases exposed in English courts, was revealed today as fighting deportation from the United States.

Pending a decision by the Department of Labor on a charge that she has overstayed permission to remain in the country, Mrs. Robinson, now in her 40's, was released from Ellis Island under $500 bond.

Her husband, Charles E. Robinson, former London bookmaker who figured prominently in the swindling case 12 years ago, was held in Jersey City, N.J., awaiting extradition to South Carolina to face charges of violating the Federal Stolen Properties Act.

He was arrested in Tenafly, N.J., on a charge of swindling Fred C. Tuttle, wealthy Cincinnati business man, of $30,000 in a horse racing scheme. Federal agents also charge Robinson had counterfeit stocks and bonds worth $200,000 when seized.

Mrs. Robinson, arrested two weeks ago at Jersey City, came to the United States for a month's visit a year ago. It was on the night of the first anniversary of the Armistice, in 1919, that she met the Maharajah Hari Singh of Jammu and Kashmir in London.

Tried to Collect $650,000

Five years later, a sensational blackmail plot was exposed in a trial brought by Robinson to collect $625,000 from the Midland Bank.

Sir John Simon, now Secretary for Home Affairs and then serving as attorney for the bank, charged in court that Robinson was "one of six rogues who had been cheated of some of the swag."

Lord Darling, sitting in the case, did not permit the Maharajah's name to be used during the trial "for reasons of state not connected with the question of rank." He was understood to refer to the danger of causing difficulties in India. The Maharajah was known as "Mr. A."

Although his name was not published in England in the trial reports, his English aide was mentioned as one of the six accused conspirators.

Robinson and others testified "Mr. A" had paid $750,000 after he had been discovered in Paris in a compromising situation with Mrs. Robinson. The suit against the bank resulted because neither Robinson nor his wife got any of the money.

Lord Darling dismissed Robinson's suit.

NEWBORO CHURCH IS SWEPT BY FIRE

Loss Including Damage To Parsonage, Fire Station Estimated At $40,000

NEWBORO, Ont., Jan. 8.—(CP)—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed United Church in this town about 30 miles from Kingston in Rideau Lakes district and damaged the parsonage and a fire station nearby. Loss was estimated at -40,000, partly covered by insurance.

The church minister, Rev. L. S. Throop, sleeping at the parsonage was wakened by the noise of the fire and sounded an alarm.

The flames were roaring in the interior of the 40-year-old building when firemen arrived on the scene and help was summoned from Portland, Westport and other surrounding towns.

The fire-fighters were powerless to halt the blaze in the church and within two hours it was in ruins with only one wall remaining.

The blaze spread to the roofs of the parsonage and a fire station alongside but spread was prevented before serious damage resulted.

The church and its contents, including several valuable oil paintings and large stained-glass windows, all lost, were insured for $7,000.

Church authorities said they are at a loss to explain the blaze since there had been no furnace fires in the building since Sunday. It was not known if the church would be rebuilt.

The church was a splendid country church having seating accomodation for 500 persons. It was erected in 1893.

PROVINCE BEATS LONDON, MIDDLESEX KIDNAP TRIAL COST

Decides Against Relieving Them Of $6,000 Outlay While They Prepare Protest

FOUR MONTHS TOO LATE

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 8—(C.P.). — While London City Council is preparing to protest a bill of more than $6,000 for cost of the Labatt kidnapping trials held here, the Ontario Cabinet has already considered the matter and decided against relieving either London or Middlesex County of the cost, it was learned to-day.

The city is about four months late entering its objections. When Middlesex County learned how costly the kidnapping trials were, they appealed to the province last Autumn.

After a committee interviewed Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck in Toronto, the county council later received a letter from Mr. Roebuck saying the cabinet had considered the matter and decided it would neither assume part of the trial costs nor assess other districts for them.

The province has already spent three times the cost of the trial for investigation work following the 1934 kidnapping. Mr. Roebuck informed the county council. Actual abduction of John S. Labatt, wealthy London brewer, occurred in Lambton county.

Three men were convicted of the crime and sentenced to long prison terms. They are Russel Knowles, Jack Bannon and Michael McCardell. David Meisner was convicted and later freed, when McCardell and others said he was not involved in the kidnapping.

Kingdon P. (Piccolo Pete) Murray of Covington, Ky., was committed for trial, but charges against him were dropped.

Practically no unemployment now exists in Estonia.

Both Britain, France Order Battle Fleets Into Spanish Waters

Paris Threatens Action As 3,000 Nazi Troops Land In Spanish Morocco

CABINET MEETS, LONDON

Hitler Seen Driving Wedge To Use For Bargaining In Colony Grab

LONDON, Jan. 8 —(C.P.).—Reports reaching London to-day said 3,000 armed Germans had landed in Spanish Morocco and that Ceuta, across the Straits from Gibraltar, was being equipped with long-range German guns.

French officials announced it was "impossible" for France to permit such an incursion, and began consultations with the British Government. In London a special cabinet meeting was called.

The Admiralty announced virtually the entire Home Fleet would leave for the Mediterranean January 18, joining the Mediterranean Fleet in manoeuvres for the first time since Anglo-Italian tension during the Ethiopian War. The French Atlantic Fleet is also leaving for Spanish waters, "in case" it is needed.

The Belgian Government dispatched a note to the Spanish government, demanding it deliver with military honors within 48 hours the body of Baron Jacques de Borchgrave, Belgian diplomat allegedly slain by anarchists.

Forts to Rival Gibraltar

The report from the French Moroccan administrator said:

1. The German marines had reached Ceuta to speed preparations for reception of large bodies of troops.

2. German engineers were supervising construction of Ceuta fortifications that would rival those of Gibraltar.

3. Portions of numerous Spanish Moroccan commercial concessions, including the Melilla iron mines, had been granted to Germans.

Despite the fact Germany renounced any claims in Morocco under the Treaty of Versailles, the French administrator's report stated the Reich's intention was to drive a wedge to serve as a bargaining weapon on the question of the colonies Germany lost because of the Great War, and which she now wants back.

French non-intervention plans, with which Great Britain was said to be in full accord, include a readiness to take immediate measures to stop the flow of men and materials to Spain through this country, provided all other powers in the neutrality committee adopt similar measures.

Control All Shipments.

France also is ready to submit measures "for the most absolute control" of all war shipments to Spain, officials added.

The question of "indirect" intervention was described by the French officials as "more difficult." But, they aded, it likewise should be taken up quickly.

Great Britain and France, the officials affirmed, would go as far as agreeing to an international blockade to prevent the arrival of new men and materials, if other countries consented to such a patrol.

Germany has jockeyed itself into key positions in Spanish Morocco, according to Genevieve Tabous, political commentator, writing in L'Oeuvre, and will soon foment an Arab revolt against General Franco to facilitate its own acquisition of the territory. For this purpose German agents are exploiting the dissatisfaction of many Arab chieftains with Franco, Mme. Tabouis said.

German Note "Insolent"

Humanite, the Communist organ, confined itself to the remark that Hitler had answered the Anglo-French note "with insolence" and Mussolini "with hypocrisy."

Troops withdrawn from various technical army formations in the provincial barracks at Neuruppin, Lauenburg and Furth are among the German "volunteers" recently sent to Spain, the Journal report said. It was understood that other contingents were from Munich, but this could not be confirmed, the newspaper added.

"German circles make the point that only volunteers have gone to Spain, and that no organized formation has been sent there. "However, in view of the Soviet attitude and also the movement of large numbers of French volunteers via Perpignan, the Germans do not deny that they have sent material to Franco.

Ginger Rogers Gives Flashlight Party

Hollywood, Jan. 8. (AP)

THE mere fact that her home was not finished did not deter Ginger Rogers from giving a party in it this week. There were no lights, but each guest was equipped with a flashlight. Although a roaring fire blazed in the fireplace, all shivered; there was no glass in the windows.

DR. G. R. SCOTT IS CHOSEN CHAIRMAN OF SCHOOL BOARD

Harold G. Walker Is Appointed To The Unexpired Term Of Dr. J. J. Craig

COMMITTEES NAMED

Although he was kept away from the inaugural meeting with an attack of influenza Dr. G. Raymore Scott was on Thursday evening unanimously elected to chairmanship of the 1937 Board of Education. He was elected by ballot without nomination.

Presiding in the absence of the chairman-elect Dr. A. Moir who has headed the Board for the past two years welcomed the two newly-elected members in the persons of Dr. C. M. Scott and Charles Shaw.

Harold G. Walker defeated at the polls New Year's Day regained his seat on the Board and also the chairmanship of the property committee, when he was appointed to fill the unexpired year of Dr. J. J. Craig's term. The latter retired at the final meeting of the old Board on Tuesday evening after thirteen continuous years of service owing to pressure of personal business.

Appointment of Mr. Walker was made on motion of W. A. Richardson seconded by Charles Shaw, the resulting vote being unanimous in his favor.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, and Messrs. W. A. Richardson, M. Burnham, V. J. McElderry, K.C., were named as a special committee to strike standing committees for the year. They brought in a report which was adopted as follows:

Standing Committees 1937

Finance: D. G. H. Melton, chairman; M. Burnham, Charles Shaw, W. A. Richardson, John R. Marshall.

Property: Harold G. Walker, chairman; Mrs. W. R. Morris, George Patton, Dr. C. M. Scott, W. A. Richardson.

Supervision: Dr. A. Moir, chairman; V. J. McElderry, K.C., R. A. Garbutt, D. G. H. Melton, John R. Marshall.

Appointments: John R. Marshall, chairman, and the whole Board.

Advisory Vocational: W. A. Richardson, Mrs. W. R. Morris, John R. Marshall, V. J. McElderry, K.C., M. Burnham, Dr. G. R. Scott, Alderman James Dutton, Ian F. McRae, G. A. Gillespie, George Hewitt, Harry Carter, Charles Westbrooke.

One of the usual formalities was recorded on the minutes of the meeting, when a motion was put through asking the city council for an interim grant of $30,000 for carrying on the work of the schools for the current month, pending the bringing down of the annual budget.

Orillia Ratepayers Group Asks Scrip Idea Be Shelved

Alderman Claims Plan Is Fine In Theory But Doesn't Work Out

$4,960 BEEN ISSUED

ORILLIA, Ont., Jan. 8—(CP)—A change from scrip to cash relief is endorsed by Orillia Labor-Ratepayers' Association, Ald A. E. Ball said today.

"We feel the change proposed by Mayor Good will be in the best interests of both ratepayers and those on relief," he declared.

While municipal scrip was "fine in theory" it didn't work out, Ald. Ball said.

A total of $3,295 in scrip has been redeemed to date out of the $4,960 issued. In addition about $2,134 of scrip has been issued this week.

CONDITION IMPROVED

Not Necessary For Doctors To Keep Minute Watch On Holy Father.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 8 (AP).—Doctors of Pope Pius, whose condition was described as bettered, relaxed their minute-by-minute watch at the ailing Pontiff's bedside today. Dr. Aminta Milani, chief physician, considered the Holy Father sufficiently recovered to delegate some of his responsibility to subordinates.

Slot Machine Fails In Its Own Defence

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 8 (AP) A Superior Court jury listened to a gambling case involving a slot machine.

Retiring to deliberate, the jury was ordered to take along a bagful of nickels and the machine. From behind the jury-room door came a steady whirr of machinery. When the jury emerged the bag was depleted of nickels.

The verdict: "Guilty."

PLUNGER IS RELEASED

Man Who Jumped Through Window Of Train Is Released.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 8.—(CP)—Bruno Gniginski, 24, Glen Lyon, Pa., plunged Wednesday through the window of a railroad coach, was transferred from Essex County jail to Detroit today, a free man so far as police are concerned. Investigation indicated he had no criminal record.

For a time it was thought Gniginski might be identified as the fugitive Joseph Bruno, who escaped from the Schuylkill county jail Pennsylvania, while awaiting transfer to penitentiary to start serving three life terms for mass murder.

FIND HEIRS TO FORTUNE

NANCY, France, Jan. 8 (C.P.-Havas). — The six-year search for the legal heirs of the $20,000,000 tobacco fortune of the late Mrs. Henrietta E. Garret, widow of Walter Garret, Philadelphia, was believed near an end to-day with the discovery here of a stonecutter named Murys, a fourth cousin—he is about 60. His wife is living, and they have a 25-year-old son.

When informed the family might receive a large part of the fortune, estimated at 420,000,000 francs ($24,800,000) the accumulated earnings, Mme. Murys said in that case they would devote most of it to alleviating distress.

Colin St. Clair Leitch One of Best Known Lawyers in Western Ontario.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 8 (CP) —Colin St. Clair Leitch, K.C., one of the best known lawyers in Western Ontario and Dean of Bar in Elgin County, died here today. He had been ailing for some time, but attended a picture show last night.

Mr. Leitch, born in Dunwich township, a son of the late Malcolm Leitch, was called to the bar in 1893, practiced in Dutton until 1906, when he came to St. Thomas.

BEST LEGS IN WORLD

Mistinguette Credits Sport Activities For American Girls' Well-Formed Limbs.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8 (AP) — Mistinguette, the French actress with the "$1,00,000 legs" says American girls have the most beautiful limbs she has ever seen. And, in her opinion, their participation in sports is the reason.

"In Europe," she said, "young girls are not allowed so much to go in for athletics. The result is that really well-formed legs are the exception rather than the rule."

Disappearing Heater Case Keeps Lindsay Officer Busy

Owner Ditches Car, Has Accessory Stolen Twice In Hour Or So

YOUTH GIVES CLUE ONCE

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 8 (CP).—The "great heater mystery" is occupying the attention of Provincial Constable G. V. Cluboe.

When a motorist ditched his car near town and walked to a garage here for a wrecking truck, he found that the heater had been detached from his car during his absence.

Provincial Officer Clubbe investigated, and in the meantime a young man called at the owner's home, reported he had seen the heater only 50 feet from the ditched car. The owner checked, found the heater, reported to Constable Clubbe that no further investigation was required. Immediately returning to his car he found the heater had again been taken, so Officer Clubbe is back on the job.

Pension Of 17 Cents Inaugurates New Act

Cleveland Jan. 8 (AP)

ERNEST ACKERMAN has a pension coming from the United States Government. It will amount to 17 cents. The Social Security Act became effective Jan. 1. Ackerman, Cleveland street-car motorman, was 65 Jan. 2.

He asked the Social Security Board today to close out his account. The 17 cents, however, will not be net profit. The Government deducted 1 per cent of Ackerman's New Year's pay day, a little less than five cents. Under the pension plan he is entitled to 3.5 per cent of his day's wages.

MADRID MURDER BELGIAN ENVOY STIRS BRUSSELS

Ultimatum Demands Socialists Deliver Body Of Embassy Secretary Within 48 Hours

ASK APOLOGY, $35,000

Threaten To Sever Diplomatic Relations, Give Case To Hague Court

BRUSSELS, Jan. 8 (A.P.). — Belgium delivered a sharp ultimatum to the Spanish Socialist Government to-day, giving it 48 hours to deliver with military honors the body of Baron Jacques de Borchgrave, allegedly slain Embassy Secretary in Madrid, submit apologies, and pay a $35,000 indemnity.

If Spain fails to comply with the demands, it was indicated Belgium will sever diplomatic relations and possibly submit the case to The Hague International Court.

Death of the young diplomat, First Secretary of the Belgium Embassy, has aroused great indignation here as he was extremely popular.

A Senate Committee investigation the incident was told Borchgrave, who was 35, was buried underneath nine of 21 others slain three miles north of Madrid.

The Baron was said at the time to be 10 miles from the front lines visiting wounded Belgians of the International Brigade.

The committee was told Belgian volunteers had revolted because they had not been paid and were shot.

Borchgrave was killed with the others, it was said, although he was only a visitor.

Parts Kept Secret.

Foreign Minister P. H. Spaak urged members of the committee not to divulge parts of his statement as it was likely to prove fatal to "persons still residing in Madrid."

Newspapers have assailed the government for not taking vigorous action.

On January 4, the newspaper libre Belgique said the Baron's body had been found at Fuencaral with his identity papers missing.

The young diplomat, missing since December 21, was the only son of the Belgian Ambassador to the Vatican. His body, the paper asserted, was located by Belgian Consul Chalot, who found mention of an unidentified man, wearing Belgian clothes, in a list of daily Fuencaral funerals. He had the body exhumed and identified.

(At the time the newspaper reported the body had been found, the Madrid Bureau of the Associated Press reported the Government censor refused permission to send a despatch about Baron de Borchgrave.)

UNBORN BABY SAVED

Surgeons Deliver 7 Pound Boy After Estranged Husband Shoots Wife.

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Surgeons saved an unborn baby today after the 19-year-old mother was shot fatally.

The dying expectant mother, Mrs. Elsie Randall, was taken from her home to the Alameda county hospital, for caesarean delivery of a seven-pound boy. A few minutes after delivery, Mrs. Randall died from a bullet wound in the left temple.

Chief of Police Bodly Wallman said Mrs. Amelia Hohnaus, 65, her aunt, reported Ray Randall, 21, fired the bullets after his estranged wife refused his offer of reconciliation. The shooting occurred in an apartment occupied by the two women.

INCOME TAX LOSS PEEVES TORONTO

Council And Five City Liberal Members Confer To Consider Action

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(CP).—Toronto City Council and five Liberal members for the city in the Ontario Legislature will confer to-day to consider what action should be taken in the face of the $468,000 loss the city suffers under the new social service and taxation policy of the government.

Toronto is the biggest loser through the step of the government which will now retain all income tax revenues while assuming the cost of mothers' allowances and the municipalities' share of old age pensions. Other cities suffering losses are London, Ottawa, Windsor and Brockville, most of the remaining 935 municipalities benefitting by the scheme.

The five private Toronto Liberal members and Attorney General Arthur Roebuck conferred late yesterday and later Col. Fraser Hunter, member for Toronto-St. Patricks, declared himself "very indignant" over the government's action. He saw no reason why Toronto "should be discriminated against."

He declared at to-day's conference with city council a thorough survey of the new policy and investigation of possible alternatives to rescue Toronto from the large loss would be made.

TIMMINS CHINESE HANGS FOR SLAYING HIS COUNTRYMAN

Convicted Of Stabbing Victim After Being Thrown Out Of His Store

DIES WITHOUT WORD

HAILEYBURY, Ont., Jan. 8. — (CP).—Executive clemency refused by the Department of Justice at Ottawa, John Wah, 56 year old Timmins Chinese, was hanged early to-day for the murder of a fellow-countryman, Woon Hong, at Timmins, November 4, 1935.

With the same calmness that marked his behaviour throughout his trial and imprisonment, the Christian Chinese went quietly to the scaffold. He died without speaking a word and was buried in the jail yard. The death sentence was carried out 16 minutes after midnight and a coroner's jury declared him dead five minutes later.

Wah was alleged to have stabbed Hong with a long-bladed cook's knife after a quarrel in a Timmins store. At his trial before Mr. Justice Keiller MacKay, Wah agreed with evidence given by Crown witnesses but pleaded innocent.

Knife Provides Evidence.

After the quarrel Wah was said to have been ejected from the store but later returned and stabbed Hong several times. Hong died four days later and Wah was arrested that night at the boarding house where he was a cook. A blood-stained knife found in his room was among evidence leading to his conviction.

During the long months in jail where he was ignored by his countrymen, Wah consoled himself by reading the Bible. He was converted years ago and became an adherent of the Salvation Army. He came to Timmins from the Pacific Coast where relatives still live.

Witnesses at the hanging included the jail physician, Dr. W. C. Arnold; Inspector P. B. Creasy of the Ontario Provincial Police; Sheriff W. C. Dhuerck, Haileybury; Sheriff J. D. MacKay, of Cochrane; Warden Charles Austin, Haileybury; eight Provincial policemen and two Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY PARISH GUILD

Havelock Anglicans Choose Mrs. W. H. Roche As President For 1937

HAVELOCK, Jan. 8.—The Parish Guild of St. John's Anglican church held its annual election of officers on Thursday afternoon with their rector, the Rev. R. E. Lemon, presiding. In his address to the members, Mr. Lemon thanked them for the work they had done and were doing and said that they were indeed an asset to the church, and also remarked on the splendid report from the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Watson. He asked for their cooperation during the year 1937 and wished that the men of the church might organize a club or some means of getting together.

The financial standing of the Parish Guild was exceptionally good for the past year as shown by the treasurer's report: Receipts, $186.22; expenditures, $134.42; leaving a balance of $51.80.

The following officers were elected: Honorary President, Mrs. R. E. Lemon; President, Mrs. H. W. Roche; 1st Vice President, Mrs. M. Barltrop; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. D. Holdcroft; treasurer, Mrs. F. Watson; secretary, Mrs. R. F. Covert; convenors of work, Mrs. Wm. Fraser and Mrs. F. Thompson; convenor of card fund, Mrs. H. Davies.

The Literary Society of Havelock High School elected the following officers for the new year: Hon. President, Maurice Williams; President, Miss Irene Hagerman; Vice President, Miss Isabel McQuigge; Secretary Treasurer, Miss Winnifred Chiles; editor of school paper, Harry Buchanan; form representatives: 1st, Miss Betty Green; 2nd, Miss Muriel Seabrooks; 3rd, Miss Hazel McCutcheon; 4th and 5th, Howard Harnden.

Plans for the annual commencement are being made and the suggested date is Friday, February 5th.

MUCH TOO POTENT

Drunk Gets Off After Admitting New Brand at Ball Got Him Down.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Jan. 8.—(CP)—Jack Jarmark, arrested as intoxicated, told the judge he was.

"It all happened," he explained, "at a ball of the Distillers' Association. We were testing out a new whiskey. It was good. It got the better of me."

"I think you're telling the truth", the Judge ruled. "Sentence suspended."

ROADS ARE UNSAFE

Travellers Held Up at Campbellford Bad Conditions.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 8. — Citizens awoke yesterday morning to find streets and pavements in a treacherous condition due to the rain which fell on the previous day and turned to ice. Many commercial travellers who were travelling by motor decided to stop over in town to-day until driving conditions were improved.

LONDON FEELS 'QUAKE.

LONDON (AP).—An earthquake, estimated from seismograph needle movements to be almost as forceful as the quake in the Indian Quetta region in which 26,000 persons were killed in May, 1935, was registered in London yesterday. Experts said the needles moved between six and seven inches. The earthquake was estimated to have occurred approximately 4,770 miles away, apparently either in Central Asia or the West Indies.

THE BLOODHOUNDS BAY

by Walter S. Masterman

CHAPTER 33

"Well, thank goodness it's nothing worse," said Colonel Graham when Reid blamed his hasty exit from Graham's house on the locked doors and windows and its liqueuers. "You've killed my two best dogs but you had to defend yourself—I can see that. You know, Reid, I really think that it would be better if we keep this matter to ourselves—what do you say? We neither of us cut much of a figure—I suppose I ought to have told Coats to take the hounds back, and I don't expect you want everyone to know that you got frightened and ran away."

"Perhaps it would be as well. But I'm not good at inventing. Can you suggest a plausible tale?"

"Let me see....Yes, you insisted on starting for home in spite of the weather, but lost your way and fell down and got injured. Then you came here, where I found you. That's essentially true, and will pass muster."

"If you think that is the best thing to do, we'll tell it that way," Reid said weakly.

"I'll go and 'phone for a doctor," the Colonel said. "Meanwhile, you had better get to bed. Shall I help you upstairs?"

"I shall be all right here," Reid answered hurriedly.

"Very well. I'll phone James and tell him to bring your bag up from the Abbey."

"Thank you."

Selden stayed with Reid after the Colonel had gone, and helped him to bed. It was the first opportunity the to men had been given to talk freely about the problem at the Abbey.

After making Reid as comfortable as his wounds would permit, Selden took himself off for what in wartime was called "an unknown destination."

The doctor drove up in his car, and made a wry face over the injuries. He tried to persuade Reid to go to a hospital, where he could receive proper treatment, but was met by a flat refusal. Colonel Graham had informed the doctor over the phone that Reid had been bitten by dogs, and asked him to keep the information to himself.

After giving Reid an antitetanus injection, and promising to look in again, the busy man took his leave, wondering in his mind what strange story lay behind it all. But Colonel Graham was a power in the district, and a magistrate, and unless there should turn out to be something criminal, he felt justified in keeping silent on the matter.

Reid was glad when he had gone—he was getting feverish with the wounds and his inextinguishable desire for news. The arrival of James, who had brought the bag himself, sensing that something was wrong, came as a great relief.

The butler looked with grave eyes at the flushed face of the man in the bed, and opened the bag he had brought, fetching out a pair of pajamas.

"Shall I help you put these on? Colonel Graham told me over the telephone that you had lost your way in the storm."

"I'm all right, thank you, James." He kept his bandaged arm carefully under the bedclothes. "Is everything all right at the Abbey?" he asked as carelessly as he could, but he could not keep a note of anxiety from his voice.

"Miss Lawrence and the two children are missing from their rooms," James said, with no more emotion than if he were announcing dinner.

"What?" Reid tried to put surprise into the question, but the solemn eyes of the butler were on him, and he could hardly keep his face from betraying his knowledge.

"They cannot be found in the Abbey, but there are no marks of any violence, and one is almost inclined to believe that Miss Lawrence has gone off with them somewhere."

A sense of hopeless despair at his condition seized Reid, and in an unguarded moment he put his hand to his aching head, disclosing the white bandage on his other arm.

"I fear you have met with an accident," James remarked.

"Nothing to speak of," Reid said shortly.

James remained silent for some minutes; then he spoke in a grave tone. "Mr. Reid, I am going to ask you a question. Will you be careful in your answer, because a great deal depends upon what you say?" His manner was almost that of a prosecuting counsel examining a witness.

"What is it?" Reid asked, intently watching the butler's face.

"What was the real motive that made you leave Colonel Graham's house in such a storm, after sending the car back?"

Reid hesitated. James saw it, and went on:

"I am perfectly sure that you are not a coward, Mr. Reid. I have proof of that; it was not that you feared danger to yourself."

"I was afraid for Miss Lawrence," Reid said doggedly, "if you must know."

"Ah! I thought so; and may I ask why?—believe me, it is important."

"I shall expect equal candor from you," Reid said, almost angry at his secret being revealed. "She had told me she was in danger, and arranged a signal—I saw it from the Colonel's house."

James smiled with a look of infinite relief. To Reid's astonishment he held out his hand.

"Thank you, Mr. Reid, now we can talk. I had hoped that was the real reason—hoped it very much, because I wasn't sure. I heard you talking with Miss Lawrence when you were in the yew tree—I wasn't certain whether you were there for a good or an evil purpose, but I was at my own window, which is next to Miss Lawrence's. I was not eavesdropping—it is far too serious a matter for that. I was on the watch, and saw you. When I heard what you said I knew you were a friend to her. I came round the corridor to speak with you then"—he smiled at the recollection—"but you were ungracious enough to knock me down."

"Great heavens, and yet after that you welcomed me as the successor of Colindale!"

"I bore no grudge—you were trying to escape, and acted accordingly, but I was glad you came because I knew you were a friend of hers and of the children."

"And now they have gone," Reid said bitterly.

"Mr. Reid, we want the help of that detective, Selden—he's got more brains than both of us put together, saving your presence. Inspector Hutchins came this morning—Lady Severinge told me to phone him—he is there now, and has wired for Mr. Selden to come. He is very upset about this recent development.

There was a curious look in James' eyes, and Reid was quick enough to take his cue. "I see—my absence has caused the inspector to wonder how far I am implicated."

A slow smile spread over the butler's face. "I think, Mr. Reid, that he suspects us both; he was making inquiries about you, and I shouldn't wonder if either he or Mr. Selden comes here to ask some questions."

"Tell me this, James, do you think that Colonel Graham has anything to do with the murder or the disappearance of the children?"

James' face became a mask, but his manner was very grave. "That I can't say, but we shall know soon."

"How?" Reid asked in astonishment at the words.

"If he is murdered, it will prove his innocence."

Before Reid could comment on this amazing statement, a sound was heard below, and James placed a warning finger to his lip.

"May we come ups?" Graham called and he and Lady Severinge tramped up the narrow cottage stairs.

"So you have got him to bed—that's right, James. Reid, here's Lady Severinge come to see you. I've told her all about your adventure and made my apologies. She is naturally upset at the disappearance of the children. Hutchins has wired for that young detective. Not that I think much of him, but I understand, in spite of my protest to Sir James Boyle, he is still in charge of the case."

"I am so sorry, Mr. Reid," Lady Severinge added. "What an awful adventure you had! And if you had only been at the Abbey this might not have happened."

"Really, Hilda," Graham said harshly, "I don't see quite what Mr. Reid could have done. To my mind, it's obvious that the girl has taken them off somewhere, and if necessary I shall have to put my bloodhounds on the track—"

Reid would have sprung up at the base insinuation about Sylvia, but James placed a warning hand on his arm.

50 Cases Of Influenza Around Roslin Village

Epidemic Confined Entirely To Children Says Dr. Harold E. Welsh

WORKING DAY, NIGHT

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 7.—More than fifty cases of influenza were reported in the vicinity around the Village of Roslin by Dr. Harold E. Welsh today. Dr. Welsh stated that all the cases were confined to children.

The four townships of Huntingdon, Hungerford, Thurlow and Tyendinaga were affected by the epidemic, Dr. Welsh stated. Schools had not been closed as yet, nor had many adults contracted the disease, it was stated.

Dr. Welsh, who was the Conservative candidate in the East Hastings by-election campaign last month, said that he had been working both night and day to prevent a spread of the disease. "I thought electioneering was tough, he said, "but it has nothing on this epidemic around Roslin." Dr. Welsh stated that a high fever, chest condition and severe bronchial cough were the symptoms.

A FAMILY VICTORY

Mr. and Mrs. George O'Sullivan Clean Up Bridge Prizes

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 8. — Mr. and Mrs. George O'Sullivan won both the ladies' and gentlemen's prizes at the bridge party held in the Parish Hall under the auspices of the Parish Guild on Thursday evening. A large crowd attended, and after bridge, refreshments were served.

FORTIFYING BORDER

German and Polish Planes Forbidden To Fly Over Border.

BERLIN, Jan. 8 (CP-Havas). — German civilian aircraft and all Polish planes today were banned from flying over a large section of Reich territory on the Polish frontier, reportedly to facilitate the rapid building of fortifications in that region.

FASCISM OR MILITARISM?

TOKYO, Jan. 8.—(AP). — The Japanese parliament, reconvening Jan. 21, may be forced to decide whether Japan is to become a Fascist state under military rule, political observers predicted to-day.

If the army holds the upper hand, these sources said, a military oligarchy, rule by small group, appeared more probable than a complete dictatorship.

NEWLYWED COUPLE FETED BY FRIENDS

Mr. And Mrs. Robert Carr Are Presented With Many Gifts

MILLBROOK, Jan. 8—In celebration of the recent marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr (nee Vera Olan) a goodly number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Olan, Carmel, and presented them with a handsome shower of gifts and a host of good wishes accompanied by an address of good will and esteem read by Mr. William Patterson. The groom made an appreciative response on behalf of his wife and the strains of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" were echoed with lusty voices.

Social converse, card games and dancing constituted the evening's program with a dainty lunch served by the committee at the midnight hour.

1. PENETRO is made with the soothing, old-fashioned time-tried base of sterile mutton-suet, which gives it a far greater penetrating power than preparations made with other bases.
2. PENETRO possesses a high degree of concentrated medicaments, but is as gentle in action as it is certain in result. It attacks colds and pain at the very seat of congestion and inflammation.
3. PENETRO releases an aromatic healing vapor that gives quick relief to inflamed tissues and membranes. It speedily opens up congested nasal passages, and soothes the irritation in throat and nose.

Apply PENETRO to chest, back, throat and nose—and feel it heal. Snow-white and stainless, PENETRO does not discolor skin or clothing. Use it alike for children and adults. At all druggists. Price 25c. 12

A Midwinter Night's Dream

How often, when the fire is blazing merrily, and the incense of tobacco rises gratefully from where you sit at leisured ease, while outside the snow-drifts pile up against the garage doors, and the north-winds drive through the dark of dusk—how often do you dream of the glory of a summer day, of a friend and of a canoe, of a northern lake where fish are fish, and of a battling bass on the end of a singing line! Ah, how often—

And, maybe, you dream of the time when you'll be able to enjoy many such summer days, care-free and care-less, because your financial future is secure! Plan to make such dreams come true, now, while your earning capacity is unimpaired. Let the LIVING PROTECTION plan of Investors Syndicate show you how easy and profitable it is to save.

Under this safe and time-tested plan, even $10.50 put aside each month will return to you $2,500 in 15 years. Larger savings will bring proportionately greater sums. And all Canadian monies are invested in sound Canadian securities. The Syndicate's holdings in Canada to-day exceed $4,186,000, and its total resources amount to over $86,855,000.

Never in its history of 43 years has Investors Syndicate failed to meet an obligation promptly on due date.

These are some of the reasons why thousands of Canadians have adopted the plan of LIVING PROTECTION to provide for their maturer years. Why not learn more about it? Our booklet "A New Plan of Life" is free on request—and it may open up a new vista of financial success to you, too.

Fashion Service

A gay princess home ensemble that is intended for the young housewife who likes to look smart at her kitchen tasks.

At an unexpected ring of the door bell, the apron is easily untied at the neck and the waist and discarded. The two useful pockets are cleverly placed at the hips. Rickrack braid trims the entire edge.

After you've discarded the apron, you're truly a "princess" with decorative buttons from the neat shirt collar to the swinging hem skirt. The perky flared sleeves are terribly cute. However, the model also includes the long set-in sleeves.

The princess dress is simple to sew. It cuts in one-piece from shoulder to hem. The apron is quickly finished, too, with just panels to join.

You'll want to make yourself lots more cotton princess dresses for summer with the same pattern.

Style No. 3303 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 35-inch contrasting for dress; apron requires 1⅛ yards of 39-inch material with 6 yards of braid.

Cecile Appears Pensive

Now what can be bothering Cecile? It could hardly be camera shyness. The fifth Dionne sister, who smiled so nicely for movie cameras in two film hits, would hardly be camera shy. Or perhaps Cecile is just temperamental and not in the mood to be photographed again.

WIFE'S PARENTS TAKE SON-IN-LAW INTO THE HOME

When Father Dies Son-In-Law Becomes The Head Of House Of Laotians

THE KHEN INSTRUMENT

Home on six months' furlough from the Far East, Rev. F. G. Grobb of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, who is lecturing this week at Bethany Tabernacle, showed The Examiner to-day the national instrument of the Laotians, an Indo-Eurasian people of one of the divisions of French Indo-China living along the north border of Cambodia.

The khen is a miniature, portable pipe organ made of 14 bamboo poles, and as an instrument ranging like the violin through various comparable sizes such as the viola, 'cello and big bass "fiddle." Rev. Mr. Grobb's khen is one of the small sizes of this sweetly sounding instrument and is commonly used by Laotian swains in their love-making, although they never heard of the line from "Twelfth Night," "If music be the food of love, play on."

It is as light as a feather and fits into a case about the same size as a violin case. Its tones are of the minor scale, apparently the Laotians knowing nothing of the major scale. The pipes of this khen vary in length from about one foot and a half to more than three feet, and their diameter is less than half an inch.

As with the pipe organ the sound from each bamboo pipe is caused by the vibration of a thin reed of beaten silver. The khen is the only instrument Rev. Mr. Grobb saw in the Far East on which real music can be played.

"We were one of two couples in a virgin field of one million people occupying a territory of 100,000 square miles," Mr. Grobb said. "The Laotians are chiefly farmers, tending their gardens, orchards and rice fields. The country is typically tropical, five months of rain, two intermediate months followed by another five months' period of continually dry weather.

In the capital, Vientiane, there are forty Buddhistic temples, probably half of them in ruins and the others in repair. You see there probably the largest collection of images of Buddha in the world. During our six years we have built a little church and have quite a number of baptised Christians and others who are waiting to be baptised. The people are nominally Buddhists, but they are actually spirit worshippers. From childhood they grow up in fear of evil spirits whom they endeavor to propitiate with many strange cultist practices. They sacrifice animals, rice, eggs and various other products to the spirits. Chalk marks on a wall, string tied around a post, rice set out on a fence are all symbols of their worship.

The Laotians in their social life have a form of trial marriage with easy divorce. After a young man and woman have lived together in their form of marriage and have two or three children, they settle down and in those cases divorce is not more frequent than in the United States.

Family life combines both patriarchal and matriarchal system. A girl brings her husband into her own home, and he becomes part of her family. But, when her father dies, his oldest son-in-law becomes the head of the family, and the property passes into his hands. Family authority is pretty well divided between the father and mother."

Rev. Mr. Grobb said that from his experience among the Laotians he was convinced that there was a great deal more results from the dark worship of evil spirits than was commonly believed, and it was the missionary's problem to win the people to conviction of the infinite power of Christ and by baptism and Christian faith to be set free from evil influences. Men who had been gamblers, cattle thieves, opium smokers and drunkards became transformed into conscientious people after their conversion.

The Laotians are a comely people. They have an extensive domestic silk industry, and dress in silk of the brightest colors, because in the long run it is cheaper than cotton because it wears longer. The administration of local communities is in the hands of the natives, but the national control of finances, roads, criminal law, and so on is directed by French officials. The country is peaceful. There are no bandits as in China.

Rev. Mr. Grobb will give a lecture to-night on "The Challenge of An Unoccupied Field." His Sunday morning subject will be "The Power of the Word." and Sunday night, "A Vision and a Challenge." He will play selections on the khen in his addresses relating to Indo-China.

Branch Notes

ST. JAMES', EMILY

On New Year's Eve, the A.Y.P.A. of St. James' Church enjoyed a jolly frolic in the parish hall. The president, Alton Clark, presided over the business session, at which arrangements were made for the debate, which is the main feature of the program on January 8. The topic of the debate was set as "The press has more influence in the country than the pulpit," and Helen Franks, Reg. Boate, Albert Davis and Bill Miller were chosen as speakers.

The social part of the evening was under the supervision of the literary and social convenors, and their helpers. A lengthy program of games and contests was enjoyed. Three cheers were led by Arthur Boate to mark the beginning of the New Year. Refreshments were served by the social committees.

The members of the association were very pleased to have Norman Burgomaster, a student from McGill University, Montreal, with them. Mr. Burgomaster spoke briefly of the success of the branch in the past, and hoped it would continue in the new year.

The rector, Rev. G. H. Johnson, closed the meeting, bringing the merry event to a close.

LITERARY DEBATE

Two Brothers Stage Lively Literary Debate.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(AP).—The brothers Christopher and Felix Morley had a lively literary family fight over the merits of newspapers.

Christopher, the author, pictured the newspapers as "a narcotic, a drug," and said, "as you read it you can actually feel the corpuscles of your mind crystallizing."

Felix, editor of the Washington Post, accused his brother of "Machiavellian skill" in avoiding issues of the debate and defended the modern newspaper as "the product of ingenious mechanization and popular education."

Favors Streamlining Mother Goose Tales

New York, Jan. 8.

THE Mother Goose Tales, a Columbia University professor in English found yesterday, ought to be streamlined because as they stand they fill "the minds of children with erroneous notions about both natural phenomena and social relations."

Dr. Abbott gave this suggested revision, to omit reference to an archaic garment:

"Little Nancy Neppins
In her silk step-ins
And her half hose;
The longer she stands
The colder she grows."

CHRISTIAN LIFE VICTORIOUS ONE

Rev. Dr. George Little Continues Series Of Messages At St. James' Church

WEEK OF PRAYER SERVICE

Icy pavements failed to daunt a representative congregation which joined in the Week of Prayer service in St. James' United Church Thursday evening. The service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Craik, assisted by Rev. G. K. Tyler and Adjutant Neil Warrander, Rev. Dr. George Little, editor of Sunday school publications for the United Church of Canada, continuing his series of sermons.

Sounding his theme, Dr. Little said, "The Christian life is a victorious life. God's purpose is that we should have victory. He makes it possible for us to win moral victory. Yet by wrong thinking many people have a sense of frustration, futility and defeat. They have lost interest in life. They no longer expect anything of life. One man committed suicide because he was 'so plumb tired of the buttoning and unbuttoning.' It is tragic to have to live in God's world without God."

He said Paul found the secret of victory. Even though a prisoner in Rome, chained to a soldier and not knowing which day he might be thrown to the lions, he had no complaints, no self-pity, but a triumphant confidence in God, he said.

Living Victoriously

"How may we live victoriously?" Dr. Little asked. "The way to begin is to get a factual picture of oneself then listen to God for direction as to what to do. When the right course is made clear, set out at once. Each day spend a period of quiet, letting Christ set standards for thought and conduct. Associate yourself with other people who are living Christ-centered lives. We may be risen with Christ and share his resurrection power."

Further in his address, Dr. Little said, "I think there has been in these last years an attempt to camouflage our sins, to call them by high sounding names, by terms that relieve us of our own responsibility of just simply sinning. I found that the moral and spiritual life in me was like a great tide that was just ebbing and nothing was able to stop it. When I reached the place where I let go and just called it simple sinning, something happened. At the instant when I gave up my life unreservedly to God, accepted Christ as the supreme arbitrator and did what He said in utter humility, the mystery of life lifted, and at that moment an utterly new existence took possession of me."

WANT PASTOR TO STAY

Ottawa Board Requests Rev. Rawson Continue Excellent Work.

OTTAWA, Jan. 8 (CP). — The board of managers of St. James' United Church last night passed a resolution unanimously asking Rev. Norman Rawson to remain as minister at the church "to consolidate the work so gratifying in result" which he has accomplished. Mr. Rawson said he would answer the resolution in a few days. Meanwhile a special meeting has been called by members of Centenary Church at Hamilton to consider a recommendation that he be invited to go there as pastor next July.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

JUSTICE is a grand thing, and the man who practices it in all affairs of his daily life, sits on a higher throne than kings. His throne is Reason, and he has conquered prejudice and policy, and holds in his hand the well-balanced scales with which to weigh the acts and deeds of his fellow-men.—O. S. Marden.

Dear Friends:

You know, I think a great deal of our suffering comes from the injustices that we do to one another. We see someone who can do a thing better than we can, and immediately we begin to disparage it, and pick holes in it. We cannot do it as well ourselves and get the credit of it, so we are going to see to it that he will not get credit either.

Petty? Mean? Small-minded? Yes, it is all three of these, and until we can rise above it, we shall never amount to anything ourselves, and we shall discourage others from doing their best.

Many a person who is gifted in some way, must hide this to a certain extent from his or her employer because of the injustice of the employer. Bringing it out to the light of day, this is nothing else than jealousy of the other person's ability, and yet I am sure we have all seen it happen many a time.

And yet, why should the employer feel like this? Had he not been endowed with gifts which few people have, he would not have risen to the position he occupies. But what he has does not content him. He wants what the other fellow has also.

And what does it do to him? It narrows his view-point, gives him prejudices, makes his unreasonable, and stunts his growth. It makes him grouchy, and this in turn poisons his blood, so that he has aches and pains which are hard to cure, and the longer he blinds himself to the real reason, the worse he becomes.

And it is all so easily put right. He thinks to himself of all the success he has had, to the little bit the other fellow has had. He thinks of the thrill he got out of this work that he has accomplished, and decides that he will help the other to attain his desires also, and immediately he does that, he sits on a throne higher than any king. He is a man.

Justice cleanses the eyes and the senses, so that those who practice it, are enabled to see clearer, not only for themselves, but for all those around them, and injustice leaves a trail of bitterness behind it, tainting all those who have suffered from it.

Justice enables one to weigh accurately the other fellow's motives, and also to see one's own, and that is something worth having. There is no true person who is unjust, who tries to crowd the other fellow to the wall because he thinks the other one is more liked than he himself ever was or can be while he acts like that.

So let us use more of it in our daily life. Let us be thankful for the measure of success we have been allowed to gain, whether it be as a good bread maker, or tailor, or speaker, or what have you?

Let us realize that when we don't use it, we are really belittling ourselves, and if we don't like anyone to belittle us, we should have mercy on ourselves. Let us be broadminded enough to know that we cannot have all the gifts of the gods, and be thankful for what we do have.

I knew an artist who had a pupil who was very gifted, yet this man continually discouraged the pupil by harsh criticism for fear the pupil would get more fame than he ever had. But one day he decided to use justice, and from that moment he began to get the fame he craved so much, for it was realized in the highest circles that he was the one who had taught the boy so much, and the higher the pupil went, the higher was the fame of the man who taught him. Justice elevates, while injustice degrades.

So, let us use it in our dealings with one another, and gladden the hearts of those whom we have been discouraging so much by our rank injustice. Let us sit on the throne of reason and "Do unto others as we would they would do to us."

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

WEDDINGS

FOX—BROWN.

TWEED, Jan. 6. — On Saturday evening, January 2, a quiet wedding was solemnized in Christ Church, Belleville, by the Rev. G. G. Wright, when Miss Hazel Bernice Brown, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Brown, Fonthill, Ontario, became the bride of Norman Garnett Fox, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fox, R.R. No. 2, Mountain View.

The bride was becomingly attired in a brown suit with blue shoes and hat with matching accessories. She was attended by Miss Irene Fox, who wore a dress of blue crepe, blue shoes, and hat with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations, violets, and baby's breath.

Mr. Thomas Vancott supported the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was tendered them at the home of the groom's parents, Sunnyside Farm, at which about thirty guests were present.

SPRATT—WHITEMAN.

ELDORADO, Jan. 7. — A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, Eldorado, on Wednesday, December 30, 1936, when Ethel Annie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Whiteman of Cooper, was united in marriage to William J. Spratt, son of the late John Spratt of Chandos.

The attendants were Miss Mildred Whiteman and Henry Whiteman, sister and brother of the bride.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher officiated at the ceremony.

REID—MENEILLEY.

NORHAM, Jan. 7.— The marriage took place at Ottawa on Thursday, December 24, of Henrietta Mary, second daughter of Mrs. Meneilley and the late Franklin Meneilley of Norham, to Cameron Henry, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid of Riceville, Ontario.

KITCHENER, Ont., Jan. 2.—(CP).—A Kitchener resident wondered if it was a new civic scheme or what. He went to city hall to report a blocked sewer near his home and in return for a five-dollar investigation deposit he made the man was given a marriage license.

City officials hastily apologized, said it was all a mistake and gave him a receipt.

Want Their Blood Money

The Spanish freighter Mar Cantabrico left the port of New York with a cargo of war material for loyalists in Spain. And while that was going on Congress hurried to pass legislation forbidding any other similar shipments being made.

There was another effort made to stop the freighter. A writ of attachment against the contents of the freighter was secured by two United States aviators, Bert Acosta and Gordon Berry. They have been fighting for the loyalists, but have not been able to collect all the salary which was promised them, so they were prepared to seize the goods consigned to the army with which they have been associated.

These aviators are pretty much in the class of paid assassins. It is reported they work and get paid according to the results they produce. If they are successful in causing much death their earnings increase considerably. Their nation has had no part in the civil war; they are not seeking to defend their own land. Rather have they gone out of their way to act as gangsters of the air at so much per head. It is almost astounding that they should seek to use the courts of United States to try and collect bills which they claim to be due for killing people in a foreign country.

Will Pay In Other Ways

Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, announces the provincial government will retain the income tax collected in cities which formerly went to the municipal treasuries, and would at the same time assume full responsibility for the payment of Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances. Formerly fifty-per cent. of the Mothers' Allowance had been paid by the municipality and ten per cent. of the Old Age Pensions. The amount which Peterborough has been paying as its share of these social services is much greater than its revenue from income taxation, and for that reason the city should benefit by the change. It is stated it makes a difference of about $20,000 on last year's figures, and that is not far from being a mill on the tax rate.

The social services were inaugurated by governments which had power to assess the municipalities for their financial support, but never at any time have the governments granted to the municipalities greater powers of taxation or a portion of special provincial revenue with the exception of a percentage of beer sale profits. Previously the money has been secured by increasing the taxation upon property.

The income tax, on which the province now depends to pay for the costs of which the municipalities have been relieved, will probably be more widely collected by the province working in conjunction with the federal government than it was while collected as municipal income. There were many places where the municipal authorities never collected it at all.

It would be a mistake, though, to come to the conclusion that because municipalities have been relieved of this outlay the people in the municipalities will not be called upon to make contribution toward it. The provincial government, the federal or municipal government look to the same people for their money, and while it may simplify and lighten municipal financing it can be taken for certain the money is going to come from the people in some other way.

Crime and Tragedy in News

"Resolved that crime and tragic news should be removed from our daily newspapers." We read that topic was debated at the Y.P.S. of Knox Presbyterian church in Mitchell, Perth County. Rev. Mr. Gibson, minister of the church, acted as judge and awarded the decision to the affirmative. Just when the serious business of putting the finding into effect will begin is not stated.

We have no reason to believe the decision was given otherwise than on the merits of the debate, and we are willing to admit that a good many newspaper people would gladly welcome opportunity of filling their columns with something more wholesome than news of crime and tragedy. There is hardly room for argument on that point as far as desire is concerned.

But that is about as far as one can go. Newspapers do not make the news. They merely record it. Failing to print news because it came under the general description of being criminal or tragic would present an entirely false picture of what is going on in the world. Failing to print it would not change what is actually taking place; it would merely hide it from the readers of newspapers.

We believe it is better for people to face right into the actual picture of what is taking place all around them. If there is wickedness abounding then there should be straight recording of that, for in such a way are people warned and prepared to deal with the forces which support and encourage wickedness. If there are wholesome and worthy things being done we are certain that news writers the world over will be quick to find and record them.

There is something which the debaters in Mitchell may have overlooked. People who mind their own business, pay their debts and live respectable lives generally, seldom get their names in the news columns. To illustrate: If John Blank rises at seven in the morning, goes down and shakes the furnace fire, then shaves and dresses himself, eats his breakfast and kisses his wife before going to work, that is not news. It is routine. But if John Blank when shaking the furnace set fire to his garments and called the fire department, then that would be news. If he had trouble with a neighbor on the way to work and police were called to separate them, it would be news. As long as he stays on the beaten path John Blank is not news and people would not be interested in reading about him. It is when he does something unusual that he becomes a centre of interest. And that is why papers print nothing about John Blank during his days of routine, but pay attention to John Blank in the period of his rampage.

Banquet to a Cow

"Rusticus," a farmer who writes in an entertaining way for the Stratford Beacon-Herald, says he has received an invitation to attend a banquet at the King Edward hotel in Toronto, where the guest of honor is to be a cow. This particular cow is Brampton Basilua, owned by B. H. Bull and Sons of Brampton. Rusticus intends to shed his smock, overalls and rubber boots, put on his Sunday suit and attend. He says that since T. H. Dent of Woodstock had the misfortune to lose his great Holstein cow which held the world's life-time production record, the Basilua Jersey is now ranked as the greatest cow. Her second record, made at eight years of age, was 17,862 pounds of milk testing virtually 7 per cent. butter fat, and that is producing 1299 pounds of butter fat in one lactation period.

Speaking of that record, Rusticus is moved to explain "Why, half a dozen of Ontario's average cows would not produce as much butter fat in one year!" He also believes it would be better and much nicer if at the time of the banquet Brampton Basilua were admitted by one of the back doors of the hotel, as Rusticus is certain if she tried to go in through one of the revolving doors she would get confused and badly tangled. He also recommends that with the cow at the banquet there should be provision made for alfalfa hay, roots, bran and oil cake. But he agrees heartily with the idea of giving such a cow a banquet. It might be suggested that the theme song for such an occasion should be that old ditty:

If I had a cow that gave such milk
I'd dress her in the finest silk,
Feed her on the choicest hay
And milk her forty times a day.

The Courts Hit Them Hard

Courts are not fooling when they give notice that wild driving is going to be punished severely. Drunk driving too. The severity of the sentences is being stepped up to meet the increases in the offences Just a few cases will make that plain.

At Hamilton William Hall was sentenced to from nine to 15 months in the reformatory for criminal negligence; 30 days for driving while drunk and fined $200 or an additional three months for taking a man's car without permission. He figured in an accident in which a man and his wife were injured.

In New York Rocco Grassi, 63-year-old plaster contractor killed a pedestrian and drove on. He was not held entirely responsible for the accident, but the offence was that he drove on afterward. He was fined $200 and told that never again would he be permitted to drive a car.

In London, Ont., Frank Snell, 67 years of age, drove his car while he was under the influence of liquor. He was sent to jail for 30 days and the magistrate announced he would recommend to the Department of Highways that his permit to drive a car should be indefinitely suspended. Any action to restore the permit would have to be taken by the Highways Department, and there would be no recommendation from the bench that the man be permitted to drive again. In this case at London the driver was involved in what was called a minor accident. The court considered just one thing—he was drunk while in charge of a car.

The year 1937 is going to see harder treatment with those who persist—and that is what they do—in driving while drunk or driving after they have consumed even a small quantity of liquor. There is not a car driver who does not know the law; there is not a driver who is not well aware of the danger of drinking and driving. The results are before them every day of the week in the newspaper reports, and they know exactly the attitude the courts are taking. If they persist then they are plainly going out of their way looking for trouble.

Doing a Kind Thing

There is still some kindness and consideration in the world. Justice John Boylan is stricken with pneumonia in the hospital at West New Brighton, N. Y., and two days ago his wife died of the same sickness.

Although the Judge is a very sick man he always asks to have a copy of the local paper brought to him, the Staten Island Advance. On the day his wife died there was an account of the death on the front page of the paper. The doctor called the newspaper office and asked if anything could be done about it. He wanted to give the Judge the paper but feared news of his wife's death would be too much for him to stand. The newspaper at once lifted the story from its front page, substituted something else and ran off a paper for the Judge.

Two days later when there was an account of the Judge's wife the same procedure was followed, and he was furnished with a paper prepared for his own personal perusal so that he might have every opportunity to recover.

It is pleasant enough to be able to record such a thing. Kindness and consideration have not vanished from the earth.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Fourteen hundred London police are suffering from influenza. Catching things of course comes naturally with the bobbies of the Metropolitan area.

According to a Paris fashion note clever women mix their colors like men mix their cocktails. The only difference is that the mixing done by the women leaves no headaches.

A Cleveland woman fractured her neck when she turned over in bed. It is not expected however that the news of this unusual accident will keep folk from seeking their downy couches as usual.

Mae West, the screen star, had the biggest income among motion picture people during 1935, according to official returns. We always had an idea Miss West ran to a large figure.

An American scientist says that left-handed children should be left to follow their natural bent and we believe he is right. Look how Lefty Grove and Carl Hubbell have climbed to the top.

Minister in a church at Goderich had to be reminded by the organist that he had forgotten to announce the taking up of the collection. The organist we believe came originally from Aberdeen.

At the University of Manitoba they have been draping a statue of Venus de Milo with cheese cloth. It is suspected the person responsible has not been visiting the bathing beaches for some years.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan are reported as preparing to seek larger subsidies from the Dominion but so far Hon. Chas. Dunning hasn't broken any speed records in reaching for his fountain pen to make out the cheques.

Premier Hepburn will represent Ontario at the coronation. It is to be hoped he will not take advantage of his presence in England to repeat his remarks about the British attitude toward war debts.

It is announced that Mrs. Wallis Simpson has regained the five pounds she lost when worrying over the abdication of Edward VIII. That is exactly what the financiers have been saying—that things were going to pick up in 1937.

We learn there is a move on in Toronto to have that city secede from the province and operate under a Dominion charter. There is no saying how far-reaching the effects of that civil war in Spain may be.

The law is a funny thing. Magistrate Browne of York county police court has ruled that a motorist is not driving when the car is coasting. In other words if the engine is not going there is no driver.

It is announced that visitors to the Legislative Assembly will be ejected if they applaud. That is a welcome change from the free-and-easy atmosphere which has made recent sessions resemble anything but a dignified handling of public affairs.

THE RICH MAN

(By A. R. K.)

¶ The richest man we had in town, just salted all his ducats down, and then went after more; and he had mortgages and stocks, owned all the stores clean down two blocks, a miser to the core.

¶ And I recall we used to say, we wished his wealth had come our way, and we'd be happy then; the future would not bother us, the creditors would raise no fuss, we'd be contented men.

¶ But now I'm not so sure of that, the rich man travelled rather flat, and he was very lame; I used to see him walk the street, and he moved slow in legs and feet, and leaned upon a cane.

¶ They used to say he boiled in grief, had trouble always with his teeth, they made him sort of sick; he had three in the upper row, another three were down below, and none of them would click.

¶ And he had trouble with his ears, he tinkered with the things for years, and acted rather queer; and I recall 'twas quite a din, when people used to shout at him, to try and make him hear.

¶ The rich man groaned each day he rose, groaned more when putting on his clothes, but he had lots of wealth; he purchased stores and houses too, and every year his holdings grew—he couldn't purchase health.

Tells The Farmer To Go Scientific

(From the Chatham News)

THE Canadian farmer in many respects was harder hit by the economic depression than the members of any other producing group in the Dominion, as the result of an impoverished market and prices below production cost. The only bright spot in an otherwise totally black outlook was that in most cases he was certain to have plenty of nourishing food, which was something more than many urban dwellers could say.

Now the period of rural depression is past. All experts are agreed that the stage in the upward swing of the economic cycle is being reached, in which the farmer may expect a material improvement in conditions. The question now arises as to what will be his attitude in a time when opportunity is greater.

In the January issue of the Canadian Countryman, Mr. F. M. Dewan M. L. A., has some excellent advice to give the agricultural community of Ontario. That his counsels are given at the beginning of a New Year, with brighter prospects than any since 1929, makes them all the more worthy of serious consideration.

In giving it as his opinion that the farmer will overcome his setbacks and enjoy the fruits of better times, Mr. Dewan enters a caveat. Better times will not bring for everyone who tills the soil a new heaven on earth. The trend of greater competition in rural produce, accelerated during the depression, he believes will continue. The farmer who does not improve his standard of efficiency to answer the requirements will either be forced out or will have to sink to a low standard of living. This analysis of the farming future by Mr. Dewan is supported by the conclusions of all the sound authorities on agriculture, both academic and practical.

The great danger which arises whenever a period of depression gives place to one of greater prosperity is that the lessons learned in the former at a bitter price will be forgotten. Mr. Dewan does well then, at this time, to emphasize certain key problems that will continue to confront the farmer in better times as well as in bad. First of all he indicates the exposed economic position of the producer of natural products in the modern economy, with the trials of both poor and bumper crops, and with obligations of comparative rigidity.

In speaking for the need of scientific methods in farming, Mr. Dewan has put his finger on a problem that today we see as one which may shortly become one of crucial importance in Southern Ontario, that of soil depletion. If the farmer will use his intelligence to good advantage through government services, he will learn how best to solve his problems of soil fertility. Much valuable work among the farmers along this line was done by the staff of the Ontario Agricultural College. Mr. Dewan speaks in significant truth when he says:

"We have been cursed rather than blessed with too much land in Old Ontario. As a result we have been farming too extensively and loosely rather than intensively and effectually."

It is obvious that the Ontario farmer, if he is to prosper successfully, must become more scientific.

WHO PAYS THE TAXES.

(Albany Knickerbocker Press)

WHO PAYS the taxes? Everyone. But the trouble with the country's tax system is that everyone is not aware of the fact that he pays. According to figures given out by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, there are only about 2,000,000 taxable incomes in the country. For a nation which is regarded as the richest in the world, this is a surprising showing. It means that only one person of every 36 who is old enough to vote, pays a directly recognizable Federal tax. Nevertheless, all these citizens can vote, which helps to explain the lack of enthusiasm for governmental economy. That attitude will persist so long as citizens can vote for expenditures, which so far as they observe, cost them nothing.

BASIC WAGES.

(Toronto Telegram)

FEW CITIZENS will claim that the level of subsistence of relief recipients is too high, but if, as the Welfare Council points out, the subsistence is often "much lower" when the head of the family is employed, then it is time that there was consideration of the establishment of a basic wage for men.

From the standpoint of the taxpayers, if from none other, it is the duty of the Provincial and Federal Governments to see that the living standards of those who work are such that there will be no advantage gained by going on relief and no premium placed on idleness. Where there is work there must be no incentive for malingering on the relief rolls.

SANDING DEVICES.

(New York Times)

A SANDING device for automobiles designed to afford greater traction in unfavorable weather has been developed by Professor William R. Bryans, assistant dean of the New York University College of Engineering.

"The device," says Dean Bryans, "would convert the undersides of fenders into sand-boxes with filling covers in the fender tops. By a valve-release mechanism on the control panel of the car, the driver could efficiently distribute the sand. The equipment would be hidden in space that is now wasted."

A Bit of Nonsense

Once said a Scotsman—and Scotsmen are tight.
"I'm leaving tonight on a rail trip to Ayr;
Make me a child and I'll travel half-fare."

The Inheritance Racket.

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal)

ONE OF the greatest rackets which is operated from time to time is that of rounding-up supposed heirs to supposed vast fortunes, the promoters dangling the bait of millions of dollars before people who belong, or are encouraged to believe they belong, to the descendants of some persons long dead and are, therefore, entitled to share. Not long ago there was a Buchanan estate which was spread before Canadians in particular.

A few months ago a number of American swindlers were sentenced in what was known as the Drake swindles, some 300,000 people in the United States having been relieved of $1,793,000 over period of 21 years in the belief that they were entitled to participate in a property fortune which had increased since the days of Sir Francis Drake.

The United States government has completed the rounding-up of 28 people, women as well as men, who took part in the promotion of 26 organizations scattered throughout the United States in connection with what was known as the Baker estate. It is charged that they used the mails to defraud 3,000 people of $3,000,000, but it is expected that before the trials come on the number of people alleged to have been defrauded will number 10,000, and the amount involved $15,000,000. But this racket has been in operation since 1867, and it is believed that half a million people have been defrauded of $25,000,000 by various promoters.

Colonel Jacob Baker died in Philadelphia in 1839, and 28 years later the business of finding heirs was begun. Yet the estate of every Jacob Baker, and every combination of names of a similar origin, whose estate has been fyled, has been shown to be closed in full accordance with the law.

The Baker estate is alleged to comprise ground in that city which includes most of its historic possessions, and in the course of civic development the land alone is today worth $300,000,000, while the total value of the alleged estate is variously reported by the various Baker organizations to be from $1,300,000,000 to $3,000,000,000. It is not surprising, therefore, that so many individuals bearing the name of Baker have been persuaded to part with subscriptions to pursue the investigations with the prospect of getting a "cut" of such a massive "melon."

The first Baker swindle is stated to have begun in Ontario, and in the 20 years following, Canadian Bakers are reputed to have parted with over $3,000,000. Most of the activity, however, dates from 1902, and has been intermittent. The government departments received many complaints saying the Baker estate was a myth, but in a great many instances the Bakers refused to believe their dreams would not come true and sent indignant reports.

There are three great operating groups. One from Altoona, Penn., also claims that there is Baker property scattered throughout the state. The leader of this group is William Cameron Morros Smith, said to be a native of Canada. The two other leading organizations are in Johnstown, Penn., and Pittsburgh.

Probably there are hopeful people in Canada who are biting at old estate operations. If there are, they should forget about them. There are no Golcondas of this kind anywhere.

History of the Cranberry.

(From the Consumers' Guide)

OF ALL consumers in New World history, the ones most eager for ideas on what to consume were likely the little group that stepped off boats onto Plymouth Rock around 1620. Turkey, it is revealed from a reading of primers, they found running wild and soon impaled on the fire-side spit. But what about the cranberries for "fixins." The cranberry made its debut when some adventurous small immigrants escaped from the stockade and followed along on the heels of wandering Indian youngsters. They trailed the redskins deep into a swamp and noted with interest that they were picking bright red berries and stowing them away.

Following the Indian children's example they picked the berries but found them very sour and decided the joke was on the Indians who had bothered to fill their deer-skin bags with such sour-bitter fruit. But their report to the alert adult consumers of the settlement brought about an investigation as soon as diplomatic relations would permit.

A recipe for the Indians' favorite dish of the day was sour red berries with "pemmican." Pemmican is a cake made of dried meat and fat. Wild cranberries, then, were being used by the Indians much as cultivated ones are prepared today, for a flavor tang to go with meat.

Cranberry vines, close kin to the blueberry, and the huckleberry, run along the ground, putting roots down and sending up branches called "uprights" on which the berries grow. When left to their own devices, they grew along streams, in marshes and swamps and bogs, where water is likely to rise over them in time to protect them from frost and keep insect pests down.

Until 1812 these wild swamp cranberries made up the whole supply. Then wide-awake Massachusetts farmers found a way of beating nature at her own game. They prepared more accessible places for cranberries to grow. The essential moisture would no longer depend on nature's whim, but could be turned on and off at the will of man.

Consumers last year would have had almost half a pound of cranberries apiece if the whole crops of 819,500 barrels had been divided up evenly among the population. From an average of 335,000 barrels estimated for the first five years of the century, the country's production rose to an average of 581,000 barrels in the five years, 1928-32. Estimates of this year's production put it at 515,300 barrels, but this may be considerably changed when the final figures are in.

Those Celluloid Cuffs.

(Likewise the Buttons and Clips.)

It was the first week of the New Year,
A time when one should be sincere
But I must own instead of that,
That I was feeling somewhat flat.
'Twas eventide on Monday bright
When the Examiner boy turned on the light
And to my joy and great delight,
The evening paper came in sight.
"Ah, me," said I, "now I will find something
To brighten up my mind,
If no where else, at least there'll be
Some witty saying from Concession Three.

Sure enough, my gloomy state
Gave place to laughter quite hilate,
As on I read in laughing glee
About celluloid cuffs, and links and clips;
For in the basement at our place
The self-same cuffs long held a place
With clips and black encircled links.
To my good man I said, "Read that,
Do you suppose our Editor guessed
Such ancient things we did possess?"
Haste to the basement and to view
Bring once again the ancient crew.

Me think by what I read tonight,
Such things as these are much reverenced
By one whose knowledge has of ancients
Styles and by-gone days.
Said he to me, "A doggered grind
Out of your bright and fertile mind,
Mayhap that you my gentle spouse
Might yet be worthy of the muse
To see your name in print I ken
Would make you proud
To wield your pen."

So to the task I once did set,
Lest I the cuffs and links forget,
And though it made me fume and fret
To find a rhyme in time for print.
My worthy mate to help me write
Brought forth the cuff, links, and the clips.
On opening up the leather crate,
In which his silk hat was encased,
And where the celluloid cuffs had lain
But now in vain.
To my surprise the cuffs were gone.
On asking what their fate had been
My mate confessed one stormy night
A call for heat was sent to him,
The case was urgent so he sped
The furnace now to make quite red.
Something at once to check the frost
He used unwisely the celluloid cuffs.

If to his mind such thought had come
That some one in this modern town
So highly prized this ancient dress,
He surely would have saved from fire
The things which he did much admire,
And wore on many a former day,
When he awooing went his way,
And won the girl who now writes this
And ever after lived in bliss.

Am sorry though to have to add
An accident they once did have.
High stepping horse and buggy grand
This lover had at his command,
A-shopping he had been forehand.
Some cuffs to purchase to look grand.
The parcel laid upon the seat
As he his lady love did greet,
He took her gently by the hand
And led her to the carriage grand,
The lady entering quite petite
Sat on the cuffs upon the seat,
The celluloid so brittle were
When she got up they were a broken pair.

So fortunate it was that he was not a smoker,
Nor she, else accidents which happen fast
Should fire to celluloid be cast.
Your worthy paper n'er would print
This story now prepared for it,
Which came to mind from last night's hint,
The clips and cuff buttons I send to you.
Dear Editor of our paper true,
The ancient hat box, too, I'd give
But want to keep that while I live.

OTHER DAYS

AIMING HIGH.

(Manchester Sunday Chronicle)

NOT LONG ago 19-year-old Paul Mitchell was spending 300 pounds a week and lighting cigars with 10-pound notes. Now, says he, he would take a job at 5 pounds a week, or even 4 pounds, if it was going to lead to something. So would a million other people, whether it was going to lead to anything or not. Still, there is no harm in aiming high.

STUDYING LATIN.

(Niagara Falls Review)

LONG has the study of Latin in the schools been a subject of fierce controversy, there being those who argue that it is not only a dead language but a dead subject; but not in many places has it been abandoned. A strong argument in favor of Latin is contained in reply to the letter of a fourteen-year-old girl by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

Dr. Butler is quite clear in his advocacy of the subject, pointing out that the language enabrines some of the noblest masterpieces of literature. He goes on to say:

"To my thinking, knowledge of Latin is a vital part of any school and college preparation for the world of tomorrow which is to be in any wise adequate. Latin is not only the basis of all of the so-called Romance languages of the modern world, but it is the key by which alone can be unlocked the stupendous amount of knowledge and culture which the Romans possessed and transmitted to the world for over 1,000 years.

"To study Latin is to study the beginnings of the life which we now live and which the young people of today will have to live a few years from now. There is no way to understand what is going on in the world today that compares with a knowledge of how it comes to be going on, what were its causes, its origins and its earlier history."

This pronouncement by no means closes the discussion which has gone on for many years and will continue for many more, but it does give some good reasons for a firm grounding in the languge.

IT'S NOT POPULAR.

(Galt Reporter)

THE decisive defeat of Daylight Saving by the electors of Preston on Monday was not unexpected.

At the December municipal elections last time was turned down by the voters of Kitchener, Waterloo, Goderich, London and Galt, and the vote in Preston coming a month later, could hardly have been expected to be any different than it was. Guelph, which did not hold a vote on the question, will likely be the only Western Ontario city on daylight time during the summer of 1937.

After all there is only one method by which the question of Daylight Saving could be handled with any uniformity of observance and that would be by federal action to make the change in time Dominion-wide.

However, it is quite unlikely that such action will ever be taken. Daylight Saving is not popular in the rural districts and it is highly improbable that any government would have the temerity to offend the rural voters with any legislation of that kind.

THE POINSETTIA.

(Christian Science Monitor)

ALMOST everybody thinks of the poinsettia as a flower. But, believe it or not, it is not a flower at all. That is, the bright crimson leaves are not a flower. There is a flower on every poinsettia plant, but it is not the part that we usually describe as the flower. That consists of the little inconspicuous red and gold blossoms which cluster at the centre of the brilliant whorl of leaves we usually think of as petals. They are simply leaves or bracts.

In Southern California, acre upon acre of the bright leaves stretch like a coronation carpet under a blue December sky. And growers of the choicest stock in poinsettia land ship cuttings to florists all over the nation on a vastly larger scale than Joel Poinsett, their American finder, ever would have dreamed when he brought his little handful of cuttings to his ancestral home in South Carolina from Mexico.

Born Here in 1910.

According to documents before the court, Jasper was born in Peterborough, Ontario, on April 10, 1910. His father, at present stated to be living in New York City, came originally from England, while his mother, now deceased, was of Welsh origin.

When the accused was two years of age, documents indicate, the family moved to Worcester, Mass., and later to Philadelphia, Penn.

Jasper, who is stated to have no relatives or friends in Canada, told the magistrate his sole assets consist of seventy-five dollars which he has in a bank savings account.

598 DIE FROM FLU WEEK IN NEW YORK

Health Officials Hopeful Cases Will Begin Decline Inside Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(CP).—A sweeping increase in influenza and pneumonia cases over large sections of the United States was reported to-day by medical authorities. Unseasonably warm weather was said by many to be a contributing cause.

New York, hardest hit of any city, suffered 598 deaths in the last week. Health Department officials predicted the number of cases, now tabulated jointly at 1,814, would begin showing a decrease next week and that the outbreak of influenza would have completed its course of four or five weeks before the end of January.

The influenza and pneumonia death rate in Chicago continued unabated, with 710 deaths in the 2,987 cases reported since December 1.

Little Rock had from 400 to 500 cases and influenza was noted to be on the increase throughout Arkansas.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 8. — Reports Greece was in the market for Argentine wheat, drastic reductions in German grain import duties and the export sale of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat formed the background to an advancing wheat market yesterday.

Future prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed 2-1¾ cents advanced, May at $1.28¾, and July $1.23½, as prices in the world grain markets moved upward in the wake of a revival of European demand for the grain.

The rise was accompanied by spirited trading that saw speculators who hastily unloaded their holdings earlier this week buy back the wheat at enhanced prices. Heavy selling that found its way into the pit was absorbed without difficulty.

In the van of the general move to higher price levels, Liverpool closed 2¼d-2¾d advanced. Gains of more than two cents were posted at Chicago. Prices were higher at Buenos Aires, Minneapolis and other important exchanges.

Trade reports were that in addition to the Canadian sales, one cargo of Argentine wheat has been sold to Italy and another to British millers, while two cargoes of Australian wheat were reported sold to the United Kingdom.

Spreads held steady in the cash-grains section. Coarse grains prices moved upward briskly with wheat.

STRONG DEMAND CATTLE MARKET

Trade Was Active And Supply Cleaned Up At Prices 50 Cents Higher

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (C.P.). — A heavy run of cattle met strong trade demand on the Toronto Live Stock Market this week, the Dominion Live Stock Branch reported, and prices closed about 50 cents higher for steers and heifers. Calves lost an early gain of about 50 cents. Hogs opened 25 cents down, but regained most of the loss. Lambs were generally 25 cents higher and sheep steady to firm.

Stimulated by the re-opening of the quota on cattle over 700 pounds to United States, trade was active and the supply was cleaned up. While exports off the yards were only 400 head, many Ontario cattle were shipped from country points.

All steers and heifers were up 50 cents cwt., while cows and bulls gained 15 to 25 cents. Fed calves were steady to a shade stronger.

Choice weighty steers sold at $6.50 to $6.75 with some prime heavies in small lots at $7.00 to $7.25, medium to good steers brought $5.25 to $6.25. Butcher steers and heifers traded mostly from $5.00 to $5.75, tops reaching $6.00 cwt.

Butcher cows ranged from $2.75 to $4.00, with some as high as $4.25. Canners and cutters were generally at $2.00 to $2.50. Good butcher bulls sold for export at $3.50 to $4.00, with best grades somewhat higher. Bologna bulls closed at $3.25 to $3.50.

Fed calves of medium to good quality were priced between $5.50 and $7.50, and a few choice touched $8.15. The small supply of stockers sold at $3.50 to $4.50 cwt. Milker and springer trade was dull. Top price for tested springers was around $65 each.

Calf trade was active, around 900 head being taken for United States shipment. Prices opened at $11.00 to $12.00 for choice, but softened to a general top of $11.00 at the close with a few at $11.50. Common vealers moved between $6.00 and $8.00 cwt. A few medium to good heavies sold from $4.50 to $7.00.

Hog receipts were moderate. The market slipped to $8.50 for off truck bacons early in the week. Gradual gains raised the general price to $8.60 by the close with some long hauls higher. Car hogs were quoted at $8.25 f.o.b. and at $9.00 weighed off cars for bacons.

Lamb receipts included 2,400 Westerns. Opening sales on Westerns were at $9.25. Prices advanced to $9.40, with no culling done. A few native lambs brought $9.00 to $9.50, other grades selling between $7.00 and $8.50. Sheep were steady to firm at $2.00 to $4.50 cwt. for the majority. Top ewes reached $5.00. Yearlings sold from $5.50 to $7.00 cwt.

FENELLA COUPLE ARE GIVEN SHOWER

Many Gifts Are Presented To Mr. And Mrs. Herron

FENELLA, Jan. 8.—A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Macklin on Tuesday evening, January 5, when a goodly crowd attended the shower and dance given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Herron (nee Dorothy Hutchinson). The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Elder and Mr. Ralph Smith and Mr. Fred Murphy supplied the music.

Y.P.S. Holds Meeting.

The re-opening of the Young People's Society of Fenella United church was held in the community hall on Tuesday, January 5 with Miss Donna Tailing, the new president, in the chair. A game was put on by Mr. Jas. Waldie and a contest by Miss Viva George.

The Scripture lesson was read by Miss G. Knox. Miss Donna Lonsberry and Miss Lenore Leach were elected delegates to the Winter School held in Belleville on January 19 to 22.

Mr. Wilbert Macklin presented the topic, "New Year's Resolutions." A solo "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" was sung by Mrs. Elmer Lonsberry.

Miss Donna Lonsberry moved a vote of thanks to Mr. W. Macklin for the topic.

POSTAL FOREIGN ACCOUNTS HALVED

Department's Major Worry Eased By Co-operation With Bank Of Canada

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—(CP).—Cost of settling the foreign accounts of Canada's post office department were practically cut in half last year through closer co-operation of the department with the Bank of Canada, it was learned to-day.

These transactions in foreign exchange, which amount to more than $37,000,000 a year, have been one of the major problems of the financial branch during the last five years of vacillating exchange rates, with gray hair resulting for more than one responsible official.

Formerly they were settled through divers channels until a special committee was set up last year to study the situation with a view to co-operation with the Bank of Canada.

"Foreign exchange means probably more to the post office department than any company in the country, with such a tremendous turnover in foreign accounts," H. E. Atwater, financial superintendent, stated. "That's why establishment of the Bank of Canada has really meant more, in a direct way, to the post office department than to any single institution in Canada."

Bank Been Great Aid

"Since the Bank of Canada started operations, the Post Office Department has had more satisfactory service in the settlement of foreign accounts than has ever been available for this purpose."

Every fluctuation in foreign exchange affects the post office, since it has obligation in practically every country in the world through its money order services and its accounts for carriage of closed foreign mails across Canada and carriage of Canadian mails across other territories, as well as separate counts for delivery of Canadian parcel post in other countries, and vice versa.

Exchange quotations are received twice daily by the department, or oftener if there is any flurry on exchange, and the advice of the Bank of Canada is taken as to advance purchase of exchange. Considerable has been saved in this way by purchasing exchange for holding available for settlement of accounts coming due in the near future. Previously no such machinery was available.

TRAVELLING APRON FOR RAISING FUNDS

Westwood Women's Missionary Society Decides To Try That Method

WESTWOOD, Jan. 8.—A very interesting meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday afternoon, January 6, at the home of the president, Mrs. E. W. Sargent, with a fair attendance. Scripture readings were in harmony with the theme and devotional reading, "Jesus the Friend of Women and Children," and were read by Miss Jessie Davidson and the president. The devotional leaflet was read by Mrs. Melville Scott and Mrs. John Hope led in prayer.

The study book portion was presented by Mrs. James Sargent, Mrs. Don. Cameron and Mrs. James Clysdale.

A lengthy business session was held, planning ways and means of meeting the allocation. A "travelling apron," was decided upon for the first quarter.

ARMS BAN PENALTY 5 YEARS IN PRISON

Embargo Passed By U.S. On Exports To Spain Also Carries $10,000 Fine

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(AP).—A special resolution embargoing munitions shipments from United States to Spain became law to-day with President Roosevelt's signature.

The measure was hurried to the White House and signed within a few minutes after Vice President Garner affixed his signature at the opening of the Senate's session.

The resolution provides a $10,000 fine or five years' imprisonment or both for anyone who should:

"Export arms, ammunition or implements of war from any place in the United States, or possessions of the United States, to Spain, or to any other foreign country for transshipment to Spain, for use in either of the opposing forces in Spain."

"Implements of war," are defined as all commodities listed by the President in his proclamation of April 10, 1936, forbidding munitions shipments for use in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. Military and non-military planes and parts are listed as such commodities in the proclamation.

The embargo will continue until "in the judgment of the President, the conditions described in this resolution has ceased to exist."

BENNETT SAILING HOME SATURDAY FROM SCOTLAND

British Press Thinks Rearmament Issue In Canada May Keep Him In Harness

FOUR MONTHS ABROAD

By Thomas T. Champion
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Jan. 8 (CP Cable). — Former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett is going to Glasgow tonight and tomorrow will board the liner Montclare for Canada. His engagements in London since returning from his Empire tour on Monday have been purely private.

"There has been much speculation in Canada anent the effect his four months' tour will have upon him," remarks the Manchester Guardian today. "He has always been an ardent Imperialist of the Joseph Chamberlain school.

"Somehow or other he made himself believe the Ottawa Canada First treaties were the embodiment of most of Chamberlain's hopes and aspirations. The Empire with him always has been an emotion, not an actuality.

"He will find many changes when he reaches Ottawa. There have been rumors of his retirement as (Conservative) leader, rumors to which he is known to have given encouragement. If he insists on retirement there will have to be a national convention. There seems to be great confusion among the Canadian Tories as to who it will be.

"In the meantime, since Mr. Bennett left home, many things have happened, the most important of which perhaps being the Canadian Government's indicated adherence to the policy of rearmament both on land and sea. This is historic fighting ground in Canada and, taken with his Empire tour, might lead him to continue in public life until the next election, probably 1939."

Mr. Bennett is broadcasting briefly at 10.15 p.m. (5.15 p.m. E.S.T.) tonight, and his address will be relayed to the Empire.

WARSAW BANK SCANDAL.

WARSAW, Jan. 8.—(CP-Havas). —A scandal developed to-day following the revelation of financial transactions in which the Polish treasury is alleged to have been defrauded of about $1,175,000.

Although little official comment was made, it was learned that Vladislas Neumann, agent of the Bank of Poland to the Central Exchange Board, was among a number arrested in connection with illicit traffic in foreign currencies. Several foreigners were also reported jailed.

BRIDGENORTH

The regular Monday night meeting of the Clifford Memorial Y.P.S. was held on Monday night, January 4 with a good attendance.

Rev. R. D. Wright, had charge of the meeting and read Paul read the scripture. It was decided to hold a social evening in the form of a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McGregor some time in February. After the meeting was closed a table game was held in playing games and a social hour was enjoyed.

Miss Phyllis Moore of Lindsay highway spent last week visiting with Rev. and Mrs. Bannister of Bowmanville.

BETHANY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hannah held a social evening at their home west of the village on behalf of St. Mary's Women's Guild on Tuesday evening, January 5 at 8 o'clock. Progressive games were played for a time of crokinole and euchre, and a contest, Miss Marjory Page winning both prizes for games and contest. A delightful lunch was served later, and the sum of seven dollars was realized after all expenditures had been cancelled. The evening was a very delightful and social success and hearty thanks were tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Hannah and family for the kindness shown to their guests.

Miss Dorothy Clarke spent the week-end with Jean Mann of Bridgenorth.

JUDGE DENNISTOUN WRITING POETRY

Old Peterborough Boy Steps Into The Field Of Real Lyric Poetry

The following lyric taken from the Winnipeg Free Press is by Mr. Justice R. M. Dennistoun of the Manitoba Court of Appeal who astonished the public by a charming booklet of lakeside verse at Christmas. He will be remembered here as "Max" Dennistoun, formerly of the local firm of Dennistoun, Peck and Stevenson. Canada has of late in Aubrey Brown, and now Mr. Justice Dennistoun, stepped into the field of real lyric poetry, and the barren, matter-of-fact Canadian verse which has done duty for poetry hitherto may be succeeded by true imaginative and poetic verse. But the great Canadian poem remains yet to be written, and who knows but these musical lyrics may be the heralds of that great event.

"FROM THE GOLDEN BOOKS"

Phoebe

(R. M. Dennistoun)

The March wind sweeps the prairie deep with snow,
The silent rivers wait the warm rain's beat;
Softly there sings about me, to and fro
A tender voice so melancholy sweet,
Phoebee! Phoebee!

Oh, ardent little lover, are you here,
To keep the tryst made many months ago?
Could you not wait until the spring was near,
The answer to your plaint so sad and low?
Phoebee! Phoebee!

Through dark and cheerless days I hear you call,
Your faithful heart seems almost like to break.
Alone upon the icy garden wall,
Insistently you cry, no rest you take,
Phoebee! Phoebee!

The balmy south wind gently blows the rain,
The snows sink down, the rivers lose their hold.
Imploring now you call again; again;
Sudden she answers; Oh, the joy untold!
Phoebee! Phoebee!

Your gentle love has come to you at last,
How could you doubt she'd keep her promised word?
The Spring is here and all your fretting past,
And everywhere your happy song is heard,
Phoebee! Phoebee!

OFFICERS ELECTED BY MISSION BAND

Miss Helen Thompson Is New President Of Trinity Church Mission Band

The inaugural meeting for the year of the Mission Band of Trinity United Church was held at the home of Miss Helen Bannister, Weller street with an attendance of twenty. The retiring president, Isabel Taylor presided. The secretary, Jeanette MacMorran gave a very encouraging report of the year's work. Seventeen meetings were held with an average attendance of twenty. Thirty-two dollars was raised for Missionary work which is an increase of fifteen per cent over last year.

New Year's stories were read by Doris Hendry and Phyllis Upper. Evelyn Martin played a piano solo and Phyllis Gray sang, playing her own accompaniment. Mrs. H. T. Rehill read a very interesting story from the study book, "Through the African Bush." The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Helen Thompson; vice-president, Doris Moncrief; secretary, Vivian Martin; treasurer, Muriel Fallen; pianists, Agnes Pogue and Evelyn Martin; membership committee, Isabel Taylor and Jeanette MacMorran. It was decided to hold the February meeting in Reid Street Hall and have lantern slides.

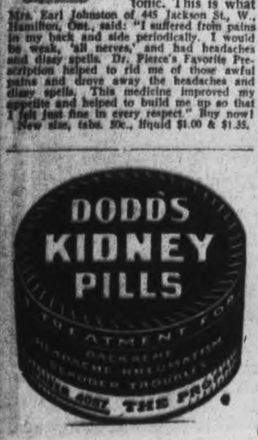
BLIZZARD ON COAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7:—(AP).—Howling blizzards banked mountain trails and highways deep with snow in the Western United States to-day and brought reports of one dead, one injured, and nearly 250 marooned in four States.

An Oakland, Calif., policeman reported his snowbound family at Mariposa, Calif., told him Thomas Aldrich, aged miner, died from exhaustion after reaching a ranch safely.

NERVOUS WOMEN

No need for women or girls to suffer every month from periodic pains, headache or sideaches. In girlhood Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a very beneficial tonic. This is what Mrs. Earl Johnston of 445 Jackson St., W., Hamilton, Ont., said: "I suffered from pains in my back and side periodically. I would be weak, 'all nerves' and had headaches and dizzy spells. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription helped to rid me of those awful pains and drove away the headaches and dizzy spells. This medicine improved my appetite and helped to build me up so that I felt just fine in every respect." Buy now! New size, tabs. 85c., liquid $1.00 & $1.35.



Another Raid, Another Wreck, More Deaths

Humanity can grow accustomed to anything—even to bombing raids that turn cities into flaming wreckage and citizens into corpses. Madrid has grown thus accustomed. Crews like the one shown at work here are working night and day in the loyalist Spanish capital, digging into piles of smashed debris to clear the streets and to find the injured and dead.

The Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 8, 1937

20 Await Death: OSSINING.—Twenty men under death sentence remained today in Sing Sing Prison's death house where the electric chair only a few hours before claimed the lives of two youthful slayers of a subway collector in a hold-up. Nine of the condemned men are to be executed within the next two weeks.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR WARDENSHIP OF UNITED COUNTIES

Durham County Will Get Warden—Be Straight Party Fight

PARTIES LINING UP

The wardenship of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham returns to Durham county this year, and since the personnel of the new council was determined at the municipal elections last Monday some of the prospective candidates are already being generally mentioned.

Reports reaching the Examiner indicate that Reeve Reg. O. Jones of Bowmanville, Reeve Cecil G. Mercer of Hope township, Reeve A. L. Pascoe of Darlington and Reeve J. C. Cummiskey of Manvers are likely to be nominated when the council meets for its reorganization and the subsequent January sessions.

Conservative Majority?

As politics almost invariably dominate this appointment, an important determinant in the pre-sessional speculations is the complexion of the new council, and it is significant that advance information intimates that the Conservatives are rather confident that they can elect Reeve Jones of Bowmanville. It is no secret that the Durham group of Tories will take a lot of delight out of keeping Reeve Mercer out of the chair. They believe that the Reeve of Hope township, who is chairman of the Liberal Association in the county, has political ambitions, and they intend to keep his feet off the ladder which has so often led to provincial and federal honors.

Recall Rickard Success

W. F. Rickard, M.P., Warden of the united counties four years ago, and former Reeve of Newcastle, took a long stride toward winning Durham to the Liberal ranks of the Dominion House in the last general elections by his experience and prestige acquired in his term of the wardenship. The Conservatives are aware that William J. Bragg, M.P.P., is getting along in years and may be considering retirement with the likelihood that Cecil Mercer would not turn down the opportunity to accept the next Liberal nomination for the provincial house if the way was open to him, especially with the acquaintance he has gained as a county road commissioner, followed by his presidency of the Durham Liberal Association, and possibly, at least, as Warden of the united counties for 1937. That would be a record which even a strong Darlington candidate for the Grit leadership might have difficulty in overstepping.

So, one of the certainties regarding the wardenship this year is that Reeve Mercer will encounter the strongest opposition the Tories can produce, and that opponent is conceded to be Reg Jones of Bowmanville.

Pascoe May Try

Reeve A. L. Pascoe of Darlington may try to climb into the chair which the estimable George Annis, former reeve, sought on several occasions the most notable being two years ago when the choice went to the Conservative candidate Reeve Percy Stinson of Millbrook. They don't turn out men better than George Annis in any community, and that is equally true of Reeve Stinson who since the retirement of W. T. Wood of Millbrook has been one of the leaders, by personality and conspicuous ability, of the counties council.

Reeve Pascoe is a Darlington Liberal, and it may be that his party group in the new council may swing behind him, although Conservative opinion is anticipating the opposition to come from Mr. Mercer.

Cummiskey's Position

Reeve J. C. Cummiskey is also being mentioned as likely to be nominated, and the new Reeve of Manvers has a strong personal position in the "little parliament" at Cobourg. His political attachments are not as generally known as are those of the other three. Manvers is a strong Conservative municipality, and Chris Cummiskey has represented on what might be called vital occasions the sentiment of the Tory wing as loyally as any of its partisans. Intimations have been that he is a Liberal beyond the sphere of the counties council, but the Examiner has no definite knowledge in that respect. It is a fact that Reeve Cummiskey has won many friends in the council and has advanced to its front ranks. But, friendship doesn't count in the final reckoning for the wardenship. A group of amiable and capable members tasted disappointment of that experience three years ago when Wilbert Davey of Hamilton township was elected Warden and the hopes of Charlie Quinn of Cramahe, William J. Duncan of Seymour, and Fred K. Denyes of Brighton township were wrecked in the political jockeying and final balloting.

At any rate Reeve Cummiskey's name has certainly recurred in the wardenship gossip, but at this stage, and according to usually well informed sources, the 1937 honors will likely be contested by Reeve Jones and Reeve Mercer, and if the news coming out of the two counties is correct, that the Tories will have a majority when the council meets, the wardenship will return to Bowmanville, leaving Hope, Darlington and Manvers to wait for a more propitious year.

40 Winks—40 Days For Two Transients

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 8. (CP)

THE "forty winks" which Gilbert Moore and John Tanner took after breaking into the overnight cabin of Margaret Sullivan may cost them "forty days."

Miss Sullivan reported that two men were in the cabin, and police investigated.

They roused Moore and Tanner from peaceful slumber to arrest them on a charge of breaking and entering.

MUCH INFLUENZA FOUND IN CITY DOCTORS REPORT

M.O.H. Believes Influenza Has Almost Reached Epidemic Proportions

INVOLVES THE THROAT

Although he has had no cases reported to him in his official capacity as medical officer of health for the city, Dr. G. Murray Fraser, does not doubt that influenza in Peterborough has reached almost epidemic proportions. "Influenza and pneumonia are both reportable," the M.O.H. remarked, "but I have as yet had no cases reported to me. However, I do not doubt that influenza here has reached almost epidemic proportions."

Dr. A. W. McPherson, Public schools medical officer, agreed that influenza is prevalent among the school population, and has been for the past three months.

Chief Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith, of Lakefield, declared that in his private practice he has come across a great deal of influenza. It is of the type that involves the throat and middle ear, he explained, and it has resulted in an unusual amount of mastoiditis and considerable pneumonia.

RELIEF BUDGET NOT EXCEEDED

Committee Able To Keep Within Its 1936 Budget Chairman Says

HOLD FINAL MEETING

The relief committee of the city council will show a small surplus from its 1936 financing, Alderman Dutton reported Thursday night. A financial statement for the year will be available in a short time.

Members of the committee expressed their satisfaction that the committee had been able to avoid a deficit.

"This city is fortunate in having a man like Alderman Dutton as chairman of this committee," Mayor Macdonald said. "He has given a great deal of his time to this work, and he has well earned the appreciation of the council and the citizens as a whole."

Alderman Glover, Alderman Hamilton and Alderman McIntyre endorsed Mayor Macdonald's complimentary remarks, and in reply Alderman Dutton said, "It is very kind of you to say so. A lot of the credit should go to Mr. Metheral, and of course the chairman of a committee can't do much unless he has the support of all the members We have worked in harmony at all times, and we have tried to deal justly by the people on relief and the ratepayers whom we represent, and to be fair to everybody concerned."

Mayor Macdonald said that there had been some cases in which the committee had to "draw the line a little fine", but on the whole it was the desire of the council that no persons should be neglected.

Alderman Dutton said he did not know of any person who had not received hospital service when it was needed.

"We have shown more consideration for many of the people on relief than those persons showed us," Alderman Hamilton remarked.

"We have never heard a word from more than half the number of people on relief," Alderman Dutton said. "They have made no complaints of any kind. We all hope that conditions will steadily improve this year, and that the need of relief will decrease."

"Probably the most complaints have come from people who moved in here since relief started," Alderman Tuggey said.

The members present were Aldermen Dutton, Juby, McIntyre, Hamilton, Glover, Tuggey and Mayor Macdonald.

At the close Alderman Tuggey said farewell briefly. "This is my last night with you, and I wish you well from the bottom of my heart."

TWO MARMORANS INJURED BY FALLS

Mrs. Fred Burns Hurts Hip And George Pressick Has Foot Cut

MARMORA, Jan. 8.—The slippery surface of the ground on Thursday morning occasioned two accidents in Marmora, a woman and her son-in-law being involved.

About ten o'clock that morning Mrs. Fred Burns fell outside the residence of her daughter, Mrs. George Pressick and injured her right hip. She was later removed to Belleville General Hospital for an X-ray examination and treatment.

After assisting her to her home, George Bressick went to a nearby woods to chop a stick which he required for a certain purpose. Returning he fell and the axe he was carrying, cut the upper part of his left foot. Dr. H. Crawford was soon in attendance and four stitches were required to close the wound.

WINTER CARNIVAL IS BEING PLANNED FOR JANUARY 30

Peterborough To Make Reputation As Winter Sports Centre

FIGURE SKATERS

Brass bands, happy sporting crowds, ski jumping and a multitude of ski competitions, dancing, a figure skating ballet and even a dog derby! Everything that goes into the making of a winter carnival will be on tap in Peterborough on the week-end of January 30. Peterborough is out in a big way to make a reputation as one of the leading winter sports centers of Ontario.

If Huntsville can do it, why not Peterborough?

The representative citizens who compose the Peterborough Winter Sports Committee are convinced that as a center for winter sports and the site for a winter carnival, Peterborough is a natural. They are backing this conviction to the limit and preparing with all thoroughness for a carnival on the week-end of January 30 which will equal anything yet staged in Ontario.

Complex plans for the big event were advanced further with another full meeting of the Committee in the Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon. The program is now taking its final shape and it already appears that only the most unexpected upset in weather conditions on that week-end can prevent an unqualified success.

Here's an approximate picture of the program as it stands at this stage:

The opening gun of the big carnival will be the arrival of the distinguished delegation of figure skaters from the Toronto Skating Club and the staging of the biggest skating show in Peterborough's history at the Brock Street Rink Friday evening. A large group of the Dominion's most renowned skaters are scheduled to make the trip. It is understood the city will be afforded its first ice ballet, according to present plans.

Railway Excursion

On the Saturday morning, skiers and other sports visitors from points east, west and north will begin to arrive by car but the premier event will be the arrival of a special C.N.R. excursion train from Toronto at noon. Efforts are to be made to have a large crowd on hand to meet the train. A band of some sort will likely be in attendance and a parade uptown may even be arranged.

Cars, taxis and possibly a special C.N.R. train will carry the crowds to Nassau for the ski jumping and other ski competitions Saturday afternoon. If present plans are fulfilled, hundreds of skiers, both amateurs and experts, will participate and many hundreds will be on hand to watch proceedings.

The program for Saturday evening has not yet been agreed upon. The possibility of a big moccasin dance is being considered and other possible entertainments are being debated. Special Protestant and Catholic church services for the visiting groups will likely be arranged for Sunday morning and possibly Sunday afternoon will see the wind-up of the skiing program.

City-Wide Event

"There is one thing we should emphasize," Fred Overend, Chamber of Commerce president, declared at Friday's meeting of the committee. "This is a city-wide thing, not just a carnival staged by the Peterborough Winter Sports Committee. If all citizens and all groups will cooperate, a great success will be assured."

The Committee resolved to seek the aid of the city's five service clubs in staging the carnival. The clubs will be approached and the avenues along which they may assist will be suggested.

Arrangements have been made for saving many of the city's discarded Christmas trees. They will be made available to the merchants who will be encouraged to decorate their store fronts for the big week-end.

Yesterday's meeting was headed by the energetic committee chairman, R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne. The Peterborough Ski Club and other interests in the city were well represented.

TRAFFIC OFFICER ASKED BY BOARD

Chief Constable Asked To Place Man At Brock And Water Streets At Noon

Peterborough Board of Education at the inaugural meeting held on Thursday evening, instructed the secretary to write to Chief Constable Samuel Newhall, requesting police co-operation in guarding the safety of children during the noon hour at the intersection of Brock and Water Streets.

In making a motion, adoption of which decided this course of action on the part of the Board, Mrs. W. R. Morris urged that the increasing number of minor accidents involving children from Central School warranted strict traffic supervision at the intersection mentioned.

If city police cannot detail a man for special traffic duty at the intersection in the noon hour, Mrs. Morris suggested senior boys of the school might be detailed to provide safe conduct for the smaller children on their way to or from school.

W. A. Richardson, who seconded the motion, declared that recently one of the local service clubs considered the matter of traffic control as a part of their service work program, but he expressed the personal opinion that before such a scheme could be put into effect the club would have to obtain the sanction and co-operation of police authorities.

D. G. H. Melton pointed out that in the city of Hamilton ex-servicemen wearing distinguishing armbands were stationed on duty at busy intersections during the hours in which children were going to or from school. He said they were invested with authority to hold-up traffic while the children were afforded safe conduct across the street, and the system was, he believed, successfully operated at a minimum cost.

British Earl Sails For Spain With Food For Loyalists

His sympathies with the embattled Loyalist government of Spain taking definite form, the British Earl of Kinnoul pulls a stout rope aboard his trawler Mino as he sails for Spain with a shipload of foodstuffs for government forces. The earl donated a considerable sum of money in addition to the 160-ton cargo of the Mino. He declared he was "appalled" by conditions he saw in the strife torn peninsula on a recent visit.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up By an Examiner Reporter.

HOLD FINAL MEETING

The final meeting of the 1936 Public Library Board was held under chairmanship of Emmett F. Sheehy at the Library buildings on Thursday evening.

JUST LIKE SPRING.

Water was merrily gurgling down the centre path in Victoria Park this morning and running an inch deep over the sidewalk at the botton just as it usualy does at the time of the annual break-up in the spring.

LODGE'S 103RD ANNIVERSARY

Orangemen of the district will be interested in the approaching 103rd anniversary of Bewdley L.O.L. 149 on January 18. The members of the lodge are celebrating the event with a dance in Holdaway's Hotel.

A DENTAL CAMPAIGN.

A meeting has been called in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Wednesday night of next week for the purpose of launching a dental hygiene campaign by the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council sponsored by the Ontario Department of Health.

THIS UNUSUAL WEATHER.

As another proof of unusual weather conditions, a large insect of the moth family picked up outside by Leonard Adlam of the Bell Telephone staff, proved very much alive when released from his pocket at the Examiner office this morning.

AN ATTRACTIVE WINDOW

Portraits of no less than thirty local children make a charming display in the show window at Fred Cripp's studio in the Grand Opera House block on George street. The display of portraits taken during the Christmas season are to be made an annual feature Mr. Cripps plans.

EXECUTIVE TO MEET

A meeting of the executive of Peterborough Fish and Game Association has been called for 7.30 p.m. Saturday evening in the Empress Hotel. At the gathering plans are to be discussed relative to the annual meeting of the association which will probably be held next week.

NUTRITION CLASSES.

Those interested are reminded that there will be an opportunity to register to-night at 7.30 o'clock at the Y.W.C.A. for the nutrition classes which the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross Society is resuming. These classes are designed to teach the preparation of well-balanced and nourishing meals at the least possible cost.

TIMBER WOLVES SEEN.

Returning from their work at a wood camp five miles from Hastings on Wednesday evening four young wood cutters, Mack McCracken, Art. Gunchill, Pat Wigzill and Art. Pullaway were surprised to see two large timber wolves run across a farm only fifty feet from where they were. They had an excellent view of the fast moving animals.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Stated by the Chief of Police to have been drinking heavily although in receipt of city relief, a local man was this (Friday) morning fined $10 and $4.50 costs with the option of 10-days imprisonment on pleading guilty to an intoxication charge before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

SPECIAL SERMONS.

Dealing in a broad way with the vexing problems of these days, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr will commence a series of sermons on Sunday evening on the "Beatitudes and Modern Life." The relation of ethical considerations to the present problems of war and peace, Communism and Fascism, and the future of Christianity will be covered. The first sermon will be on the theme, 'The Blessing of Detachment.'

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Examiner hears that when council meets on Monday there will be a proposal to have the Board of Health composed of members outside the ranks of the council instead of naming a number of aldermen to the Board. The latter plan has been followed in recent years and the opinion of the majority of the council seems to be that it has worked out satisfactorily.

PLAN DINNER MEETING.

The first regular business meeting of the recently-formed Kawartha Lakes District Tourist Association will be held in Lindsay on Tuesday next, convening for dinner at the Benson House. It is expected the meeting will be addressed by a number of outstanding tourist authorities. The Association is anxious to get the full co-operation of all communities in the five adjacent counties, in an effort to increase the welcome tourist traffic to this district this summer. A special invitation is extended to the Wardens of the five Counties and the Reeves of the different townships of the communities most vitally interested to be present.

ONLY RELIEF VOUCHERS.

Relief distribution at present is entirely by voucher. No work is in progress for which the city could issue cash.

TRIPS ON SCHEDULE.

Drivers of Beatty Brothers trucks made their trips during the night on schedule and without mishap, in spite of the blanket of fog on the highways.

HEAVY NIGHT FOG.

"You couldn't see your nose in front of you," was a motorist's expression of emphasis describing the heavy fog on the Peterborough-Port Hope highway around midnight last night.

26 CORDS OF WOOD "LOST."

Relief committee wood records for 1936 showed a loss of 26 cords, A. G. Metheral, relief officer, reported Thursday night. "We bought 3,000 cords and distributed 2956½ cords," he said. The committee accepted a loss without comprehending comment. "We didn't have to pay for hauling out those 26 cords," Ald. Glover remarked.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL OPENED.

Queen Mary Hospital was opened this morning to receive a scarlet fever case, the first patient in seven months. One of the former nurses of the hospital was engaged, the hill leading to the hospital was sanded, and the institution resumed its service under the direction of Dr. Fraser.

BETTER THAN MONTREAL.

"You should see the streets in Montreal," said a traveller from the east. "Horses were slipping down the icy hills Thursday and their sleighs bumping into them. Motor traffic was extremely dangerous. Your streets here are in excellent condition compared with Montreal's, but the weather conditions are extreme. For about a month it has been one sheet of ice after another."

WARNING ISSUED.

Citizens were again warned by Fire Chief George Gimblet against the practice of wrapping electric wiring around bedsteads, nails and piping as the result of a fire from such a source which broke out at the home of Harry Kerr, 659 Water Street, shortly before 11 o'clock on Wednesday evening. Short-circuiting on a bedpost an electric connection set curtains afire and caused considerable smoke damage. Endeavoring to beat the fire out, Mr. Kerr suffered burns about the hands. He was given first-aid treatment by Assistant Chief George Smith when the flames had been extinguished.

CHILDREN BLAMED FOR FIRE.

A blaze in a rubbish bonfire at the home of Dr. C. C. Cragg, 629 Rubidge Street, brought the Fire Department to the scene on Wednesday afternoon. It was controlled before damage had been done. Children at play are thought to have been responsible for the fire. The Departments attended a chimney fire at the home of James McMartin, 398 Aylmer Street. A call to a chimney fire at the corner of High and Lansdowne Streets was not answered as the address is outside the Department's jurisdiction.

FINDS A PURSE.

Edward Convey, an eighty-year-old resident of Rogers street, East City, picked up a large purse on the sidewalk in front of the Canadian Department Stores on Wednesday and on depositing the found article with the store management, an investigation showed that the purse containing the driver's license, a sum of money and other articles was the property of a young woman living near Indian River. A telephone call was the means of quickly restoring the lost property to the owner and Mr. Convey reports that the reward he received was very useful after the holidays.

OTONABEE CHAPTER MEETS.

At the January meeting of the Otonabee Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held Wednesday afternoon in Y.W.C.A. green room, with the regent, Mrs. B. Jackson, presiding, each member made a pledge to turn in the sum of one dollar at the February meeting. The members renewed their allegiance to the new Sovereign, King George Sixth. A vote of thanks to Mesdames Vallery, Dryland and Davern was passed for their successful supervision of the bridge party held in December in the Business and Professional Women's club rooms. Election of officers will take place at the next meeting, when refreshments will be served by Mesdames W. A. Burrell and B. W. Harvey.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, January 9

DESPITE A FAIR degree of activity in the affairs of this day, there is a presage of delays, impediments or anxieties. Depressions, doubts, perplexities, probably connected with the private life, may bring a disconcerting reaction or postponements in business. Illness may play a part in this. Certain secret doings or understandings ultimately lead to the good. Financial matters are under rather encouraging prospects.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of progress and fairly profitable financial transactions in business, but in the private life there may be perplexities, anxieties or difficulties. Illness may be at the root of this, or some matter of a secret nature may call for solution.

A child born on this day may be capable and dependable but probably diffident or retiring by nature. Its gentle and faithful character may attract elderly persons to it.

Newsboys To Make Morning Collection

With the object of speeding-up the delivery service and assisting the newsboys, H. B. Cowan, Jr., manager of The Examiner's circulation department, announces that a new system of Saturday morning collections is to be tried out starting tomorrow.

Formerly the junior merchants have been collecting in their accounts each week on Friday or Saturday evenings, but as this has involved some waste of time and consequent delay in completing deliveries, the boys themselves have expressed a wish to make their collections on Saturday mornings.

On behalf of these junior merchants, the circulation manager is respectfully requesting the support and cooperation of each of the various subscribers in the satisfactory working out of the new system. It is designed, he said, not merely for the benefit of the newsboys, but also as a convenience to readers of the Examiner.

FIVE OSHAWA BOYS NABBED BEGGING

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 8.—(CP). —Five teen aged boys from Oshawa were picked up by police early today after they were reported begging from house to house. The boys left Oshawa on a train "just for a ride," but the train did not stop until it arrived in Belleville and the boys were pretty hungry. They were given a hearty meal at the police station and their parents notified. They will be taken home by their parents some time to-day.

The boys were all warmly clothed and appeared to take the escapade as a "huge joke."

UNIQUE COURT RULING

Woman Loses $10,000 Suit Over Birth In Trolley Crash

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (CP). — Supreme Court Justice May has ruled a person may not collect damages for the "loss of the services" of an unborn child.

The suit was brought against the Brooklyn and Queens Transit Company by Mrs. Madeline Heinsohn, who asked $10,000 damages for the "loss of the services" of her daughter, Fleurette, now six, who was born at the time of the accident on which the suit was based.

DYNAMITE BIG SHOVEL

Unemployed Recently Protested Use of Steam Shovel.

QUEBEC, Jan. 8.—(CP). —A 20-ton steam shovel used in road work near here was dynamited yesterday while two men held its night watchman at gun point.

After the dynamiting, Alphonse Royer, the watchman, said the pair forced him to enter his shack while they made a getaway.

Use of the steam shovel was protested some time ago by Quebec unemployed, who claimed it was displacing men from work.

Minnie, the pretty grey cat that makes friends with customers in the Kresge Store, was the proud mother on New Year's Day of a quartet of tiny kittens. When the staff arrived after the holiday, they found the little cats in a large waste paper basket. And the three of them have no tails, which sets them at once in the family of Manx cats. Now Minnie is a grey cat and so are three of the pussies. But the fourth, which is of the tailless variety, is dark grey and brindled. So if anyone should happen to possess a Tom of the Manx type with dark grey brindled fur, then he is the father of the four kittens. They are being kept at the store until they arrive at a proper size and age for giving away.—C.L.M.

MANIAC STABBED WIFE IN THE BACK SISTER IS INJURED

Peterborough Girl Visiting In Toronto Is Injured When Man Escapes From Hospital

HUSBAND OF SISTER

TORONTO, Jan. 8. — Two hours after he had escaped from the Ontario Hospital at 999 Queen Street West, a man whom police described as a maniac last night stabbed his wife in the back with a butcher knife.

Police said his mind was inflamed by liquor when he entered his wife's home at 132 Winchester Street and started a violent argument that ended in the stabbing. The woman was rushed to St. Michael's Hospital.

Two Hours at Liberty.

The 34-year-old escaped inmate, Carroll William Venn, fled from the hospital at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and Toronto police claimed they had received no report of the escape until 6 o'clock.

The stabbing occurred at six minutes after six.

Mrs. Venn told police the quarrel started when she refused his demand to sign a statement which would release him from the hospital. When she refused, she said, her husband shouted at her: "I'll kill you." Two other women, Miss Ina Summers and Mrs. Yetta Radford, heard the threat, the police stated.

Venn was overpowered by two men and was returned to the hospital by the police.

Miss Ina Summers, of Peterborough, aged 26, a sister of Mrs. Venn, suffered injuries to her right ankle and lacerations of the hand when she fell downstairs in the home while trying to escape from Venn' Miss Summers had been visiting her sister.

Wounded in Shoulder.

The stabbing was witnessed by Mrs. Yetta Radford, a roomer in the same house. She ran to the kitchen and locked the door, she told police. Venn, she said, tried to enter, and when he found the door locked, shouted, "Open it or I'll stick it through you."

The stabbing victim and her sister were released from the hospital within an hour. Mrs. Mabel Venn was suffering from a bad wound in the back of the left shoulder, and Miss Summers had minor injuries to her ankle and hand.

Venn had been in the hospital for the past six months. He had been admitted as an alcoholic, and hospital authorities claimed he had never been considered a maniac. He had been accorded the privileges of the grounds, and yesterday afternoon he was working in the doctor's quarters. He left there to go in to supper, and he was not missed until 5 o'clock. The guards searched the wards and the grounds and sent a description of Venn to the police.

Got Liquor in Town.

He left the hospital in hospital garb, blue overalls, and somewhere downtown obtained liquor. Then he went home. His two small children, Loraine (7) and Billy (5) were in a back room on the top floor of the house, where Mrs. Mabel Venn lived.

The children heard the quarrel and fled out of the house. Miss Summers rushed out of the room where Venn was threatening his wife. At the top of the stairs she stumbled and fell.

Mrs. Venn ran downstairs, with her husband following her wielding a knife. In the front room he caught up with her and lunged at her with the blade. She put up her hand and half turned her body. The knife caught her in the shoulder. Then he turned on Mrs. Radford, police said. The woman fled to the kitchen and locked the door. When Venn threatened her she fled from the house.

Neighbors arrived and after a battle overpowered him.

KEEPS HIS PLEDGE

Man 88 Yearly Places Flowers 36 Years on Grave of His Friend.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Jan. 8. —(CP).—Frank S. Morse kept his 40 year old pledge to his friend, Carl Morton, despite sub-zero weather and the weight of his 88 years.

He placed his annual tribute of red carnations on Morton's snow-banked grave and repeated the words he has spoken each year since 1928: "This will be my last trip, I think."

Before Morton's death in 1901 he and Morse agreed to observe the anniversary of either's death. For 36 years Morse has kept faith.

STARS CAN'T QUIT.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 8 (A. P.). — Old-time stars just can't quit the movies. The largest group of them yet assembled for one picture are working in "A Star Is Born" and here is the reason they all give:

"Well, once you get in this business, it's hard to quit." The group includes Vera Stedman, Owen Moore, Charles King, Elane Chandler, Mary Jane Irving, Billy Dooley and Gertrude Messinger.

STAR'S PARENTS ONCE RESIDED IN PETERBORO'

James Durbin Was Employed As Blacksmith At Canadian General

FATHER OF DEANNA

The meteoric rise of 14-year-old Deanna Durbin as a star in the radio and screen firmament will doubtless be followed with closest interest by Peterborough friends of the Durbin family.

This newest child protege being acclaimed in Hollywood's filmland as one of the greatest discoveries since Mary Pickford made he debut as "the world's sweetheart", claims Winnipeg as her birthplace, although Peterborough was at one time the home of her parents.

A short time prior to the outbreak of the Great War, James Durbin, her father, was employed as a blacksmith at the Canadian General Electric Company's plant.

Still Retain Card

From Herbert A. Cranfield, supervisor, The Examiner learned that Mr. Durbin's period of service with the C.G.E. extended from May 31, 1910, to May 23, 1912. An old employment card which the company still retains on file contains a notation relative to termination of service which cryptically states "Going West."

The family moved to Winnipeg and it was in that city where Deanna or Edna (which is the child's baptismal name), was born. It is more than probable that when her father terminated his employment in that city his card was again marked "Going West." At all events the family is next heard of in California, where Deanna sang her way into the spotlight to become known as Eddie Cantor's "Song Bird" on the air waves.

Latest Triumph

Her latest triumph is as the star in Universal's recent film release, "Three Smart Girls," which will probably find its way onto the screen at local theatres in the near future.

In a letter which Ald. Walter Stocker received this week from William Barrie of Southgate, California, who formerly practiced in this city as an architect and was responsible for the design of the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic, and the grandstand at Exhibition Grounds, he states:

"Don't fail to see the picture of the year "Three Smart Girls," with Deanna Durbin as the star. Her right name is Edna Durbin. Her parents used to live in Peterborough. James Durbin, her father, worked at the C.G.E. in the blacksmith shop and was the best blacksmith they ever had. He was a nephew of "Smiley" who lived in East City and his wife was Fred Read's sister. The Durbin's have been close friends of ours since we came here. Edna has a beautiful voice for a child. She is on the Eddie Cantor program on Sundays. Besides being a noted singer she is a great little actress. She is fourteen years old and is considered here to be the greatest discovery since Mary Pickford. Look out for her picture, and tell the folks about her. They will like her. She sings Il Bacio like a mature woman."

Mr. Barrie goes on to state in his letter that at the present time he is designing a large house for Deanna in the Hollywood Hills. He declares the family is making money fast. Besides her movie work Deanna gets one hundred dollars a broadcast for a song, and royalties for the making of phonograph records.

He states: "She is three weeks older than our daughter Audrey and is a beautiful little girl."

To advertise a special race week at Munich, Austria issued a special postage stamp bearing a horse-racing picture.

WESTCLOX TAKE SENIOR OPENER

Defeat The Outboard Marines By 3-1 Score To Start Senior City Puck Loop

Westclox opened the Senior City Hockey League schedule at the Brock St. rink last evening with a 3-1 victory over the Outboard Marines before a hundred fans. It was a good shinny game as the boys tore into it on soft ice. Lack of condition on the part of the players and a rolling bouncing puck made for poor hockey, but the tilt was exciting enough all the way. The checking was heavy and penalties fairly frequent.

The Clockmakers scored twice in the initial inning and once in the third, while the Marines tallied their lone marker early in the last frame. The early lead gave Westclox something to work on and they showed an edge in play most of the tussle. O'Leary scored first with Pat Calladine making it 2-0 shortly before the period closed. The squads battled on even terms throughout the middle canto with neither side sinking the disc. Right after the third opened, Wood snared a loose puck in close and buried it in twine, but Parsons came back later to make it 3-1.

Goalies Good

Both goalies made some nice stops, with Tharby, ex-Norwood net-guardian especially good. Two husky defences bounced incoming forwards around freely and the rival forwards kept up a good pace till the last period when they slowed up in the heavy going. Under the conditions last night, there were no outstanding players on either team, some of them going good in spots but hardly shining over the distance. A number of former O.H.A. junior and intermediate stars were spotted on both sides, including "Did" Reeves of Lindsay with the Outboard outfit. The teams:

Westclox: Goal, Tharby; defence, Whatley and Parsons; centre, Williams; wings, Field and Jay; alternates: O'Leary, Calladine, Dinesen, Stante and Boyler.

Outboard Marines: Goal, Clarke; defence, Howe and Lebarr; centre, Payne; wings, Cournyea and Archibald; alternates, Wood, Reeves, Cripps, Coursey and Maudsley.

Chicago Black Hawks, in an endeavour to acquire a winning combination, have given Tommy Cook, centre player, an indefinite suspension for failure to keep in playing condition. In his shake-up, Manager Clem Loughlin will replace Cook with either Trudell or Gottselig at centre. Another change in the line-up send Glenn Brydson to centre between Pete Palangio and "Pep" Kelly and Andy Blair back to defence.

O.H.A. Opener Here Has Been Called Off

THE scheduled Belleville-Petes' O.H.A. opening game to-night had to be called off this morning, owing to soft ice. Efforts to have it staged to-morrow evening proved unavailing, but the local club is now trying to arrange the contest for Monday night here. Word should be received from Belleville some time to-day.

MILLBROOK BEATS BEWDLEY GANG 3-0

Final Of Three-Game Senior City Loop Opener Is Fast, Classy And Clean Tilt

Millbrook blanked Bewdley, 3 to 0, last night at the Brock St. rink in their first Senior City League contest before a small crowd. It was the best of the three-game league bill at the rink, showing more clean hockey and continued speed throughout. Few penalties were earned and the rival squads dished up fast, passing plays that carried them in on the goalies repeatedly.

The winning Millbrook crew scored a goal in each period. Only smart net-minding by Ferguson kept Bewdley from tallying several counters. The pace was fast from start to finish with plenty of fine passing and good shooting. The losers missed several good chances by shooting wild but other times they were blocked when right in on the net. Both sides attended strictly to hockey and the checking for the most part was quite clean. Skitch scored in the first, Parnall got the next one on Wainman's assist, and Wainman scored in the third aided by Sloan.

All Go Good

For so early in the schedule, there were no individual stars though several players showed up better than their teammates. Play swept from end to end regularly on combination attempts to make the goalies dive on hot close-in thrusts. Unlike the other Blood and Thunder Loop clashes, the defencemen were content to poke-check instead of smearing oncoming rivals. Some neat backchecking was shown by the forwards, and on harder ice both teams will look considerably better. The teams:

Millbrook: Goal, Ferguson; defence, Parnall and White; centre, McCarthy; wings, Edmunds and Cathcart; alternates, Wainman, Sloan and Skitch.

Bewdley: Goal, J. Wilson; defence, Watt and Sidey; centre, Farr; wings, P. Sidey and E. Wilson; alternates, J. Mercier; M. Mercier, Elliott, Jewison and Walker.

SOCIETIES UNITE ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Enjoyable Program When Millbrook Presbyterians And Anglicans Get Together

MILLBROOK, Jan. 8.—The parish hall of St. Thomas' Anglican church was the scene of a gay New Year's party, Wednesday evening, when members of the Young People's Society of Grace Presbyterian church and the Young People's Association of St. Thomas' church, which have this year joined as one unit, met with a number of other friends and enjoyed a pleasant social evening featured by lunch and an impromptu program. Gay decorations of blue and white streamers were hung from a central chandelier.

Mrs. P. Handley, vice-president of the A.Y.P.A., occupied the chair in th absence of Miss Maretta Gray, president, and was assisted in the opening devotional period by Miss Margaret Armstrong and Rev. Archdeacon William Simpson. Others taking part in the program were Misses Mary Nattress and Margaret Simpson.

Mr. Jack Marshall, St. John's church, Peterborough, was the guest pianist and led in the splendid recreational period which was featured by singing, games, stunts, guesses, etc. Miss Laureen Handley and Ed. Williams were winners of the contests.

A bounteous luncheon brought the meeting to a close following the vote of thanks tendered J. Marshall on the motion of Miss K. Donnelly.

The societies will meet again next Wednesday evening at the Sunday school parlors of Grace Presbyterian church, and members of both executives are requested to attend an important session at the home of the president, Miss Maretta Gray, next Monday evening at 7.30.

GOOD TENNIS YEAR BUT NO DAVIS CUP

United States Came Close But Failed To Make Finals In Interzone Play

By WALTER MERRILL HALL
(President United States Lawn Tennis Association)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(AP)—From an international competitive standpoint the season of 1936 will go down in tennis history as disappointing to the United States because the Davis Cup was not regained. Nevertheless the margin was really very small even though our team did not get through to the inter-zone final and challenge rounds.

The defeat by Australia in Philadelphia was no disgrace as the outcome of the five-match series was really settled by the hair trigger doubles match in which Budge and Mako lost to Crawford and Quist in five sets and which was so desperately close that another point or so at the critical times of the fourth or fifth sets would have swung the victory to our side.

England Wins

The Australian team went on to win the inter-zone final against Germany and only lost to the champion English team by three matches to two. A little more experience in international competition with consequent more steadiness in the pinches and our players may easily sweep the competition in 1937.

The record of our leading singles player, Donald Budge, was outstandingly fine throughout the season, even though he lost to Fred Perry, the world's amateur champion, in a close match at Wimbledon and again in the wonderful wide open final match of the American championship at Forest Hills. Only his much greater tournament experience and slightly stronger physical condition at the end won that gruelling struggle for Perry, 10-8 in the fifth set.

With the single exception of an early season defeat by Grant, Budge lost no other matches throughout the year.

Lakefield Curlers Compete For Fowl

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 8.—On Wednesday evening the rinks chosen from the Lakefield Curling Club to play in the Tankard and District Cup matches got some practice in preparation for these major events, when they played off against each other here, in two exhibition games. The members of the winning rinks each took home a chicken; the fowl were put up by the contending teams to add zest to the game. In the Tankard contest, Percy Spence's quartet carried off the honors—and the chickens. In the contest between the District Cup aspirants, N. A. Moore's rink won a decided victory over George Spence's men. The rinks were as follows:

Tankard Rinks

Wm. Watson	S. J. Charlton
E. H. Northey	Reg. Murduff
B. Q. Petch	Clare Chittick
P. H. Spence (Skip)	D. H. Charlton (Skip)

District Cup Rinks

Bert Kidd	E. Waldon
Ed. Watson	Chas. Stenner
D. H. Webster	J. H. Payne
N. A. Moore (Skip)	Geo. Spence (Skip)

The Tankard rinks go to Peterborough on Monday, January 11. The District Cup matches will be played in Lindsay on Tuesday, January 12.

CURLING
By HERB MARTIN

The uncertainty of the weather has forced us to withhold any comments on curling—how, where, when or why.

Our only advice to curlers is this . . . just keep in touch with us at the rink and just as soon as there is any frost coming our way, we will let them know all about it.

"BY A PLATE-GLASS SKIP"
The Various Kinds of Skips

I do not know whether I make myself clear when I speak of quiet skips. It is a way I have fallen into of sizing them up. What I mean by a quiet skip is one who says nothing except to his players; the other kind talks at his players but he really talks to the spectators. One man is part of his team; the other wants everybody to know that if he does not win it is the fault of the incompetents who are associated with him. The conclusion I have come to is that the ten best fourth players in Peterborough are just about the ten worst skips in the city. I may be wrong about this, as I write almost entirely from the standpoint of a spectator.

There are several kinds of skips, and as a result of my observations I will endeavor to divide them into classes:

1.—THE AVERAGE SKIP is just the average curler, and not a skip at all. He plays in his turn and wins or loses as chance decides.

2.—THE RUNNING SKIP: Everybody knows what he is driving at. He is disappointed in an end unless it gives him a chance to chip the winner or smash things up. This kind of skip does not win many games. He does not make a rink; his three subordinates cater to his weakness. His third calls for a running shot (or a Heather draw) because he knows the skip wants to make one, when the vice-skip is fully aware that he should call for a dead draw.

Perry And His First Pro Rival

When these star tennis players, bitter rivals in action, meet off the courts they seem to find a jovial mood. The two stars are Fred Perry of England (LEFT) and Ellsworth Vines, American, are starting a professional tour. Here they indulge in a bit of horse play just before entraining for Philadelphia, where they were honor guests at a luncheon. Perry, world's amateur title holder until he turned pro, last fall, seems to be attempting to "strangle" Vines with his coat belt.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(C.J.P.)

THE FAST-STEPPING, rough-riding Petes may slow down and stop for red lights but not for the Redmen of Belleville, nossuh! And those we-wanna-be-"B" Bellevilles had better come down here expecting a battle 'cause that's what they'll get. No quarter asked or given—except, of course, the quarter you East Siders ante up at the gate. And double that for the carriage trade. This is the intermediate Petes' first home game of the season and it should be a sweetheart. Belleville beat Trenton 8 to 2, and the Petes took Trenton by a 9-2 count, so they must be pretty evenly matched, eh? And those Quinte-Petes' puck battles are always plenty hot and hostile. Yeah, this one rates a big crowd of customers. It was slated for tonight but the weather went pansy and it had to be called off.

• • • • • •

ABOUT HALF the Redmen hail from other towns than Belleville, places like Athens, Deseronto, Napanee and Campbellford. Good pucksters like Ingram, Bentley, Watt, the Jacksons, Barriage, St. Louis, McGuire, etc. make it a dangerous team and, while we think the Petes will beat them, we wouldn't pawn our grandma's gold-filled store teeth to bet on the outcome! Should be a typical slam-bang intermediate joust with plenty of speedy action and bone-bending bodychecks. Remember those bitter brawls with the 1936 Quinte crew?

• • • • • •

CAN'T SAY for sure how the Petes will line up. Clarke is a cinch for goal while four defencemen will be used out of this gang: Weir, Gardiner, Ellis, Magee and Williamson. Calladine, Burton and Vitarelli may form one front line; with Coughlin, Creighton and McDougall on the other. Blewett, Hill or Schultz may see action, also. The way Shrimp McDougall was stepping in Trenton, the little ex-pro may be heading for a big season. Not as fast as he used to be —nor in the pink of condition as yet—he can still step in spots and hypnotize the opposition with his stickhandling. The Petes looked fine in their opener down Trenton way and, if they go as well next tilt the fans will have a fine time and Belleville will have a headache or two to nurse.

• • • • • •

WILL ST. LOUIS and Weir come to fisticuffs again? Will the Redmen go home red-faced? Will the Petes take a terrible thumping? Can the crowd be controlled in case of mob violence? Will it rain next Sunday? Do gentlemen prefer blondes who baby-talk? These and other momentous questions will be answered in the next stupendous expose in this column! All will be told—nothing disguised nor cut out by the censors! Buy your copy early and read all about it! Or, better still, see the game and read about it, too!

• • • • • •

YE OLDE Blood and Thunder Loop got under way last p.m. at the Brock with three rousing tussles. A pretty fair crowd was on hand, most of 'em being present during the second scrap. Westclox took a 3-1 nod over the Outboard Marines—new monicker for the Johnson Motors team—in the opening setto; Mayfairs defeated Lakefield by a 3-1 count in the middle joust; and Millbrook whitewashed Bewdley, 3 to 0, in the windup number. Had the ice been harder, some excellent hockey would have been dished up. As it was, all three tilts were featured with plenty of rugged action. From a good hockey standpoint, the final fracas was best, being cleaner, faster and with more combination shown. The other two were exciting battles from start to finish but with little real teamplay shown.

• • • • • •

SENIOR CITY Leaguers apparently play under Marquis of Queensbury rules and how! As in the Toronto Mercantile Loop and the N.H.L., the boys get away with murder, slashing, tripping, boarding, holding, etc. It makes for plenty of furious fun. Heavy ice and lack of condition had many of 'em in the third period dragging like old shoes behind a honeymoon car. Games were late starting due to an intermediate workout which went overtime. They should be started on time if at all possible. We'd say it is going to be a fine league with six pretty well-matched squads battling it out bitterly. Complete schedule is published this eve.

• • • • • •

THIS FROM Belleville: "Trenton intermediates suffered their second O.H.A. reverse within 48 hours when they were defeated 9 to 2 at the hands of Peterborough. Referee Bouncer Holway informs us the Petes were much too fast and finished for the Trenton squad. Joe Gould returned as goalkeeper for the home outfit but could not stem the tide of goals coming from the fleet-footed Petes. Bill Calladine bagged three counters and we understand the Petes have a smart squad of rubber-chasers, who will take a lot of beating before spring. The Trenton defence is reported to be terribly weak but Referee Holway says they looked much better against Peterborough than they did versus the Redmen here Monday."

LAKEFIELD TEAM IS IN CITY LEAGUE

E. H. Northey Is Elected President Of The Lakefield Hockey Club

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 8.—When the Lakefield Hockey Club held their opening meeting here recently for the purpose of organizing for the coming year, they elected the following officers:

President, E. H. Northey; Sec.-Treas., Frank Payne; Manager, Mr. McKeachar; Coach, J. R. Harvey.

At a meeting held on January 7, the team was drawn up and plans laid for the season. The club put their team into the Peterborough Senior City League. The matches in this league will be played in Peterborough. The teams in the league will each put on an exhibition tussle, sometime during the season against the Lakefield squad, in the Lakefield Rink, for the benefit of home-town fans. The winners in the City League will play off against the winners in the O.H.A. Because of difficulties in transportation, Lakefield, it is expected, will not enter the O.H.A.

On Friday, January 8, at 8.15 p.m., the Lakefield hockey team will meet the Norwood team in an exhibition game in the Lakefield Rink. The line-up of the hockey club squad is as follows:

Hockey's Big Seven

(By the Canadian Press)

Johnny "Black Cat" Gagnon picked up an assist as Canadiens whipped Toronto 4-2 last night, moving into a tie with Americans' Sweeney Schriner for second place in the National Hockey League scoring race, one point behind Larry Aurie of Detroit who like the American, again went pointless. Aurie has 22 points.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts
Aurie, Detroit	13	9	22
Gagnon, Canadiens	12	9	21
Schriner, Americans	9	12	21
Barry, Detroit	5	14	19
Lewis, Detroit	11	7	18
N. Colville, Rangers	7	11	18
Carr, Americans	10	7	17
Ward, Maroons	10	7	17
Joliat, Canadiens	9	8	17
Cowley, Boston	8	9	17

BUCKAROOS TRIM LIONS 5-2

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Portland Buckaroos hammered through three goals in the final period here last night to defeat Vancouver Lions 5-2 in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game.

Ralph Blyth led the Portland attack, getting a goal and two assists. Scharfe, Besler, Coupes and Jempson tallied Bucs' other goals. Carse and Mercer were the Vancouver snipers.

Out Of Action

The high-flying Montreal Canadiens suffered a severe blow when their star centreman, "Pit" Lepine, suffered a broken leg. He will be out of action for at least two weeks. Lepine was enjoying his best season for some time. He has collected six assists and banged home seven goals for the Frenchmen. Lepine is seen here.

Canada To Get $6,000 For Australian Games

BURLINGTON, Jan. 8.—Secretary Bobby Robinson of the British Empire Games Association of Canada said today he had been notified that Australia was prepared to contribute up to $30,000 towards expenses of athletes competing in the 1938 games at Sydney, N.S.W.

Canada would receive $6,000 assistance provided at least 15 athletes were sent. The Australian games committee also will house and feed the visiting teams for two weeks prior to the games, during th one-week competition and a week after the games. Officials, not to exceed 10 per cent. of the competitive strength, will be similarly entertained.

Mr. Robinson, organizer of the first Empire Games in Hamilton in 1930, said the games were being financed by the State Government of New South Wales. They will open February 5 and continue until February 12.

TRINITY JUVENILES WIN

Defeat Knox Outfit 3 to 1 in City Church League.

Trinity Juveniles took a 3-1 Church Puck Loop tilt from Knox on Wednesday night at All Saints' Rink. Trinity had a bigger and faster team, but the youthful Knox bunch made it a game, and about held their own. Doughty scored for Knox in the first and J. Horton for the other side. Trinity got two in the second by Deering and R. Horton. Knox used three goalies, Robertson, Sanderson and Elliott, with the latter best. J. Horton shone for the winners. The teams:

Trinity — Goal, McBain; defence, J. Horton, Patterson; centre, R. Horton; wings, Deering, Smoke; alternates, Vallery, Andrews, Grove, Stanley, Fowler.

Referee—H. Condon.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Those poor New York tennis writers who picked Vines over Perry (and it was unanimous) fell just like the fight experts the morning after the Schmeling-Louis thing...If it interests anyone, Branch Rickey says he's still working on a trade for Dizzy Dean...

Art Ross, manager of Boston hockey Bruins, popped off in Detroit and accused Maj. Frederick McLaughlin of trying to make gentlemen out of his Chicago Black Hawks...Ouch...Joe Louis has to have special boxing gloves made because of the length of his thumbs...Primo Carnera is at it again...He took on a bloke named Bossomi, or something like that, over in Italy the other night and knocked him out...

Mike Jacobs collected $60,000 salary for directing the 20th Century Sporting Club in 1935...Ford Frick drew $18,000 as president of the National League, considerably less than the $27,500 Bill Terry got for managing the Giants...Lester Patrick, coach of New York hockey Pangers, was paid $17,500...Carl Hubbel's great left arm was worth $17,500 to the Giants...Did you see that piece Fred Perry wrote about turning pro for the "wife and family?"...Is that the tip-off?

Ralph McGill comes up with this pip about the "stranger" who golfed at Radium Springs—Bobby Jones was hunting in South Georgia and stopped of at Albany for a round with Richard Tift, just about the ace marksmn of that section. They started out at Radium Springs attended by two negro caddies, neither of whom knew Jones...Bobby won the first two holes and the little pickaninnies could scarcely believe their eyes...When he really got hold of one on the fourth and whanged it 300 yards straight down the fairway, their distress was acute ...Tift's caddy sidled over and whispered: "Mistuh Tift, if we aint keerful and that gennaman's luck holds out, he sho gwine to beat us." When finally the boys were told who they had been caddying for, their eyes popped..."And now," says McGill, "there's only one person who can play golf better than Mustuh Tift...and that's Mustuh Jones...yas suh."

HARVARD DEFEATS BAILEY'S U. OF T. SQUAD BY 5 TO 4

Toronto Loses Hair-Raiser In Overtime—Montreal Beats Princeton 2-1

McGILL 11, NEW HAVEN 1

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (CP)—The days when Canadian college hockey teams crossed the border to play with United States squads like a cat with a mouse would seem to have reached an abrupt end.

University of Toronto got thrown back on its highly-polished haunches last night when it invaded the Harvard bailiwick for an International Intercollegiate League duel and University of Montreal pulled through only by the thickness of a skate-blade after a hot argument with Princeton.

Only McGill wrote the sort of score the fans had long been used to—11-1 over Yale at New Haven.

The French Canadians, at Princeton, N.J., won 2-1 but Goalie Marcel Barsalou seemed to be the big factor in their victory. Down two goals because of Roger Genier's first period tally and Rene Gagne's picture-counter after a solo dash in the second, the Princeton pucksters all but swept the Canucks off their feet with a third period "college try."

Five Tiger forwards were thrown into the fray. Budge Miller scored for Old Nassau late in the frame but despite the fact they forced the Montrealers deep into their own ice, the Tigers could not get past Barsalou for an equalizer.

Blues Tie It Twice

Harvard and the Toronto team coached by Ace Bailey, former National League star, staged a hair-raiser at Boston. The Canadian Blues twice came from behind to tie the score.

It was in the second 10-minute overtime period that the John Harvards finally came through.

In the decisive overtime frame, George Roberts scored for Harvard, only to have Morrison nullify the effort three minutes later. But the Harvards maintained the pressure and when Roberts scooped a fine pass to John Mechem he scored and the game was over.

Joe Patrick, son of the famed Frank and one of Harvard's stars, was badly injured in the third period. He went down during a scramble and had to be helped off the ice with a twisted knee and gashed head.

CAMPBELL'S RINK WINS 2 TROPHIES

Kitchener Four Only Out-Of-Town Winners—Take C. S. Wilcox Trophy

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 8 (C.P.)—The curling clan of Campbell is ready for the winter's 'spiels after a gratifying tune-up that brought them two trophies. Skip G. M. Campbell of Hamilton Thistle Club, his two brothers and their cousin carried off both the Spectator Trophy and the Westinghouse Trophy in the Hamilton bonspiel yesterday.

Dominion champions in 1935 and representatives of Ontario in the interprovincial matches for three straight years, the Campbells took the Spectator, the premier event, by a 13-8 win over Cecil Smith's Hamilton Victorias. Then they swept to the final in the Westinghouse beating another Thistle four skipped by J. A. Cheriton, 13-4.

First major test ahead of Gordie Campbell and his skilful trio is the Ontario Bonspiel in Toronto next week.

Only out-of-town winners in Hamilton's 16th annual bonspiel were the Kitchener four skipped by B. C. Hall. They won the C. S. Wilcox Trophy. In the remaining competition, Dr. F. G. Morrow brought the Ross Harstone Trophy to Hamilton Thistles.

Dr. Morrow defeated J. E. Anderson's Lindsay rink 10-8 to win the Harstone competition, scoring three pairs. Anderson's rink counted a pair and three to make a fight of it.

The Kitchener four skipped by B. S. Hall triumphed in the Wilcox match by beating R. MacDonald's rink from Hamilton Victorias 15-8, scoring a five on the fourth end, a three and two pairs.

CANADIENS TRIM TORONTO LEAFS IN 4 TO 1 BATTLE

Jackson Scores Lone Marker For Smythe's Heavy Crew

CHECKED TO STANDSTILL

Sport 13—Canadiens .....

THE FORUM, MONTREAL, Jan. 8—(C.P.)—Montreal's high-riding Canadiens opened up a six-point lead on the National Hockey League's Canadian section last night by defeating the third-place Toronto Leafs, 4 to 1, in a hard-checking game before 6,500 fans.

The Flying Frenchmen spotted Leafs an early goal by Harvey Jackson, went on to tie the game in the first period and score one in the second and two more in the third. For the most part they had the Leafs bottled by their tenacious checking.

Jackson punched home a blistering shot from 15 feet out five minutes after the game opened, but Joffre Desilets tied that at 11.56 on a play started by big Babe Siebert, spearhead of the Montreal offensive. It was the first of three points for Desilets, who also gained assist on the three-period goals of George Mantha and Toe Blake.

Aurel Joliat scored the second-period goal that sent Canadiens into a lead Toronto never threatened to overcome. Siebert again made the play, fighting the puck out from behind the net to the little winger.

The heavy-hitting Leafs subjected the fast, but light, Canadiens, to a terrific body-checking barrage, and Paul Haynes, Desilets and Walter Buswell were taped up during the night. Haynes didn't play after he was carried off in the second period when he stopped a puck just above the eye.

Toronto—Goal, Broda; defence, Horner, Fowler; centre, Thoms; wings, Davidson, Finnigan; subs., Day, Metz, H. Jackson, Apps, Jarvis, Shill, Drillon, Hamilton, Kendall.

Canadiens—Goal, Cude; defence, Buswell, Siebert; centre, Morenz; wings, Joliat, Gagnon; subs., McKenzie, Miller, Haynes, Lorrain, Brown, McGill, Mantha, Desilets, Blake.

Officials—Johnny Mitchell and Mickey Ion.

SKYHAWKS, 2; OILERS, 1

WICHITA, Kas., Jan. 7 — (A.P.)—Wichita Skyhawks defeated Tulsa Oilers, 2-1, last night in an American Hockey Association game that went into overtime. Papike scored the winning goal. Galbraith netted for Wichita in the first, and Bailey for Tulsa in the second.

Gets His Championships Early In Year

One of the first champions of the new year displays his winning form. This young man, showing off a nifty backhand, is William Umstaedter of Milburn, N.J. He won the United States boys' indoor singles tennis title without moving his racquet. Melvin Schwartzman, his final round opponent, defaulted because of illness. The match was held in New York.

HAWKS BLANKED BY BOSTON BRUINS

Score Of 2-0 Sees Coastal Crew Jump To Within Point Of Second Place

CHICAGO, Jan. 7—(C.P.). — Boston Bruins blanked the reshuffled Chicago Hawks, 2-0, last night, and moved up to within one point of second place in the National Hockey League's divisional standing.

The victory enabled Boston to pull five and a half games ahead of the last-place Chicago team in the American division. Boston also advanced to within a half game of the idle second-place New York Rangers. The Boston scores were made in the first and second periods by Clapper (unassisted) and Sands from Cowley.

Boston—Goal, Thompson; defence, Shore and Jerwa; centre, O'Neil; wings, Beattie and Clapper; subs, Cowley, Getliffe, Welland, Cook, Sands, Goldsworthy and Hollett.

Chicago—Goal, Karakas; defence, Blair and Seibert; centre, Trudel; wings, March and Thompson; subs, Burke, Levinsky, Wiebe, Palangio, Gottselig, Larochelle, Kelly, Brydson and Jackson.

Referees—Stewart and Dye.

First Period

1—Boston, Clapper 14.30
Penalties—Getliffe, Clapper.

LAKEFIELD LOSES TO MAYFAIRS 3-1

Lively Senior City Hockey League Game Played On Soft Ice Before Fair Crowd

Mayfairs copped at 3-1 verdict over Lakefield in their first clash of the Senior City Hockey League schedule last evening at the Brock St. rink. About 200 fans saw a slashing tussle on soft ice. Teamplay was out of the question and puck-carrying difficult but the players kept up a good clip for an opening tilt all the way through.

Mayfairs scored once in the first frame and twice in the third and Lakefield got its goal in the third. The Whiteshirts were only trailing by a 2-1 score late in the last heat but the homesters notched another to make the issue certain. Pete Vitarelli scored in the first inning, there was no score in the second but Cournyea and Hill tallied for the winners in the third as Chapell rang up the lone Lakefield counter. Hill's score was made possible on a breakaway and an assist from O'Leary.

Everything Goes

There were few penalties as everything went in the typical old Blood and Thunder Loop fashion. High-sticking, slashing, tripping and boarding made it a rousing struggle all the way with both sides handing it out generously. As each team in turn tried ganging-up plays, the goalies had to be good to keep kicking them out. There were no particular stars in rough and sloppy going. Meyette was carried off with a cut on the head in the second frame and did not return for the remainder of the contest, this leaving Mayfairs with but two alternating players. The teams:

Lakefield: Goal, Loyst; defence, Sabatino and I. Charlton; centre, Chittick; wings, Jewell and G. Charlton; alternates, Stenner, Morin, Lennox, Chappell and Deeth.

Mayfairs: Goal, Merrett; defence, Crowe and Vitarelli; centre, Mowry; wings, Hill and O'Leary; alternates, Gardner, Meyette and Cournyea.

RED WINGS DEFEAT NEW YORK AMERKS 4 TO 2 TROUNCING

Detroit Victory Gives Them Undisputed Lead Of National League

CHABOT BACK IN NET

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—(C.P.)—Detroit Red Wings stepped out into undisputed first place in the National Hockey League's United States section last night as they handed a 4 to 2 defeat to the weakened New York Americans. The win broke Detroit's tie with New York Rangers.

"Red" Dutton's men were without Goaler Roy Worters, out with hernia, and Lorne Chabot filled the gap. Harry Oliver was still out with flu.

A Blank Session

Six thousand fans, the smallest attendance of the local season, saw the Amerks take their seventh straight defeat.

In front of Lorne Chabot, veteran net-minder, who replaced the injured Roy Worters, they managed to hold the Wings even only for the first period. In addition to Chabot the Amerks had a second newcomer in Ossie Osmundson, recalled from New Haven of the International-American League.

Red Wings took the lead early in the second frame on goals by Marty Barry and Ebbie Goodfellow. Teddy Graham, New York defenceman, put his team in the running in the last two minutes of the period, but the Wings clinched the decision before the final period was half over when Gordon Pettinger and Herbie Lewis banged the puck past Chabot. Graham got his second marker near the end of the game.

Americans—Goal, Chabot; defence, Shields and Murray; centre, Chapman; wings, Carry and Schriner; subs., Graham, Stewart, Cotton, Klein, Jenkins, Lamb, Emms, Anderson and Omundson.

Detroit—Goal, Smith; defence, Goodfellow and Bowman; centre, Barry; wings, Aurie and Lewis; subs., Roulston, McDonald, Howe, W. Kilrea, Bruneteau, Kelly.

Referees—Clarence Campbell and Dr. "Duke" McCurry.

First Period

Scoring—None.
Penalties—None.

EDWARDS HEADS POLL IN CANADA

Selection By Marsh Trophy Committee Makes Olympic Star's Choice Unanimous

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (C.P.). — Dr. Phil Edwards carries with him across his last finish line in sport all the honors Canada handed out for 1936 achievement in competition. He was the cream of the crop.

Captain of the Canadian Olympic track and field team, point-winner in two events at Berlin, Edwards holds the Norton H. Crow Trophy and the Lou E. Marsh Memorial Trophy. The first means he was the outstanding amateur athlete of 1936 and the second means he topped the professionals as well as the amateurs.

In addition, sports writers voting in the year-end Canadian press poll hailed the phantom physician as the year's best. Announcement last night that Edwards had been selected the first winner of the Marsh Trophy made it unanimous. P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic Committee, headed the selection committee.

The Marsh Trophy, in memory of the late sports editor of the Toronto Daily Star, was donated by Charles Ring, Toronto sportsman. It will be awarded annually to the athlete adjudged the greatest by his or her performance during the year.

Cupid Scores Touch

It isn't only the pen that is mightier than the sword, for when it came to a showdown, Cupid's little arrow was right there, too. Here you see Aldo Nadi, world's fencing champion, and Rosemary Wallace, ex-Follies girl, who were wed at Greenwich, Conn., after cupid sang "Touche." They are appearing together at a New York entertainment rendezvous.

KING OF WINTER SPORTS

Ski-ing

By Charles Schaer

Sponsored By Peterborough Ski Club

Light, Warm and Flexible Ski Clothing

11. SKI CLOTHING

A few suggestions on ski clothing are given here, for the benefit, especially, of the novice. After a few trips out you will decide for yourself how much clothing you need for warmth and comfort.

Every skier has his or her own idea with regard to trousers, jackets, caps and gloves (boots were treated of in yesterday's article), but ski clothing, above all, should be light in weight, allow free movement and give you sufficient protection from the elements. It is essential that ski clothing must have an easy fitting flexibility that allows every muscle to have free play in skiing.

Weatherproof jackets and trousers which protect both from wet and frost are now generally preferred to the gabardine type.

Gloves, or rather mitts, without fingers are preferable to finger gloves since they keep the hands much warmer. Woollen gloves have been proven satisfactory and keep the hands warmer than leather unless leather gloves are lined with wool and are not too tight.

With regard to socks, wear two pairs. The inner pair, next to the skin, will give added and necessary warmth and the outer pair should be a wet-resisting wool.

Adequate clothing, flexible and light but warm, will add to your enjoyment.

L.C.A. IS UPHELD IN HURON COUNTY

Magistrate Overrules Defence Plea Canada Temperance Act Still In Force

GODERICH, Ont., Jan. 8 (CP)—Ontario Liquor Control Act's authority in Huron County was questioned during hearing of a liquor case before Magistrate J. A. Makins here but the magistrate upheld the act despite argument of defence counsel the Canada Temperance Act was in force only in the county.

Frank Donnelly, counsel for Murdock McLeod of Clinton, charged with unlawfully keeping liquor in other than the place where he resided, contended the Liquor Control Act was "not in force in Huron County."

"That charge is laid under the L.C.A.," he continued. "I would like to take an objection on the grounds of the ruling by the Privy Council that Huron County is under the Canadian Temperance Act."

"It has been held that when the constitutional question is raised the L.C.A. is ultra vires of the province," replied Crown Attorney D. E. Holmes. "The Privy Council decision did not go far enough and the L.C.A. is still in force."

Magistrate Makins ruled the charge as laid was correct and adjourned the case for a week.

COSMETICS NECESSITY

U.S. Congressman Moves To Make Them Cheaper.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — Congressman Mary T. Norton, New Jersey Democrat, today called for cheaper cosmetics for American women.

"Lipstick, perfume and the like," she said, "were once a luxury—times have changed. Now they're a necessity."

Advocating repeal of a 10 per cent tax on imported cosmetics, she said, this was a move toward putting toilet preparations in every woman's boudoir no matter how humble the home.

CANADIAN DEBTORS BEING EXPECTED TO GET PROTECTION

Substitute Legislation For "New Deal" Acts Also Expected From Ottawa

IMPROVE MARKETING

OTTAWA, Jan. 8 (CP). — With Parliament's opening one week away the government's legislative program today began to take definite form in the minds of political prognosticators as they pieced together forecasts and information.

The program was expected to contain:

Legislation designed to protect Canadian debtors under gold-clause bonds against having to pay premiums in legal tender. This was disclosed Tuesday by Finance Minister Dunning.

Legislation for control of the country's projected transcontinental air service.

Substitute legislation for some of the Bennett government's "new deal" acts, to be produced only if they are found unconstitutional by the judicial committee of the Privy Council in the United Kingdom.

Enabling legislation to give effect to a new Canada-United Kingdom trade treaty, including downward revision of tariff schedules affecting British textiles.

Improve Marketing

Legislation designed to improve marketing, at least of primary products.

Legislation designed to facilitate rehousing.

Legislation affecting railways.

Possible legislation to facilitate rehabilitation of the midwestern drought areas.

It was believed bills to effect most those objects would be forecast in the speech from the throne which Lord Tweedsmuir will read next Thursday.

In addition Parliament faced almost certain full-dress debates of this country's participation in affairs of the League of Nations, the government's handling of the constitutional crisis and national defence.

If Parliament is to be prorogued by the end of April, in time to permit Canada's official delegation to attend the coronation without the necessity of returning to resume the session, the government must steer through both houses in 3½ months a legislative program which generally requires about six months for passage.

There was some speculation whether private members, usually given most of the first month to discuss their views, would voluntarily forego much of that discussion in order to hasten completion of the session. If they do not, it was expected, the government may ask for co-operation of all parties to shorten proceedings as far as is businesslike.

PIONEER OF PERCY CALLED BY DEATH

John Noonan, Born In Township 85 Years Ago Passes

HASTINGS, Jan. 8.—The township of Percy lost one of it's pioneer residents on Wednesday morning in the death of John Noonan after a lingering illness.

The late Mr. Noonan was born in the Township of Percy where he spent his entire life on May 17, 1852, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Noonan one of the prominent pioneer families who through honest efforts made the foundation of this banner township. Fifty-two years ago Mr. Noonan married Elizabeth Cleary who is left to mourn his loss.

During his long life time in his native township the deceased made a multitude of friends by his charitable disposition and ever willingness to assist in any cause for the betterment of the community. A lover of his home and family Mr. Noonan did not take any active part in the municipal life of the township, but his sound advice was sought on many occasions by those who were in office.

Left to mourn his loss besides his sorrowing widow are four sons and six daughters, William and Harry at home, Patrick of Buffalo, and James of Detroit, Mrs. T. J. Crowley of Hastings, Mrs. E. Forestral, and Mrs. J. Perrie of Campbellford, Mrs. D. Walsh of Asphodel, Mrs. J. R. Kelley of Trenton and Sister Elizabeth Marie of St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning from the family residence to Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Roman Catholic Church where requiem high mass will be sung at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in Hastings R. C. Cemetery.

GOLF PRO JAILED FOR FOUR MONTHS

Joseph Roberts Convicted Of Criminal Negligence Causing Motor Fatality

LINDSAY, Jan. 8.—Joseph Roberts, whose home is in Oshawa, and who was professional for the local golf club, has been sentenced to four months imprisonment by Judge A. Coleman, of Whitby on the charge of criminal negligence. The charge arose from a motor accident on the Lindsay - Oakwood Highway, just west of the town boundary, on October 10, when the car driven by Roberts and having as a passenger Sidney Udell, of Lindsay, turned over and took to the ditch, Udell receiving injuries which caused his death.

New Post Office.

Thos. G. Morrow, contractor, of Woodville has been awarded the contract for the erection of a new post office in Haliburton village. The building, which cost $8,000, will be finished during the summer months.

Tourist Association.

The Kawartha Tourist Association will convene in Lindsay on January 12. The Association comprises the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Haliburton, Durham and Northumberland.

MANCHURIAN ARMY JOINED RED TROOPS

65,000 Troops Become Restless And Broken Up Into Gangs

SAIN-FU, Shensi Province, China, Jan. 8 (AP). — It was reported today a majority of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang's former Manchurian army had joined red troops of Shensi and Kansu provinces in open revolt against the central government.

The reports said 250,000 troops of Marshal Chang's old command had joined forces with an army of 50,000 Communists.

A sudden resurgence of Communistic influence in the past 24 hours caused widespread fears Sian-Fu was doomed to renewed disorders like those of Dec. 12 when Marshal Chang rebelled against the Nanking government and kidnapped Premier Chiang Kai-Shek.

An estimated 65,000 of the troops who took part in the Dec. 12 coup have suddenly become restive gangs, roving leaderless through the streets, intimidating the populace, threatening merchants, looting shops and causing business to come to a standstill with many stores closed.

Officials were uncommunicative but apprehension was growing that the crisis precipitated by Marshal Chang's revolt—for which he was pardoned after freeing Chiang and giving himself up — was far from ended.

A KICK FROM LONDON

Mayor Protests City Being Billed For Labatt Kidnap Trial.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 8.—(CP). — Mayor Thomas Kingsmill said today an immediate protest would be made against Middlesex county and the city of London being billed with expenses incurred by the province of Ontario in connection with the John Labatt kidnapping case in 1934.

"In spite of the fact that the kidnapping took place in Lambton county, and the general understanding that the province would meet the costs, the county of Middlesex had been billed for $6,000 covering the series of trials, while the city of London has to pay ⅘ per cent. of the full amount," the Mayor said.

LEADING MILK PRODUCER.

OTTAWA.—The Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association announced here last night that Pride de St. Methode of the Provincial Farm school at La Gorgendiere, Que., was now the highest Canadian Ayrshire producer in the four-year-old class, 365-day division with a record of 18,751 lbs. milk, 662 lbs. fat, average test 4.60 per cent.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DANGER BUSH

While Uncle Wiggily was turning his funny automobile around in the darkness to ride home by the back road to escape the danger of the snow slide Mr. Whitewash had warned him about, something very different was happening in his hollow stump bungalow.

There, as you may remember, Mrs. Longears was very worried about her husband. He had gone adventuring and to take some carrots to Widow Jack Rabbit and though it was late and dark he hadn't come home.

"I'll telephone the Police Dog," said Mrs. Longears and she did.

"Oh, I think Uncle Wiggily will be all right," barked the Police Dog when, in his radio car, he had come to the bunny's bungalow. Uncle Wiggily knows how to take care of himself even when the Bad Chaps chase him. I think they won't be out tonight."

"But he may be in other danger," squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Yes, he may be," growled the Police Dog. Like Mr. Whitewash, the Polar Bear gentleman, the Police Dog didn't growl because he was impolite. He just talked that way. "I'll drive along the road and see if I can find him," said the Police Dog.

Rabbit Boys Go Along.

"Oh, may we come with you?" begged Buster and Custer, two of Uncle Wiggily's best little rabbit boys.

"Hop along!" kindly invited the Police Dog.

Buster and Custer were soon in the radio car with their Daddy's friend. And as the Police Dog drove along over the snowy roads in the darkness radio signals came in like this:

"Calling Car 37! Calling Car 37!"

"That's this car," barked the Police Dog to Buster and Custer. "I'll answer." So he spoke into his radio transmitter and said: "This is car 37. What is it, Sergeant?"

"Uncle Wiggily is in danger! Uncle Wiggily is in danger!" said the voice back in Police Dog Headquarters. "Give him a signal to keep away from danger. Calling all cars! Calling all cars!"

"Oh, poor Daddy!" said Buster.

"What can the danger be?" asked Custer.

"I don't know but we'll find out," barked the Police Dog. He drove his radio car quickly. Soon he reached the place where the snow slide had torn away the road. "Ah, here is the danger!" he growled. "I must put up a signal here. But alas! I have no red lantern. What shall I do?"

Red Berries

In the glare of the radio car headlights, Buster and Custer saw something reflecting a gleaming red. They jumped out and saw a big barberry bush which, even late in Winter, has on it bright red berries.

"This bush will do for a signal!" cried Buster. "If we put it near the hole in the road Daddy will see it in his headlights. He will know red is a danger signal and he'll stop."

"A fine idea!" barked the Police Dog!" "We'll pull up the barberry bush from the side of the road and stick it in the snow in front of the big hole caused by the snow slide. We must be quick! Your Daddy may come driving along fast with red pepper on his tires."

So the bunny boys and the Police Dog made the danger bush warning signal for Mr. Longears. But they didn't know Uncle Wiggily was coming along by the back road. Was there danger there? You shall know in the next story which will be about Uncle Wiggily getting home. And I hope the knitting needle will make a new cap for the head of the pin.

DRESS TAKES FIRE BURNS ARE FATAL

Brockville Woman Dies In Hospital After Mishap In Her Home

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 8 (CP). —Mrs. Nellie E. Ackland, about 70 years of age, died in hospital last night as a result of her dress catching fire as she worked in the kitchen of her house. It was impossible to obtain a statement from her owing to the serious nature of her burns, but it was believed Mrs. Ackland, a widow, had lighted her gas stove and threw the match into a coal scuttle, from which the flames communicated to her dress. Alarmed by her screams, her son, Edgar Ackland, and sister, Miss D. Campbell, hurried to her assistance and succeeded in putting out the fire, but not before she had been severely burned.

Mrs. Ackland was the widow of Delbert Ackland and came here early in life from the vicinity of Cornwall. One son survives.

FORD DENIES BOOK

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Henry Ford, in a letter signed by his general secretary, E. G. Liebold, has disclaimed all knowledge of the anti-semitic book, "Der Internationale Jude" (The International Jew), which was published in Germany last year with a jacket implying Mr. Ford had written the book.

PIRATE CAPTURED HUNT OF 14 YEARS

Held On Caribbean Island After Five Ship Murders In 1922

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 8 (CP). —A fugitive from Cuban police for 14 years, Gideon Ebanks languished in jail on the tiny Caribbean Island of Grand Cayman today while authorities awaited word whether he still was wanted for piracy and murder at sea 14 years ago.

The law had reached back through the years, it was learned last night, to hold Ebanks for suspected complicity in mutiny aboard the schooner Juana Mercedes in the fall of 1922 and the slaying of the schooner's captain, a member of the crew, a passenger and two of his children.

Ebanks, apparently a stowaway on the Mercedes, and two of the crew—Antonio Rivers and Pablo Kouing—sailed the Mercedes into Georgetown, Cayman, in October, 1922, telling the people of the little British colony the ship's papers had been lost in a storm.

Their tongues loosened by drink, the three later spoke vaguely of murder and mutiny aboard the Mercedes. Before Cuban authorities arrived to investigate they had fled, Ebanks to Tampa, Fla., the others to the Spanish Honduras.

Rivers, who had represented himself as captain of the schooner, was caught, tried and convicted in Cuba, from where the Mercedes sailed, of piracy.

WANT PICTURE BACK

Sault Legionnaires Protest at Removal of Windsor's Photograph

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Jan. 8.—(CP).—Removal of the picture of the Duke of Windsor from the walls of the Canadian Legion Club rooms here after his abdication, brought a protest at last night's meeting of the legion and assurance of D. Rout that the picture of the Duke would be placed on the walls again when a suitable picture of George VI had been obtained.

Mr. Rout said it would be indecorous to leave the former King's picture in a place of honor when he was no longer on the throne. "We could hardly leave a Duke up there. I know you all want a picture of the Duke of Windsor in the building, and I feel that is right. We should have Eddie's picture up in some proper place."

Cheers from veterans greeted this remark.

Dr. Wood's NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Mother Not to Blame For the Children's Colds

Despite all the mothers can do the kiddies will run out of doors not properly wrapped up; have too much clothing on; get overheated and cool off too suddenly; get their feet wet; kick off the bedclothes, and do a dozen things the mother cannot prevent.

Half the battle in doctoring children's colds is to give them something they will like; something they will take without any fuss, and this the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It acts promptly and effectively.

GERMANY REDUCES GRAIN IMPORT LEVY

Cuts Duty On Wheat From 94 To 12 Cents Bushel, Barley 52 To 9

BERLIN, Jan. 8 (AP).—Germany cut tariffs on grain imports sharply today.

Foreign authorities here questioned whether the move signalled a great increase in grain purchases abroad since Germany maintains a vigorous and detailed system of control over imports.

Effective January 1, the duty on wheat was reduced from 8.50 marks per 100 kilos, equal to 220.46 pounds, to one mark.

The new rates amounted to reductions in duty on wheat from 94 to 12 cents a bushel, on rye from 61 to 10 cents and on barley from 52 to nine cents.

(World grain markets in recent weeks have been influenced by reports Germany faced a grain shortage and would need at least 1,000,000 tons of wheat to make up for the deficiency.

(Accounts of German grain needs were credited with having been a spur to the spectacular rise of domestic wheat prices last month.

(However, grain men have realized that Germany, with a small gold supply and scant holdings of foreign exchange, might find it difficult to fill its wants in the world market).

KIWANIANS PLAN LADIES' NIGHT

Officers To Be Installed By William R. Cockburn, Old Friend Of Club

President-elect Al. Sharpe and other officers of the Kiwanis Club are to be installed at a Ladies' Night meeting of the club at Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Friday evening. William R. Cockburn, an old friend of the club, will officiate as installing officer for the president, vice-presidents and secretary, while Ivan Moore, Lieutenant-Governor of the Kiwanis district will install the treasurer and directors. It is expected a large representation will be present from Toronto Kiwanis Clubs. The program is to include dancing and cards and in addition stunts of various kinds have been planned to provide the usual element of jollity typical of such occasions. The reception committee consists of Retiring-President Harold R. Scott and Mrs. Scott; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saunders; and Dr. C. B. Waite and Mrs. Waite. A six-piece orchestra has been engaged for the dancing.

CLOSE CALL WHEN MOTOR CAR STALLS

Machine Stops On Rails In Front Of Moving Train

BANCROFT, Jan. 8.— An accident was narrowly averted on Saturday morning when Dr. S. S. Linn's car stalled on the crossing in the Bancroft Station Yard, just as the south-bound train was pulling out. The section foreman, seeing this predicament, managed to signal the engineer, who succeeded in stopping the train only when it was about five feet from the car. Within a few minutes the car was removed from the tracks and sped on safely.

Catarrh Often Causes Deafness.

It is said that 90% of all cases of deafness are caused by catarrh. Therefore, people should be taught to know the symptoms of catarrh, because here is an ailment which can do a lot of damage. If treatment is neglected. Loss of taste and smell and a constant lazy, let-down feeling often result from neglect of this trouble. Too, catarrh causes head noises, a roaring, hissing in the ears; the hearing becomes impaired to such an extent partial deafness may result. All these are symptoms that should have immediate attention.

For this purpose secure from your druggist a bottle of Parmint Concentrate (double strength) which is an old reliable English formula. One ounce of Parmint Concentrate will make 8 ounces of medicine by adding a little sugar and water.

Parmint Concentrate is a handy home treatment for those symptoms which lead to catarrhal deafness and head noises and should be used by everyone who is troubled this way. Any drug store can supply you and you can easily add sugar and water to make a big bottle of medicine.

Parmint is an excellent preparation and is widely used by our English cousins. If you have the annoying symptoms of catarrh, don't run the risk of letting it become so deep seated that you may become partly or totally deaf.

TRENT RIVER AID IS PLANNING PLAY

Society Has Interesting Meeting At Home Of Mrs. George Brooks

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 8.—A most successful and pleasant afternoon was spent at the first meeting of the Ladies Aid for the New Year, held Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. George Brooks generously opened her home for the occasion. There was an attendance of thirty-four.

The president, Mrs. Gordon Shearer was in charge. The secretary, Mrs. H. B. Wood, reported cards sent to the sick and recently bereaved. Mrs. Thos K. Thompson, treasurer, gave the past year's report showing total receipts $295.29, expenditures $277.84, this report was most gratifying as a larger balance is on hand to begin the New Year, than formerly, notwithstanding expenditures were heavier owing to extra work in connection with the parsonage. Total receipts from group teas for dollar a member drive were $34.75. Further contributions for this purpose were handed in at the meeting but as the books were closed for 1936, these amounts will count for the New Year. A number of members paid their yearly dues.

The question of having another play under way for presentation within the near future was discussed. The members were all agreed providing Mrs. George Brooks would undertake the direction. A committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Thos. J. Brown, Mrs. M. T. Lean, Mrs. H. Mann and Miss B. French, to select a play and characters for the same. Mrs. Brooks consented to direct and asked for the hearty co-operation of the Aid members. Rehearsals will be held at as early a date as possible.

Groups were formed to raise funds. Mrs. Harry Thompson proposed a plan of dividing the membership into four groups with each group selecting their own ways and means of raising funds for the Aid. This plan was accepted. The Mizpah Benediction closed the meeting after which a delightful lunch was served by members of the Aid and a social and most pleasant hour was spent. The small fee of ten cents was made for the lunch. The Aid members feel most grateful to Mrs. Brooks for opening her home for the afternoon.

SPRINGBROOK W.I. HAS SPELLING TEST

Regular Meeting Is Featured By Demonstration By Mrs. Eastwood

BONARLAW, Jan. 8.—The December meeting of the Springbrook Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. M. R. Neal, Bonarlaw, with a good attendance. The meeting was opened in the usual manner with the president, Mrs. George Bailey, in the chair. The secretary, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, read the minutes.

The roll call, "Name a qualification desirable for an officer", was well responded to. Mrs. Hugh Jones took charge of the program.

Miss Evelyn Bailey gave a short interesting paper on the motto, "If one person fails to measure up to their responsibilities, it is not they alone but all of us who suffer." Mrs. Morley Barlow gave the current events, and Mrs. W. G. Swayne contributed a piano solo.

A splendid demonstration was put on by Mrs. G. S. Eastwood on the care of linen and the pressing and folding of clothes. The proper folding of table linen, towels and pillow cases was demonstrated. A reading entitled "The Good-will of Christmas" was given by Miss Iva Brown. Miss Laura Foley contributed a pleasing vocal solo. Mrs. Allan B. McComb gave a reading, "Thoughts in Season."

A very interesting paper was given by Mrs. Archie Haslett entitled "Success from different standpoints." She said that real success is making the most of what God has given us.

Christmas gifts were exchanged at this meeting, each member drawing a name to determine to whom their gifts was to be given.

The report of the committee on Christmas cheer baskets sent out was given.

A spelling match, in which most of the members present joined, proved very interesting, after which the meeting was closed.

A splendid lunch was then served and a social half hour enjoyed by all.

GRAND ORGANIZER VISITS BETHANY

Gives Address At Regular Monthly Meeting Of L.O.L. No. 1022

BETHANY, Jan. 7.—The L.O.L. No. 1022 held their regular monthly meeting in their club rooms on Tuesday evening, January 5, with a good attendance present.

Visitors present were: Grand Organizer Bro. Graham of Kingston, Ont. East; Worshipful Master Bro. Prince of Port Hope; Wor. Bro. S. Archer, County Master of Port Hope, and Bro. Leonard Moncrief, also of Port Hope.

A very instructive address was given by the grand organizer, Bro. Graham of Kingston, which was deeply appreciated by all present.

Each of the other visitors present, in turn, gave a short appropriate address. Later a very sumptuous lunch was served, and a social time spent together.

The annual district meeting will be held at Pontypool on January 12. The local brethren realized from the dance, held on New Year's night, the sum of $9.50, after all expenses.

ARTIST HONORED.

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(CP). — Joseph Hilpert, Toronto artist, to-day received a scroll from the Patriarch of Antioch, head of the Greek Catholic Church, bestowing on him the title of Patriarchal Secret Councillor for "Zealous and Beneficial Support of the Church." Mayor W. D. Robbins made the presentation at City Hall.

OBITUARY

MRS. EMILY DINGMAN.

NORHAM, Jan. 7.—Death removed the oldest resident of this district on Saturday evening, January 2nd, when Mrs. Emily Dingman, widow of the late Joseph Dingman, passed peacefully away at the age of 95 years. With the exception of a gradually failing memory, the aged lady appeared to be in good health until a few days prior to her death.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Emily Ann Palmateer, had lived all her life in Cramahe township, the greater part of it on the farm where she died, and to which she came as a bride nearly 75 years ago. Her husband predeceased her in 1916 and since that time she had been kindly and faithfully cared for by her daughter Luella and son Herman, who will feel keenly the loss of the mother who has been with them always from the earliest recollection.

Mrs. Dingman was ever a quiet, industrious, home-loving woman and her chief interest was weaving rugs and carpets in her spare time, many of which can still be seen in her home and the homes of others.

She lived in the age when farm women wove, spun, knit and sewed for their families in addition to all the other work indoors and out that fell to the lot of those hardy pioneers.

She is survived by three daughters and one son, Mrs. Arthur Sam of East Colborne, Mrs. W. Palmateer of Rochester, N.Y., Luella, and Herman Dingman at home. Two brothers, Storm and Levi Palmateer, also survive.

The funeral service held at the home Tuesday afternoon, was in charge of Rev. M. L. Hinton, of Castleton. The old hymns, "Abide With Me" and Jesus Lover of My Soul" were sung.

Pallbearers were Messrs. James Menzie, Wallace Glover, Wallace Gurney, Foot, Inglis, S. Clark and W. J. McEathron. The remains were interred at the Christian church cemetery on Cramahe Hill.

MRS. JOHN PHILLIPS.

TWEED, Jan. 7.—The funeral of Mrs. Clara (Whitmore) Phillips, took place on Sunday, from the residence of her son, Earl Whitmore, Coe Hill, where she was cared for during her last illness of the past three months. The service was held in the United Church at Lasswade and conducted by the Rev. R. Vatcher, Coe Hill, assisted by the Rev. Mr. MacMullen of Apsley.

The remains were laid to rest in the United Church Cemetery at Lasswade. Deceased was in her 62nd year.

Left to mourn her loss are her husband, John Phillips; three sons, Earl and Archie Whitmore, Coe Hill, and Thomas at home; also three brothers, Amos, William and Joseph Batchelor, of Coe Hill. Her maiden name was Miss Clare Batchelor and she was born at Coe Hill, County of Hastings; where she resided until her marriage to her former husband, Joseph Whitmore.

The bearers were, Daniel Whitmore, Fred Whitmore, Neil Whitmore, Amos Batchelor, Wm. Dingman, and John Reynolds.

Millbrook Horticultural Society Executive Makes Plans For General Meeting

MILLBROOK, Jan. 8.—Members of the executive of the local Horticultural Society held a brief business session at the president's office, Bank of Toronto, Wednesday evening, when detailed arrangements were completed for the general meeting and election of officers which is being held in the Town Hall, Friday evening, January 15, at 8 p.m. There are 95 members in the society and, following a business session, a varied program will be presented, added to by a luncheon Mrs. P. I. Bentley and Mrs. P. Stinson will constitute a program committee, and the directors are expected to canvas for sandwiches, cake, etc.

It was also decided to pay the secretary-treasurer the sum of $10 for valued services rendered, and it was also decided to write Mr. John F. Clarke, Toronto, noted lecturer and horticultural enthusiast, requesting his presence at one of the early spring meetings, in the hope that he might address the club. H. A. Kerr is the local president, and was in the chair at Wednesday's meeting. P. I. Bentley officiated as secretary in the unavoidable absence of Miss May Attwood.

KEENE

Rev. Father Earl Grant of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, and recently of Lindsay has been appointed pastor of St. John's church, succeeding Rev. Dr. V. J. Masterson, who has been pastor for the last six years.

The annual school meeting for the purpose of electing trustees for the present year was held in the lower school at Keene on Wednesday, December 30. Clarence H. Robertson was elected trustee to replace Fred Eason who is retiring after nine years, serving as trustee and secretary-treasurer. A goodly representation of ratepayers was present. The trustees for 1937 are: Ambrose Doris, David Kempt and Clarence Robertson.

Miss Elizabeth Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, has left to enter as nurse-in-training at Orillia General Hospital.

Mr. Arthur Whalen had the misfortune to fall at the rink and break his collar-bone.

Messrs. Robert Humphries and Roy Elmhirst have returned to Toronto after having spent the holiday at their homes here.

Miss Elsie Copperthwaite has returned from Dartmouth to resume her duties as teacher of the Lang school.

Messrs. Sinclair Comrie and Malcolm McFarlane have returned to Kingston resuming their studies at Queen's University.

Misses Pearl McCann, Isobel Nelson, Elinor Foley and Marguerite Bowie have returned to Toronto to resume their teaching duties there.

Miss Laura Chartren of Peterborough attended the McIntyre-Elmhirst double wedding.

STRIKES CEASE PAY FOR 150,000 WORKERS IN U.S.

Automobile Craftsmen, Seamen, Lumberjacks, Glass Workers, Knitters On List

27 G.M. PLANTS IDLE

Majority Of Negotiations Deadlocked As Industry Hit Coast To Coast

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.— (AP).—Strike-induced idleness brought another payless week-end to-day to U.S. automobile craftsmen, seamen, lumberjacks, glass workers, knitters and other employees deadlocked with company managements over wage, hour and union recognition issues.

The strike scene extended from the Canadian border to the gulf ports and from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts. The number of workers involved by walkouts swelled to more than 150,000.

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, and Federal conciliators pressed efforts to remove obstacles blocking negotiation between United Automobile Workers of America and the General Motors Corporation. The Corporations said strikes had removed 93,849 employes from the payrolls of 27 factories, scattered from Michigan to Georgia and from New Jersey to Missouri.

The scope of the dispute one source disclosed, hampered plans to bring leaders of the opposing forces together.

Hopes On Seamen.

Conciliators in the Pacific Coast Seamen and Longshoremen's strike —72 days old and involving 40,000 men—welcomed the news an accord was near between operators and six of the seven striking unions.

T. G. Plant of the Offshore Shippers' Negotiating Committee, said members hoped to agree with the seventh union—Longshoremen—"in the next few days."

Five persons were arrested and four were injured in new disorders last night at the Berkshire Knitting Mills in Reading, Pa. Two were jailed and 15 were injured in disorders earlier yesterday. Strikers have been out since October 1.

A stalemate persisted between striking glass workers and officials of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company. The strikes cost 14,300 workers their employment.

Northern Minnesota lumberjacks, seeking wage and hour adjustments, claimed their walkout had grown from 3,000 to 3,500 or 4,000 men.

At a meeting in New York 3,000 striking East Coast ship workers voted to resume work on tank steamers. Other East and Gulf Coast Maritime disputes remained to adjudicate.

MATTSON FEARING HIJACK ATTEMPT

Notes In Newspaper Plead For More Specific Instructions From Kidnapper

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 9—(AP)—Dr. W. W. Mattson sought today to prevent "hijacking" of the $28,000 ransom demanded by the kidnapper of his son Charles, 10, held for the 13th day.

The physician apparently feared he might not actually be in contact with the abductor from the advertisement in the Seattle Daily Times yesterday imploring the abductor to "give me information so that I may guard against imposters and hijackers."

The advertisement was addressed to "Mable," as were four previous notes which have appeared in the newspaper's "personal" column, and was signed "Ann."

It said:

"Mable—we are still waiting. All arrangements have been carried out in accordance with instructions in notes received. Be certain to give me information so that I may guard against imposters and hijackers, and be more specific in your instructions—Ann."

Reliable sources interpreted the advertisement to mean the ransom for Charles' release has not been paid, though they speculated efforts to pay it may have been made.

One theory, supported by several sources, was that Dr. Mattson made an attempt to pay the ransom Thursday but was unable to complete the transaction.

CHRISTMAS PARTY HALTED BY DEATH

Bodies Found Two Weeks After Amid Presents And Preparations For Feast

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP) — A friend who noticed that blinds on the window hadn't changed their position since Christmas Day finally broke into a tiny, three-roomed bungalow in Springfield Village on Long Island, and found today:

A stocking full of fruit and cookies still hanging from the mantlepiece in the living-room.

A Christmas tree in the corner.

Christmas presents unopened.

A chicken ready for roasting on the kitchen table.

Mrs. Lavinia William, 43, a widow, dead on the living-room floor, and her 12-year-old daughter, Margaret, dead in her bedroom.

Police believe they died Christmas morning from the fumes of a coal stove in the kitchen.

Baldwin Calls Cabinet In Special Conference Discuss War Menace

All Labor Leaders Are Standing By Ready For Any Emergency

SEND MADRID PROTEST

New Plea On Volunteers To Be Sent Italy, Germany Will Propose Semi-Blockade

LONDON, Jan. 9—(C.P.-Havas) The British Government will send a new note to-morrow to Rome, Berlin, Paris, Moscow and Lisbon, urging an immediate halt in the flow of "volunteers" to Spain and proposing a new plan of control, it was reported to-day.

This control would take the form of a "semi-blockade," it was believed.

The decision to send the note was reported to have been taken at an emergency session of the cabinet to-day.

According to the semi-blockade plan, all Spain-bound ships would be required to call at the nearest "neutral port"—such as Genoa, Marseille, Oran or Lisbon—to obtain clearance papers from international maritime commissions established in those cities.

Control would be exercised by naval patrols of various nationalities which would remain outside Spanish territorial limits and would stop incoming vessels to inspect their papers and conduct investigation.

Premier Will See King

LONDON, Jan. 9 (CP Cable) — Prime Minister Baldwin presided at a special cabinet meeting today before leaving for Sandringham to discuss the menace of Spain with the King. A further meeting of ministers is probable when he returns Monday.

Labor leaders are standing by for any emergency. Foreign office experts are working on a scheme to ban the flow of volunteers. A vigorous protest to the insurgent Junta against the bombing of the British embassy annex in Madrid last night was sent to Burgos.

While the German press remains silent over the presence of Germans in Spanish Morocco and official Germany denies, Paris reports that large contingents of German troops, all with arms and in uniform, have landed at Melilla, Spanish Morocco, during the last 10 days. They are reported to have been billeted in various quarters of Melilla. Their officers have taken measures which appear to indicate a long stay. Three German destroyers and several German submarines are said to be anchored off Melilla.

Violation of Treaties.

In the French view the presence of Germans bearing arms in Spanish Morocco is violation not only of the non-intervention agreement, but a serious infringement of Articles V and VI of the Franco-Spanish treaty of 1912.

Under this article, it is held, Spain must not erect fortifications or strategic works on any part of the Moroccan coast line mentioned in Article VII of the Anglo-French declaration of April 6, 1904, and Article XIV of the Franco-Spanish convention of the same year.

Both Britain and France have strong naval forces in the neighborhood. The French Atlantic fleet shortly will engage in manoeuvres off the west coast of Africa. Early in March the British home and Mediterranean fleets will unite off Gibraltar for spring exercises on a large scale.

First units of the home fleet, consisting of six battleships an aircraft carrier, three cruisers and 18 destroyers leave home for Gibraltar January 18. They will be followed by another aircraft carrier and nine more destroyers. The home and Mediterranean fleets when united will have a combined strength of nine battleships, two battle cruisers, 12 cruisers, three aircraft carriers and 30 destroyers.

Today's Penrod, Sam Are Real "Wise Guys"

Indianapolis, Jan. 9 (AP).

TODAY'S little boys are "wise guys," Booth Tarkington, glorifier of the little boy of another generation, said yesterday.

It's environment that makes them that way, explained the 67-year-old, kindly-faced author of "Penrod and Sam," youngsters of a generation ago.

"The movies bring to today's little boys scenes 'Penrod and Sam' could scarcely imagine," he said.

"There's more sophistication among the children of today. It is inevitable."

WITH JAB TO FACE WITNESS BREAKS LAWYER'S GLASSES

Herbert J. Miller Of Otonabee Strikes Basil Hall In Division Court

PLAINTIFF WINS CASE

Leaning from the witness box and lashing out with his fist at Basil D. Hall plaintitff's counsel, who was cross-examining him, Herbert J. Miller of Otonabee township caused a momentary furore in Division Court here Friday. He was severely reprimanded by Judge Sheldon Smoke, who concluded the trial immediately and awarded full claim to the plaintiff with costs.

The case centered on a grain transaction between the plaintiff, John Comrie, of Otonabee, and Miller. Comrie contended he sold Miller some wheat and that $19.08 was owing him.

Mr. Hall had concluded the plaintiff's case and J. Arthur Fair, counsel for Miller, had called the defendant to the box. He questioned him concerning business entries in a note book which had been entered as an exhibit. Miller still had the book in his hands when Mr. Hall stepped up to the box to cross-examine him. He reached to take the exhibit from Miller's hands and Miller struck him in the face. The blow did not injure the lawyer but was sufficient to break his glasses.

The incident was closed quickly with Judge Smoke's severe lecture and his disposal of the case.

Mr. Hall said to-day he later shook hands with Miller outside the court room and that he was not contemplating any action in the matter. Miller promised to pay for the glasses.

CARKIN HEADS HOME

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Eager to return to his family and grateful to Canadian authorities for their assistance in enabling him to again join them, George Wilbur Carkin of Portsmouth, N.H., better known locally as the Grimsby amnesia victim, left for Montreal today, bound for his native land.

"I appreciate all that has been done for me. I am feeling much better and am anxious to return to my home and meet my relatives and friends again," said Carkin.

On Way To Visit Mother Youth Dies Under Train

Caught By Night Boys Sleep Beside Tracks, Lad 15 Awakes Finds Brother Crushed

NEAR FOLEYET

SUDBURY, Ont., Jan. 9 (C.P.).—Edward Heath, 20, of Allandale, was killed when struck by a Canadian National Railways train about 50 miles west of here last night.

The death was reported to police by Gordon Heath, a 15-year-old brother, with whom he had been walking the tracks headed for Foleyet, where they intended to catch a freight train. The pair were on their way to Allandale to visit their mother, Gordon said.

They lay down by the side of the tracks when night fell, and Gordon said he woke during the night and missed his brother. Walking a short distance up the track he found Edward's mangled body.

SNOW, BITTER COLD HITS MIDDLE WEST

Highways Clogged, Air Travel Halted, Power Lines Down—11 Deaths Reported

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP).—Virtually all forms of transportation felt to-day the pinch of adverse weather conditions in most parts of the U.S.

Snow clogged highways and bitter cold brought motor traffic to a standstill in many Middle West and Rocky Mountain sections.

Blizzards and fog disrupted air travel in the Northern States. Thick weather slowed North Atlantic Coast shipping. Train service was affected in some Middle Western States.

Storms crippled power and communication lines in Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri. Seventy-five per cent. of Columbia, Mo., homes were dark last night. A hospital used emergency lights for a major operation. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company estimated its property damage in Missouri in excess of $1,000,000.

The deaths of at least 11 persons were attributed to the weather. Four were in Texas, one in Nebraska, and two each in Arizona, Utah, and Oklahoma. Fear was felt for many marooned by deep snows.

Twenty Indians in an Arizona searching party hunting for two six-year-old girls missing more than a week, were reported lost in a blizzard. Federal officials feared 10 Indians marooned in the same State would die of starvation or exposure.

Tangled Jerusalem Calls On Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Jan. 9—(C.P.).

THE influx of motorists to Jerusalem has so disrupted traffic in the hills, something has to be done about it.

So the Palestine Police Force in a letter to-day, asked Winnipeg's Chief, George Smith, to forward report on traffic conditions here. It was done.

THOUSANDS NAZIS ITALIAN TROOPS LAND DAILY, CADIZ

Strict Secrecy Prevailing Around City Makes It Mystery Port Of Europe

NO FLAGS, NAMES ON SHIPS

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 9 (AP) — Thousands of German and Italian troops were reported today to be landing daily at the Spanish insurgent port of Cadiz.

The strictest secrecy prevails and the city, 60 miles from here on the western coast of the peninsula's tip, has become the mystery port of Europe.

Ships, reported landing large numbers of "volunteers" to supplement General Francisco Franco's insurgent army, fly no flags from their masts and their bows are bare of names.

The stalwart looking foreigners disembark wearing brand new uniforms of the Spanish insurgent foreign legion. At almost the moment they set foot on Spanish soil, reports said, they are crowded into troop trains and taken to Seville.

KEMMERER, Wyo., Jan. 9 (C.P.) —Newt Sims got more than he bargained for. He ordered a pair of hounds from Evening Shade Ark., to use trailing coyotes on his ranch.

The dogs, a male and a female, arrived safely by express. But a few minutes afterward, Sims had seven dogs. Five of them were new-born pups.

RECORD WARM WAVE

Mercury Soars to 56 in Brantford—Flowers, Crickets Appear.

TORONTO, Jan. 9)—(CP).—Butterflies, crickets and even flowers which were fooled by Ontario's "June in January" weather are in for a jolt because unseasonable weather prevailing in the province will disappear within the next couple of days if not sooner, officials at the Dominion Meteorological Bureau predicted to-day. But while it lasted, the warm weather broke all kinds of records and during the past 24 hours, touching high of 56 at Brantford.

GIRL 8, VICTIM AS STOVE SETS HOUSE ABLAZE

Father And Son 21, Succeeded In Getting Mother And Eight Other Children Out

ONE CRITICALLY BURNED

Flames Block Way To Remaining Youngster—Find Body Near Stairs

CORNWALL, Ont., Jan. 9 (CP).—An overheated stove was blamed for fire that took the life of Donalda Burson, eight, early today and imperilled the lives of 10 other members of the family of Herbert Burson.

Francis Burson, 21, was severely burned helping his father carry several of the other children from the house. Hazel, three, was taken to hospital suffering from burns and shock, and her condition was described as critical.

When the mother and eight of the children were out of the house father and son attempted to re-enter the building for Donalda, but flames cut them off. The body of the little girl was found on the stairway after the flames were brought under control.

577 FIRE ALARMS DURING PAST YEAR

Loss Is Unofficially Estimated At $47,000—Many Grass Fires

While the 577 alarms answered by Peterborough City Fire Department during the past year constitutes an all-time high record, fire losses are average, being unofficially estimated around $47,000. The heaviest annual fire loss in the city's history was $2,250,000 when the Quaker Oats plant was razed in 1916, while the lowest fire loss was recorded at $6,165.93 in 1935.

The unusually large number of fire alarms received by the Department during the year just ended, were largly accounted for by grass fires and other outbreaks of a similar nature caused by the exceptionally dry weather of the summer months. There were actually only 42 fires. The percentage of chimney fire alarms is still high, 359 of the alarms during the twelve-months period being from this cause.

Fire Chief George Gimblett told a reporter that the three largest fires during the year were: Canadian Johnston Motors, $17,000; Peter Hamilton Limited, $7,000; A. and P. Store and apartments, $6,000.

MORE SLOT MACHINE ARRESTS

TORONTO (CP)—Despite police commission warnings against operation of slot machines emitting tokens, seizures are being made daily and early next week about 40 men will be charged with keeping the machines, police announced today.

Angus McKelvey, drug store clerk, appeared in court today and was found guilty of cashing slugs for gum. He was remanded for sentence.

French Intervention Draws Closer Hourly Block Morocco Grab

Paris Orders Her African Forces to Stand Ready--Sends 60,000 Reinforcements

WARN GENERAL FRANCO

Fear Action Only Resort If Insurgents Ignore Demands, As Expected

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(AP).— Reports 8,000 more German troops are expected to land at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, to-morrow heightened concern to-night lest quick French intervention be necessary in the insurgent-controlled African sector. The reports, which French officials sought to confirm, said the troops were from barracks at Munich.

Units of the French Atlantic fleet, meanwhile, were near Casablanca, 200 miles from Ceuta, and the cruiser Colbert, carrying Naval Minister Alphonse Gasnier-Du Parc and Vice Admiral Jean Darlan, Chief of the Navy General Staff, was stated to be "in the western Mediterranean."

French Resident General August Nogues, veteran Moroccan campaigner, whose experience in the Riff campaigns gave him intimate knowledge of the Spanish zone, commanded 100,000 French colonials in French Morocco—"ready for any emergency."

Hitler Gives Franco Week.

BERLIN, Jan. 9 (A.P.). — Private German sources declared to-day that Chancellor Hitler has told the Spansh insurgent leader, General Francisco Franco, to capture Madrid by January 15.

They asserted the Chancellor has sent between 15,000 and 25,000 volunteers to the Fascist commander's aid and spent $180,000,000 to help the insurgents.

About 10,000 are soldiers of the Reich, these persons asserted. The rest, they said, are labor and youth organizers, together with some miners despatched to work in the manganese ore mines in Morocco and Spain.

Generalissimo Franco, in need of reinforcements to culminate the 11-week siege of the capital with victory, has asked for a minimum of 70,000 men, informed persons stated.

130,000 Men Needed.

General Wilhelm Faupel, Nazi Ambassador to the Spanish Fascist Government, was reliably reported to have expressed the opinion not less than 130,000 men could ensure an insurgent triumph.

General Franco balked at destructive attacks on Madrid at first, although his guns and planes have renewed their assaults recently without regard to Fascist property inside the city, the private sources asserted.

The estimate of German expenditures in the Spanish Civil War was made by an informant in a position to know because of his connection with authoritative sources.

The cost, he said, was approximately 450,000,000 marks, and was approved only after Nazi leaders felt some certainty they were on the winning side in the domestic conflict.

More German Warships Arrive

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Jan. 9—(A.P.).—Telephoned advices from Tangier in the internationalized Morocco zone to-day said two German warships—one of them the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee—had arrived in the harbor.

Tangier is 30 miles by sea from Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, scene of a reported mass incursion of armed Germans.

The name of the second German warship was not given in the telephonic advices. The reports said it had arrived yesterday to join the Graf Spee, which reached Tangier the previous day.

At the same time the first ships of the French Atlantic Fleet foamed into the Mediterranean for manoeuvres, and French authorities, concerned over the report of heavy German troop infiltrations, reinforced the border between French and Spanish Morocco.

PARIS, Jan. 9. (C.P.). — France to-day was ready to take any measures necessary to prevent German occupation of Spanish Morocco.

Foreign Office sources expressed fear their diplomatic warning to Spanish insurgents against opening the strategic North African territory to Germany would fall on deaf ears, leaving France no alternative but action.

An official frankly declared France would go to any lengths to eject German troops from the Spanish Protectorate which dominates her communications with French Morocco and the Straits of Gibraltar.

NEW CITY COUNCIL ASSUMES OFFICE MONDAY MORNING

Standing Committees And Their Chairmen For Year Be Appointed

MAYOR'S ADDRESS

Peterborough's new civic administration will assume office Monday morning when the oaths of service will be taken by the five aldermen who were elected on New Year's Day.

The inaugural meeting of the council will be held in the council chamber at 11 o'clock, followed by adjournment into committee of the whole for the purpose of appointing the standing committees and their chairmen for the year's work.

Mayor Macdonald will address the council, presumably congratulating the four members who were re-elected, and extending a welcome to the new alderman, Hon. G. N. Gordon, who returns to the council with all the experience gained in other administrations ending about seventeen years ago. His Worship will probably discuss some of the questions, perennial and otherwise, which are expected to come before the council, including the outlook for relief and employment this year, and the possibilities of enlarging municipal work projects.

Rev. J. D. Paterson, president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association, is being invited to open the council meeting with prayer, and possibly some of the citizens will attend.

Event of Year.

In some cities the inaugural of the council is one of the events of the municipal year, but in Peterborough most of the public seats are vacant when the incoming council meets for the first time. Monday may be an exception, and it would be a gesture of interest by the ratepayers if the gallery was fully occupied for the brief morning session.

Gossip regarding the disposal of the chairmanships has been light and sketchy. However, most of the members consider that Alderman Dutton should be relieved of the worries and the heavy demand on his time as chairman of the Relief Committee. Outside the council circle few of the citizens have any accurate idea of the work that devolves upon the chairman of that committee, and there is a feeling which was expressed at the meeting of the committee Thursday night that Alderman Dutton has richly earned a rest. A difficulty that arises against the proposed change that there is no scramble for the job by the other members who are unanimous that Alderman Dutton's place would be hard to fill.

Flying Tackle, Wrestle In Mud Nets Youth A Burglar Suspect

Motorcycle Officer Grabs Second As Pair Spotted Cracking Safe

BRANTFORD GAS STATION

BRANTFORD, Ont., Jan. 9 (CP).—Pants torn and mud from head to foot, Thomas Jordan, Brantford, was a hero in the eyes of police here today. Jordan, an athletic young man about six feet tall, tackled and held John Farr, 25, Brantford, after an attempt to break the safe at the Conger Service Station, Chatham and Clarence Streets, and wrestled with him on a muddy boulevard for five minutes.

Meantime, Motorcycle Officer Frank Campbell, firing one shot into the floor of the station after he had crashed his gun and bare hand through a window in the front door, arrested George Obe, 25, Brantford, handcuffed him around an air-pump and went to Jordan's assistance. Farr and Obe were charged with breaking and entering and attempted theft.

When Campbell reached the struggling Jordan and Farr, Jordan had a full Nelson on his opponent and was pushing his face into the mud of the boulevard. It was raining hard at the time and the mud was inches deep. Well matched, the two young men punched and wrestled over a considerable area. Jordan first brought Farr down with a flying football tackle.

The Seventeenth International and Official Commercial Fair of Brussels, Belgium, will be held from April 7 to 21.

Chicago Pastor Takes Defense Of Old Maids, Any Age Or Clime

Claims Some Of Finest Things In History Done By Spinsters--Names Florence Nightingale

CAREERS MAKE MANY

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP) — The Rev. Clinton C. Cox took up the cudgels today for old maids of whatever age or clime.

The world, he declared, owes a lot to spinsters—and "It is time it recognized it."

He undertook to do his bit by preparing a sermon entitled "Tribute to Spinsters" for Sunday night delivery at the Drexel Park Presbyterian Church.

"Why, some of the finest things in history have been done by women who never married," he said. Forthwith he proceeded to name "9 great old maids" as follows:

Florence Nightingale, the saint of modern nursing; Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross; Jane Addams, noted social worker and founder of Hull House; Frances Willard, founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union; Christabel Pankhurst, an organizer of the Women's Suffrage Movement in England; Susan B. Anthony, organizer of the Women's Suffrage Movement in the United States; Mary Lyon, pioneer in the education of women in U.S. and founder of Mount Holyoke College; Queen Elizabeth of England, and Miriam, sister of Moses, who devoted her life to her family.

"Any woman can get married," said Mr. Cox. "But today many women don't get married simply because they don't want to. Business has given them independence."

He said there were three big reasons why there are old maids:

1. Women forego marriage because of a duty to care for parents or younger brothers and sisters.

2. Women are disappointed in love.

3. Women want a career.

ROOSEVELT'S BUDGET.

President Leaves Balance Up to Industrial Re-employment Efforts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9—(A.P.).—President Roosevelt sent a multi-billion dollar budget to the United States Congress to-day in a message bluntly leaving a complete balance of Federal income and outgo up to industrial re-employment efforts.

With certain exceptions, Mr. Roosevelt said, his new 1938 budget "is in balance" and would remain so if later relief requirements do not exceed an estimated $1,837,123,000.

Over One Inch of Rain

During the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. to-day, more than one inch (1.09 in.) rain has been recorded, bringing total rainfall from January 1 to 9 up to 1.53 inches. Several readers expressed opinion that yesterday's rain created a record for January. This is not the case; records of other heavy January precipitation will be published on Monday. With a one-point range (from 35 to 36) in temperature yesterday, the mercury rose to 52 during the night—an unusual night high for this month.—A.O.P.

MADRID PLANS TO CLEAR CITY ALL CIVILIANS

Decision Follows Rebel Night Air Raid That Hits British Embassy

ATTACHE, WOMAN HURT

Both Forces Hurl Practically All Available Troops Into Battle

MADRID, Jan. 9 (AP)—Spanish Socialist authorities were reported today planning to evacuate forcibly the capital's civilian population after bombs from night-raiding insurgent planes crashed into the British embassy building in the heart of the city.

While Madrid's defenders threw a stiffening cloak of resistance about the northwestern siege front, the defence Junta turned to drastic measures to relieve congestion within the city proper.

The first concern was said to be the streams of refugees from nearby towns that have overflowed the capital as General Francisco Franco's driving Fascists pressed their attack to the city's edge.

In desperate fighting, government forces checked four insurgent columns advancing from Aravaca and El Plantio, recently captured villages but a few miles to the northwest.

Practically all available troops were thrown into the fierce battle by both sides.

Late in the night an insurgent movement to link neighboring columns in the university city and the Casa Del Campo was frustrated.

Capt. E. C. Lance, attache of the British embassy, and Mrs. Angela Morris were injured by flying glass last night when Fascist incendiary bombs dropped on the embassy building, its annex and the British consulate. At least 20 projectiles rained on the group of British buildings.

MARMORA LEGION INSTALS OFFICERS

Members Take Oath Of Allegiance To New Monarch King George VI.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Jan. 9. — Marmora Branch No. 287 Canadian Legion held its installation of officers in the Council Chamber on Friday evening, the Ladies' Auxiliary also being represented on the occasion.

Prior to dealing with matters of general business, all present took the oath of allegiance to His Majesty King George VI.

W. Mumby, retiring president, carried out the duties of installing officer in his usual capable manner. The officers are: President, T. Cousins; 1st Vice-president, W. Bedore; 2nd Vice-president, N. Hipson; Secretary-Treasurer, P. Gray; Assistant Secretary, L. R. Rundle; Sergeant at Arms, W. Gifford.

Speeches were given by the following members: President Cousins, the vice-presidents, Past Presidents Gray and Rundle, Comrades Capt. Bleecker, Col. A. V. Yates, W. J. Cottrell and T. E. Potts and Mrs. W. Mumby, president of the Auxiliary. After the singing of the National Anthem, the Auxiliary served refreshments.

MAN SENTENCED DEATH THREATS

Lindsay Counsel Thinks Master Mind Is Still Free—Given Two Years

DEMANDED $5,000

LINDSAY, Jan. 9.—Rosario Doria, an Italian citizen of Lindsay, was sentenced by Magistrate Gee to two years, less one day, in the Ontario Reformatory.

Doria was found guilty of the charge of "conspiring with others and writing threatening letters to Joseph Lamantia, of Lindsay, demanding the payment of $5,000 or his own life and the lives of his family would be forfeited.

Doria, who is 63 years old, has been in Canada for forty-nine years. He pleaded not guilty, and his counsel, C. G. Frost, as well as the Crown Attorney, J. E. Anderson, and Magistrate Gee, stated his belief that Doria had been a "tool" and that the master mind is still at large.

Lamantia has received several threatening letters, and in September last, a small dwelling owned by Lamantia and used by the children as a play house, was blown up by dynamite.

TWO MEN DROWN IN CROSSING LAKE

Dog Teams Hit Open Water On Way To Fish—2 Widows, 9 Children Survive

BONFIELD, Ont., Jan. 9.—(CP)—Broken ice on Lake Nosbonsing sent two Bonfield men to their deaths as they raced their dog teams through early morning darkness, bent on a fishing trip at the head of the lake.

Hervey Deschene, 26, and Joseph Boyer, 36, were lost in the icy waters early yesterday with their dogs when darkness prevented them from seeing the break in the ice. Boyer leaves a widow and eight children and Deschene a widow and one child in this Northern Ontario town about 15 miles east of North Bay.

Provincial Police and a coroner are inquiring into the men's deaths today.

Late last night the bodies of the two men were found floating in the lake. Search for them was started when the bodies of their dogs were found in open water near the town. Relatives recognized the animals and later came upon the men's bodies.

Deschene and Boyer left Bonfield about 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning, each driving two dogs. Apparently they had not travelled far over the ice when men and dogs plunged into open water.

MARMORA VICINITY AGAINST RENAMING CROWE RIVER, LAKE

Petition Being Widely Circulated On Proposal Of Geographic Board Of Canada

MANY FEAR CONFUSION

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, an. 9.—The proposal to change the names of Crowe Lake and Crowe River to that of Marmora Lake and Marmora River as outlined in a letter received by Postmaster J. W. Hickey of Marmora from the Geographic Board of Canada is meeting with strong disfavor on the part of a large number of Marmora residents and it is also understood that Havelock and Belmont and Methuen township folk are also being petitioned opposing the change of names.

Department Letter.

The communication received by local postmasters with the enclosure of a map marked Belleville-Kingston Sheet No. 31C reads as follows:

"It has been brought to the attention of the Boar that within a comparatively small area there are numerous geoegraphic features which bear the name of "Crow"; there is a Crow lake in Peterborough and Hastings with a Crow river flowing out of it; in Seymour there is a Crow bay and in Frontenac county there is a large Crow lake.

This similarity of names has no doubt been the cause of much confusion, not to the local residents, but to their visiting friends, to the tourists and others desirous of spending their holidays in the summer resorts in this area. It has been suggested that the name of the lake and river in Hastings and Peterborough counties, now known by the name of Crow, be changed to Marmora; before taking any definite action with the view to the adoption of the name 'Marmora', it is desired to have an expression of the opinion of the local residents regarding the adoption of this name and I am therefore to ask you to advise me if this name will meet with their approval. It may perhaps be of interest to you and the local residents to know that on an original plan in the patents office, Toronto, the two features in ques-

STRUCK BY TRUCK TRENTON BOY DIES

Woman Driver's Vision Said To Have Been Impaired By Flashlight

TRENTON, Jan. 9.—Distraction of the attention of a woman truck driver by a flashlight in the hand of a playmate last night cost the life of Bill Labell, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Labell, Alberta street.

The truck was driven by Mrs. Mary Thompson, whose husband is a driver for Frank Taverna, Trenton, haulage contractor and owner of the machine. The woman was putting the truck away for the night in a garage off a lane running past the house of W. Gardner, Front street. The Labell boy was one of a group who had been playing near the driveway. As Mrs. Thompson turned the truck off Front street into the lane, her eye was caught by the beam of a flashlight in the hand of a boy standing on one side of the drive.

The momentary distraction prevented her from seeing the rest of the boys standing on the other side of the lane, police were told. One wheel of the truck ran over Bill Labell's foot, and when he grabbed the wheel in fright as he fell he was dragged beneath it. His body was badly crushed by the weight of the machine. Dr. W. J. Johnston was called, but death occurred within fifteen minutes of the accident. An inquest will likely be held next week, Coroner Dr. W. B. Crowe said after preliminary investigation.

WISCONSIN VARSITY PRESIDENT FIRED

Dr. G. Frank Held Incompetent —Students Threaten Strike— Canadian Gets Post

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 9 (A.P.)—University of Wisconsin students threatened to strike today in protest against the discharge of Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the school for 11 years.

Dr. Frank was dismissed by an 8 to 7 vote of the board of regents last night after a stormy two-day hearing of charges that he was inefficient and did not pay sufficient attention to duties.

Immediately after the vote was announced a group of students staged a demonstration in the small hearing room. They hooted, overturned chairs and tables and broke a window. They subsided upon entrance of a detail of Madison policemen.

Miss Caryl Morse, girls' dormitory hostess, at the Frank Ouster hearing earlier in the day, had predicted that a strike was "inevitable" if Frank was discharged.

Bitter argument over Frank's qualifications as an administrator failed to shake the determination of Governor La Follette's appointees on the board to seek a new president. The progressive bloc, headed by Harold M. Wilkie, chairman, voted solidly against the retention of the educationist.

The president was relieved of his duties effective today although the dismissal does not become official until the end of the school year. Dr. Frank was given a leave of absence with pay and Dean George C. Sellery of the College of Letters and Science named to act as president. The latter is a native of Kincardine, Ont.

Mayoress Arms Police To Defy Governor

Mrs. Irene Armstrong, woman mayor of Daytona Beach, Fla., victor in her first skirmish with Governor Dave Sholtz, who is attempting to oust her administration, has turned to the courts in an effort to maintain her office. She stood her ground when the governor ordered her from power on charges of exceeding expenditure and of incompetence, arming city hall employees with sub-machine guns. THE BLOODHOUNDS BAY

by Walter S. Masterman

CHAPTER 34

"I HOPE you are not badly hurt, Mr. Reid?" Lady Severinge said. "Colonel Graham tells me that you fell and injured you arm."

"Nothing to make a fuss about," Reid replied. "But this is a terrible business about Miss Lawrence and the children."

"I have been afraid of it ever since Sir Henry was murdered. Of course, there must be some connection, but who would have thought that Miss Lawrence, with her quiet manners, would have been a party to such a crime!"

"I don't believe for a moment she is," said Reid loyally.

"I wish I could think so, but how could she have been spirited away without shouting or making a struggle for it? And the children would have made an awful fuss, unless she had persuaded them to go willingly. It seems impossible to trust anyone nowadays."

"I am certain that you can trust Miss Lawrence," he said warmly. 'As a matter of fact, she was only staying on here because she feared that some such attack might be made on the children."

To Reid's surprise, Lady Severinge's manner changed. "You men are all the same—a pretty face and romance, and you are taken in at once. If it had been the housekeeper, Mrs. Thornton, you would have suspected her because she was ugly and had had a vivacious tongue, but this soft-looking miss with great eyes—I've no patience."

Reid remained silent. It did not take much intuition to guess that her outburst was due to her suspicions of Colindale, and her jealousy on account of his conduct. It was beat, he felt, to say no more, and Lady Severinge had stopped speaking abruptly, as though ashamed at her sudden heat.

"James tells me that Mr. Selden will be here this afternoon," he said, closing his eyes.

"I am sorry," she said contritely. "You are ill, and ought not to be worried. Are you sure you would rather not come to the Abbey?"

"I shall be all right here—I'm used to roughing it, I hope to be up again in a day or two."

James shook his head. "I'm afraid it will take longer than that," he said, and Reid seemed to detect a hidden meaning in the words.

Colonel Graham broke in. "Inspector Hutchins suggested that we ought to have a night watchman in the house, and is going to ask Hucks from the Bull Inn to undertake the duty. He's an ex-prize fighter, and will be a useful assistant for James."

"It will be a relief to me," Lady Severinge added.

Reid found the strain of talking was telling on him. The pain was now a dull ache, throbbing and burning, and he was growing lightheaded.

"I will send up what you want from the Abbey—James, perhaps you will see to that?"

"I shall make it a personal responsibility," the butler said solemnly.

They went out, leaving him alone, and before long he was raving in delirium.

* * *

Selden's car drew up at the end of the bridge in the afternoon, and Hutchins came forward to greet him.

"Something fresh, I suppose?" the young detective asked cheerfully.

"I don't understand these modern methods," Hutchins grumbled. "I always understood that when a Yard man took up a case he stuck to it until he had either cleared it up or given it up."

"I haven't been idle, Hutchins," Selden grinned, "but we each have our own methods, and I thought you would have arrived at some conclusion."

"Things are a darned sight worse." He proceeded to tell of the latest developments with some considerable detail while Selden listened attentively.

"Colonel Graham and I have been all over the Abbey—I never saw such a rabbit warren in my life. You could hide a dozen people in it, and there are doors and passages everywhere—it's most confusing, and easy to lose your way at night when you can't get your bearings by seeing out of the windows."

They walked together over the bridge and into the court. The rain had ceased, but the pavement was wet, and water dripped depressingly from the yew tree.

"I wonder they didn't grow grass here," Selden said inconsequently.

"I suppose it wouldn't grow with that yew tree." Hutchins replied indulgently.

"I suppose that must be it." He wheeled round on Hutchins. "What is your idea about this latest development?"

"I believe that butler James knows more than he will say—he's pretty deep; and I shouldn't be surprised if he and that girl, Miss Lawrence, weren't in it together."

"Come Inspector, you don't think they were in collusion in the murder of Sir Henry Severinge?"

"I don't know, I'm sure. It's a strange thing that he's been practically master of the house for years, and now he's been left all the money, I hear."

"Not quite all." Selden smiled, "but of course quite a sum. But, tell me, what did you propose to do before I came?"

"Colonel Graham suggested using his bloodhounds again. They were all right before, although they couldn't throw any light on the actual murder."

"It's worth thinking about." Selden said guardedly. "By the way, I hear that Reid has taken Colindale's place."

"A nice mess he's made—and mind you, Selden, I'm going to follow up the career of Master Reid. It seems a bit fishy to me the way he came here and has established himself in the house."

Hutchins recounted what he knew, and what Graham had told him, to Selden's secret amusement.

"Where is Colonel Graham?" Selden asked. "Is he still here? I would like to have a word with him."

"He's gone to the village to see Hucks, the landlord of the 'Bull.' I suggested that Hucks should come here at nights. He's a tough customer and a bruiser, and it wouldn't be a bad thing if he acted as night watchman."

"I think that's a good suggestion," Selden agreed heartily. "It would be much better than employing a police officer."

"I don't see that I can do more here, then," Hutchins said. "I suppose you won't be running off again, now that this has happened?"

"I shall stay and see it through, Hutchins; but what steps have you taken?"

"I've ordered a thorough search to be made of the grounds and neighborhood, and we have issued a description of the missing girl and children. If they are anywhere near here we shall have them."

"Good! And this fellow Reid, is he here?"

"He's in bed at his cottage." Hutchins said grimly, "and likely to be for a bit. The doctor has seen him. I believe he's a bit light-headed. By the way, Selden, if I were you, I wouldn't let that butler, James, have much intercourse with Reid. I don't trust either of them."

"I'll have a talk with him," Selden said. "And Lady Severinge—after all she's mistress here, and we should consult her about things."

"Oh, she doesn't count," Hutchins said with contempt. "James is the virtual master of the house. But, of course, I saw her, as she had phoned for me."

"You got nothing out of her?"

"She pretends she knows nothing. On the whole, I think she's telling the truth."

"I'm just going to have a look round on my own," Selden said. "I shall see you later."

After the inspector's departure, Selden strolled round the house, now quite deserted except for the servants' quarters. The servants were badly scared and would not come out of their own part unless with a direct order.

His inspection took some time, but there was a look of quiet satisfaction on his face when he returned to the gateway and, crossing the bridge, walked thoughtfully over to Reid's cottage.

He found the curtains drawn and the sick man impatiently tossing on the bed. He looked up as Selden came in.

"Feeling bad?"

"Thank the Lord you've come, Selden. I couldn't have stood much more of it. These bites hurt like the devil; the doctor insisted on cauterizing them again, and he's given me some injection or other. But it's not that that's worrying me."

"You are well enough to talk?"

"If I didn't I should get up right away, and to hell with the doctor. I have been waiting for you to roll up."

"Good, then we can discuss matters, for I'm none to easy in my mind. Our good friend Hutchins suspects everyone, including you and James, and is getting busy. But that's not the worst."

"What is it?" Reid said, half sitting up and dreading the next words.

"Colonel Graham has suggested using his bloodhounds." In the dim light Selden saw an expression of terror come to Reid's face.

RESOLUTIONS ARE SUBJECT OF TALK

Regular Meeting Of Young People Of Omemee Church Is Interesting

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, Jan. 9.—The regular meeting of the Y.P.A. of Trinity United Church was held Monday night with Edward Lowes presiding in the absence of the president, Arthur Williamson. The Christian Fellowship convenor, Miss Verna Gardner, was in charge of the meeting which opened with a call to worship. Mr. and Mrs. Northey, Bernice and Leola sang "Somebody's Praying For You."

Miss Gardner read a commentary which was a plea for the more personal touch and responsibility among our young people.

After the business for the evening was disposed of Miss Aizina Peel read a poem "The New Year's Answer" and Rev. Mr. MacTavish spoke to the society on the subject "New Year's Resolutions." He pointed out that every young person should feel a responsibility to be present at the meetings and to be present on time; that it was the duty of every member to take an active part in the workings of the society and that the members should make use of their talents. Miss Marion Rea read a poem, "A New Year's Creed."

BADMINTON CLUB SPONSORS BANQUET

Havelock Members Follow Up With Practice Games For Season's Schedule

HAVELOCK, Jan. 9.—The members of the Havelock Badminton Club commenced their 1937 schedule with a sumptuous banquet and tournament on Wednesday evening in the Town Hall. After supper a short business meeting was conducted by their popular president, Mrs. Philip Greenley, and it was decided that they should begin to practice immediately on an already selected play, to be presented within the next six or eight weeks.

Due to the absence of many of the male members of the club, it was necessary for the men present to play a double schedule and with surprising results, too. For when the finals were reached in the mixed doubles and the competitors announced, they were Miss Margaret Jones and Mr. Philip Greenley vs. Miss Josephine Hoffman and Mr. Phillip Greenley, so obviously "Phil" was grand champion of the evening.

Crokinole and cards provided entertainment for those not engaged in the tournament and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

OMEMEE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

Mr. Kenneth Moyer has returned to Kingston to resume his studies after spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Moyer.

Mr. Roy Faulkner was a weekend visitor to Toronto.

Miss Phyllis Carey of Toronto has returned home after visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Redmond Carey.

Mrs. D. Belch entertained some of her friends to a quilting party.

The many friends of Mr. Fred "Capt." Evans will be sorry to know he has returned to Christie Hospital, Toronto, for treatment.

Mr. Harry Clarke and daughter Shirley are visiting Mr. Noel Clarke, St. Catharines.

Miss Pernicial of Montreal spent last week the guest of Miss M. Mackey.

Dr. N. Smith of Stouffville spent New Year's at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stephenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester and daughter, Miss Marie, spent New Year's with friends at Elmvale.

Miss Norma Robertson of Port Hope spent last week the guest of Miss Betty Deyell.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stephenson opened their beautiful spacious home New Year's eve to a number of the young people of the village. Dancing and cards were enjoyed by all and 1937 was happily welcomed.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Poast in the death of their daughter, Lottie, in Saskatoon, following a lingering illness.

NORHAM.

Mr. Reginald Reynolds has returned to Windsor, and Miss Lorna McColl to Blackstock, after spending the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reynolds, of Morganston.

Mr. Bill McCubbin, Mr. John Diamond and Miss Jeanne Diamond motored to Willsville on Tuesday, where Miss Diamond will remain to take up her duties as dietician at the Wellsville Hospital.

Messrs. Hayden Newman of Norham and Mr. Donald Massey of Morganston are taking a poultry course at the Agricultural College, Guelph.

Mr. Alfred Merrill of Myersburg, Deputy-Reeve of Percy Township, was the victim of a very painful accident in Campbellford on Monday, when he fell on the ice and broke his leg. His many friends here wish him a speedy recovery.

Five new subscribers in the Myersburg district are having their buildings lighted with Hydro in the near future: Messrs. Bert Nelson, James Runciman, L. Findlay, Mrs Dillworth and Wm. Ross.

EPIDEMIC DECLINING

325 Deaths Registered in Larger Cities of Britain.

LONDON, Jan. 9 (CP-Havas) — Signs the influenza epidemic sweeping Britain is declining were evident to-day.

Although 325 deaths were registered in the larger cities during the past week, the number of patients in the four large London hospitals fell from 1,200 at the beginning of this week to 500 to-day. Decreasing sick lists were also reported from other parts of the country.

BRITISH IN FEAR OF WAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (CP). — Dr. Maude Royden, British Free Church preacher, lecturer and peace worker, arrived here yesterday to take part in the emergency peace campaign. She pictured the people of England as in a state of despair, living "in appalling fear of war."

Dr. Royden, who preached for many years at the London Guildhouse, which she founded, and at the City Temple, admitted that women had failed to be an influence for peace."

CAMPBELLFORD

ODDFELLOWS GET VETERANS' JEWELS

Interesting Ceremony At Campbellford When Long Service Is Recognized

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9. — Nine members of the I.O.O.F. were presented with the 25-year Veteran's Jewel at a special meeting of the association on Friday night. About sixty members of the I.O.O.F. and Rebekahs joined together in the lodge rooms to pay tribute to those who received the Veteran's Jewel, which is indicative of 25 years of continuous membership in the Order. The Jewel, which is set in gold and bears on the reverse side the date of membership and the name, may be worn by the members in lieu of regalia, which is a new ruling in the I.O.O.F.

Those who received the award were: Dr. H. B. Longmore, Messrs. J. P. Archer, E. J. Bonney, R. J. Bullen, A. W. Frederick, all of Campbellford, and William Turner of St. Catharines. The other three Messrs. Thomas Johnson, Peterborough, F. W. Runnells, Belleville, and George Westfall, Lindsay, were unable to attend.

After the presentations were made refreshments were served by the ladies. This was followed by community singing and a program in which the following took part:

George Lucy, solo; Mrs. Bruce Grills, reading; Miss Helen Nicholson, solo; Jack Cassan, monologue and piano solo; James MacDowell mandolin solo; Miss Paulin Cassan, dance; Frank Roe, violin solo and monologue; Miss June Burgiss piano solo; and Stanly Little, violin solo. S. A. Maguire gave an address, choosing as his subject the life and anniversary of Thomas Wildley, who was the founder of the I.O.O.F. on this continent.

M. B. CHENHALL, JR. GIVES UP HIS BAND

Resigns From Position At Lindsay Because Of Existing Conditions

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Jan. 9.—Martin B. Chenhall, Junior, leader of the local Boys' Band for the past two years, has resigned his position because of conditions that are said to exist in the Band Association at the present time. Mr. Chenhall has proven himself a very talented leader, and has brought the band up to a high state of efficiency.

Lumbering Stopped

The recent rainfalls have proved disastrous to lumber operations in the north country. The Carew Lumber company had some fifty local men engaged in getting out logs in their camps and have been obliged to lay them off owing to mild weather. Other lumbering firms have also been obliged to cease operations in the bush. The little hamlet of Tory Hill has all the appearance of a mill pond. The water is so high that the drains are unable to carry it off. Water is flowing over the C.N.R. tracks and is washing away some of the roadbed.

Summons Issued

Noah Taylor, an Indian from Curve Lake reserve, failed to answer to his name in the local police court yesterday, and a summons has been issued for his arrest. He is charged with spearing and destroying muskrat houses on Sturgeon Lake. Fish and Game Overseer Windsor had served the accused with a summons at his home at Curve Lake.

SAVED HIS SOCKS

Pair He Wore on Wedding Day Dug Up for Golden Anniversary.

KITTANING, Pa., Jan. 9 (C.P.). — D. B. Heiner knew that brides save their wedding gowns—so he saved his socks. That was 50 years ago. He brought the blue silk socks out of an old trunk to wear on his golden wedding anniversary.

CHILD SAVES FAMILY

Sickened By Gas Fumes Child Wakens Family.

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP)—Sickened by coal-gas fumes spread through her home by defective stove, six-year-old Ruth Breedon awoke early today and roused her mother, Mrs. Alvin Breedon, five brothers and sisters and two boarders in the house in time to save them from probable asphyxiation.

MEETING POSTPONED.

Speaker Could Not Get to Campbellford Because of Conditions.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9 — Uncertain road and weather conditions caused the postponement of the temperance meeting that was to have been held on Thursday night. Early in the day the committee in charge received word from Toronto that the speaker would be unable to come so the meeting was postponed until January 14.

MOTORMAN IS FINED

TORONTO—J. T. Smith, street car motorman, was fined $1 in traffic court for driving his street car through a red light. Smith said he was following another car so closely he was well out into the intersection before he saw the amber light. To stop would have been to obstruct traffic, he said.

SENTENCED TO YEAR.

KINGSTON.—Two young Kingston men, Sidney Roberts, 19, and William McCartney, 18, to-day were each given one year determinate and one year indeterminate in the Ontario reformatory for the theft of a car.

The car was stolen December 12, and the police were forced to fire shots at the car to stop the robbers.

NEW RECORD IN MOTORS SOLD

NEW YORK — General Motors world sales of automobiles to dealers in December totalled 239,114 units, the largest number for any month on record, it was announced today. The figure compared with 191,720 units in November, 90,754 in October, and 185,606 in December, 1935.

Here's Simple Way to Curb a Cold

Two Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving "ASPIRIN" Tablets with a Glass of Water

The modern way to curb a cold is this: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then, repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three "Aspirin" tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The "Aspirin" you take internally will act to combat fever, cold pains and the cold itself. The gargle will act as a medicinal gargle to provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain. It is really marvelous; for it acts like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

Try this way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. For it is quick, effective and ends the taking of strong medicines for a cold.

● "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

The Golden Text

John 3:3—"Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except one be born anew, he cannot see the Kingdom of God."

New Life in Christ

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for January 10 is John 2: 1-3: 36, the Golden Text being John 3, 3: "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except one be born anew, he cannot see the Kingdom of God."

Shortly after Jesus' baptism and the gathering of His first disciples, Jesus inaugurated his ministry in Galilee with His first miracle at the marriage feast at Cana, suggesting not only His power in the realm of creation, but His at-home-ness in the commonplace affairs of social and domestic life.

Cleansing the Temple.

Again after a brief sojourn in Galilee Jesus went up to Jerusalem for the first passover of his public ministry. Here His indignation flamed forth in judgment against the secularizing of religion and the desecration of the temple through numerous commercial enterprises that had been brought into the temple for the convenience of the worshippers. We are always in peril when we try to make our religion easy. We must ever guard against the encroachment of the secular upon the sacred: "Take these things hence; make not my Father's house a house of merchandise." Instead, let us consecrate the secular and spiritualise our business, lest it secularize us and our religion.

Jesus and Nicodemus.

John tells us all we know about Nicodemus. In this lesson he tells us of his desire for Christ; later, in 7: 45-52, of his defence of Christ, and still later, at the cross, of his devotion to Christ. 19: 38-42.

The first thing Nicodemus learned from Jesus was that Jesus expects from us more than compliments; He will be satisfied with nothing less than contrition and consecration. To say, "We know that thou art a teacher come from God," is not enough. It is not what we know but what we need that concerns the Saviour and should concern us the sinners: "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born anew (from above), he cannot see the Kingdom of God." By nature we are all "chips off the old block": "That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born anew." By physical birth we become children of earthly parents; if we are to become children of a heavenly Father, we must be born "from above": "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God." Christ requires not that we make ourselves "better men," but that we allow Him to make us "new men." He demands more than reformation, viz., regeneration as the first essential to entrance into the Kingdom of God.

"The Little Gospel."

How this new life in Christ is made possible and available is set forth in John 3: 16, which is truly "the little Gospel," the Bible in brief: God so loved the world, that he gave his Only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life." As Moses lifted up the serpent of brass and those who looked to it in faith were saved from death, so all who look in faith to the uplifted Saviour on Calvary's cross shall be saved. "There's life for a look to the Crucified One."

There is a great difference between believing and believing in.

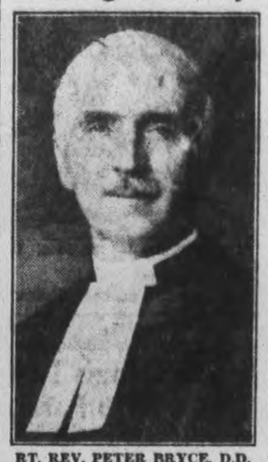
Returning to St. Paul's

REV. DR. ROBERT POGUE

Former minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and now retired, who will be the guest preacher on Sunday and who will conduct the communion service to which all former members are invited.

Coming To Trinity



RT. REV. PETER BRYCE, D.D.

Moderator of the United Church of Canada who will be the special preacher at the Trinity United Church anniversary on Sunday.

RT. REV. DR. BRYCE IS COMING TO CITY

Moderator Of United Church To Preach At Trinity Anniversary Services

THE Right Reverend Peter Bryce, D.D., of Toronto, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, will be in Peterborough over the week-end. On Sunday he will preach anniversary sermons at the morning and evening services in Trinity United Church and will also address a meeting of men in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Bryce has had a notable career. He was born in Blantyre, Scotland, the home of David Livingstone and came to this continent in 1903 as a missionary to Newfoundland. In 1906 he entered Victoria College, Toronto, in preparation for the Methodist ministry.

While a student, Dr. Bryce began a pastorate which continued for fifteen years in the industrial suburb of Toronto known as Earlscourt. There he built seven churches and organized eight Sunday schools. In the Earlscourt central church there was at the time the largest Sunday school in Canada. Dr. Bryce was also founder of the Earlscourt Children's Home.

Throughout that period, the young minister was in direct contact with the social needs of a great and growing community. After directing the relief work necessary in the Earlscourt district during the difficult years 1907 to 1909, he became more widely interested in the city's needs and was made first president of Toronto's family welfare organization. On the formation of the Federation for Community Service, he was made its first president. For years he advocated the formation of a mother's allowance board for the Province of Ontario and was made first chairman of this body when it was formed by the Provincial government.

In this period, Dr. Bryce studied and wrote a great deal on various forms of social work and legislation, and has continued his activity in this direction throughout his life. He was also the representative of the Province of Ontario at child welfare conference in London, England, and Brussels, Belgium.

From time to time Dr. Bryce was called upon to assist the Methodist Church and later the United Church in various important enterprises. Beginning his leadership in the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the United Church in the autumn of 1925, he became one of the greatest and most trusted and most beloved leaders of the United Church of Canada.

SEES GREAT ERA IF PEACE LASTS

British Knight Doctor Predicts Health And Happiness

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(CP)—There has been "no fuss and no fads" during Sir James Crichton-Browne's 96 years of life. And these, along with hard work, are his recipes for old age. He celebrated his 96th birthday the other day by making a prophecy:

"If the world does not blow itself to pieces in the horror of another war within the next few years mankind will enjoy a great era of health and happiness."

Sir James, a wiry, alert figure, with snowy Dundreary whiskers spread over the lapels of his neat black jacket—a perfect survival of the Victoria medical man—was contrasting the great hopes offered by modern medical research with the methods of destruction being devised by the branches of science concerned in rearmament.

"If we can only avoid war we shall soon enjoy the full benefits of cumulative medical research," he said. "Infectious diseases will be practically exterminated and the perils of childbirth will be removed."

Sir James believe man now should live to 100 and women a few years longer. "Look at me," he said. "I don't look 96, do I? Well, I don't feel 96. Why, I presided over two public meetings recently and I still take regular exercise and eat what I like. I am up every morning by 8.30 for breakfast, and I rarely go to bed before 11 o'clock."

Sir James, who has probably seen more royal processions than any living man, has already booked his seat for the coronation of George VI next May 12.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

The basic fact of the essential unity of man is the foundation of any lasting system of civilization. Society can never be truly stable until this truth is not only universally recognized, but also, acted upon. The brotherhood of man under the common Fatherhood of God, means in effect, the kingdom of God on earth. None can dispute this self-evident truth. What is not so self-evident is that the Kingdom of Heaven, if ever it is to be realized on earth, must begin in the unit of society, that is, in the individual. No world court, no political action, no series of laws can ever bring about any great change unless the thought of the mass of the people supports it. So that in effect, our problems have to be solved by our own well-considered thought. Provided that is, that we know how to think without prejudice of bias. We are, most of us, silent accessories to the evil and cruelty of this world. Like Saul at the stoning of Stephen, we may take no active part, but none the less we are accessory and so, by no means guiltless.

While there needs must be evil as long as most of us worship self and suffer from the effects of our own idolatry, yet the very law of compensation that brings woe to them that cause evil ensures peace and happiness to those who had laid down self in order to love their God and their neighbor. There is an unconscious sarcasm in a phrase of the Anglican liturgy which speaks of "those who call themselves Christians," for it is a sad fact that most of us are content with a theoretical assent of the truths of the greater life and largely ignore the practice. Yet, if we ignore the fact that there is an actual technique of the soul, the wonderful promises of the Master will remain for ever unfulfilled as far as we are concerned.

To believe and not do is as futile as to expect to master a difficult musical instrument by merely attending weekly lectures on the subject, never hearing it played and never attempting to play it oneself. The technique of the Master is not easily acquired; it remains forever a closed book to the theorist. A searching and honest self examination will help us to a knowledge of our attitude towards God and our neighbor and whether we have love in our hearts or a grudging envy and suspicion of others, a selfish dog in the manger feeling. You see, it is so hard for the average person with ears dulled by familiarity and the repetition of sacred truth to wake up and realize that these things apply to him, personally, and that they have an actual meaning in the affairs of this life. And yet, upon our attitude towards others depends the truth of our attitude towards God and is the solid foundation upon which we may build and aspire to the Light which will shatter the darkness within us. How can we bring light to others unless we possess it ourselves, and how, as long as we sit in darkness can we enter into the Kingdom of that Light and so realize the "Peace Profound" of the ancient mystics, the Peace of the Christ that passeth all understanding.

EAT MORE MEATS IN NEW ZEALAND

Canadian On Tour Finds Men Of Antipodes Have Real Breakfast

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9—(CP)—Writing to The Free Press, Miss Cora Hind, who, in the course of her world tour, was in New Zealand for some time, says:

"It was pointed out to me that New Zealanders were not as great bread eaters as Canadians; that 3 four-pound loaves would do the average family a week and that three pence added to family budget would make little difference in the cost of living. New Zealanders certainly eat more meat than we do, but I doubt if they eat less bread and more potatoes and other vegetables.

"The consumption of meat has quite intrigued me as it is quite common to see a man have porridge, bacon, followed by a couple of chops, toast and marmalade for breakfast. Then go to his office. It's a great life if you don't weaken."

WOULD ENCOURAGE LEFT-HAND CHILD

Minnesota School Director Suggests Aid For People So Inclined

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan 9—(CP)—Left-handed sciasors for left-handed students in Minnesota schools are advocated by Dr. Bryng Bryngelson, director of the University of Minnesota speech clinic. He believes schools should supply left-handed chairs and even pencil sharpeners for left-handed pupils for, he claims, it is a serious mistake to change a person from his natural bent.

"Our school systems need to take cognizance of the danger of shifting a child's brain processes, producing serious nervous tension," says Dr. Bryngelson. "The 'southpaw' should have the right to use whichever side of the brain nature intended should be the strongest and most skilful for speech, writing, reading and other co-ordinated patterns." Research at the speech clinic shows that 30 out of every 100 babies born would be left-handed if allowed to develop their own choice. He added left-handedness may even be a sign of superiority.

New Life in Christ — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—John 2:1-3:36

The first miracle of Jesus was performed at Cana of Galilee soon after he began his ministry. He provided wine for a wedding by turning water into wine.

While attending his first passover of his ministry Jesus rebuked the people who were selling things in the temple. He drove them out, saying, "Make not my Father's house a house of merchandise."

A religious leader named Nicodemus came to Jesus by night, saying, "We know that thou art a teacher come from God, for no one can do these signs that thou dost except God be with him."

Jesus replied, "Except one be born anew, he cannot see the Kingdom of God." He needed to be not just a better man but a new man.

(GOLDEN TEXT—John 3:3)

Belief and conduct act and react upon each other.

Prefer a struggle against odds to an easy victory.

We need stimulants but see that they are harmless.

The significance of doubt lies in the reason of it.

The beginning of everything is God's love and grace.

Opinions shape ideals and ideals inspire conduct.

More Money—More Fines

During the month of December, 1936, fines collected in the city of Windsor amounted to $2,532. That amount represented an increase of $1,314 over the amount collected in December of the previous year.

The matter was discussed at a meeting of the Police Commission, and Magistrate David Brodie said the 100 per cent. increase was an indication of better times. Enlarging on this point the Magistrate continued:

"When times are good there is more crime. That seems strange, but I have observed it to be true. When there is more money going around it seems easier for people to get into trouble."

When there is a scarcity of money in the pockets of a good many people there is a form of restriction which accompanies it. It is a compulsory rather than self-imposed form of discipline, and when money returns to the pocket the reason for discipline has been removed. After that there is none.

Passing through hard and troubled times may be good for some people, but it does not of necessity make them any better, greater or stronger. The hard period may be something which is being endured because there is nothing else to do, but always with the anticipation that it will pass and the shackles of compulsory restraint will disappear with it. Unfortuately there are too many people who learn nothing from a period of depression. They endure it and they weather it as best they can, but they never interpret it or apply its interpretations. If they bother about it at all they see in it nothing but injustice to themselves.

The Knots in the Floor

We read that a new floor has been laid in the school house of S. S. No. 16, Keppel and Amabel. That is in Grey county, and the floor just renewed has been down since 1892, which is 44 years.

In the church building at the corner of the Tenth Concession and the Broken Front Road there was a floor and we are certain as can be it had been down longer than that, but of course a church floor would not get the wear which would be inflicted upon one in a school house. But that church floor had been down so long that knots in the aisles stuck up like pet corns. Pine flooring it was. The seats there had backs which could be turned either way, like those in a railway coach. That was so they could turn them about for Sunday School classes. Likewise most of the seats were not fastened to the floor. It was considered quite an accomplishment to get one of those old seats balanced on a knot in the floor, and then by a little shifting back and forth a very satisfactory noise, (and equally annoying to teachers and elders) could be produced.

There was no carpet in that church building, and that may be why the squeak in the shoes of those who took up the collection used to sound so loud. There were of course no ushers, because every person who went there knew every other person and also knew where to sit. The squeak in the boots was also loud and apparent because there was no soft music being played at the time. The only symbol of music in the place was in the right back pocket of Elder Miller's pants, and he sat at the end of the front seat. That emblem of music was a tuning fork which used to be tapped on the end of the seat and then held close to the Elder's ear. He hummed up a little and then he hummed down a little and finally took a header off the deep end into melodious praise. The Elder's voice was a trifle high pitched and into the upper register he persisted in dragging the rest of the worshippers as best he could.

Of course the tuning fork had nothing to do with the pine knots in the floor of the church on the Tenth Concession, and the only explanation or apology for having mixed them is that they are all woven together in memories of that old meeting house.

It May Affect Our Shops

Harry J. Carmichael, Vice-President and General Manager of General Motors of Canada, says if the strike of automotive trades continues in United States it would mean the closing of Canadian factories in St. Catharines, Walkerville and Oshawa, and 8,000 workers might become idle. Supplies of body metals are imported from United States, and it is the slowing down of these which is likely to cause trouble. There is no strike in Canada, but Canadian plants depend on supplies from United States, so the effects of the strike are being felt here just as surely as though the strike were in this country.

In our rather complex system of today what one man does affects the lives and working habits of a good many others to a greater extent than ever before. Before we had the auto we used wagons and buggies or sleighs. In the manufacture of such articles it was necessary to secure a few trimmings or springs from the outside world, but there were dozens of small shops all over the country where a carriage, a wagon or a sleigh could be made. There was nothing much to disturb the even course of the day's work, but today a strike in United States threatens to put 8,000 of our workers on the idle list. The auto industry has grown to the size of a giant, but there are a number of points where it can be attacked and reduced to idleness.

Disraeli As An Example

Referring to outstanding Jews who had served their nation well, the Lindsay Warder says "even a very young public school student could tell that Benjamin Disraeli, one of the greatest prime ministers Britain ever had, was a Jew."

Truth seems to be that a number of exponents of Judaism and its greatness spend little time on Disraeli (Earl of Beaconsfield.) Disraeli was born in 1804, and it is recorded (Harmsworth) "In 1817 Disraeli's parents, who were never enthusiastic for Judaism, severed themselves formally from it, and all their children were baptized at the church of St. Andrew, Holborn."

That of course does not in the least alter the fact that Benjamin Disraeli was born of Jewish parentage, but when Benjamin was a lad of 13 the family severed itself from Judaism.

Protect the Spawning Beds

Durham and Northumberland Fish and Game Association intend asking for the appointment of special wardens for at least ten days during the spawning season, and whatever that association does toward that end can be accepted as something which should be given general application in the entire Kawartha district.

That move would be made for the protection of lunge and bass, the two best fish in our lakes. During the spawning season lunge are not at all difficult to take. It is entirely different to the summer season when one of these great fish will give battle for a good half hour before being taken. The lunge in spawning season move in from deep water to the shallow spawning beds and they are slow moving and apparently lazy. The law breaker can quite readily take them with a spear, and he will often do that before the fish has deposited spawn at all. After spawning the lunge does nothing to guard the deposit. Male and female alike seem to be satisfied there is nothing more to be done and move out toward deep water. There is another reason for guarding the lunge during spawning season. They spawn earlier than many other fish and do so during the season of freshets and there is always the chance that when the water recedes much of the spawn may be lost. Experts who have made observations over a wide range of country believe that not more than from five to ten per cent. of lunge spawn is effective in propogating their species.

The bass is different, and is credited with being from 20 to 25 per cent. effective in spawning. With the bass spawning is a serious business and the male fish remain on the spawning grounds until the young fish emerge. We recall having been at a spawning bed at Deer Bay in company with an Indian guide. It was early in June and the sun was bright. Leaving the deep water the Indian, standing in the back of the canoe, worked his way through sunken logs and reeds toward the shallow water. Not far out from the bank he stopped and pointed with the paddle to submerged logs and stumps. All he said was "Watch." At that place there might have been four or five feet of water, so clear it was possible to see all that was taking place. It was the place where bass were known to spawn. For a minute or so nothing happened, and then a fair-sized sunfish appeared. After that things happened, the rapidity of which was almost impossible to credit. Two bass were on the scene and the sunfish fled. They moved with the speed of an arrow shot from a taut bow. They were ready to fight any intruder approaching their spawn. As a guard or supervisor or fighter the male bass is in a class by himself.

Right there comes the reason for protecting the spawning beds in season. On that bright day in June we saw Indians fishing in spawning beds, although the season did not open until the 28th of June. The Indian guide explained it this way:

"When you were sitting there watching the bass fight for their spawn you could have caught those fish and plenty of others and it could have been done without using bait. Just dangle a hook and a line down there and the fighting male bass will strike at it at once thinking it is something which is going to interfere with or bother the spawn."

Once the bass remaining on guard are removed by illegal fishing the spawn is open to attack by any other fish, and guides report the presence of carp in some of our lakes. The bass will fight the carp or any other intruding fish and do it successfully, but if the bass are removed from these beds during spawning season then the supply of fish for future years is going to be endangered and at once. Bass spawn over a large area is about 25 per cent. effective. It would be a wise investment, and not a large one, to place special wardens on the spawning beds of this district.

How Much Damage?

London reports there has been a gradual falling off of libel actions brought against British newspapers. One reason is that juries in recent years have shown a disinclination to award damages for merely technical libels arising through confusion of names, misprints and so on.

A bill backed by Major J. J. Astor, of the London Times is now before the House of Commons providing that libel law should approximate that of slander, by which litigants are compelled to prove actual damage suffered.

There are a good many people who would not care to face court under such ruling. It is easy enough to file claims and state that an individual has been damaged by a newspaper, but when it comes to stating how much the damage has been it is getting on harder ground. If it becomes British law that the extent of damages claimed has to be proved before award or collection is possible, there will be another drop in the number of such actions brought against newspapers.

Poaching by airplane is the latest problem for the game wardens to worry over. At all events they cannot blame the Indians for that method of breaking the regulations.

The Deputy-Minister of Education says examinations will shortly be abolished in the secondary schools and that only serves to strengthen the impression that we were born too soon.

Toronto Liberal members of the Legislature are undergoing what amounts to a screen test at the present time. They have to register indignation at the action of the Hepburn government in grabbing all the Queen City's income tax.

A Cleveland man will draw about 11 cents pension under the Social Security Act but we don't suppose President Roosevelt had a chance to mention the fact amid all the billions he tossed into his message to Congress on Friday.

Air mail service in Canada has proved cheaper than any other kind. Air mail costs in the last fiscal year were $375,971, and the revenue amounted to $533,048. If the entire service could operate on that basis we would have 2-cent postage in a hurry.

Mexico is ready to negotiate with Canada in regard to silencing the powerful stations along the border that interfere with Canadian broadcasting. We don't know what Mexico wants in return for this move but we are in favor of giving her anything within reason.

Francois Leduc, Quebec's minister of Highways, is to attend the convention of the American Road Builders' Association in New Orleans this month. It seems a long way to go to learn that no matter how wide the highways are built cars will still continue to run into the ditches.

It cost the Republicans in the United States $8,056,524 to carry two states while the Democrats spent $7,693,855 to win forty-eight. In the face of that unbusinesslike showing the Grand Old Party could hardly expect to win the confidence of the country.

THE HIGH NOTES

(By A. R. K.)

¶ They're trying out some new hymns now, but I can't make them go somehow, no matter how I try; some notes run higher than they should, and I can't get them very good, and so I pass them by.

¶ I watch the folk in Barney's pew, to see just what they're going to do, I find it's quite a race; for Barney's much the same as me, when notes go climbing up a tree, why then he makes a face.

¶ And I watch Peter for a spell, he knows his music pretty well, he strikes a tuneful pose; but when the high spots come along, then Peter drops from out the song, and loudly blows his nose.

¶ Now Joseph does the best he can, and he's a fair good singing man, his voice as firm as oak; he tackles high notes like a man, and does the very best he can, until he's fit to choke.

¶ And when those tunes run up a hill, I always like to look at Bill, for he sings unafraid; he gets himself filled up with air, and when he's landed half way there, he can't quite make the grade.

¶ When tunes have got those high notes in, I join quite glad when they begin, and then I start to frown; but when they sail away too high, I just stand back and never try—but wait till they come down.

History of Recent Times Shows Great Capacity For Hatred and Persecution—Germans Were Never Known as Colonists.

By DR. H. L. STEWART

LAST WEEK, in this column, I discussed whether it would be safe for Great Britain to make a "Gentlemen's Agreement" with Fascist Italy about the w- ern Mediterranean. The conclusion was that this kind of bargain in such a quarter would be no harm provided it did not in any way effect the British rearmament scheme. Otherwise, like Gil Blas when he trusted to the horse-dealer's honor, Great Britain might find that it was indeed upon "the weaker side" of the other party that she had been rash enough to depend.

Dr. Stewart

My topic this week is not very different. Hitler and his advisers (so far as he has advisers) have been again convulsing the world with a demand to get the German colonies back. It seems fair to reflect at such a moment on the reasons for which they were taken away. When we do so, we shall perhaps begin to doubt whether Clemenceau, Woodrow Wilson, Lloyd George and Orlando were either quite so stupid or quite so wicked in this decision as the bright young propagandists of "generosity to vanquished" would now have us believe.

* * *

WHAT WAS plainly in the minds of "the Big Four," and definitely implied in the relevant clause of the Treaty of Versailles, was the unworthiness of Imperial Germany to hold trusteeship for a backward people. The qualities it is right to call "gentlemanly" are apparent by their exercise, and especially conspicuous by their absence, in a transaction — whether individual or national—with those who have no means of resisting ill-treatment. Tried by this test, how will Imperial Germany fare?

This is a topic on which exaggeration is all too easy, and one has need of special vigilance against the columnist's besetting sin—that of being vivid at the expense of being accurate. Imperial Germany did not treat all her subject peoples with selfish harshness. There were dark stories from German Southwest Africa, though none comparable to the record of atrocity from the Belgian Congo, so that in Berlin the news of a humanitarian purpose in transferring great native populations from the control of Germany to that of Belgium was received with quite intelligible scorn.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT WAS as a "sacred trust of civilization" that the Versailles treaty-makers described this surveillance of backward races. Were the Berlin authorities, then, less fit for that than the authorities in Brussels? Think of Tanganvika, in pre-war days "German East Africa." Recall the measures of public health, by which German scientific medicine made such a difference there in the lives of the natives. Not as a warning of what should be shunned, but as a model for imitation, might the German regime in Tanganvika be recalled.

Always, of course, subject to the understanding that the overlord caring for a subject people was like an owner looking after the health of his cattle. The utmost kindness never disguised or neglected an unbridgeable chasm between upper and lower race. No thought of "trusteeship," in the sense of educating the native for self-government!

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW COMES the real question. Has there been any change in this respect with the rise of the Nazis? Does Hitler's Germany by comparison with Imperial Germany show more or less of that fitness for trusteeship? I mean kindliness and sympathetic handling of the backward? I mean generosity in refraining from exploitation of the lower race, where that race would have no means of redress and no power to retaliate.

The moment one puts that question, a rush of memories from the last three years comes back to answer it. One thinks of the Jews in Germany, not more than one per cent of the population, subjected in this twentieth century to such horrors of injustice as match the stories of five or six centuries ago. One thinks of the concentration camps for Communists of the "Blood Bath," of the record in the "Brown Book of the Hitler Terror." And then one is impelled to say that a regime under which such things take place amid the publicity of Central Europe is no regime to trust with the lives and fortunes and goods of helpless colored folk in "Darkest Africa."

✧ ✧ ✧

DECIDEDLY if Fascist Italians are not worthy of a "Gentlemen's Agreement," the Nazi Germans have shown themselves equally unfit to carry that "sacred trust of civilization." Perhaps Rathenau or Stresemann or Bruening might have been worthy of such a charge. But not Goebbels, or Goering, or Hitler. And herein is a paradox, not infrequent in experience. Those who particularly desire a trust are least fit for it, and vice versa. The Germans who started this outcry for return of the colonies were just those who had put it, perhaps for the first time, beyond reasonable doubt that the colonies were properly taken away.

Particularly one thinks of Hitler himself. One recalls his disclosure of his own youthful rage because, in the Austria which was his birthplace, Czechs and Croats and Slovenes were being admitted almost on equal terms to share with lofty Germans in the administration of the country! He could not even regret the murder of the Archduke Ferdinand at Serajevo, because there had at least perished a principal traitor to German rights of a superior race. So he tells us in his autobiography! Is that the sort of temper to which the sacred trust of civilization should be committed?

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE ARE issues in the German demand which carry us beyond the common flimsy interchange about good sportsmanship, and return to friendly terms with a beaten enemy. The German Reich of today is poorer by a million square miles of territory and 12,000,000 colored subjects than the Germany of 1914. Opinion at Berlin must have changed greatly from the time when Bismark could say about colonies that they are an empty luxury, "like the silken sables of those noble families in Poland who have no shirts to their backs." Germany is in a mood of passionate insistence on having her loss made good. She talks much about places for settlement for her surplus population, though she never showed any tremendous enthusiasm for settling them so when she had a chance. Perhaps it is mainly a point of national prestige? Perhaps, again, what she desires is not so much any part of Africa for settlement, for raw materials or for trade, as a base for submarines and aircraft?

Aye, there is another "rub" from the point of view of British communications with the east. But first and foremost, as we are challenged to reconsider a decision, let us go back on the motives which led to it. In this instance they seem not to have been reduced or discredited, but confirmed and intensified by the lapse of time.

Lawyers and Deposits.

(From the Ottawa Journal.)

SOME months ago when a lawyer in Western Ontario looted the deposit boxes and trust funds of his clients there was a strong public demand—expressed by many newspapers—that steps be taken to save depositors from loss under such circumstances.

In an attempt to meet the situation new rules concerning accounts have been drawn up by the Benchers of the Law Society of Upper Canada. "These are expected," says a summary, "to safeguard the interests of the public by preventing the mixture of private funds with trust funds and providing for drastic punishment should barristers and solicitors pursue improper courses in connection with the moneys of their clients."

Let us see how the plan would operate. The Benchers say lawyers must keep strict account of trust funds, produce their books and records to the Law Society on demand. But no regular check by the society of barristers' accounts is provided, nor any check of any kind unless there is reason to suspect that a barrister's funds are not in good shape.

If John P. Blank, who has left a thousand-dollar government bond with his lawyer, gets an evasive answer when he asks for his security, becomes suspicious that all is not well, he goes to the Law Society with his complaint. The Benchers may undertake an inquiry, or they may not. But the new rules give them authority to require of the complainant "prima facie evidence that a ground of complaint exists," and he may be told to put up in advance "a reasonable sum to cover costs of the investigation and the costs of the barrister and solicitor against whom the complaint is made."

John P. Blank, who suspects that his thousand dollars is gone, thus is required to pay the cost of proving that it is gone. And if and when this proof is forthcoming the Law Society may or may not impose "drastic punishment" on the offending barrister by suspending him, or even disbarring him. But nothing whatever is done for the trusting Mr. Blank. He's "out" and that's all there is to it.

It is absurd to talk about rules such as these safeguarding the interests of the public. "When the great steed is stole, then he taketh heed and maketh the stable-door fast."

What seems to be demanded by the situation is a simple act of the Legislature requiring that every lawyer who holds trust funds for his clients shall be compelled to carry a bond for the full amount of such funds. If, then, a lawyer betrays his confidence his clients do not suffer—and the courts can attend to the matter of the offender's punishment.

The great majority of lawyers are honest and trustworthy, but they should be the first to admit that against the rare black sheep in their ranks the public are entitled to protection. Apparently there is no assurance of any such protection in the new plan of the Law Society.

THE WEST WONDERS.

(Winnipeg Free Press)

WESTERN CANADA has not, as yet, shared to any appreciable extent in this growing prosperity; and it may come as a shock to westerners to learn that, in some parts of the world danger signals are already flying due to the accumulating evidence that a boom is under way. This is the first of the threatening considerations mentioned in the opening sentence of this short summary. Too rapid expansion leads inevitably to a sudden and rapid decline.

In Great Britain some economists are already predicting the end of the prosperity cycle which, they consider, is now being artificially prolonged by the unhealthy activity of rearmament. In the United States, also, where gold has been pouring in for three years at the rate of $100,000,000 a month, there are signs, chiefly evident in the stock and commodity markets, of dangerous speculative activity.

FORESTS PAY WELL.

(Windsor Star)

CANADA'S forest industries paid well during the year which is about to close. Experts estimate they contributed in the neighborhood of $250,000,000 to the national income, as against $197,783,000 last year.

This increase is accounted for by greater production of newsprint and expansion in export of lumber. And there is every indication these industries will yield still more next year. Domestic demand for lumber was not near as brisk as the export demand, but with the building industry picking up there should be an accompanying increase in domestic purchases.

These forests are one of Canada's greatest sources of wealth and they will continue to pay well for years to come, provided they are properly managed. Forest conservation is an important piece of work. Governments are spending thousands of dollars on it and deserve co-operation in all their efforts.

OIL LANTERNS GO.

(Chicago Daily News)

THE Illinois commerce commission has ordered the railroads to abolish the old oil-burning lanterns which, for nearly a century, have been carried by railway trainmen. In their stead the railways must supply battery-operated electric lanterns.

The old lanterns were inefficient and unreliable. The flame might be extinguished by a high wind. In extremely cold weather the wick refused to draw. Smoke and soot would darken the globe. A dropped lantern might start a fire. Trainmen had to run the risk of using them around tank cars and other cars containing highly volatile fluids.

Eggs Drop To 22 Cents On Farmers' Market

Eggs declined further in price on the Farmers' Market to-day. In large volume they were to be bought at 22 and 23 cents a dozen, although some farmers still held out for 25 cents for large white eggs.

Chickens were plentiful, but at a firmer price. Some were to be had for 18 cents, but 20 cents a pound was general. Butter was inclined toward a higher price at 27 to 30 cents.

Potatoes reappeared on the outdoor market at $1.25 to $1.50 a bag. Pork cuts were 12 and 14 cents and beef cuts 8 and 10 cents. Apples were very plentiful at prices ranging from 25 cents to 40 cents a peck.

The Rambling REPORTERS

RAN OUT OF GAS.

A newspaper man's dream is a story of a police station being robbed or a fire station burning down. Not so spectacular but still a good yarn is a story of a garage service truck used for towing autos which run out of gas, running out of gas.

When a service truck belonging to one of the larger Water street garages ran out of gas in the heavy traffic of George street yesterday, the driver's face got very red. A truck from a competitive garage happened by and the driver, deciding the trade must cooperate in such embarrassing situations, lent his aid in moving the stalled vehicle and relieving the traffic jam.—CP.K.

JUST A LITTLE DIFFERENT.

She is a pretty little ten-year old and she made a number of New Year resolutions which her mother discovered later. The first ran: "Help mother more"; the second: "Don't read in bed"; and the third, which showed that she didn't always feel inclined toward the resolution expressed at the top of the list read firmly: "Help mother willingly."—C.L.M.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANNIE RIGHTMYER.

The death of Mrs. Annie Rightmyer occurred at her home, 569 Sherbrooke street, to-day. She had been ill some time.

Widow of the late Stanley D. Rightmyer, who predeceased her in 1935, Mrs. Rightmyer was formerly Annie E. Ellis. She was born in Trenton, Ontario, and came to this city from Wooler 40 years ago.

Surviving are three sons, Clinton and Gordon of Toronto, and Grant of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the residence to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. G. S. Easton and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe will officiate.

SAMUEL J. McCONNELL

Funeral service for the late Samuel J. McConnell was held at the family residence 1552 Eglinton avenue, Toronto on January 6, 1937 at 8 p.m. with Rev. M. Steed of Pearen Memorial Church, Mount Dennis in charge. The minister chose for his text II Timothy, chapter 4, verse 7: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

The remains were forwarded to Norwood the following day, where service was held at 2.30 p.m. at the home of deceased's brother, Thomas McConnell. Rev. A. S. Cleland of Norwood United Church conducted the service and took for his text Psalm 37, verse 37: "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

The late Mr. McConnell was born in Belmont Township in the year 1854 and had resided there until his removal to Toronto almost twenty-three years ago. Surviving are his wife, formerly Margaret McAllister of South Monaghan Township; three daughters, Ethel at home, Mrs. J. C. Buchanan of 504 Patterson street, Peterborough and Mrs. J. B. Rylott of Otonabee and ten grandchildren, also a sister, Mrs. J. E. Scott of Grimsby who was unable to be present owing to illness in the family and two brothers Thomas of Norwood and George of South Dummer.

The pall-bearers were six nephews of the deceased: Charles Gordon, John Cecil and Ed McConnell and Russell Thompson.

Interment took place in Norwood Cemetery.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9.—Little breaks at Chicago nullified on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday the price-stimulating effect of bullish political developments abroad. Wheat values here were 1½ to 2 cents lower at the close.

At virtually their lowest levels of the day, May closed at $1.27⅛ and July $1.21⅝. Pre-closing bursts of selling induced by Chicago's 2¾-cent decline sent prices skidding after early losses had been recovered.

Helping to pull down prices were heavy wheat shipments from Argentina and Australia this week. These countries exported a total of 5,916,000 bushels, only 26,000 bushels less than the amount cleared last week.

Political tension in Europe brought out buying that enabled the market to recover early 1½-cent setbacks, but values slumped anew toward the last as selling attributed to Chicago interests flooded the market.

Cash grains trading was inactive. Coarse grains prices followed the lead of wheat.

GO ANY LENGTH TO EJECT NAZIS

French troops at Fez, the capital of the French territory, and throughout French Morocco were held ready for instant action.

The normal troop strength of 40,000 in the Protectorate was ordered increased to 100,000.

Advices from French Morocco told of a steadily increasing German infiltration into Spanish Morocco controlled by General Francisco Franco's insurgent Fascists and the seat of their revolt.

What France Charges.

According to the Associated Press, sources close to the foreign office said French representations to the Franco headquarters at Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, charged:

1. A number of German functionaries have taken over the administration of the country.

2. A number of German troops already have landed in violation of existing treaties.

3. Barracks have been erected in preparation for the arrival of more German soldiers.

4. Illegal fortifications are being erected.

One high French official, the Associated Press said, referring to the belief Germany sought a foothold in Morocco as a lever for bargaining for other colonies, said emphatically:

"We think the German idea is to get into Spanish Morocco and stay there. The idea behind the move is to wreck our colonial mobilization."

He was assumed to be referring to the French mobilization plan in the event of a European war. This plan calls for the quick movement of colonial troops to the mainland as a trained organization nucleus.

Working With Britain.

The foreign office said it was cooperating closely with Great Britain in all moves since British interests in Gibraltar also were threatened.

Fortifications being erected at Ceuta on the coast just 14 miles across the narrow waterway were described as modern and imposing by semi-official French dispatches.

Other dispatches from Casablanca, French Morocco, said large contingents of armed troops, in uniforms, had landed at Melilla, Spanish Morocco, within the last two weeks. They were said to have been assigned to barracks in different parts of the city.

Three German destroyers and many German submarines were reported anchored in the port.

The troops were said to have been accompanied by many German engineers and to be under the command of an unidentified German officer.

The engineers began immediately, these dispatches said, to reorganize the iron mines, just inland from Melilla, for mass production.

Officials asserted the exact limits between their right to diplomatic action and military force had not been determined but said they believed treaty violations would justify French intervention in the Spanish zone.

Authorized to Use Force

It was considered in some quarters that France, under the Treaty of March 20, 1912, between France and the Sultan of Morocco, and the Franco-Spanish Treaty of November 27, 1912, is empowered to use military force to prevent the landing of foreign troops in any part of the Sultan's domain, which includes Spanish Morocco.

The Sultan is the nominal absolute ruler of the two Moroccos, but in effect France and Spain each administer the territory in their sphere of influence.

The two treaties of 1912, giving France and Spain administrative control and a virtual protectorate, were the result of the Agadir incident when the German cruiser Panther suddenly appeared in the harbor to "protect" German nationals endangered by disorders.

In 1911 the appearance of the German cruiser off Agadir almost precipitated the war that finally broke three years later. German attempts to penetrate Morocco were the source of unending friction in the three years immediately preceding the Great War.

The energetic attitude of the government toward the Moroccan developments won the unanimous approval of the press. Almost every paper evoked the memory of Agadir and drew the parallel between that period and the present.

Another Agadir Case?

"The unforgettable cruiser of Agadir has come back to use in a new form," wrote Pertinax in The Echo De Paris. By forcing a foothold in Spanish Morocco, he said, Germany was taking the first step toward realizing the colonial dreams of Hjalmar Schacht, Reich Minister of Economics.

Spanish Morocco, he said, would only be a beginning. Once established there, Germany could look to French Algeria and other colonies and by exerting various forms of pressure through recalcitrant tribes and in other ways set out upon its campaign of colonial expansion.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSED WEAKER

Week's Export Sales Totalled 3,000,000 Bushels—Canada Supplied Half Export

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9 (CP)—Weather developments in the United States winter-wheat area appeared today to be becoming an increasingly important influence in determining the trend of future prices on world grain markets.

Largely because of bearish reports from that large wheat-growing section, wheat prices declined 1⅞-3⅛ cents on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange this week. The May future closed the week at $1.27⅛ and July at $1.21⅝, a bushel.

The outlook for Canada's chief commodity continued decidedly bullish. The week's export sales totalled 3,000,000 bushels as European millers turned to the new world for supplies. Large sales were made to Europe by Australia and Argentina. A development favorable to the Dominion.

Statistics showed world wheat clearances so far this crop year totalled 240,000,000 bushels. Canada supplied about 50 per cent of the total. From Aug. 1 to Dec. 31 last, the Dominion exported 112,266,182 bushels of wheat, some 30,000,000 bushels more than during the same period of 1935.

DISTINCT DECLINE IN POLICY LOANS

New Business Shows Improvement In Every Branch Of Life Insurance

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—Life insurance, in its relation to financial affairs, bears much the same relation as steel to industrial affairs, each serving as a barometer of conditions in its field. The 1936 life insurance record reflects a steady improvement in the financial position of hundreds of thousands of Canadians.

"Not only is there a substantial increase in number of policy holders and in total insurance in force," said V. R. Smith, President, Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association, and Director and General Manager Confederation Life Association, when interviewed today, "but there is a distinct decline in policy loans and in surrenders of existing policies.

"This is perhaps the most gratifying feature of the life insurance record for 1936. But, from a national viewpoint, it is equally significant that new business in the past year showed an improvement in every branch. Final returns for December have not yet been compiled, but the total of new, paid-for business will be appreciably ahead of that of 1935. Eight of the nine provinces show increases, and it is particularly pleasing to note that, even in Alberta, where arbitrary interest and debt legislation have borne heavily upon the hard-earned savings of thrifty citizens, insurance sales have shown remarkable increases during recent months. There could be no more striking tribute to the security and stability of life insurance in the public estimation."

HEAVIEST TRADING DURING PAST WEEK OF SEVERAL YEARS

On The Mining Section of Toronto Board 12,238,000 Shares Handled

SMART ADVANCES

By Alex. Pringle
(Canadian Press Financial Writer.)

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (C.P.)—Toronto share markets celebrated the New Year with the heaviest rush of trading in the two sections combined, since the boom days of 1929. The heavy turnover on the industrial floor was accompanied by a price advance of four points in the exchange index, while the golds advanced about a half point and the miscellaneous mines, after setting a new high for years, backed away to show a small net loss.

The mining section handled 12,238,000 shares in the five full sessions of this week and the industrial section 612,000 shares. It was the biggest trade for the mines since the week ending May 23 last, when 14,661,000 shares changed hands.

In the same week the industrial section traded only 90,000 shares, placing the combined turnover far below the trade for the period just ending. The action this week on the industrial floor was the heaviest since the mid-summer of 1933.

Brazilian Stood Out.

Steels, oils, foods and utilities were mainly accountable for the smart advance over the industrial board this week, but several specialties claimed attention. Brazilian stood out with a gain of $2.50 to a new high for more than five years, and Montreal Power and Shawinigan were right up with gains of $2.50 to $2.75, both going to new highs while trading in lighter volume. Ford A, British American, and Dominion Steel and Coal B followed with gains of $1.50 each.

Prices advanced between 50 cents and $1 for Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Abitibi Common, C.P.R., Gypsum and Canadian Canners. Abitibi was one of the week's heaviest movers and sold close to the $9 mark before wilting under a rush of profit-taking. It was the best week for the big oils in a long period.

Despite sharp advances in the metal prices, both Consolidated Smelters and International Nickel weakened moderately. Canadian Car and Foundry Common declined $1.65, Walkers Common, 75 cents, and Building Products $1.25.

40,000 Shares Traded

Canadian Marconi pushed into the spotlight on Thursday with a trade of 40,000 shares and repeated with 34,000 on Friday, doubling its price in the two sessions from around $1.50 to $3. The cause of the burst of action was not clear, although some board-room gossip placed the stock in the "war-baby" group.

Gold stocks advanced three times to new highs in the week, but losses on Thursday and Friday took the cream off the gain. The big issues displayed mild net weakness on the whole. Lake Shore held at $57.50, but Dome declined $1.25, McIntyre and Buffalo-Ankerite a few cents each and O'Brien led the drop with a net loss of $3 to $10.50. It moved in heavy quantity and hit a low of $9.75 on Friday compared with a recent high of $14. MacLeod-Cockshutt lost 65 cents and Macassa and Pioneer 25 to 35 cents.

A few of the medium-price golds registered minor gains. Read-Authier firmed 65 cents. Hard Rock 29 cents, Sylvanite 24 cents and Hollinger 65 cents.

MARMORA, VICINITY

tion are shown as Marmora lake and Marmora river. It would therefore appear as though the name Marmora was the original name for these two features.

I would appreciate it very much if you would consider this matter as urgent and let me hear from you without any unnecessary delay.

The Boosters' View.

H. R. Pearce, secretary of the Marmora Booster Club on being apprised of the receipt of this letter, addressed a letter to J. H. Corey, secretary of the Geographic Board of Canada, writer of the communication, in which he pointed out that the Booster Club had spent a large sum of money in advertising Crowe Lake in Canada and U.S.A. to attract tourist business and that a change of name would be detrimental to such. He also mentioned that it was the purpose of the club to circulate a petition throughout the area involved as well as among cottage owners at Crowe Lake who are resident in other parts of Canada and also in the U.S.A. He asked for six copies of the map referred to and several copies of the communication from the Geographic Board to the postmaster at Marmora for the purpose of petitioning.

Though this letter was dispatched by Mr. Pearce on December 19th and a second letter was sent on January 4th, he has had no reply so contemplates dispatch of a third letter.

The Examiner representative, conversing with old residents of the village with long family connection with Marmora, was informed that Crowe lake and Crowe river have been thus known for at least eighty-five years, the name being taken from the Crowe Indians which frequented the district at the time of its settlement by the white race.

Called Crow in 1890.

Being shown a copy of the report of the Royal Commission on Mineral Resources of Ontario, published in 1890, the following paragraph was noted by ythe writer: "A blast furnace was erected on the Crow river, township of Marmora, about the year 1820, by Mr. Hayes to treat the magnetic ores of what is known as the Big Ore bed at Blairton on Crow lake."

There is apparently reluctance to part with a name identified with these two features for over a century. Another local objection to the change is this: There is already another small lake on the eastern boundary of Marmora township which is known as Marmora lake and to have two lakes of the same name in one township would be even more confusing.

WEDDINGS

WOODCOCK—McINROY.

MARMORA, Jan. 9.—The wedding took place at the United Church Parsonage, Marmora, on Thursday, January 7, of Norma, daughter of Mrs. A. McInroy, of Marmora, and Mr. Norman Woodcock of Belleville. Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth was the officiating minister.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McInroy.

ALTON—SCHOLEY

A pretty wedding took place quietly at two o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon at the Manse of Mark Street United Church, when Jessie Eileen Scholey, only daughter of C. Scholey of Stewart street and the late Mrs. Scholey, became the bride of Neil Alton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Alton of Mark street. The Rev. E. W. Rowland officiated.

Attendants were Miss Jessie Alton, sister of the bridegroom, and George Scholey, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a frock of blue rough silk crepe with long sleeves, a navy blue felt hat and navy accessories, with corsage of pink roses.

Miss Alton was in blue crepe with matching hat of felt and satin and blue accessories. Her corsage bouquet was also of pink roses.

After the ceremony, Mr. Alton and his bride left by train for a trip to Toronto, the latter donning a brown fur coat. On their return, they will live at 98 Stewart street.

FROST DOWN 12-26 INCHES.

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 8 (C.P.)—Workmen digging a trench here for telephone conduits checked the depth of frost, found that it varied from one foot to 26 inches over a distance of 100 feet.

Fashion Service

This little basque swing skirt dress of navy blue wool crepe will make daughter very happy.

The fitted basque bodice has a bright red lacing tied cunningly at the waist.

Two rows of braid—one red and one white—accentuate the swinging hem. The flared skirt with its snug little hipline is such an adorable fashion for growing girls. The double rows of braid also edge the shirt collar and the turn-back flared cuffs.

To copy it exactly it takes only 2¼ yards of 39-inch material with 7 yards of braid for the 8-year size.

Being smart and sophisticated, she'll want Mother to make her another dress with the same pattern of gay tyrolean cotton print. Make the collar and cuffs of plain bright green cotton and the bias lacings of the plain green. For the edge of the skirt, collar and cuffs, combine red and green bias binds.

Raven crepe silk would be nice for Sunday school with two-toned gros-grain ribbon trim.

Style No. 3247 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Canadian Broadcasts From South Sea Islands.

A very spectacular item in recent broadcasts over the air from a long distance was that of the Hawaiian Islands—Canadian event from Honolulu, when Alex V. Fortye, manager of the Honolulu branch of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, took part. Mr. Fortye is the son of Mrs. R. H. Fortye of Gilmour street, nephew of Mrs. G. M. Roger, also of Gilmour street, and son-in-law of Mrs. W. H. Hill of Brock street.

Mr. Fortye participated in the broadcast over KGMB, to Canada, and received messages of congratulation from his mother and aunt in Peterborough and his brother, W. T. Fortye, in Kingston. He also received surprise messages of congratulation on the program from F. D. Macorquodale, superintendent of agencies for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, and G. T. Bryson, assistant superintendent.

One of the interesting features of the broadcast was a roll call in the studios of KGMB of local residents or visitors from every province in Canada except New Brunswick.

The radio message to the entire Dominion of Canada was the first ever especially directed from Hawaii to the friendly dominion.

Sergeants' Mess Whist Drive and Dance.

The Armories was the scene of a happy affair of Friday evening, when the members of the Sergeants' Mess of the Prince of Wales Rangers were hosts to their friends at a whist drive and dance attended by one hundred and fifty people. Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. A. E. Borland, Mrs. F. Griffin, Mrs. A. Simmonds, Miss N. Pooley, A. McLaren and Sgt. A. Smedmore. The door prize, which was donated, went to Mrs. A. Kent and the raffle was won by Miss N. Pooley, who also secured one of the whist prizes.

Dainty refreshments were served, prepared by Mrs. H. Chate. Snappy music for dancing was played by Reg Dyer and his orchestra.

The committee in charge of arrangements included C. S. M. Tom Griffin (chairman), and M.C.C.Q.M.S. H. Chate, Refreshments; Sgts. Dave Clark, McNabb and Ridyard, assistants. The next party of the Mess will be held on Friday, January 29th.

Gift For Popular Teacher.

Mrs. L. H. Deyman of Rubidge street was pleasantly surprised on Thursday evening when seventeen of the former members of her Bible class at St. John's church visited her at her home and presented her with a handsome black silk parasol. The presentation was made by Miss Sybil Ecobichon and a complimentary address in rhyme was read by Miss Belle Thirnbeck. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing to music played by Jack Marshall, after which refreshments were enjoyed.

Those present included Mesdames B. Goodson, Neil Clark, E. Bickell, R. Thompson, J. Pearce; the Misses Sybil Ecobichon, Belle Thirnbeck, Dora Davis, Marjorie Lorne, Violet Fouiger, Audrey Heap, Margaret Simpson, Doris and Iris Williams, Jean Lush, Rose Puddick, Hilda Ephgrave, and Jack Marshall.

26 NEW SCHOLARSHIPS.

EDMONTON, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—Twenty-six scholarships entitling farm boys or girls to attend one of the Alberta agricultural schools have been established to encourage agricultural education, it is announced by Agriculture Minister Chant.

Art As Part Of Every Day

"If people are going to keep on regarding their business activities without any relation to an aesthetically humanized environment, civilization is doomed....

"It is just as easy to make a thing beautiful as it is to make it ugly. In the original farmhouse buildings of this country, I get an impression of tradition, with a sense of good craftsmanship, of proportion and of grace. In the newer type of farm building, there is an impression that they are put up without any relation to the land or to social grace. I am sure the design of these modern farmhouses has nothing to do with local tradition whatever, but comes right out of some business man's catalogue....

"It is certain that your sense of material grace can atrophy and that you can grow so accustomed to seeing ugly things around you that you forget all about them.... You become so blind to your surroundings that you forget them entirely, and life is the poorer."

Professor John Alford, who for the past two and one-half years has been professor of Fine Arts at the University of Toronto, spoke to the members of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association at their meeting held on Friday afternoon in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association, with tea served later in the library.

The title of Professor Alford's address was "Art in the Modern Community." It was originally intended that lantern slides should illustrate the lecture, but, through some misconception, it was impossible to show them. The speaker, therefore, with a candour that was as refreshing as it was startling, took the room in which he stood as an example of what he strove to convey in his talk, in lieu of the lantern slides, and proceeded to use it as an illustration of what he described as a "loss of a sense of proportion in arrangement of window-spaces, etcetera; a loss of a sense of unity, or perhaps, a new sense of unity (as evidenced in these waterpipes); and a piecemeal makeshift of contemporary environment in the relation of the pictures to the walls."

Easel Picture Destroys Unity

"In Canada," he said, "there remains a sense of tradition, and, superimposed on that, a vast amount of makeshift. During the Renaissance, a picture or image was something which formed a part of the general environment of the people and it was either a portion of the wall surface and avoided any breaking of the continuity of the wall surface or was a panel which was part of the decorative scheme. With the intrusion of the easel picture, which could be used irrespective of general unity in any room in the house, came a collapse of the sense of a unified general environment."

Members of the Art Association rose to assure the speaker that the mixture of pictures on the wall was mainly due to the kindness of the Y.W.C.A. in allowing the Association's members to hang their own pictures on the walls.

To which the professor replied: "That may be the particular reason in this instance, but if it is, there seems to be a particular reason in a vast number of places."

Replying also to another assertion that the artistic sense cannot yet be developed to a great extent in a young community in a very large land, he said: "I realize that, but I realize also the danger of merely repeating it."

In the prefatory sentences to his address, Professor Alford said: "Art is essentially not a specific activity—like painting a picture, or carving, or making a pot—but it is rather something that affects the whole of one's attitude toward one's environment and also the look of the environment in which we live. In other words, it is the creation of an environment rather than the creation of a piece of artistic work.

The speaker referred to the manner in which the industrial revolution had changed the old mode of individual craftsmanship in small workshops, so that the old beauty of design which goes hand in hand with craftsmanship had been lost.

He labelled as an "industrial eczema" the manner of building whole rows of ugly little cottages without any sense of space or proportion.

Speaking of the manner in which the utilitarian form of agriculture—the growing of food—and the utilitarian form of making a place of shelter had led to architectural beauty in building, he spoke of the garden-making by landed estate owners in England which had come in time to make the rural landscape of England a thing of beauty, developed not just by Nature but by the deliberate work of man, in "the largest scale work of art that has ever been created."

"So the expansion of agriculture led to landscape gardening, and the expansion of the first shelter led to architecture and town planning."

"I don't know," he declared, "just how far the responsible portion of the Canadian community realizes that a fine environment is a man-made thing."

In summing up, Professor Alford said: "I think that things could be bettered by recognition and study on a large scale by a great many people and by bringing these things to the attention of the young. Train-in a casual fashion—the aesthetic eye of the young, by giving them an architecturally well-designed school, also by treating art—not just as the making of a picture—but as an aspect of all their studies."

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

I NEVER knew a night so black:
Light failed to follow in its track.

I never knew a storm so grey:
It failed to have its clearing day.

I never knew such bleak despair:
That there was not a rift somewhere.

I never knew an hour so drear,
Love could not fill it full of cheer.
—John Kendricks Bangs.

Dear Friends:

Were you ever in a storm at sea? The night is so black, not a star to be seen, and the wind screaming and moaning, the waves lashing high, the ship tossing and staggering under the blows of the waves, which threaten every minute to engulf the ship and everyone on it.

Truly it is an awe-inspiring experience. You feel so little and trivial out there on the tossing waves. You see the might and majesty of God, who rules both sea and land. The ship which you thought was so big, now seems like a top boat at the mercy of wind and water, and every persons seems so helpless in the face of this power which is at work.

And yet there is no panic. Everyone, even down to the bugle-boy, goes about his or her work, without a trace of fear. Meals are on time, and are just as delicious as usual. "Sparks", the radio man is in touch with all ships within the radius of his voice. You see the men fasten down everything that could be swept overboard, everyone going about his work swiftly, yet giving no impression of haste.

The entertainment committee come around asking who will sing or give a sketch, and when you ask if it is alright to go ahead with such trivial things, they tell you, "oh this is nothing, just a little blow."

And with all this unconcern, there is born in you the idea that if they have courage to go on as if nothing was the matter, why you have courage too, and you enter with zest into all the arrangements. You tell the timid ones, that "it is only a little blow," as if you had been used to much worse storms than this, when all the time you knew you had never seen anything like it in your life before.

All night long, the wind screamed, and whistled and moaned, the darkness was terrifying, the lurching of the ship sickened you, and you wondered if ever it would be calm again. Where now were pleasant sunny days, the nice warm air, the sense of adventure. You were having an adventure, and not liking it a little bit.

And the hours seemed to crawl. You kept looking at your watch to see if dawn would ever come, all the time singing at the top of your voice, so that you could be heard above the din. You were not in the mood for singing, but you had to show some courage when so much is shown all around you, and to instil some in those who were sore afraid of a watery grave.

And slowly but surely the wind began to lessen, the ship stopped trying to stand on its head, or roll over on its side, and you began to feel oh so weary, and wishful for a nice sound sleep. Then when you saw the older ones and the timorous ones safely tucked in bed you crept into your own, without even taking the trouble to undress.

Then, after a hurried breakfast, you went on deck, and saw the waves tumbling angrily about, and the wind still at gale proportions, yet knew definitely that the worst of it was over, you gave thanks to your Maker for His great mercy in seeing all of you through such a storm.

And it dawned on you, that life was like that at times. We are tossed about by things over which we have no control, we think they may even sink us, but we keep our courage up, we sing to keep the heart in those around us, and then the dawn comes, the storm subsides and our Captain guides us into calm water. All of us on board ship thanked the captain and the crew, and they in turn thanked us for helping to avert a panic, and I never was so proud in my life when he told me I was a "real sailor," for to be classed with those brave men and women was indeed an honor.

And so I think we should all thank our Captain for steering us through another perilous year, for we are making history and not liking it overly much. We should look back at the things He helped us out of, that He kept our ship of life in a more or less even keel, and that altho' we think it has been shipwrecked, yet we know that we are still sailing on to a safe harbor. More later.

HISTORY OF WOOL IS WELL TOLD BY MISS E. HOPKINS

Instructor From Women's Institute Branch Gives Interesting Talk At Lakefield

CLASS HAS STARTED

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 9.—The class on "Home Utilization of Wool" which is being conducted by Miss Edith Hopkins of the Institute Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in the Memorial Hall at Lakefield under the auspices of the Lakefield Branch of the Women's Institute, this week, is well worth attending. About sixteen persons are taking the course which is designed to give a knowledge of the history of wool, and how to wash, card and prepare it for use in the home. It includes, as well, information on making quilts, knitting socks and gloves and using wool in hooked mats, etc.

In her talk on the history of wool which is an interesting and enlightening part of the course, Miss Hopkins said that "sheep did not originally possess the woolly fleece we now associate with them." Sheep in the beginning were covered with hair and the wool was merely a slight soft down next the skin. By special breeding, woolly sheep were produced by prehistoric shepherds. Sheep raising was carried on extensively in the country around Rome, and the finest wool bearing sheep of our own times are indirect descendants of Roman breeds. During the reign of Henry I England began to develop a woollen industry of her own and to benefit it, the export of wools from England was prohibited for some years.

Protected By Law

"The Merino," native of Spain, was heavily protected by law, but some of these sheep drifted to other countries as royal presents to reigning sovereigns and laid the foundation for the great wool raising industry of the colonies.

"The beginning of the North American wool growing industry may be traced to the landing of English sheep at Jamestown, Va. in 1609. The first sheep to come to Canada according to record, were brought from France the middle of the seventeenth century. Towards the end of the eighteenth century, colonies of United Empire Loyalists brought with them from the Eastern States, such sheep as were common in those districts.

British Importations

In 1830, small stocks of sheep were brought by British immigrants, thus improving Canadian flocks. Previous to 1910, government aid to the sheep industry took the form of financial assistance to sheep sales. In 1918, the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Ltd. was organized. In Canada, the sheep is a dual purpose animal for the production of mutton and wool. During the past ten years a great deal of attention given by sheep men to the production and care of wool, has resulted in a much superior product being raised today. Practically all Canadian wool is of excellent quality as compared with its own class from other countries and this grading has given Canadian wool an excellent standing in the wool markets of the world.

Wool produced in Canada ranges from coarse to fine. Approximately one-half of the Canadian wool clip is exported annually, chiefly to the United States and Great Britain. About 9,000,000 pounds of Canada's shorn crop is worked up in this country, chiefly in the woollen and knitting factories. Besides this considerable is manufactured in the homes of farmers, particularly in New Brunswick and Quebec. Large supplies of Australian and other wools not obtainable here are imported each year. Owing to the numerous breeds and grades of sheep raised on Canadian farms, the Canadian wool clip lacks the uniformity found in wool produced in countries where sheep-raising is carried on largely from a wool standpoint," Miss Hopkins said.

How to Wash Wool

She showed the class how to wash i.e. "scour" the wool, and how to lay it out on a rack to dry. The next step is the "carding proces." This is the method used for removing impurities from the wool and straightening out the fibres so that the wool may be made into batts for quilts or mattresses. The carding is done by means of two "cards" each containing wire bristles set loosely in a setting of kid which is mounted on a wooden back. The "teeth" or bristles are bent slightly, and after the washed wool is placed on one card the other card is placed on top of the first, with the handles held in opposite directions, and combed across the first card until the fibres are straightened and evenly distributed on both cards. The wool in this state, if laid in position and pressed into place by weights, can be rolled into batts suitable for quilts and comforters.

Quilt a Work of Art

Miss Hopkins is interested too in the making of quilts, and believes that a quilt can be as much a work of art as a beautiful picture, wall hanging or a rug, if the pattern is good in design, the colours carefully chosen and the workmanship perfect.

"A quilt is worth making only if it adds attractiveness and charm to a bed room." She showed samples of pieced and appliqued quilts which are truly works of art. Even a novice in the quilt-making art could not help but receive inspiration from an inspection of the exquisitely fine work and the clever choice of colour in these samples.

Also included in the course are lessons in knitting such articles as gloves and socks.

STOP BABY'S COLD BEFORE IT GETS WORSE

A FIREMAN will tell you big fires are little fires when they start. That's why they always hurry to put them out. Don't let your baby's little cold develop into a "big cold" or something worse. Be in a hurry to check it. Let Mrs. C——, of Winona, Ont., tell you how. "I have five healthy children and used Baby's Own Tablets for all of them. When I see a cold coming on, I give the tablets and in a day or so they are quite well again. I think there is nothing better."

Baby's Own Tablets are safe and sure in their action. They correct the cause of Baby's trouble. Yet they are utterly free from opiates or stupefying drugs. An analyst's report is given on each package.

Effective in clearing up teething troubles, constipation, simple fevers, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic and summer complaint, irritability, simple croup and other of "baby's" ailments.

Your druggist will return your money if you are not satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets. Try them, 25 cents.

"I gained 10 pounds . . . and everybody says my complexion is really grand!"

MANY young girls shoot up in height, yet stay as thin as a rail. Miss Mary B——* was like that until recently. She says:

"I was awfully tall and thin for my age so Mother got me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and now I have gained about 10 lbs. And everybody says my complexion is really grand."

When young people are growing, or when adults are underweight, nature must have the proper materials or the body won't gain a pound. Very often the body building material required is iron. As soon as Mary B——* began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, she gained in weight and in health, because this remedy provided the iron she needed. Note how her complexion improved, too!

If you are too thin or if you are rundown, nervous, have no pep and get moody at times, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They will tone up your health and build up your body; give you back your pep and good spirits. And this better health will be reflected in a clearer, rosier complexion. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are 50c everywhere.

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills regularly for a while, and if you don't feel better, stronger and healthier, your money will be returned to you.

1937 OFFICERS KIWANIS CLUB ARE INSTALLED

William Cockburn Of Toronto, International Vice-President, Is Guest Speaker

OTHER OFFICIALS PRESENT

Gayety and gravity mingled pleasantly in the program prepared for the installation of Kiwanis Club officers for 1937, as it progressed at the Ladies' Night and dinner held under Club auspices on Friday evening at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

Driving through a fog that might well have rivalled, during the early hours of the evening, the famous "pea-soupers" of old England, came guests from Toronto and Lindsay, to join with local folk in the ceremony of installation. Kiwanis members and their ladies and guests, numbering eighty-five, assembled in the handsome big clubhouse for a fine dinner, served at half a dozen tables placed in the gaily-decorated solarium which later served for dancing, while bridge was played in the main lounge.

It was a pleasant ceremony that engaged the attention of the guests, with plenty of the friendly 'kidding' with which the Kiwanians enliven these functions, and some excellent advice for the coming year handed out by 'Bill' Cockburn of Toronto, International Vice President, who never fails to set the stamp of his own genial personality, quick wit and solid interest in Kiwanis activities, on these annual affairs which seem all the brighter when he holds the reins of installation.

Retiring president Harold R. Scott was in the chair, later relinquishing it to the incoming president, Al Sharpe. Cliff Hall led community singing, with Leslie Unitt at the piano, and Miss Isabel Duthie's sweet singing of a pretty number, "Still as the Night," earned her plenty of applause and brought a bright encore.

Officers Installed

Taking part in various portions of the installation ceremonies, with brief and telling little speeches and bits of advice and humorous quips, were various visitors and local members. J. A. McKone, again holder of the secretarial chair for the club and dubbed by Mr. Cockburn as "one of the best secretaries in Canada," introduced Colonel Ivan Moore, K.C. of Lindsay, who is Lieutenant-Governor of the Kiwanis clubs in this district and who had charge of the installation of directors. This group, introduced by Dr. C. B. Waite, included W. A. Richardson, C. S. Browne, F. Ford, E. P. Barber, F. E. Johnston, T. Mark, L. R Mitchell and Ed Smith.

The installation of the secretary, J. A. McKone, and treasurer, D. H. Platt, was performed by George Coulter, past president of the Riverdale Club, Toronto, who was introduced by Colonel Ivan Moore, while the office of introduction of the two officers was in the hands of Perry J. Giffen.

Then N. H. Reynolds, president of the Riverdale Club, introduced W. Cockburn of Toronto, the main speaker of the evening. In a speech sparkling with dry humour and sudden bits of Kiwanian wisdom, Mr. Cockburn, alluding to many pleasant memories of the Peterborough club from previous visits, and his regret at the absence of "my old friend, Charlie Cook," adjured the two vice presidents: D. J. Fitzgerald and L. J. Pettit (introduced by Charles Saunders as the 'Mutt and Jeff' of the club), to be something more than vice presidents in name only and to prepare suggestions for club practice.

Mr. Cockburn also congratulated the incoming president, Al Sharpe (introduced by H. R. Scott) on his accession to the chair of such an important member of the Kiwanis Club family as the local branch.

"On the continent of North America, there are almost 100,000 members in over 1900 clubs, and tonight, Al, you hold the reins of a wonderful little club. No money can buy the friendships and the opportunities you encounter in Kiwanis."

He then asked the incoming president to present the past president's button to Harold Scott, who, as President Sharpe remarked, "has certainly earned it."

A Weighty Speech

Exhibiting a voluminous manuscript which he declared contained the notes of his speech and then relinquishing it at the dismayed requests of the Kiwanians, President Sharpe, in the chair, asked for the support and co-operation of the members and executive. He asked for suggestions for a new objective; for an increase of at least ten members in the coming year, and for improved attendance at weekly meetings.

Pausing to extend an official welcome to Mrs. McKone on her first appearance after her recent serious illness, he outlined the convenors of various committees, as follows:

Program: F. E. Johnston, convenor (with A. B. Gates, P. J. Giffen, the Rev. J. D. Paterson, C. N. Hall); Attendance: W. A. Richardson, convenor (with E. P. Barber, W. C. McCreery, Ed Smith); Classification and Membership: D. J. Fitzgerald, convenor (with Charles Saunders, John I. Allen, Ivan Lillico); Interclub Relations and Transportation: Rev. J. D. Paterson, convenor (with H. R. Scott, C. N. Hall, L. R. Mitchell); Business Standards and Public Affairs: Perry J. Giffen, convenor (with D. R. Platt, W. A. Richardson, Dr. G. Ray Scott, Dr. C. B. Waite); Agriculture: Dr. J. J. Craig, convenor (with W. G. Ovens, H. R. Scott, J. W. Pierce, D. R. Platt, H. Matthews); Boys' and Girls' Work: L. J Pettit, convenor (with Dr. C. M. Scott, Neil Warrander, H. T. Cranford); Underprivileged Child: Dr. C. B. Waite, convenor (with Dr. F. C. Neal, Dr. G. R. Scott, N. Warrander, Dr. C. M. Scott); Vocational: C. S. Browne, convenor (with J. A. McKone, E. P. Barber); Budget and Finance: D. R. Platt, convenor (with Al Sharpe and J. A. McKone); Music: C. N. Hall, convenor (with C. S. Browne and C. Saunders); Kiwanis Education: Dr. F. C. Neal, convenor (with T. Mark, Dr. J. J. Craig, Rev. J. D. Paterson); Laws and Regulation: J. A. McKone, convenor and C. S. Browne; Publicity and K Ray: A. B. Gates, convenor (with Perry J. Giffen and J. A. McKone); House, Property, Reception, Goodwill and Grievance: Ivan Lillico, convenor (with J. Comstock, T. Mark, A. Moffat, Ev Taylor); Sports: Ed Smith, convenor (with J. Skinner, W. G. Ovens, L. T. Mitchell, J. P. Bond); Sunshine, Sick and Visiting: F. Ford, convenor (with N. Warrander, J. Skinner and H. Matthews); Accompanist: M. B. Chenhall; Chairman of Committee Chairmen: L. J. Pettit; Chairman of Executive: D. J. Fitzgerald; Secretary of Committee chairman: C. Saunders.

Ladies to Help

Reference was made to the desire of the club to have the ladies assist actively with the affairs of the Jackson Park Camp for Children, also to a suggestion made by Mr. Cockburn, that each committee, in turn, take charge of a meeting.

President J. Deyell of the Lindsay Club brought greetings from the club which is a child of the local club, having been sponsored by the Peterborough organization; brief reports on activities were presented by F. Ford and Dr. F. C. Neal, the latter also moving the appreciation of the club to the visitors who had come through the fog for the occasion, and to the musicians; while A. B. Gates announced a visit here of the "House of Magic" of the General Electric Company, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada and the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club. The showing of this "House of Magic" will take place in the P.C.I. auditorium on February 16th and 17th, with especial matinee and evening performances for seniors and juniors of the city.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR BIG DINNER

Three Outstanding Speakers To Address The Kawartha Tourist Association

Three outstanding speakers have been lined up for the first regular business meeting of the recently-formed Kawartha Lakes District Tourist Association to be held at Lindsay on Tuesday evening next.

The after-dinner speakers are announced by James J. Dorris, secretary-manager of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce as being: D. Leo Dolan, director of The Canadian Travel Bureau, Ottawa; John Hambleton, director of The Ontario Tourist and Publicity Bureau, Toronto; and S. R. Alger, president of The Ontario Federation of Anglers.

The Association is anxious to get the full co-operation of all communities in the counties of Peterborough, Haliburton, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham, in an effort to increase tourist traffic to the district.

Special invitations have gone out to the Wardens of each of the five counties as well as to the Reeves of the various municipalities chiefly concerned, and to representatives of the daily and weekly press of the entire Kawartha district.

PRESENT PORTRAIT OF LATE JUDGE TO B A R ASSOCIATION

Wilfrid Huycke, K.C., Makes Presentation Of Picture Of His Father

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

An oak-framed portrait of the late Judge Edward Cornelius Stanbury Huycke, who died in May, 1934, within two months of completing a quarter-century on Peterborough County bench, was on Friday afternoon presented to members of the legal fraternity at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Bar Association. The picture, generally considered one of the finest portrait studies ever executed by Roy Studios, is to be hung in the law library at the County Buildings along with pictures of other holders of the office who preceded the late Judge Huycke.

Wilfrid F. Huycke, K.C., made the presentation on his own behalf and on behalf of other surviving sons and daughters of the late Judge Huycke, and the gift was formally accepted by President J.Walton Stevenson on behalf of the Association.

Another picture, also to be hung in the law library, was presented by the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. It was a portrait study of the Honorable Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General of Ontario, attired in gown and wig. The portrait was presented to the Association by Mr. Roebuck and was suitably framed to the order of Mr. Gordon.

Officers of the Association were re-elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, J. Walton Stevenson; vice-president, Bernard H. Park; secretary, Jacob Low; treasurer, John R. Corkery.

Branch Notes

ST. JOHN'S BRANCH

St. John's A.Y.P.A. held their monthly business meeting on Wednesday evening, with Ed. McDonald presiding. The program for the month was presented by Viola Clarke. The Dramatic convenor, Miss Hutchinson, announced plans for a "Minstrel Revue," and a one-act play, to be put on in February.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH

St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. held their annual banquet in the Parish Hall on Thursday, with an attendance of about forty.

Rev. Mr. Brain, from St. John's Church, as guest speaker, was welcomed by the president, Miss Queenie Hope. A splendid address on "Famine of Love," dealing with the social and industrial side of people's lives, followed.

Miss Roma Reid moved the vote of thanks to the speaker.

William Hepburn, Jr., moved a vote of thanks to Miss Phyllis Starr, who supplied music during the evening for community singing. Victor Sedgewick moved a vote of thanks to the ladies in charge of refreshments for providing such a splendid supper. Refreshments were in charge of Misses Queenie Hope, Clemena Long, Mildred Andrews and Mr. William Hill. The ladies who assisted in serving were Mrs. W. Ebbs, Mrs. W. Thompson, Mrs. T. B. Maniece, Mrs. J. Forbes, and Mrs. J. Delong.

After the conclusion of the banquet a short business meeting took place to elect the officers for the coming year.

The reports of secretary and treasurer gave great encouragement on the year's work.

It was agreed to give donation towards Sunday school supper.

Officers elected for following year were as follows: President, Queenie Hope; Vice-president, Bernard Pammett; Secretary, Clemena Long; Treasurer, William Hill; Publicity Secretary, Roma Reid; Dramatic Convenor, Jean McCauley.

The three captains for the teams are: Muriel Krant, Bernard Pammett, and Jack Davies.

LESS TIME TO READ TIMES GET BETTER LIBRARIAN SAYS

Total Circulation At Public Library Dropped From 128,891 To 121,300

1,784 NEW BOOKS

In his annual report to the Public Library Board, F. M. Dela Fosse, librarian, ascribes a decline last year in the circulation of books of fiction to the general increase in employment. The inference is that people have less time for reading as compared with 1935, and the total circulation declined from 128,891 to 121,300.

Librarian's Report

The report by Mr. Dela Fosse follows:

"There has been a very noticeable decrease in the circulation of fiction during the year, I am quite sure, however that far from being a regrettable feature in our work, it is cause for satisfaction as showing that more breadwinners are at work than in former years. Every library has the same tale to tell. The Toronto Library, for instance, registered a decrease of 70,000 volumes of fiction alone, in the month of November last. Our decrease in this section for the whole year has been 7,129 as compared with the year 1935.

"The other departments have shown fluctuations, there having been slight decreases in some instances and slight increases in others. These are shown in figures given at the end of the report.

"Our Reading Rooms have been, as usual, very well patronised, especially on the Men's side. Excellent order has been maintained and too much praise cannot be given to those who have been in the habit of frequenting the library for the care they have taken in observing regulations laid down by the Board. There has been a certain amount of vandalism, but very little damage in this particular has been done.

"Wastage in the matter of books has been large but no greater than in former years."

1,784 New Books.

"During the year 1784 books were acquired by the library, 1200 for the adult department and 584 for the Juvenile.

"The Library has been indebted to the trustees of the late Mr. John Crane's estate for the gift of nearly 200 volumes, also Mr. H. T. Pammett for a valuable thesis on the Robinson immigration of 1825, and to the Hon. G. N. Gordon and Rev. W. P. Robertson for gifts of several books.

"The Juvenile department has been progressing very satisfactorily. Every phase of its activities has been well looked after. The Story Hour especially has drawn large attendances.

"I can have nothing but commendation for the way in which every member of the staff in both departments has performed her duties. It is a pleasure to inform the Board that I have received many encomiums on their efficiency from varied quarters.

Following are the figures of circulation for the past year as well as those dealing with the number of books purchased, and other matters:

During 1936 we started a new registration in order to cancel names of those who for various causes had left the Library.

"Our new register shows that during 1936, 1,500 men had taken out cards and 1,872 women, making a total of 3,372.

"513 books of fiction and 12 of non-fiction were discarded during the year, making a total of 525.

"A great deal of expense, as the board knows, has been incurred on needed repairs outside the Library. I am glad to report, however, that expenses have been kept down, as the statement for the year will show."

HENRY GILBO DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Native Son Of Hastings Dies Suddenly While Kindling Morning Fire

HASTINGS, Jan. 9.— (Examiner Correspondence.) — Henry Gilbo, prominent and lifelong resident of this community, dropped dead of heart failure around eight o'clock this morning. He was in the act of getting some kindling wood for the fire when he suffered a fatal heart seizure. He was in his 70th year. Born in Hastings, Mr. Gilbo was for a number of years connected with the Fowlds Company, Limited, but for the past few years had lived in retirement. He is survived by his widow. Coroner Dr. C. C. Armstrong of Warkworth, deemed an inquest unnecessary.

One district after another in Britain is appointing a salaried full-time organizer of air raid precautions.

Reeve Of Manvers

J. C. CUMMISKEY

By defeating Fred S. Gray at the polls last Monday J. C. Cummiskey was advanced from the position of Deputy-reeve to the Reeveship of Manvers township, and he is being mentioned as one of the Durham members of the counties council who may be nominated for the Wardenship of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham this year.—(Staff Photo).

Collegiate Notes

SHOWDOWN

While P.C.V.S. students were enjoying the annual round of gay entertainments which the Christmas season brings, the staff was apparently at work. The fruit of the staff labors is now appearing in the form of examination results. Fourth and Fifth form lads and lassies have now received the bad news and more is on the way for those of the lower forms. Having hurdled the first of the year's series of three barriers, some are going about with light hearts. Others are wondering what is this thing called Happy New Year.

BASKETBALL OUTLOOK

It seems just a week or so ago the student body was concerned with just one thing in the realm of sport —the welfare of the rugby squad. Then came the team's Waterloo on a snow-covered field of battle and the P.C.V.S. sport spotlight turned to basketball. The basketball season is now here.

P.C.V.S. has three teams entered in the Lakeshore group this year—a senior girls' squad and senior and junior boys' squads. All resumed practice this week. Candidates were put through limbering-up routines before the holidays and coached on the fundamentals but the real work of team organization was left until after the holidays. The candidates for places on the boys' senior team are hopeful of equalling or bettering the pace set by the teams of 1935 and 1936 which reached, respectively, final and semi-final play-offs before going down to defeat. A fairly promising selection of material is available for all three teams, it is reported.

The girls will practice Monday and Wednesday afternoons each week and the junior and senior boys' squads will work out on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The Lakeshore schedule opened last night but P.C.V.S. does not make its basketball debut for 1937 until next week.

Only four members of the 1936 senior team remain. Ten aspirants turned out in search of the vacant berths at the first practice Tuesday. With the moving of a number of last year's juniors into senior company, plenty of room for newcomers is afforded on the junior squad. Fifteen turned out to the first junior practice.

COMMENDATION

Congratulations for the success of the annual school At Home held Christmas week were extended by Dr. H. R. H. Kenner to the Students' Council, Miss Mayme Montgomery, the Social Committee and other co-operating bodies this week. He cited the big social affair as one of the best in a long series of such dances which goes far back into P.C.V.S. history. It is understood the accounts in connection with the dance have not yet been settled so the success in dollars and cents has not yet been determined. Although the At Home is not looked upon by the Council as a revenue producer, it is expected a financial statement promised for next week will show a surplus.

OPERETTA PLANNED

At a meeting on Monday the Students' Council agreed to follow the success of last year's operetta "Oh Doctor!" with another operetta this year. Since the school now has two training schools for vocal talent in the active Boys' and Girls' glee clubs, most of the members for the cast will be obtained from these sources. It is reported that members will be selected from each glee club for formation of a mixed vocal group.

Martin B. Chenhall, director of "Oh Doctor!" has again been retained. He has sent for several sample operettas for consideration. A choice will likely be made in time for commencement of rehearsals in the next two weeks.

ODDS AND ENDS

No candidate for the junior basketball squad is working with greater enthusiasm than the coach, H. A. Craig. On Thursday afternoon he was to be seen with his coat off and shirt sleeves rolled up showing the boys how it should be done—and having a good time doing it....A fourth former displayed a different tie on each of the first four days this week. Right the first guess—Christmas ties. He reckons he will have them worn out in a month and will then be able to go back to his old favorites with the familiar egg spots.....George Hall, president of the Students' Council, was in a dither this week when he lost a number of the Council's check forms ready made out for remittance. When he finally recalled that the checks were unsigned and thus non-negotiable, his worries eased.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up By an Examiner Reporter.

AT THE EMPRESS.

A. G. Stewart and R. C. Stewart of St. John who are in the employ of the Quaker Oats Company have been in town on business and have been guests at the Empress Hotel.

CAR IS DESTROYED

The car owned by Max Vincent of Park Hill Road was completely destroyed by fire on Monaghan Road this afteroon. Mr. Vincent was driving north below Lansdowne street when the vehicle suddenly caught fire.

BAD FOR WORK IN WOODS.

The weather has been so unusually mild recently that lumbering and wood cutting operations in the district have been badly handicapped. Some of the camps in the Lindsay area have suspended work until more seasonable conditions arrive.

CERTIFICATES IN DEMAND.

The city's new prepayment tax certificate plan, The Examiner learns has already brought in over $70,000, but as was pointed out when the scheme was introduced the bigger taxpayers are leading the parade to buy the certificates and have been responsible for most of the revenue that has so far come in.

SNOW BADLY NEEDED.

Farmers in attendance at the market this morning were unanimous in the hope that before there is another freezeup there will be a substantial fall of snow. They point out that at present the fall wheat which was in splendid shape is completely uncovered and a cold dip without a protective blanket of snow would be disastrous.

DUCKS GOING NORTH?

A flock of about twenty wild ducks is reported to have passed over the city on Friday afternoon, flying in a northerly direction. They were seen by Mrs. Ed. Shortt, whose description of the birds leaves little room for doubt, even though it is a most unusual thing at this season of the year.

GEORGE STREET W.A.

The Rev. George Little, D.D., was guest speaker in an inspiring talk on "Knowing People," at the January meeting of the Women's Association of George Street United Church, with the president, Mrs. T. Mark, in the chair. The devotional period was led by Mrs. W. G. Morrow. Yearly reports presented by committee convenors showed a large amount of good work accomplished. Groups led by Mesdames Redpath and Copp led in attendance.

ENERGETIC BIDDY

Mrs. W. H. Fair of Ida is the proud possessor of a Plymouth Rock year-old hen which is evidently imbued with the idea of producing bigger, better and more eggs. Every other day, she lays a double-yolk egg and some of them are extremely large. Up to date she has produced eight of these huge examples of hen fruit. The seventh, brought in today for inspection, was 8½ inches by 7¼ inches, and weighed

HEARD ROBIN TRIO.

Percy Harrison rubbed his eyes and quickened his attention as he heard three robins singing in Inverlea Park at 8 o'clock this morning. "They were warbling 'It's June in January' or something to that effect, and it was good to hear them although we can't believe that the winter hasn't a lot of ammunition up its sleeve." And Mr. Harrison was absolutely positive that they were robins.

INCH OF RAINFALL.

One inch of rain fell overnight, A. O. Phillips, Government weather recorder, reported today. During the night the temperature rose from 38 degrees at 9 p.m. Friday to 42 degrees at 6 a.m. this morning. He said a brief reference to his records indicated an inch of rain in January is unusual but not particularly rare. On four or five occasions since 1920 Peterborough has had a fall of one inch or more of rain in January, he stated.

JUDGEMENT FOR $15.

Judgment for the plaintiff for $15 and cost was rendered by Judge Sheldon Smoke after hearing an action by Mrs. Bruce Reid against S. R. Pearson, bailiff, and William J. Charlton of Lakefield in Division Court Friday. The plaintiff had asked $30 for the board of a man placed in possession. W. J. Arthur Fair acted for the plaintiff and F. D. Kerr, K.C., for the defendants.

ACTION IS DISMISSED.

A Division Court action by Lloyd Scriver for $120 damages against Thomas Cardwell of Westwood in connection with an accident last June has been dismissed by Judge Sheldon Smoke and the counterclaim of the defendant allowed. It was contended Mr. Scriver with some friends were returning from a baseball game at Peterborough and collided with Mr. Cardwell's car parked in front of his home. Emmett F. Sheehy represented the plaintiff and G. N. Gordon, K.C., acted for the defendant.

ATTACKS BEVERAGE ROOMS.

Charles Shaw, newly-elected member of the Board of Education and chairman of the Friday Night Supper Club, declared he is ready to take off his coat and fight any persons in Peterborough leading the youth of the city astray as he attacked the beverage rooms in an address to the club Friday evening. He asserted the beverage rooms have contributed to a serious waywardness of modern youth. Rev. Dr. George Little of the United Church Publications, Toronto, was a guest of the club. Stan Northrop and Andy Rutter provided musical entertainment.

NO FURTHER EXTENSION.

James J. Dorris, official issuer of auto licenses for the district, has received an announcement from J. P. Bickell, registrar of motor vehicles, that the term of all 1936 passenger car permits and operators' and chauffeurs' licenses has been extended to and including January 18, and the term of all commercial motor vehicle and trailer permits has been extended to and including February 15. "I am assured," he states, "there will be positively no further extension of time within which to secure 1937 permits and licenses." In urging those who have not already procured their permits and licenses to do so immediately, Mr. Dorris wishes to avoid congestion caused by the usual last-minute rush of applications.

ROTARY'S SPEAKER.

Rotarian W. T. Randall of the Toronto Rotary Club will be the speaker at Monday's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary club at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Randall is president of the Neptune Meter Company and has just returned from South Africa where he has been attending the great exposition at Johannesburg.

YIELDS TO THE WEATHER.

Campbell and Best have a neutral display in one of their windows as a substitute Friday for a showing of skates, hockey sticks and other winter sports goods. "There's no use leaving them in there any longer while the weather looks and feels like Spring," Ray Best remarked.

I.O.D.E. CHAPTER

At the January meeting of the Jeanette Scott Chapter of the I.O.D.E., held at the home of Miss Violet Davidson, Antrim street, with the regent, Mrs. Robert Allin, presiding, interesting reports were presented by Mrs. Allin with regard to the Christmas baskets packed and distributed by the Chapter, and the preparations for the Christmas treat for Shelter children. Tentative plans were made for a birthday anniversary celebration by the Chapter in February.

ROYAL GREETINGS.

Rupert Brady, East City who is piling up a noteworthy collection of messages from royalty has just received a letter from the secretary of the household of the King of the Belgians in response to a message of Christmas greetings sent some time ago. It reads as follows: "The secretary of state of the King's Household has been endowed with the honor of imparting to Mr. Rupert Brady the sincere thanks of His Majesty for the gracious consideration he manifested in forwarding his best wishes on the occasion of the Christmas festivities."

CATCHES A BURGLAR.

Doug. McPherson, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. McPherson and one of the stars of last season's Peterborough Collegiate team has been using his rugby experience to good purpose. Doug. is attending Victoria College in Toronto, playing quarter back on the rugby team and the other day when a burglar was trapped in a room in one of the college residences and tried to flee the Peterborough student brought his man down with a flying tackle. For some time there has been a series of thefts from college residences and it is thought Doug's exploit in flooring this suspect has solved the mystery.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, January 10

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE is a rather difficult one to forecast, with perplexing and confusing conditions in the personal life. It would be well to be very discreet in private affairs, and to be on guard against trickery, fraud and subtlety. Be careful with private correspondence. Employment is under favorable rule. Writings, publishing and kindred matters should flourish.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of problems and perplexities. The private life is under a rather critical rulership, calling for the exercise of much discretion and tact. Secret enmities, subtlety and confusion prevail. Employment is fairly well aspected, as are writings, publishings and promotions.

A child born on this day may be inclined to be secretive and subtle, and there may be anxieties in its domestic or private relations.

* * *

For Monday, January 11.

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is a very fortunate one, with much progress and new opportunities, especially in connection with large interests. This may cause important change, with new environs and associations. The finances are well fortified, with the prospect of launching fresh projects. It is a favorable time for pushing with energy and initiative.

Those whose birthday it is stand at the threshold of a year of progress and prosperity. New openings, probably in strange places and with new contacts of importance, are forseen. These benefits have strong reactions on the private affiliations.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, ambitious and capable, and may be able to put over large projects with distinction.

GEORGE HUOT, 19, IS SAID TO BE VICTIM OF HAEMOPHILIA

Sustained Injury To Hand While Attending Dance At Lakefield

REQUIRED 16 STITCHES

The condition of George Huot, 19-year-old haemophilia victim admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday night after infection developed in his badly lacerated right hand, was today reported as favorable.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Huot, 248 Charlotte Street, the youth sustained injury to his hand on New Year's Eve at a dance in Lakefield. He was attended at Dr. H. E. Moore's surgery, where sixteen stitches were required to close the cuts, said to have been inflicted when the young man was jostled against a window.

The hand was healing until Tuesday evening, when infection developed, and Huot was placed in hospital. Up to the present external bleeding has been kept to a minimum, and although there have been several hemorrhages in the inner layers of the hand. The patient's history reveals he has been subject to prolonged nose bleeds, and also that any cut or abrasion sustained by him has never been cleared up without considerable bleeding. Dr. J. M. O'Brien assisted Dr. Moore in treatment of the case.

NORMAL STUDENTS PAY VISIT TO FARM

Eighty Students Visit Dairy And Poultry Farm Of Dr. J. A. Middleton

Under joint supervision of Dr. A. J. Madill and Adrian Macdonald, eighty students of Peterborough Normal School on Friday visited the dairy and poultry farm of Dr. J. E. Middleton on Monaghan road, and also witnessed interesting demonstrations in the auxiliary classes at South Central School.

The students found much of interest in Dr. Middleton's pure bred Jarsey herd which has a high record of butterfat production, and also in the culled flock of bred-to-lay strain of Leghorns.

Helpful and practical instruction was given by Dr. Middleton, while pointers on judging were outlined by A. D. Runions, agricultural representative, and a talk on "Sanitation," provided by Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical officer of health.

Miss Sadie Steele, under whose direction auxiliary classes at South Central School are held, showed the Normalites what was being done, and explained in detail some of the finer points of the work.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY IS MADE TO LIVE AGAIN.

The Men's Organization of Trinity United Church is bringing to the city Mr. H. O. HERITY of Belleville, whose lecture on James Whitcomb Riley has been so well received that it is in great demand. He combines humor and pathos in depicting the many whimsical moods of this great author.

Mr. G. D. Carlisle will sing two numbers. By request "Oh, Heart of Mine," by the same author.

The lecture will be held in the TRINITY CHURCH AUDITORIUM, FRIDAY, JANUARY 15, at 8 p.m., and the public is cordially invited. Silver collection.

BALL VETERANS DROPPING OUT IN BIG LEAGUE

But Number Of Oldtimers Still Laughing At Father Time

ABOUT TWENTY TO GO

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Old Pop Time is wielding a heavy scythe among the big league ball veterans for 1937.

Some 20 members of the select society of 10-year men in the majors already are definitely out or are slated to see their action from the sidelines when the wars start. About 17 others, still going strong, will be initiated into the select set.

Meantime, such "grandaddies" of the game as Rogers Hornsby, Jimmy Dykes and Waite (Perpetual Motion) Hoyt among the 20-year men, and Frankie Frisch and Jesse Haines, each with 18 years of service back of him, are laughing at the reaper. They're all down on the lists of active players for their clubs for the coming season.

Grimm Through

Bowing out of this latter group is Charley Grimm, the Chicago Cubs' manager, who has done a lot of first-basing in his 19 playing years. For the first time, he is off the club's "reserve list," and the chances are Charley has come to the end of the trail for good.

Two widely-known products of the John McGraw school with the Giants appear out of the lineup for keeps. Travis Jackson, after 15 years of third-basing, leaves big-time to manage a Giant farm; his long-time teammate and boss, Bill Terry, is considering going on the voluntary retirement lists.

Mark Koenig, 12 years in the majors and a member of five pennant winning outfits, saw his last action when the Giants lost the 1936 world series. He has been given his unconditional release. Among the pitchers, General Alvin Crowder already has announced his retirement, while the numbers appear up for such old timers as George Blaeholder, Ray Benge, George Earnshaw, Roy Mahaffey and Rube Walberg.

City Carpetball

C.G.E. Yard gang had lots of fun with the Hook and Ladder gang, who tried a raid that slipped up.

Curtis's Brickyard gang just slaughtered the Isolation Hospital Guards, who thought they would just quarantine that motley throng.

RECALLS YOUTH OF NEW QUEEN

Toronto Woman Knew Grandmother And Aunts Of Queen Elizabeth

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—(CP)—In her store of vivid recollection of life in England, Mrs. John Gamble Boyd of Toronto, possibly treasures most highly those of the present Queen's grandmother and aunt, says Saturday Night.

Mrs. Boyd and her children lived beside the Thames at Teddington, Surrey, with her brother, Rev. F. L. Boyd. There is the memory of a family of quiet dignity and pleasant simplicity that little knew one of its daughters, then unborn, was destined to become one of England's Queens.

The Queen's grandmother had a lovely summer home, Forbes House, Ham, Surrey, near Teddington, where she and her twin daughters, Violet and Hyacinth Cavendish-Bentinck used to come after the fatigue of the "season" in London before going to their winter home in Italy. There was an organ in the large hall of Forbes House, and one of the daughters played it, and seated there she reminded me of the pictures of St. Cecilia—she had such a lovely face, large dark eyes and hair," she said. "The other sister had a hospital for children with hip diseases—not in Ham—which they maintained themselves.

"A third daughter had married Lord Glamis (afterward he became the present Earl Strathmore). Lady Glamis and her children often came to visit her mother and sisters at Forbes House. Soon after their arrival a note would come to me from Violet Cavendish-Bentinck, saying, 'My sister is here with the children. Do come over and bring your children and we will have great fun.' The house being old, with three steps up to some rooms and two down to others and they given carte blanche to tear about the house as well as the lovely grounds, you can imagine 'the fun'."

On coming to live in Canada, Mrs. Boyd kept up a correspondence with Miss Violet Cavendish-Bentinck until the latter's death in 1938 and, in a letter received by Mrs. Boyd at the time of the announcement of the engagement of the then Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, she says:

"Elizabeth came long after the others. She has been pure sunshine to us all. The gentlest, most loving and unselfish child...and so lovely to look at. She is very happy and content, and the more the family see of him the more they love him—both he and his eldest brother are so honest, so good."

Motorcycle Club Is Very Active

BRENTFORD IS THIRD

LONDON, Jan. 9—(C.P. Cable)—Gaining only a point at Sunderland, Arsenal now shares leadership in the English Football League with Charlton Athletic, victor, 1-0, over Leeds United in London. The Gunners drew, 1-1, in the match at Roker Park. Brentford and Huddersfield Town scored a goal each, the former retaining third place.

JACK JOHNSON SUED

Former Heavyweight Boxer Gets Into Liniment Tangle With Ex-Partner.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(CP)—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight boxing champion, faced suit for $360 today all because of a liniment of his own making he says will cure toothaches, headaches or any other kind of ache.

The hulking Negro said he figured out the formula 35 years ago. Morris Botwen and Johnson allegedly entered into a partnership to market the magic formula. In the suit Botwen seeks $260 for alleged breach of contract and the return of $100 he says he advanced the old fighter.

Johnson avers he quite the partnership with Botwen because he "didn't think the stuff he was selling was the same as my product."

TORONTO CURLERS CAPTURE TROPHY

Peterborough Ladies Are Defeated In Finals 15 To 9

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP)—Toronto Victorias skipped by Mrs. Moorehouse won William Robertson trophy in ladies' single rink curling competition here yesterday defeating Peterborough led by Mrs. O. DeGraw, 15-9.

Members of the winning rink were Miss Olive Thorne, Mrs. P. Stevenson, Mrs. R. H. Clendining and Mrs. Moorehouse.

ELIZABETHVILLE TEAM TIES WITH HIAWATHA

Hiawatha and Elizabethville battled furiously to a 3-3 overtime draw in a Rice Lake Hockey League game Thursday before some 200 fans. The contest was speedy and exciting all through with both sides dishing up neat hockey during the 70 minutes of combat. Indications are that the four teams in this loop will give fans plenty of smart hockey this winter. The Hiawatha scores came through Billy Wood with two and Allan Anderson with one.

TRAFFIC OFFICER ARRESTED.

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (CP).—Provincial Constable Harry Lemon, traffic officer at Richmond Hill, was arrested here early today on a charge of reckless driving. In police court he was remanded for one week on bail of $500.

DIRECT NAZI MILITARY ACTION?

MOSCOW, Jan. 8.— (AP). — A government spokesman expressed the opinion to-day Chancellor Hitler of Germany means to resort to direct military action in Spain unless halted immediately by Britain and France.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(C.J.P.)

WHEN IT rains over the hills and vales of Peterborough, it pours pussies and poodles. Also puddles. Consequently, the recent downpour of several days washed hockey off the slate cleaner than new auto markers. Schedules for the puck game have been knocked screwy temporarily but we imagine there'll be a bit of cold weather yet before the dandelions begin sprouting in "Main Street" items of ye paper. Meantime, the merry basketballers are going right ahead. A bunch of games at the Y.M. tonight whilst the Ladies' Loop begins next Friday at the Y.W. Their theme song is: Let is rain, let it pour, 'taint gonna rain on a basketball floor! . . . . . .

AND NOW the interscholastic cage schedules for the district groups are released. P.C.I. senior boys play their opener here against Cobourg on January 15th; the Cobourg gals play our P.C.I. damsels here that date; and the local P.C.I. junior boys also entertain Cobourg that eve. It looks like Cobourg cagers must have a big bus and trailer, evidently having all their games in one town the same day. P.C.I. senior boys are in with Lindsay, Oshawa, Bowmanville and Cobourg; our girls are grouped with Port Hope and Cobourg; and our junior boys with Port Hope and Cobourg. . . . . . .

JUNIOR CITY Hockey League meets tonight at eight bells in the Duffus' Board Room and Bill Prindible requests all teams wanting entry to have a representative on deck. They plan to get going next week at the Brock, weather permitting. Canucks, St. Peter's and All Saints will be in and one other—either Tigers or Monarchs. Most of the squads have been practising or engaging in exhibition tilts while waiting to get their own loop under way. It won't be long now, boys, if the weather tightens up. . . . . .

A FEW points in connection with the Senior City Puck Loop should be attended to before too long. Since Norwood dropped out, Alex Kempt will not be acting as vice-president, so some other party connected with the circuit should be named. Also, what about the affiliation fee for the O.H.A.? Alex was turning over part of it from the old E.P.L., but that will be out now. We suppose the idea is for the winning team to pay it if that club intends to go into the intermediate "B" playdowns. But something definite should be known along this line now to avoid misunderstandings at the close of the local schedule. . . . . .

THE BANTAM Church Hockey League game of next Thursday, January 14th, at six p.m. has been changed. Instead of St. John's and George St. playing, the tussle will be between Park St. and All Saints. These latter teams were rained out the other eve. All other games will be run along as scheduled. There may be a change made in the number of juvenile squads over the weekend. Contests listed for All Saints' rink on Monday e'en are: At six, St. John's Bantams vs. Mark St.; All Saints Juveniles vs. St. Paul's at seven; St. John's Juveniles vs. Trinity at eight; and St. George's Seniors vs. George St. at nine. With one bantam game Tuesday betwixt All Saints and George St. at seven. . . . . . .

NO O.H.A. game here Monday night. Efforts to arrange the postponed intermediate Belleville-Petes' tilt for here the first of next week have been unsuccessful. Besides there may be no ice by then. Our junior Colts are billed for Belleville on Monday and in Tweed next Wednesday, having no home game next week. The Petes entertain the Trenton Fliers here on Friday next, but just why the Quinte gang won't come to Peterborough Monday—since it's an open night for both squads—we don't know. . . . . .

THIS ITEM appeared in yesterday's Belleville paper: "There is little chance of the Redmen playing in Peterborough tonight but, regardless, Harry Ingram will not be available. We were sorry to hear today that Harry's small daughter is seriously ill with pneumonia. Manager Thomas is to contact Bill Hewitt at once regarding a final decision in Fred Bentley's case, after S. R. Burrows, local O.H.A. executive member, stated he saw no reason why Bentley could not play for Belleville." Bentley is the good Napanee puckster who was with Kingston Frontenacs till that outfit folded like a tent in a tornado a week ago. . . . . .

SMOKEY SMITH, young southpaw hurling star of Collingwood, is reported to be set in Toronto to play for the G. and W. senior team next summer. He would have been an ideal import for the Petes and would have plugged a real hole on the local lineup. Our outfit needs several imports before another diamond campaign gets under way, a starry twirler or two and a slugging first-sacker and fence-busting outfielder. Gunner Whitehill may possibly be back next summer as he prefers working and playing ball here to going to school in Cedar Rapids. . . . . . .

OBSERVATION PLATFORM: Senior City Loop games here Monday eve: Mayfairs vs. Westclox at seven, Millbrook vs. Outboard Marines at eight, Lakefield vs. Bewdley at nine . . . . Admission is only 15 cents to see all three of these tussles in the Blood and Thunder Circuit, and a nickel for kids . . . . Fliers play in Belleville next Wednesday . . . . Should have the Ladies' Cage Loop schedule the first of next week . . . . A ballster said to us this a.m.: "Isn't this lousy weather? We could be out practising at Riverside only the ground is too wet!" . . . . Whitby and Oshawa are the class of the Lakeshore intermediate "B" group . . . . There is a heap of local O.H.A. history represented in the many veterans seen on various Senior City League lineups . . . . Whether it's rain or whether it's snow, we'll always have weather whether or no.

Two Of Canada's "Top" Figure Skaters Get Ready

The annual figure skating carnival, sponsored by the Granite Club of Toronto, is fast becoming an outstanding sporting event of Ontario's skating season. Here are two of the principal performers of this year's show to be held on January 26, 27, 28. Eleanor Omars of Granite Club, one of Canada's outstanding women figure skaters. Harris Legg, INSET, another Granite Club star, will also show his wares during the three-day performance.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

Although our ladies did not win the "Robertson" Trophy at Toronto yesterday, still they must be given credit for going as far as they did.

Entering the competition without any practice and competing against rinks who have been playing on artificial ice since early in November, makes their efforts all the more outstanding. True we would have liked to see them take first place, but when they didn't we bow graciously to the winners. Each lady received a cut glass centrepiece.

Personnel of Rink
Mrs. R. Turner
Miss H. Munro
Miss H. Fanning
Mrs. O. DeGraw, skip.

Our schedule for next week seems to be very heavy:

Monday—Ontario Tankard, played in Peterborough.

Tuesday—District Cup Competition, played in Lindsay.

Wednesday — Junior Tankard, played in Lindsay.

Thursday—Annual Neill Trophy, played on our own ice.

Saturday—2 p.m. Weekly Bonspiel.

And besides all these we have the regular schedule games each evening.

Of course, we will put it this way: everything depends on the weatherman; just at the time of writing this, the outlook is none too good for frosty weather.

TOO MANY RISKS

Lindbergh Anniversary Flight May Be Postponed Until August.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—The Herald-Tribune says the New York-Paris Air Derby has been postponed from the 10th anniversary of Col. Lindbergh's historic flight, May 21, to August, because the National Aeronautical Association considers the Derby's safety regulations too lax.

William R. Enyart, secretary of the association's Contest Board, is now en route to Paris, and unless he is able to iron out differences of opinion, the Derby may be cancelled altogether, the paper said.

OSHAWA GENERALS TAKE NATIVE SONS FOR 8 TO 3 VICTORY

Motor Town Lads Badly Outscore Toronto In First And Last Cantos

ONE FREE-FOR-ALL

OSHAWA, Jan. 9.—Oshawa Generals opened their season in the "Big Seven" O.H.A. Junior "A" Group in auspicious fashion, at the Arena here last night when they defeated Native Sons 8 to 3 in a scrappy hard-played contest that had everything desired of an age-limit game.

Oshawa out-scored Native Sons by a wide margin in the first and last sessions, but were held even in the second canto when the battling Toronto squad kept pace with their more experienced rivals. The game was a fast, wide-open affair, tension finally coming to a head when, with five minutes to go, Powers and Patton started throwing fists, and for the next few seconds a wild free-for-all ensued in which every player on the ice took part. Referee Tracy Shaw being knocked to the ice when he attempted to separate the combatants.

No damage was done, however, Patton and Powers receiving major penalties for provoking the outbreak. The only other outburst, which was between Sanders and Diplock in the final minute, was quickly quelled.

Goals by Hastie, Sanders and Patton gave Oshawa a three-goal lead before Croucher broke the goose egg for Native Sons, Oshawa scoring again before the period ended, Shortt doing the sniping.

Oshawa scored first in the second period, but Croucher, who tallied all the losers' goals, came back to score mid-way through the period when he broke with Gemmell. Brunnel, Sanders and Hastie were Oshawa's goal-getters in the final period, with Croucher scoring for the Toronto team.

Croucher and Gemmell combined for all of the Sons' tallies and were dangerous throughout, while the pretty passing of Oshawa's first-string line of Sanders, Hastie and Krantz, which accounted for five of their counters, left little to be desired. Oshawa had an edge in speed and finish, which the losers vainly tried to make up for with a display of battling hockey that kept excitement at a high pitch throughout.

Native Sons—Goal, Thompson; defence, Spencely and Powers; centre, Croucher; wings, Gemmell and Diplock; subs., Ramsay, Walsh, Duffus, Gove and Clow, sub-goal.

Oshawa.—Goal, Forster; defence, McCullogh and Patten; centre, Calhoun; wings, Brunnel and Shortt; subs, Frantz, Sanders, Hastie, Daniels and Bryson.

Referee—Tracy Shaw, Toronto.

KING OF WINTER SPORTS
Ski-ing
By Charles Schaer
Sponsored By Peterborough Ski Club

A good binding with adjustable toe plates that can be made to fit every ski boot.

12—SKI BINDINGS.

Bindings or harness must be well fitted. There must be no sideways play of the foot in the bindings and this is an essential qualification. The boots must be firmly attached to the ski but not too far forward in the toe irons.

Harness can be secured (an illustration is given) which will give an accurate toe fitting to every boot, the toe irons being adjustable to the size of the boot by moving a few screws. It is imperative that these irons be properly adjusted to fit the boot and then kept tight.

There are several types of bindings that have been proven satisfactory, the essential being that they hold the boot in place on the ski without slipping, and yet allow for freedom of movement. In attaching your skis make sure that the bindings will remain in place, will hold your foot in the correct position yet will not hamper your movements, or prove uncomfortable. A little time in adjustment is well worth while.

A distinct necessity of skiing is to have complete control of the skis which you only get with well fitted bindings. The cable binding gives perhaps the best control over the skis and the heel can be held absolutely rigidly on the ski. The downhill—cable—binding is especially recommended for intermediate and competitive skiers.

Next—Technique Again.

GREYHOUNDS TIE OILERS 2-2

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Kansas City Greyhounds and Tulsa Oilers played a 2-2 tie in the American Hockey Association here last night. Owens and Ahlin scored for Kansas City in the first period and Riley and Wakeford for Tulsa in the second.

PERRY CONQUERS HIS RIVAL VINES FOR SECOND TIME

Latter Tires After Terrific First Set—Still Suffering From Flu

CLEVELAND EXHIBITION

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Fred Perry of England defeated the ailing Ellsworth Vines, professional tennis star last night 13-11, 6-3 in their second match of a tour for which the British former amateur champion turned pro.

Vines tired out in the first set, which developed into a terrific deuce battle. Members of the tennis troupe said Vines still was suffering from influenza which affected his play when Perry defeated him in their first match in New York's Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

The match was reduced to two sets out of three instead of the usual three out of five. Vines appeared in good spirits as he took the courts before 3,000 spectators in Cleveland Public Auditorium.

The American served and won the first game. He held the lead to a scoreof 5-3. Then he let down, and Perry evened it up in dashing style. With deuce at 6-6, the world's two top tennis stars really went to work. The rallies were long and furious. The ensuing games were base-line duels, driving hard for the corners.

Both held service until 11-all. Vines then looked very tired. Perry became stronger, and rushed the net. A net cord ball helped Perry break Vines's service at 12-11. Then he swept into the net to sew up the set.

Vines went completely down on the second set, as he lost his own service and Perry's. He won the third by slamming his serves and avoiding volleys. Perry took it easy on the next two, and dropped them.

The Briton came back strong and ran his lead to 5-3. The final game was on Vines's service, and he ran it to advantage, only to have Perry rally to the net and put the match away.

Cyclone Taylor Still In Hockey

Fred W. "Cyclone" Taylor, once one of the world's leading professional hockey stars, now Canadian immigration commissioner at Vancouver, has been elected president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League. Although it is thirteen years since he retired as an active player, Fred has never lost his interest in the game and has served almost continuously as an official of various amateur leagues.

BIG SEASON SEEN IN HARNESS TROTS

Turfmen Predict Fine Year With More Events And Better Purses

By E. ROLAND HARRIMAN
Chairman, Trotting Horse Club of America

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP).—Much cause for rejoicing as the American light harness turf has in looking backward at 1936, its best season in 10 years, the eyes of the trotting sport are turned confidently ahead to 1937 which bears every promise of exceeding 1936 in purses, development of amateur matinee driving clubs for both men and women, and new, richer stakes for all-aged horses.

Registering gains of 25 per cent. in purses throughout the country, an expanded grand circuit schedule over 1935, increases in attendance at race meetings, and greater personal participation in the sport by amateurs than ever before, the last season has become history.

New Stakes

The new year, offering new stakes worth more than $50,000 for all-aged trotters and pacers, with handicaps provided for the fastest performers; a strong Grand Circuit schedule promising nearly continuous summer racing along the eastern seaboard, as well as through the midwest, and probably later in California, causes all of us deep-dyed trotting horsemen to regard 1937 through rose-tinted glasses.

The Trotting Horse Club is leading the way toward richer, more diversified stakes for all classes of harness horses. Realizing that the two and three-year-old colt stakes already provided sufficient competition, the sport is now being offered events for older horses with particularly fast records, and handicapping the swiftest of these so that every owner, with his typically "game" mount, has a chance to win.

WHITBY TROUNCES COBOURG BY 4 TO 1

Intermediate "B" Fixture Is Fast Despite Heavy Ice Conditions

WHITBY, Jan. 9.—The home team defeated Cobourg by 4 to 1 last night in an Intermediate "B" Lake Shore group fixture that was fast in spots despite the heavy ice. Goal-getters for Whitby were the Viponds, Louis and Luther, with one apiece; Oak and Brown. Henderson netted Cobourg's goal and also drew the game's only penalty.

Whitby—Goal, Peghurst; defence, J. Sleighton and Brown; centre, Heard; wings, Blanchard and Mayne; subs., E. Sleighton, Louis Vipond, Luther Vipond and Phipher.

Cobourg.—Goal McCoubrey; defence, Bryce and Goody; centre, Henderson; wings, Campbell and Freeman; subs, Hie, Parker, Pratt and Pearse.

ELGIN, TRENT RIVER TIE IN OVERTIME

East Peterborough Rural League Opener Sees Each Score Twice

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 9.—Trent River and Elgin hockey teams tied 2-all in a fast overtime game at Norwood rink, Wednesday night. This was their opening game in the East Peterborough Rural League.

Elgin took the first period 2-0; Trent River came back in the second period to tie the score. A scoreless 10-minute overtime period was played. The line-up was as follows:

Goal, D. Carnrite; left defence, D. Dart; right defence, Alex. Brown; left wing, F. Ruttan; centre, E. Van Volkenburg; right wing, C. Chaplin; subs., M. Brown, George Brown, J. Inkster, Ted Chaplin, M. T. Lean, Jim Brown.

Weather permitting, a return game will be played at Trent River January 13.

Westwood Beats Donegal, 2-0

Donegal hockey team played Westwood at Norwood Wednesday night, resulting in a score, 2-0 in favor of Westwood. The following played for Donegal: Carl Stevenson, Raymond McCee, Jack Stevenson, Billie Buck, George Stevenson, Gordon Stevenson.

BY A. WISE-CRACKER.

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, both our hockey squads has got away in good style on their 1937 campaign, the Colts opening up here Mon. nite by combing the Tweed kids 11 to 4 and the intermediate gang hopping to Trenton Wed. and taking a fall out of the gang in that burg by 9 to 2. They was plenty of color in the game here what with the young Petes taking the ice all togged out in unies that looked like the outfits the flying Frenchmen wear and the new penalty shot rings the rink staff had painted on the ice. By the way the said staff musta been short of red paint for the circles they put down was so small a acrobat couldn't stay inside long enough to get a shot away. Anyway they wasn't any penalties awarded so it didn't matter.

Colts Look Good

The new edition of the Colts although shy on condition and that told in the last period looked like a smart outfit. The gaps caused by the graduation of some of last year's stars has been filled by some promising younsters who promise to come along fast. This young Mister Heal who patrolled the left wing on 1 line particularly took the eye of all and sundry including yours truly. He is fast, a hardworker and he goes back as fast as he comes up and that is something a lot of young hockey players has to learn, that is you gotta go both ways to be a real help. Other newcomers looked good too and the veterans on the squad was clicking nicely so it looks like the Colts oughta be in for a good year.

Another Nice Start

I wasn't down to Trenton when the Intermediates made their debut but the scouts sez the outfit give a good account of themselves. Any time you beat a team 9 to 2 on their home ice, Mac, you gotta have something and they tell me the Petes looked strong in all departments with the 2 rookies which come up from the juniors this year Messrs Burton and Coughlin fitting in nicely. I was expecting to look over the gang here Fri. nite but a rain storm come along instead of a cold snap and the battle with Belleville was washed out. It woulda been quite a tussle for they is no love lost between the 2 teams and they both will battle until the last tap of the bell for the verdict.

They Aint Cracked Yet

In the pro loop, Mac, the Canadiens is sailing merrily along in 1 section and Detroit, Boston and Rangers is having a real old time knock-him-down-and-drag-him-out fight in the other end of the loop. Right now them four teams and the Maroons have a big edge on the Leafs, Blackhawks and Americans and it begins to look right now as if the last 2 will be the pair that won't make the playdowns, come March. Everybody has been saying for weeks the Canadiens was due to crack soon but even without Pete Lepine which has been 1 of their stands this season the Frenchmen refuses to halt and they give the Leaves a nice 4 to 1 shellacking Thursday nite. Toronto's once vaunted scoring punch has flew out the window and the Smythe outfit is moving along at the rate of a goal a game which is nice shooting for a single player but a heck of a showing for a team.

Well old timer if the thermometer comes down to winter normal we oughta see some good hockey next week. In the meantime don't go out without your chains.

Sportfully Yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

DIED

GHTMYER, Mrs. Annie. — At the residence, 569 Sherbrooke street, Saturday, January 9, Mrs. Annie Lightmyer, widow of the late Stanley D. Rightmyer, after a long illness. Funeral January 11, at 2 p.m., from the home to Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

ANS.—In loving memory of our dear daughter-in-law, who died January 10, 1935.

Sweet be your rest, dear Bella,
As sweet to breathe your name,
Though we know you're with the angels,
We'd love you back again.

It two years ago you left us,
And the pain of bitter loss
Teaches us that we must follow
In the shadow of the Cross.
—Mr. and Mrs. K. Evans.

GRAM.—In loving memory of Mr Henry James Ingram, who passed away very suddenly on January 10, 1936.

Dad, the call was sudden, the shock sever;
The we thought the end was so near.
It is only those who have lost can tell
The sorrow of parting without farewell.'
—Sadly missed by Daughter and Grandson.

ANS. — In loving memory of Bella, who died January 10, 1935.

A smiling face and pleasant ways
A pleasant to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
One day we hope to meet again,
One day, we know not when,
To clasp her hand in the Better Land
And never to part again.
Never remembered by her loving Husband.

UGHTY.—In loving memory of Mrs. Fred. Doughty, who passed away January 10, 1933.

Our years have passed and gone since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth, With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
Will wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.
Never remembered by her two daughters, Mrs. Sid. Ferguson and Mrs. John Martin.

ANS.—In loving memory of our daughter, Bella, who passed away January 10, 1935.

What would we given her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile
On the days that used to be.
Some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In heaven, that happy life.
Sadly missed by Mother, Dad and Sister Nancy.

ANS.—In loving memory of Mrs. Evans (Bella), who passed away January 10, 1935.

Here's a voice that we're longing to hear,
Here's a smile we'll remember forever
Though we try to forget every tear.
Here's a sad but sweet remembrance,
Here's a memory fond and true,
Here's a token of affection, dear,
And heartache, dear Sister, for you.
Ever remembered by Rene, Jim, Betty, and Jimmy, 609 Payne Avenue.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to thank all the people who helped us in our Christmas bereaving, and wish everyone a happy New Year, Rangers Sereners; A. Hempstead.

Mrs. William Jobe, George street South, wishes to extend her sincere thanks and appreciation to the nurses of Nicholls Hospital, the attending doctor; Rev. G. K. Tyler; also kind friends and neighbors and those who sent flowers and cards during her recent illness.
